PREFACE

A PRACTICAL Vedic grammar has long been a desideratum. It is one of the chief aids to the study of the hymns of the Veda called for forty-three years ago in the preface to his edition of the Rigveda by Max Müller, who adds, 'I doubt not that the time will come when no one in India will call himself a Sanskrit scholar who cannot construe the hymns of the ancient Rishis of his country'. It is mainly due to the lack of such a work that the study of Vedic literature, despite its great linguistic and religious importance, has never taken its proper place by the side of the study of Classical Sanskrit either in England or India. Whitney's excellent Sanskrit Grammar, indeed, treats the earlier language in its historical connexion with the later, but for this very reason students are, as I have often been assured, unable to acquire from it a clear knowledge of either the one or the other, because beginners cannot keep the two dialects apart in the process of learning. Till the publication of my large Vedic Grammar in 1910, no single work comprehensively presented the early language by itself. That work is, however, too extensive and detailed for the needs of the student, being intended rather as a book of reference for the scholar. Hence I have often been urged to bring out a short practical grammar which would do for the Vedic language what my Sanskrit Grammar for Beginners does for the Classical language. In the second edition (1911) of the latter work I therefore pledged myself to meet this demand as soon as I could. The present volume redeems that pledge.

When planning the book I resolved, after much reflection, to make it correspond paragraph by paragraph to the Sanskrit Grammar, this being the best way to enable students to compare and contrast every phenomenon of the earlier and the later language. To this extent the present book presupposes the other; but it can quite well be used independently. The experience of many years' teaching, however, leads me to dissuade beginners from starting the study of Sanskrit by means of the present grammar. Students should, in my opinion, always commence with classical Sanskrit, which is more regular and definite, as well as much more restricted in the number of its inflexional forms. A good working knowledge of the later language should therefore be acquired before taking up Vedic grammar, which can then be rapidly learned.

In carrying out the parallelism of this grammar with the other I have experienced a good deal of difficulty in numbering the corresponding paragraphs satisfactorily, because certain groups of matter are found exclusively in the Vedic language, as the numerous subjunctive forms, or much more fully, as the dozen types of infinitive compared with only one in Sanskrit; while some Sanskrit formations, as the periphrastic future, are non-existent in the earlier language. Nevertheless, I have, I think, succeeded in arranging the figures in such a way that the corresponding paragraphs of the two grammars can always be easily compared. The only exception is the first chapter, consisting of fifteen paragraphs, which in the Sanskrit Grammar deals with the Nāgarī alphabet. As the present work throughout uses transliteration only, it seemed superfluous to repeat the description of the letters given in the earlier work. I have accordingly substituted a general phonetic survey of Vedic sounds as enabling the student to understand clearly the linguistic history of Sanskrit. The employment of transliteration has been necessary because by this means alone could analysis by hyphens and accentuation be adequately indicated. Duplication with Nāgarī characters, as in the Sanskrit Grammar, would have increased the size and the cost of the book without any compensating advantage. An account of the accent, as of vital importance in Vedic grammar, would naturally have found a place in the body of the book, but owing to the entire absence of this subject in the Sanskrit Grammar and to the fulness which its treatment requires, its introduction there was impossible. The accent is accordingly dealt with in Appendix III as a substitute for the 'Chief Peculiarities of Vedic Grammar' appearing at the end of the Sanskrit Grammar.

The term Vedic is here used to comprehend not only the metrical language of the hymns, but also the prose of the Brāhmaṇas and of the Brāhmaṇa-like portions of the Atharvaveda and of various recensions of the Yajurveda. The grammatical material from the later period is mainly given in small type, and is in any case regularly indicated by the addition of the letter B (for Brāhmaṇa). Otherwise the phase of the earlier language presented is that of the Rigveda, as being both the oldest and furnishing the most abundant material. But forms from the other Vedas are often also supplied without any distinguishing mark as long as they conform to the standard of the Rigveda. If, however, such forms are in any way abnormal, or if it seemed advisable to point out that they do not come from the Rigveda, this is indicated by an added abbreviation in brackets, as '(AV.)' for '(Atharvaveda).' On the other hand '(RV.)' is sometimes added in order to indicate, for some reason or other, that a form is restricted to the Rigveda. It is, of course, impossible to go much into detail thus in a practical work; but the exact source of any particular form can always be ascertained by reference to the large Vedic Grammar. The grammatical usage of the other Vedas, when it differs from that of the Rigveda, is regularly explained. The reference is given with precise figures when syntactical examples are taken from the Rigveda, but with abbreviations only (as TS. for Taittirīya Saṃhitā or ŚB. for Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa) when they come from elsewhere. Syntactical citations are not always metrically intact because words that are unnecessary to illustrate the usage in question are often omitted. The accent in verbal forms that happen to occur in Vedic texts without it, is nevertheless given if its position is undoubted, but when there is any uncertainty it is left out. In the list of verbs (Appendix I) the third person singular is often given as the typical form even when only other persons actually occur. Otherwise only forms that have been positively noted are enumerated.

I ought to mention that in inflected words final s, r, and d of endings are given in their historical form, not according to the law of allowable finals (§ 27); e.g. dūtás, not dūtáḥ; tásmād, not tásmāt; pitúr, not pitúḥ; but when used syntactically they appear in accordance with the rules of Sandhi; e.g. devānāṃ dūtáḥ; vṛtrásya vadhāt.

The present book is to a great extent based on my large Vedic Grammar. It is, however, by no means simply an abridgement of that work. For besides being differently arranged, so as to agree with the scheme of the Sanskrit Grammar, it contains much matter excluded from the Vedic Grammar by the limitations imposed on the latter work as one of the volumes of Bühler's Encyclopaedia of Indo-Aryan Research. Thus it adds a full treatment of Vedic Syntax and an account of the Vedic metres. Appendix I, moreover, contains a list of Vedic verbs (similar to that in the Sanskrit Grammar), which though all their forms appear in their appropriate place within the body of the Vedic Grammar, are not again presented there in the form of an alphabetical list, as is done here for the benefit of the learner. Having subjected all the verbal forms to a revision, I have classified some doubtful or ambiguous ones more satisfactorily, and added some others which were inadvertently omitted in the large work. Moreover, a full alphabetical list of conjunctive and adverbial particles embracing forty pages and describing the syntactical uses of these words has been added in order to correspond to § 180 of the Sanskrit Grammar. The present work therefore constitutes a supplement to, as well as an abridgement of, the Vedic Grammar, thus in reality setting forth the subject with more completeness as a whole, though in a comparatively brief form, than the larger work. I may add that this grammar is shortly to be followed by a Vedic Reader consisting of selected hymns of the Rigveda and supplying microscopic explanations of every point on which the elementary learner requires information. These two books will, I hope, enable him in a short time to become an independent student of the sacred literature of ancient India.

For the purposes of this book I have chiefly exploited my own Vedic Grammar (1910), but I have also utilized Delbrück's Altindische Syntax (1888) for syntactical material, and Whitney's Roots (1885) for the verbal forms of the Brāhmaṇa literature. In describing the metres (Appendix II) I have found Oldenberg's Die Hymnen des Rigveda (1888), and Arnold's Vedic Metre (1905) very useful.

I am indebted to Dr. James Morison and to my former pupil, Professor A. B. Keith, for reading all the first proofs with great care, and thus saving me from many misprints that would have escaped my own notice. Professor Keith has also suggested important modifications of some of my grammatical statements. Lastly, I must congratulate

Mr. J. C. Pembrey, Hon. M.A., Oriental Reader at the Clarendon Press, on having completed the task of reading the final proofs of this grammar, now all but seventy years after correcting Professor H. H. Wilson's Sanskrit Grammar in 1847. This is a record in the history of Oriental, and most probably of any, professional proof reading for the press.

CHAPTER I

PHONETIC INTRODUCTION

1. Vedic, or the language of the literature of the Vedas, is represented by two main linguistic strata, in each of which, again, earlier and later phases may be distinguished. The older period is that of the Mantras, the hymns and spells addressed to the gods, which are contained in the various Saṃhitās. Of these the Rigveda, which is the most important, represents the earliest stage. The later period is that of the prose theological treatises called Brāhmaṇas. Linguistically even the oldest of them are posterior to most of the latest parts of the Saṃhitās, approximating to the stage of Classical Sanskrit. But they still retain the use of the subjunctive and employ many different types of the infinitive, while Sanskrit has lost the former and preserves only one single type of the latter. The prose of these works, however, to some extent represents better than the language of the Mantras the normal features of Vedic syntax, which in the latter is somewhat interfered with by the exigences of metre.

The language of the works forming appendices to the Brāhmaṇas, that is, of the Āraṇyakas and Upaniṣads, forms a transition to that of the Sūtras, which is practically identical with Classical Sanskrit.

The linguistic material of the Rigveda, being more ancient, extensive, and authentic than that of the other Saṃhitās, all of which borrow largely from it, is taken as the basis of this grammar. It is, however, considerably supplemented from the other Saṃhitās. The grammatical forms of the Brāhmaṇas, where they differ from those of Classical Sanskrit, have been indicated in notes, while the r syntax is fully dealt with, because it illustrates the construction of sentences better than the metrical hymns of the Vedas.

2. The hymns of the Vedas were composed many centuries before the introduction of writing into India, which can hardly have taken place much earlier than 600 B.C. They were handed down till probably long after that event by oral tradition, which has lasted down to the present day. Apart from such tradition, the text of the Saṃhitās has been preserved in manuscripts, the earliest of which, owing to the adverse climatic conditions of India, are scarcely five centuries old. How soon they were first committed to writing, and whether the hymns of the Rigveda were edited in the form of the Saṃhitā and Pada texts with the aid of writing, there seems insufficient evidence to decide; but it is almost inconceivable that voluminous prose works such as the Brāhmaṇas, in particular the Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa, could have been composed and preserved without such aid.¹

3. The sounds of the Vedic language. There are altogether fifty-two sounds, thirteen of which are vocalic and thirty-nine consonantal. They are the following:—

a. Nine simple vowels: a ā i ī u ū ṛ ṝ ḷ; four diphthongs: e o ai au.

b. Twenty-two mutes divided into five classes, each of which has its nasal, making a group of twenty-seven:

(α) five gutturals (velars): k kh g gh ṅ;

(β) five palatals: c ch j jh ṇ;

² This sound is very rare, occurring only once in the RV. and not at all in the AV.

- (γ) seven cerebrals¹: ṭ ṭh, ḍ and ḷ,² ḍh and ḷh,² ṇ;
 (δ) five dentals: t th d dh n;
 (ε) five labials: p ph b bh m;
 c. Four semivowels: y (palatal), r (cerebral), l (dental),
 v (labial);
 d. Three sibilants: ś (palatal), ṣ (cerebral), s (dental);
 e. One aspiration: h;
 f. One pure nasal: ṁ (ṁ) called Anusvāra (after-sound).
 g. Three voiceless spirants: ḥ (Visarjanīya), ḥ (Jihvāmūlīya), ḥ (Upadhmānīya).

4. a. The simple vowels:

ā ordinarily represents an original short vowel (IE. ā ē ō); but it also often replaces an original sonant nasal, representing the reduced form of the unaccented syllables an and am, as sat-ā beside sánt-am being; ga-tá gone beside á-gam-at has gone.

ā represents both a simple long vowel (IE. ā ē ō) and a contraction; e. g. mātár (Lat. māter) mother; ásam = á-as-am I was. It frequently also represents the unaccented syllable an; e. g. khā-tá dug from khan dig.

i is ordinarily an original vowel; e. g. div-í (Gk. διϕί) in heaven. It is also frequently the low grade of e and ya; e. g. vid-má (ῥδμεν) we know beside véd-a (οῖδα) I know; náv-iṣṭha newest beside náv-yas newer. It also represents the low grade of radical ā; e. g. śiṣ-tá taught beside śás-ti teaches.

ī is an original vowel; e. g. jīv-á living. But it also often represents the low grade of yā; e. g. aś-ī-máhi we would attain beside aś-yám I would attain; or a contraction; e. g. iṣúr they have sped (= i-iṣ-úr 3. pl pf. of iṣ); matí by thought (= matíā).

² These two sounds take the place of ḍ ḍh respectively between vowels in the RV. texts; e. g. ḥle (but ḥḍya), mīḥuṣe (but mīḍhván).

u is an original vowel ; e. g. mádhū (Gk. μέθυ) honey. It is also the low grade of o and va ; e. g. yug-á n. yoke beside yóg-a m. yoking ; sup-tá asleep beside sváp-na m. sleep.

ū is an original vowel ; e. g. bhrū (ὄφρυς) f. brow. It is also the low grade of au and vā ; e. g. dhū-tá shaken beside dhau-tārī f. shaking ; sūd sweeten beside svād enjoy ; and often represents a contraction ; e. g. ūc-úr = u -uc-úr they have spoken (3. pl. pf. of vac) ; bāhū the two arms = bāhū-ā.

r̥ is a vocalic r, being the low grade of ar and ra ; e. g. kr-tá done beside ca-kár-a I have done ; gr̥bh-ī-tá seized beside grábh-a m. seizure.

r̄ occurs only in the acc. and gen. pl. m. and f. of ar stems (in which it is the lengthened low grade) ; e. g. pitṛñ, mātṛñ ; pitṛñām, svásṛñām.

ḷ is a vocalic l, being the low grade of al, occurring only in a few forms or derivatives of the verb klp (kalp) be in order : cākḷpré 3. pl. pf. ; cīkḷpāti 3. s. aor. subj. ; kl̥pti (VS.) f. arrangement beside kalpasva 2. s. impv. mid., kálp-a m. pious work.

b. The diphthongs.

ē and ō stand for the original genuine diphthongs āi āu. They represent (1) the high grade corresponding to the weak grade vowels i and u ; e. g. séc-ati pours beside sik-tá poured ; bhój-am beside bhúj-am aor. of bhuj enjoy ; (2) the result of the coalescence of ā with ĩ and ũ in external and internal Sandhi ; e. g. éndra = á indra ; ó cit = á u cit ; padé = padá ī du. n. two steps ; bháveta = bháva īta 3. s. opt. might be ; maghón (= maghá un) weak stem of maghávan bountiful ; (3) e = az in a few words before d, dh, h ; e. g. e-dhí be 2. s. impv. of as beside ás-ti ; o = az before bh of case-endings, and before y and v of secondary suffixes ; e. g. dvéšo-bhis inst. pl. of dvéśas n. hatred ;

ai and au etymologically represent āi and āu, as is indicated by the fact that they become āy and āv in Sandhi; e. g. gāv-as cows beside gáu-s; and that the Sandhi of a with e (= āi) and o (= āu) is ai and au respectively.

5. Vowel gradation. Simple vowels are found to interchange in derivation as well as in verbal and nominal inflexion with fuller syllables, or if short also with long vowels. This change is dependent on shift of accent: the fuller or long syllable remains unchanged while it bears the accent, but is reduced to a simple or short vowel when left by the accent. This interchange is termed vowel gradation. Five different series of such gradation may be distinguished.

a. The Guṇa series. Here the accented high grade syllables e, o, ar, al, constituting the fundamental stage and called Guṇa (cp. 17 a) by the native grammarians, interchange with the unaccented low grade syllables i, u, r, l respectively. Beside the Guṇa syllables appear, but much less frequently, the syllables ai, au, ār (āl does not occur), which are called Vṛddhi by the same authorities and may be regarded as a lengthened variety of the Guṇa syllables. Examples are: didés-a has pointed out: diṣ-ṭá pointed out; é-mi I go: i-más we go; āp-nó-mi I obtain: āp-nu-más we obtain; vārdhāya to further: vṛdhāya, id.

a. The low grade of both Guṇa and Vṛddhi may be ī, ū, ĩr, ũr; as bibháy-a I have feared and bibháy-a has feared: bhī-tá frightened; juhāv-a has invoked: hū-tá invoked; tatār-a has crossed: tir-áte crosses and tīr-ṇá crossed.

b. The Samprasāraṇa series. Here the accented high grade syllables ya, va, ra (corresponding to the Guṇa stage e, o, ar) interchange with the unaccented low grade vowels i, u, r; e. g. i-yáj-a I have sacrificed: iṣ-ṭá sacrificed; vās-ṭi desires: uś-mási we desire; ja-gráh-a I have seized: ja-grḥ-úr they have seized.

a. Similarly the long syllables yā, vā, rā are reduced to ī, ū, ǐr; e. g. jyā́ f. might: jī-yā́-te is overcome; brū-yā́-t would say: bruv-i-tá id.; svād-ú sweet: sūd-āya-ti sweetens; drāgh-īyas longer: dirgh-ā long.

c. The ǎ series.

1. In its low grade stage a would normally disappear, but as a rule it remains because its loss would in most cases lead to unpronounceable or obscure forms; e. g. ás-ti is: s-ánti they are; ja-gám-a I have gone: ja-gm-úr they have gone; pād-ya-te goes: pi-bd-aná standing firm; hán-ti slays: ghn-ánti they slay.

2. The low grade of the Vṛddhi vowel ā is either a or total loss; e. g. pād m. foot: pad-ǎ with the foot; dadhā́-ti puts: dadh-mási we put; pu-nā́-ti purifies: pu-n-ánti they purify; da-dā́-ti gives: devá-t-ta given by the gods.

3. When ā represents the Guṇa stage its low grade is normally i; e. g. sthā́-s thou hast stood: sthi-tá stood.

a. Sometimes it is ī owing to analogy; e. g. pu-nā́-ti purifies: pu-nī́-hi purify. Sometimes, especially when the low grade syllable has a secondary accent, it is a; e. g. gāh-ate plunges: gāh-ana n. depth.

d. The ai and au series.

The low grade of ai (which appears as āy before vowels and ā before consonants) is ī; e. g. gāy-ati sings, gā-thá m. song: gī-tá sung.

The low grade of au (which is parallel to vā: 5 b α) is ū; e. g. dhāv-ati washes: dhū-tá washed; dhau-tārī f. shaking: dhū́-ti m. shaker, dhū-má m. smoke.

e. Secondary shortening of ī, ū, ǐr. The low grade syllables ī, ū, ǐr and ūr (= ǐr) are further reduced to i, u, r, owing to shift of accent from its normal position in a word to its beginning, in compounds, reduplicated forms, and vocatives; e. g. ā́-huti f. invocation: -hūti call; dī́di-vi shining: dī́-páya kindle; cár-kṛ-ṣe thou commemorate: kī́r-tí f. praise (from root kṛ); pi-pr-tám 3. du.: pūr-tá full (root pṛ); dévi voc.: deví nom. goddess; śváśru voc.: śva-śrú-s nom. mother-in-law.

The Consonants.

6. The guttural mutes represent the Indo-European velars (that is, q-sounds). In the combination k-ş the guttural is the regular phonetic modification of a palatal before s; e.g. drś see: aor. ádrk-şata; vac speak: fut. vak-şyáti.

7. The palatals form two series, the earlier and the later.

a. Original palatals are represented by ch and ś, and to some extent by j and h.

1. The aspirate ch is derived from an IE. double sound, s + aspirated palatal mute; e.g. chid cut off = Gk. $\sigma\chi\iota\delta$. But in the inchoative suffix cha it seems to represent s + unaspirated palatal mute; e.g. gáchā-mi = Gk. $\beta\acute{\alpha}\sigma\kappa\omega$.

2. The sibilant ś represents an IE. palatal (which seems to have been pronounced dialectically either as a spirant or a mute); e.g. śatām 100 = Lat. centum, Gk. $\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\kappa\alpha\tau\acute{o}\nu$.

3. The old palatal j (originally the media of ś = I-Ir. \acute{z} , French j) is recognizable by appearing as a cerebral when final or before mutes; e.g. yáj-ati sacrifices beside aor. á-yāṭ has sacrificed, yás-ṭṛ sacrificer, iṣ-ṭá sacrificed.

4. The breathing h represents the old palatal aspirate I-Ir. \acute{zh} . It is recognizable as an old palatal when, either as final or before t, it is replaced by a cerebral; e.g. váh-ati carries beside á-vāṭ has carried.

b. The new palatals are c and to some extent j and h. They are derived from gutturals (velars), being interchangeable, in most roots and formatives, with gutturals; e.g. śóc-ati shines beside śók-a m. flame, śúk-van flaming, śuk-rá brilliant; yuj-e I yoke beside yug-á n. yoke, yóg-a m. yoking, yuk-tá yoked, -yúg-van yoking; du-dróh-a has injured beside drógh-a injurious.

a. The original gutturals were changed to palatals by the palatal sounds i, ī, y immediately following; e.g. cit-tá noticed beside két-a m. will from cit perceive; ój-iyas stronger beside ug-rá strong; druḥ-yú, a proper name, beside drógh-a injurious.

8. The cerebrals are entirely secondary, being a specifically Indian product and unknown in the Indo-Iranian period. They are probably due to aboriginal, especially Dravidian, influence. They are still rare in the RV., where they never occur initially, but only medially and finally. They have as a rule arisen from dentals immediately following the cerebral ṣ (= original s, ś, j, h) or r-sounds (r, ṛ, ṝ); e. g. duṣ-ṭāra (= dus-tāra) invincible; vāṣ-ṭi (= vās-ti) wishes; mṛṣ-ṭā (= mṛj-tā) cleansed; nīḍá (= nizdā)¹ nest; dū-dhī (= duḥ-dhī) ill-disposed; *dr̥ḍhá*² (= dr̥h-tā) firm; nṛ-nām (= nṛ-nām) of men.

Final cerebral mutes represent the old palatals j, ś, h; e. g. rāṭ (= rāj) m. ruler nom. s.; vīpāt (= vī-pās) f. a river; śāt (= sāh) overcoming; á-vāṭ (= á-vāh-t) has conveyed (3. s. aor. of vah).

9. a. The dentals are original sounds, representing the corresponding IE. dentals. The mutes t and d, however, sometimes take the place of original s before s and bh respectively; e. g. á-vāt-sīs (AV.) aor. of vas dwell; mād-bhīs inst. pl. of mās month.

b. The labials as a rule represent the corresponding IE. sounds. But b is very rarely inherited; the number of words containing this sound has, however, been greatly increased in various ways. Thus it often replaces p or bh in Sandhi and bh in reduplication; e. g. pi-bd-aná firm beside pad-á n. place; rab-dhá taken beside rābhante they take; ba-bhūva has been from bhū be. There are also many words containing b which seem to have a foreign origin.

10. The nasals. Of the five nasals belonging to the corresponding five classes of mutes, only the dental n and the labial m appear independently and in any part of a word, initially, medially, and finally ; e. g. mātr̥ f. mother, nāman n. name. The remaining three are always dependent on a contiguous sound. The guttural ṇ, the palatal ñ, and the cerebral ṇ are never initial, and the last two are never final. The guttural ṇ appears finally only when a following k or g has been dropped, as in stems ending in ñc or ñj and in those compounded with dr̥ś ; e. g. pratyāṇ nom. s. of pratyāñc facing ; kī-dr̥ṇ nom. s. of kī-dr̥ś of what kind ?

² Though written as a short vowel the ṛ is prosodically long.

a. Medially ṇ appears regularly only before gutturals ; e. g. aṅkā m. hook ; aṅkhāya embrace ; āṅga n. limb ; jāṅghā f. leg. Before other consonants it appears only when k or g has been dropped ; e. g. yuṇ-dhi for yuṅg-dhi (= yuñj-dhi) 2. s. impv. of yuj join.

b. The palatal nasal occurs only before or after c or j, and before ch ; e. g. pāñca five ; yaj-ñā m. sacrifice ; vāñchantu let them desire.

c. The cerebral ṇ appears within a word only, either before cerebral mutes or replacing dental n after r̥, r, or ṣ (either immediately preceding or separated from it by certain intervening letters) ; e. g. daṇḍā m. staff ; nr̥-ṇām of men ; vārṇa m. colour ; uṣṇā hot ; krāmaṇa n. step.

d. The dental n is the commonest of the nasals ; it is more frequent than m, and about three times as frequent as the other three taken together. As a rule it represents IE. n ; but it also appears in place of the dental d or t, and of labial m before certain suffixes. It is substituted for d before the suffix -na ; and for d or t before the m of secondary suffixes ; e. g. án-na n. food (from ad eat) ; vidyún-mant gleaming (vidyút f. lightning) ; mṛṇ-maya earthen (mṛd f. earth). It is substituted for m before t ; before suffixal m or v ; and before suffixal s or t that have been dropped as final ; e. g. yan-trá n. rein (yam restrain) ; á-gan-ma, gán-vahi (aor. of gam go) ; á-gan (= á-gam-s, á-gam-t) 2. 3. s. aor. of gam go ; á-yān (= á-yam-s-t) 3. s. aor. of yam restrain ; dán gen. of dām house (= dam-s).

c. The labial m as a rule represents IE. m ; e. g. nāman, Lat. nomen. It is by far the commonest labial sound, being more frequent than the four labial mutes taken together.

f. The pure nasal. Distinct from the five class nasals is the pure nasal, variously called Anusvāra and Anunāsika, which always follows a vowel and is formed by the breath passing through the nose unmodified by the influence of any consonant. The former is usually written with a dot before consonants, the latter as ṃ before vowels. The proper use of Anusvāra is not before mutes, but before sibilants and h (which have no class nasal). When final, Anusvāra usually represents m, sometimes n (66 A 2). Medially Anusvāra regularly appears before sibilants and h ; e. g. vaṃśá m. reed ; haviṃṣi offerings ; māṃśá n. flesh ; siṃhá m. lion. It usually appears before s, where it always represents m or n ; e. g. māṃsate 3. s. subj. aor. of man think ; piṃṣanti beside pināṣṭi from piṣ crush ; kraṃsyáte fut. of kram stride. When Anusvāra appears before ś or h (= IE. guttural or palatal) it represents the corresponding class nasal.

11. The semivowels. The semivowels y, r, l, v are peculiar in having each a vowel corresponding to it, viz. i, ṛ, ḷ, u respectively. They are called anta(h)sthā in the Prātiśākhya, or 'intermediate', as standing midway between vowels and consonants.

a. The semivowel y is constantly written for i before other vowels within the Veda itself. It also sometimes appears without etymological justification, especially after roots in -ā, before vowel suffixes ; e. g. dā-y-i 3. s. aor. pass. of dā give. Otherwise it is based either on IE. ī (= Gk. spiritus asper) or voiced palatal spirant y (= Gk. ζ) ; e. g. yá-s who (Gk. ὄ-s), yaj sacrifice (Gk. ἄγ-ιος) ; but yas boil (Gk. ζέω), yuj yoke (Gk. ζυγ-). It is probably due to this difference of origin that yas boil and yam restrain reduplicate with ya in the perfect, but yaj sacrifice with i.

b. The semivowel v is constantly written for u before other vowels within the Veda itself. Otherwise it seems always to be based on IE. u, that is, on a v interchangeable with u, but never on an IE. spirant v not interchangeable with u.

c. The semivowel r generally corresponds to IE. r, but also often to IE. l. As Old Iranian invariably has r for both, it seems as if there had been a tendency to rhotacism in the Indo-Iranian period. In order to account for the Vedic relation of r to l, it appears necessary to assume a mixture of three dialects: one in which the IE. r and l were kept apart; another in which IE. l became r (the Vedic dialect); and a third in which IE. r became l throughout (the later Māgadhī).

r is secondary when it takes the place of phonetic ḍ (= ṛ) as the final of stems in is and us before endings beginning with bh; e. g. havír-bhis and vápur-bhis. This substitution is due to the influence of external Sandhi, where is and us would become ir and ur.

a. Metathesis of r takes place when ṛ would be followed by ṣ or h + consonant. It appears in forms of drś see and srj send forth; e. g. dráṣṭum to see, sámsraṣṭṛ one who engages in battle; also in brahmán m. priest, bráhmaṇ n. devotion beside barhís n. sacrificial litter (from bṛh or barh make big); and in a few other words.

d. The semivowel l represents IE. l and in a few instances IE. r. It is rarer than in any cognate language except Old Iranian, in which it does not occur at all. It is much rarer than r, which is seven times as frequent. A gradual increase of l is apparent in the RV.; thus in the tenth book are found the verbs mluc and labh, and the nouns lóman, lohitá, which in the earlier books appear as mruc sink, rabh seize, róman n. hair, rohitá red. This letter occurs eight times as often in the latest parts of the RV. as in the oldest; and it is seven times as common in the AV. as in the RV. It seems likely that the recorded Vedic dialect was descended from an Indo-Iranian one in which rhotacism had removed every l; but that there must have been another Vedic dialect in which IE. r and l were kept distinct, and a third in which IE. r became l throughout; from the latter two l must have found its way into the literary language to an increasing extent. In the oldest parts of the RV. there are no verbal forms preserving IE. l, and only a few nouns: (u)loká m. free space, śloka m. call, and -miśla mixed.

a. In the later Saṃhitās l occasionally occurs both medially and finally for ḍ; e. g. íle (VS. Kaṇva) = íḍe (RV. íḷe); bál iti (AV.), cf. RV. bál itthá. In a good many words l is probably of foreign origin.

12. The sibilants are all voiceless, but there are various traces of the earlier existence of voiced sibilants (cp. 7 a 3; 8; 15, 2 k). There is a considerable interchange between the sibilants, chiefly as a result of assimilation.

a. The palatal sibilant ś represents an IE. palatal (mute or spirant). Besides being the regular substitute for dental s in external Sandhi before voiceless palatals (e. g. índraś ca), it occasionally represents that sibilant within words by assimilation; e. g. śváśura (Lat. soccer) father-in-law; śaśá (IE. kasó) m. hare. Sometimes this substitution takes place, without assimilation, under the influence of allied words, as in késa m. hair beside késara (Lat. caesaries). It is also to some extent confused with the other two sibilants in the Saṃhitās, but here it interchanges much oftener with s than with ṣ. Before s the palatal ś becomes k, regularly when medial, sometimes when final; e. g. ḍḥk-ṣ-a-se 2. s. aor. subj. mid., and -ḍḥk[s] nom. s. from drś see.

b. The cerebral ṣ is, like the cerebral mutes, altogether secondary, always representing either an original palatal or an original dental sibilant. Medially it represents the palatals ś (= I-Ir. ś) and j (= I-Ir. ź) and the combination kṣ before the cerebral tenses ṭ ṭh (themselves produced from dental tenses by this ṣ); e. g. naṣ-ṭá from náś be lost; mṛṣ-ṭa 3. s. impf., from mṛj wipe; taṣ-ṭá from takṣ hew.

Medially it is regularly, and initially very frequently, substituted for dental s after vowels other than ã and after the consonants k, r, ṣ; e.g. tiṣṭhati from sthā stand; su-ṣup-ur 3. pl. pf. from svap sleep; ṛṣabhā m. bull; ukṣán m. ox; varṣá n. rain; haviṣ-ṣu in oblations; ánu ṣṭuvanti they praise; go-ṣāṇi winning cattle; divi ṣán being in heaven.

Occasionally ṣ represents dental s as a result of assimilation; e.g. śás six (Lat. sex); ṣāt victorious nom. s. from sáh overcoming.

c. The dental s as a rule represents IE. s; e.g. ásva-s horse, Lat. equo-s; ás-ti, Gk. ἔσ-τι. In Sandhi it is often replaced by the palatal ś and still oftener by the cerebral ṣ.

13. The breathing h is a secondary sound representing as a rule the second half of an original guttural or palatal aspirate, but occasionally of the dental dh and the labial bh. It usually stands for palatalized gh, this origin being recognizable by the appearance of the guttural in cognate forms; e.g. hán-ti strikes beside ghn-ánti, jaghána; dudróha has injured beside drógha injurious. It sometimes represents an old palatal aspirate (= I-Ir. žh), as is recognizable by its being replaced as final or before t by a cerebral; e.g. váh-ati carries beside á-vāt has carried, ūḍhá (= uz-ḍhá) for vah-tá. It stands for dh e.g. in gáh-ate plunges beside gādhá n. ford; hi-tá placed beside dhi-tá from dhā put. It represents bh in the verb grah seize beside grabh. The various origins of h led to a certain amount of confusion in the groups of forms from roots containing that sound. Thus beside mugdhá, the phonetic past participle of muh be confused, appears mūḍhá (AV.) bewildered.

14. Voiceless spirants. There are three such representing original final s or r. Visarjanīya has its proper place in pausā. Jihvāmūliya (formed at the root of the tongue) is the guttural spirant and is appropriate before initial voiceless gutturals (k, kh). Upadhmāṇīya (on-breathing) is the bi-labial spirant f and appears before voiceless labials (p, ph). Visarjaniya may take the place of the latter two, and always does so in the printed texts of the Saṃhitās.

15. Ancient pronunciation. As regards the pronunciation prevailing about 500 B.C. we have a sufficiently exact knowledge derived from the transcription of Sanskrit words in foreign languages, especially Greek; from the information contained in the old grammarians, Pāṇini and his school; and especially from the detailed statements of the Prātiśākhya, the ancient phonetic works dealing with the Saṃhitās. The internal evidence supplied by the phonetic changes occurring in the language of the texts themselves and the external evidence of comparative philology justify us in concluding that the pronunciation in the period of the Saṃhitās was practically the same as in Pāṇini's time. The only possible exceptions are a very few doubtful points. The following few remarks will therefore suffice on the subject of pronunciation:

1. a. The vowels. The simple vowels ĭ, ū and ā were pronounced as in Italian. But ă in the time of the Prātiśākhya was already sounded as a very short close neutral vowel like the u in English but. It is, however, probable from the fact that the metre hardly ever admits of ă being elided after e and o in the RV., though the written text drops it in about 75 per cent. of the occurrences, that at the time when the hymns were composed the pronunciation of ă was still open, but that, at the time when the Saṃhitā text was constituted, the close pronunciation was already becoming general.

The vowel ɾ, now usually sounded as ri (an early pronunciation as shown by the confusion of ɾ and ri in ancient inscriptions and MSS.), was in the Saṃhitās pronounced as a vocalic r, somewhat like the sound in the final syllable of the French chambre. It is described in the RV. Prātiśākhya as containing an r in the middle. This agrees with əre, the equivalent of ṛ in Old Iranian.

The very rare vowel ṛ, now usually pronounced as lri, was in the Samhitās a vocalic ṛ, described in the RV. Prātiśākhya as corresponding to ṛ representing an original r.

b. The diphthongs e and o were already pronounced as the simple long vowels ē and ō in the time of the *Prātiśākhya*s; and that this was even the case in the Samhitās is shown by the fact that their Sandhi before a was no longer ay and av, and that the a was beginning to be elided after e and o. But that they represent the original genuine diphthongs āi and āu is shown by the fact that they are produced in Sandhi by the coalescence of a with i and u.

The diphthongs ai and au are at the present day pronounced as āi and āu, and were so pronounced even at the time of the *Prātiśākhya*s. But that they etymologically represent āi and āu is shown by their Sandhi.

c. Lengthened vowels. The vowels i and u were often pronounced long before suffixal y; e. g. sū-yá-te is pressed ($\sqrt{\text{su}}$); janī-yánt desiring a wife (jáni); also before r when a consonant follows; e. g. gīr-bhís (but gír-as); a, i, u often become long before v; e. g. á-vidh-yat he wounded (a is augment); ji-gī-vāms having conquered ($\sqrt{\text{ji}}$); ṛtá-van observing order (ṛtá); yá-vant how great; as compensation for the loss of a following consonant; e. g. gū-ḍhá for guh-tá (15, 2 k); they are also often pronounced long for metrical reasons; e. g. śrudhī hávam hear our prayer.

*d. Svarabhakti.*¹ When a consonant is in conjunction with r or a nasal, the metre shows that a very short vowel² must often be pronounced between them; e. g. índra = índ^ara; yajñá = yaj^aná sacrifice; gná = g^aná woman.

² Described by the *Prātiśākhya*s as equal to $\frac{1}{8}$, $\frac{1}{4}$, or $\frac{1}{2}$ mora in length and generally as equivalent to a in sound.

e. Loss of vowels. With very few exceptions the only vowel lost is initial a which, in one per cent. of its occurrences in the RV. and about 20 per cent. in the AV. and the metrical portions of the YV., is dropped in Sandhi after e and o. In a few words the disappearance of initial a is prehistoric; e. g. ví bird. (Lat. avi-s); sánti they are (Lat. sumt).

f. Hiatus. In the written text of the Saṃhitās hiatus, though as a rule tolerated in diphthongs only, appears in Sandhi when a final s, y, v has been dropped before a following vowel; when final ī, ū, e of dual endings are followed by vowels; and when a remains after final e and o.

Though not written, hiatus is common elsewhere also in the Saṃhitās: y and v must often be pronounced as i and u, and a long vowel or diphthong as two vowels, the original vowels of contractions having often to be restored both within a word and in Sandhi; e. g. jyéṣṭha mightiest as jyá-iṣṭha (= jyá-iṣṭha from jyā be mighty).

2. Consonants. a. The aspirates were double sounds, consisting of mutes followed by a breathing; thus k-h is pronounced as in 'ink-horn'; t-h as in 'pot-house'; p-h as in 'top-heavy'; g-h as in 'log-house'; d-h as in 'mad-house'; b-h as in 'Hob-house'.

b. The gutturals were no doubt velars or sounds produced by the back of the tongue against the soft palate. They are described by the Prātiśākhya as formed at the 'root of the tongue' and at the 'root of the jaw'.

c. The palatals c, j, ch are pronounced like ch in 'church', j in 'join', and ch in the second part of 'Churchill'.

d. The cerebrals were pronounced somewhat like the so-called dentals t, d, n in English, but with the tip of the tongue turned farther back against the roof of the mouth. They include the cerebral ḷ and ḷh which in Rigvedic texts take the place of ḍ and ḍh between vowels. The latter occurs medially only; the former finally also.

Examples are: īlā refreshment; turā-śāl abhi-bhūtyó jāh; á-śālha invincible.

e. The dentals in the time of the Prātiśākyas were post-dentals, being produced by the tongue, according to their description, at the 'root of the teeth' (danta-mūla).

f. The class nasals are produced with organs of speech in the same position as for the formation of the corresponding mutes while the breath passes through the nose. The pure nasal, when called Anunāsika, combines with the preceding vowel to form a single sound, a nasalized vowel, as in the French 'bon'; when called Anusvāra (after-sound), it forms in combination with the preceding vowel two successive sounds, a pure vowel immediately followed by the pure nasal, though seeming to form a single sound, as in the English 'ba-ng' (where, however, the nasal is guttural, not pure).

g. The semivowel y is the voiced palatal spirant produced in the same place as the palatal vowel i. The semivowel v is described by the Prātiśākyas as a voiced labio-dental spirant. It is like the English v or the German w. The semivowel r must originally have been a cerebral, as is shown by its phonetic effect on a following dental n. By the time of the Prātiśākyas it was pronounced in other positions also. Thus the RV. Prātiśākya speaks of it as either post-dental or produced farther back (but not as cerebral).

The semivowel l is described in the Prātiśākyas as pronounced in the same position as the dentals, which means that it was a post-dental.

h. The sibilants are all voiceless. The dental s sounds like s in 'sin'; the cerebral ṣ like sh in 'shun' (but with the tip of the tongue farther back); while the palatal is produced midway between the two, being the sibilant pronounced in the same place as the spirant in the German ich. Though the voiced sibilants z, ž (palatal = French j), z, ṛh (cerebral) have entirely disappeared, they have generally left traces of their former existence in the phonetic changes they have produced.

i. The sound h was undoubtedly pronounced as a voiced breathing in the Saṃhitās. The Prātiśākhya describe it as voiced and as identical with the second element of voiced aspirates (g-h, d-h, b-h). This is corroborated by the spelling 𑖦 l-h (= ḍh) beside 𑖦 l (= ḍ).

j. There are three voiceless spirants appearing only as finals. The usual one, called Visarjaniya in the Prātiśākhya, is according to the Taittiriya Prātiśākhya articulated in the same place as the end of the preceding vowels. Its place may be taken by Jihvāmūliya before the voiceless initial gutturals k, kh; and by Upadhmanīya before the voiceless initial labials p, ph. These two are regarded by the RV. Prātiśākhya as forming the second half of the voiceless aspirates kh and ph respectively (just as h forms the second half of gh, bh, &c.). They are therefore the guttural spirant (Greek) χ and the bilabial spirant f respectively.

k. Loss of consonants. This is almost entirely confined to groups of consonants. When the group is final, all but the first element, as a rule, is dropped in pausā and in Sandhi (28). In initial consonant groups a sibilant is often lost before a mute; e.g. candrá shining beside ścandrá; stanayitnú m. beside tanayitnú thunder; tāyú m. beside stāyú thief; tṛ beside stṛ m. star; páśyati sees beside spás m. spy, -spaṣ-ṭa seen. In a medial group the sibilants s and ś regularly disappear between mutes; e.g. á-bhak-ta, 3. s. aor. for á-bhak-ś-ṭa beside á-bhak-ś-i. A mute may disappear between a nasal and a mute; e.g. yuñ-dhí for yuñg-dhí.

a. Medially, voiced sibilants, the dental z, the cerebral ṛ, and the palatal ṛ, have disappeared before the voiced dentals d, dh, and h, but nearly always leaving a trace of their former existence. Only in the two roots containing ā, ās sit, śās order, the sibilant has disappeared without a trace : ā-dhvam, śa-śā-dhi. But when a preceded the z the loss of the sibilant is indicated by e taking the place of az ; e. g. e-dhī (for az-dhī) from as be ; sed, perfect stem of sad sit for sazd ; similarly in de-hī give (for daz-dhī) beside dad-dhī. When other vowels than ā preceded, the z was cerebralized and disappeared after cerebralizing the following dental and lengthening the preceding vowel ; thus á-sto-dhvam (= á-sto-z-dhvam for á-sto-s-dhvam) 2. pl. aor. beside á-sto-s-ṭa ; similarly mīdhá n. reward (Gk. μισθός). Similarly the old voiced palatal ž disappeared after cerebralizing a following d or dh and lengthening the preceding vowel ; e. g. tā-dhi for taž-dhi (= taċ-s-dhi) from takṣ fashion ; ṣo-dhā for ṣaṣ-dhā (= saċ-s-dhā) beside ṣaṣ-ṭhā sixth. Still commoner is the loss of the old aspirated palatal žh represented by h, which was dropped after cerebralizing and aspirating a following t and lengthening the preceding vowel ; e. g. sā-dhṛ for sáh-tṛ conqueror from sah ; gūdhá concealed for guh-tá (from gužh-tá).

l. Hapology. When two identical or similar syllables are in juxtaposition, one of them is sometimes dropped ; e. g. tuvī-rá[va]-vān roaring mightily beside tuvī-ráva ; ir[adh]ádhyai inf. of iradh seek to win ; ma-dúgha m. a plant yielding honey, beside madhu-dúgha shedding sweetness ; śīrṣa-[sa]ktí f. headache.

CHAPTER II

RULES OF SANDHI OR EUPHONIC COMBINATION OF SOUNDS

16. Though the sentence is naturally the unit of speech, which forms an unbroken chain of syllables euphonicly combined, it is strictly so only in the prose portions of the AV. and the YV. But as the great bulk of the Vedas is metrical, the editors of the Saṃhitā text treat the hemistich (generally consisting of two Pādas or verses) as the euphonic unit, being specially strict in applying the rules of Sandhi between the verses forming the hemistich. But the evidence of metre supported by that of accent shows that the Pāda is the true euphonic unit. The form which the final of a word shows varies according as it appears in pausā at the end of a Pāda, or in combination with a following word within the Pāda. With the former is concerned the law of finals in pausā, with the latter the rules of Sandhi. Avoidance of hiatus and assimilation are the leading principles on which the rules of Sandhi are based.

Though both are in general founded on the same phonetic laws, it is necessary, owing to certain differences, to distinguish external Sandhi, which determines the changes of final and initial letters of words, from internal Sandhi, which applies to the final letters of verbal roots and nominal stems when followed by certain suffixes and terminations.

a. The rules of external Sandhi apply with few exceptions (which are survivals from an earlier stage of external Sandhi) to words forming compounds, and to final letters of nominal stems before the case-endings beginning with consonants (-bhyām -bhis, -bhyas, -su) or before secondary (182, 2) suffixes beginning with any consonant except y.

A. External Sandhi.

Classification of Vowels.

17. Vowels are divided into

- A. 1. Simple vowels : a ā ; i ī ; u ū ; ṛ ṝ ; ḷ.
 2. Guṇa vowels : a ā ; e o ar al.
 3. Vṛddhi vowels : ā ; ai ; au ; āṛ.¹

a. Guṇa (secondary quality) has the appearance of being the simple vowel strengthened by combination with a preceding a according to the rule (19a) of external Sandhi (except that a itself remains unchanged) ; Vṛddhi (increase), of being the Guṇa vowel strengthened by combination with another a.²

B. 1. Vowels liable to be changed into semivowels : i, ī ; u, ū ; ṛ³ and the diphthongs e, ai, o, au (the latter half of which is i or u) : consonantal vowels.

2. Vowels not liable to be changed into semivowels (and only capable of coalescence) : a, ā : unconsonantal vowels.

Combination of Final and Initial Vowels.

18. If the same simple vowel (short or long) occurs at the end of one word and the beginning of the next, contraction resulting in the long vowel⁴ is the rule in the written text of the Saṃhitās. Thus ihāsti = ihā asti ; índrā = índra á ; tvāgne = tvā agne ; vīdám = ví idám ; sūktám = su uktám.

² In this vowel gradation, as Comparative Philology shows, the Guṇa vowel represents the normal stage, from which the simple vowel was reduced by loss of accent, while Vṛddhi is a lengthened variety of Guṇa (5a). The reduction of the syllables ya, va, ra (which are parallel with the Guṇa stage) to the corresponding vowels i, u, ṛ (5b) is termed Samprasāraṇa (distraction).

³ ṝ never appears under conditions rendering it liable to be changed into r (cp. 4 a, p. 4).

⁴ ṝ does not occur because ṛ ṝ never meet in the Saṃhitās, and final ṝ does not even occur in the RV.

a. The contraction of ā + a and of ũ + ũ occasionally does not take place, even in the written text of the RV., both between the Pādas of a hemistich and within a Pāda; thus manīṣā | agniḥ; manīṣā abhī; vīḷū utā; sū ūrdhvāḥ; and in a compound, su-ūtāyaḥ.

b. On the other hand, the metre requires the contracted vowels of the written text to be restored in pronunciation. In such cases the restored initial is long by nature or position, while the preceding final, if long, must be shortened.¹ Thus cāsāt is pronounced as ca āsāt; cārcata as ca arcata; mápēḥ as mā āpēḥ (for mā āpēḥ); mṛlatīdīrśe as mṛlati īdīrśe; yántīndavaḥ as yānti īndavaḥ; bhavantūkṣāṇaḥ as bhavantu ukṣāṇaḥ. When the first word is a monosyllable (especially ví or hí), the written contractions ī and ū are usually to be pronounced with hiatus; thus hīndra as hí indra.

19. a and ā

a. coalesce with the simple vowels ī² and ũ to the Guṇa vowels e and o³ respectively; e.g. ihéha = ihá iha; pitéva = pitá iva; ém = á im; óbhā = á ubhā.⁴ They are never contracted to ar in the written text of the RV. or VS.;⁵ but the metre shows that the combination is sometimes to be pronounced as ar, for instance in the compound sapta-rṣāyaḥ the seven seers = saptarṣāyaḥ.

² Occasionally ā + i remain uncontracted in the written text of the RV., as jyā iyām, pibā imām, raṇayā ihā.

³ This contraction is a survival because ē and ō are simple long vowels, but they were originally = āi, āu.

⁵ ā is always shortened or nasalized before r̥ in the written text; e.g. tátha r̥tūḥ (for táthā); vipanyām̐ r̥tāsya (for vipanyā).

b. coalesce with Guṇa vowels to Vṛddhi; e. g. áibhiḥ = ā ebhiḥ.¹

c. are absorbed by Vṛddhi vowels; e. g. sómasyauśijāḥ = sómasya auśijāḥ.

20. The simple consonantal vowels ī and ū before dissimilar vowels or before diphthongs are regularly changed to the semivowels y and v respectively in the written text of the Samhitās; e. g. prátý āyam = prāti āyam; jánitry ajījanat = jánitri ajījanat; ā tv étā = ā tú étā. But the evidence of the metre shows that this y or v nearly always has the syllabic value of ī or ū.² Thus vy ūśāḥ must be read as ví uśāḥ; vidátheṣv añján as vidátheṣu añján.

a. Final ṛ (which does not occur in the RV.) becomes r before a dissimilar vowel; an example is vijñātr étát = vijñātré étát (ŚB.).

21. The Guṇa vowels e and o

a. remain unchanged before a,³ which is generally⁴ elided in the written text of the Samhitās, but according to the evidence of the metre, must almost invariably in the RV., and generally in the AV. and YV., be pronounced,⁵ whether written or not.⁶ In devāso aptúraḥ (i. 3⁸) the a is both

² Because ī and ū are prosodically shortened before a following vowel (p. 22, note 1).

⁴ In the RV. it is elided in about 75 per cent., in the AV. in about 66 per cent. of its occurrences.

⁵ In the RV. it must be pronounced in 99 per cent., in the AV. and the metrical parts of the YV. in about 80 per cent. of its occurrences.

written and pronounced; in sūnávė 'gne (i. 1^o) it must be restored as sūnávė | ágne.

b. before every other vowel (or diphthong) would naturally¹ become ay and av (the form they assume within a word), but the former drops the semivowel throughout, while the latter does so only before ũ; e. g. agna ihá (for agnay); váya ukthébhiḥ (for váyav); but váyav á yāhi.

22. The Vṛddhi vowels ai and au are treated before every vowel (including a) or diphthong exactly in the same way as e and o before vowels other than a. Thus ai becomes ā (through āy) throughout, but au only before *ũ*² (through āv); e. g. tásmā akṣí (for tásmāy), tásmā índrāya; sujihvá ūpa (for sujihvāv), but tāv á, tāv indrāgnī.

a. The (secondary) hiatus caused by the dropping of y and v in the above cases (21 b and 22) as a rule remains. But further contraction is sometimes actually written in the Samhitās; e. g. sártavájáu for sártavá ājáu (through sártaváy for sártavái); vásáu for vá asáu (through váy for vái). Sometimes, again, the contraction, though not written, is required by the metre. Thus ta indra must be pronounced as tendra, and goṣṭhá ūpa (AV.) for goṣṭhé ūpa (through goṣṭháy) as goṣṭhópa.

Irregular Vowel Sandhi.

23. Vṛddhi instead of Guna results from the contraction of

a. the preposition á (in the AV. and VS.) with initial ṛ in árti = á ṛti and in árchatu = á ṛchatu. In the case of the latter verb, the TS. extends this contraction to prepositions ending in a: úpārchati = úpa ṛchati and avārchāti = ava ṛchāti.

¹ Because e and o were originally = āi and āu.

² This is also the Sandhi of the AB. and KB.

b. The preposition prá (in the RV.) with initial i in práishayúr = prá ishayúr.

c. The augment a with the initial vowels i, u, r; ¹ e. g. áichas 2. s. impf. of iṣ wish; áunat 3. s. impf. of ud wet; árta 3. s. aor. of r go.

Absence of Vowel Sandhi.

24. The particle u is unchangeable² in pronunciation before vowels, though as a rule written as v after a consonant; ³ e. g. bhá u amśáve, but ávéd v índra. When it combines with the final ā of a particle to o, in ó = ā u, átho = átha u, utó = utá u, mó = mā u, it remains unchanged even in the written text; e. g. átho índrāya.

25. a. The ī and ū of the dual (nom. acc.) never change to y and v. This dual ī is never to be pronounced short, but the ū sometimes is; e. g. hārī (∪ -) ṛtásya, but sādhū (- ∪) asmai. This ī may remain before i, as in hārī iva, but in several instances the contraction is written, as in ródasimé = ródasī imé, while in several others, though not written, it must be pronounced.

b. The rare locatives singular in ī and ū are also regularly written unchanged in the RV.,⁴ but they seem always to be treated as prosodically short.

c. The ī of the nom. plur. m. (of the pronoun asáu) amī is always given as unchangeable in the Pada text (amī iti), but it never happens to occur before a vowel in the RV.

¹ This is perhaps a survival of a prehistoric contraction of ā (the original form of the augment) with i, u, r to āi, āu, ār.

² The term applied by the native phoneticians to unchangeable vowels is pragṛhya separated. Such vowels are indicated in the Pada text by an appended iti. u is always there written in its lengthened and nasalized form as ūṁ iti.

³ It is occasionally written unchanged in its lengthened form even after a consonant, as tām ū akr̥ṇvan.

⁴ Except védy asyām, to be pronounced védī asyām.

a. The i of the nom. s. in pr̥thivī, pr̥thu-jrāyī, samrājñī rarely, of the instr. suśāmī once, and of the instr. ūtī often, remains unchanged before vowels; ¹ e. g. samrājñī ādhi, suśāmī abhūvan.

26. The diphthong e is unchangeable in various nominal and verbal forms.

a. The e of the nom. acc. dual (= a + ī), fem. and neut. of a stems, is not liable to Sandhi; ² e. g. ródasī ubhé rghāyāmānam.

b. The verbal dual e ³ of the 2. 3. pres. and perf. mid. never combines, though it is nearly always prosodically shortened; e. g. parimamnāthē asmān.

c. The e of the locative of the pronominal forms tvé in thee, asmé ⁴ in us, yusmé in you are unchangeable; ⁵ e. g. tvé it; asmé āyuh; yusmé itthā.

Combination of Final and Initial Consonants.

27. The external Sandhi of consonants is primarily and almost exclusively concerned with the assimilation of a final to a following initial sound. Since the Sandhi of final consonants generally speaking starts from the form they assume in pausā, ⁶ it is necessary to state the law of allowable finals at the outset. That law may be formulated as follows: only unaspirated hard mutes, nasals, and Visarjanīya are tolerated, and palatals are excluded, as finals. By this law the thirty-nine consonants classified in § 3 are reduced to

² Except dhīṣṇyemé for dhīṣṇye imé, as it is also probably to be pronounced.

⁵ They are always written with iti in the Pada text.

⁶ Final n and r are, however, to a considerable extent treated not on the basis of their pausal form, but of etymology.

the following eight as permissible in pausā :—k, ñ; ṭ; t, n; p, m; Visarjanīya.

The aspirate and soft mutes (3 b) are eliminated, leaving only hard unaspirated mutes to represent them. The palatals (3 b β), including ś (3 d), and h (3 e), are replaced by k or ṭ (ñ by ñ).

ṣ (3 d) is replaced by ṭ, s (3 d) and r (3 c) by Visarjanīya.

The nasal ṇ (3 b γ) and the three semivowels y, l, v (3 c) do not occur.

28. The rule is that only a single consonant may be final. Hence all but the first of a group of consonants must be dropped; e.g. ābhavan 3. pl. impf. were (for ābhavant); tān acc. pl. those (for tāns); tudān striking (for tudānts); prāñ forward (through prāñk for prāñc-s); āchān 3. s. aor. has pleased (for āchantst).

a. k, ṭ, or t, when they follow an r and belong to the root, are allowed to remain; ¹ e.g. vārk 3. s. aor. of vṛj bend (for vārk-t); ūr̥k nom. s. of ūrj strength; ā-mār̥ṭ 3. s. impf. of mṛj wipe; ā-vart 3. s. aor. of vṛt turn; su-hār̥t nom. s. of suhārd friend.

a. There are seven instances in the Saṃhitās in which a suffixal s or t is retained instead of the preceding radical consonant. (1) s thus appears in the following four nominatives sing.: sadha-mās beside sadha-māt (for sadha-mād-s) companion of the feast; ava-yās (for ava-yāj-s) f. sacrificial share; āvayās (for āvayāj-s) m. a kind of priest; puro-dās sacrificial cake (for puro-dās-s).² (2) s or t similarly appears in the following four singular verbal preterite forms: ā-yā-s (for ā-yaj-s) beside a-yāt 2 s. aor. of yaj sacrifice; ā-srās (for ā-sraj-s) 2. s. aor. of sṛj emit; ā-bhanas (for ā-bhanak-s) 2. s. impf. of bhañj break; and ā-sraṭ (for a-sras-t)³ 3. s. aor. of sras fall.

² The s is probably due to the analogy of nominatives, like mās moon, draviṇo-dā-s wealth-giver, &c.

³ The appearance of s or t here is due to the beginnings of the Classification of Consonants.

29. The assimilation, of which the application of the rules of consonant Sandhi consists, is of two kinds. It is concerned either with a shift of the phonetic position in which a consonant is articulated, or with a change of the quality of the consonant. Hence it is necessary to understand fully the classification of consonants from these two aspects. In § 3 b c d (cp. 15, 2*b-h*) an arrangement according to the place of articulation is given of all the consonants except four, the breathing h and the three voiceless spirants, which are phonetically described in § 15, 2*ij*.

a. Contact of the tongue with the throat produces the gutturals, with the palate the palatals, with the roof of the mouth the cerebrals, with the teeth the dentals, while contact between the lips produces the labials.

b. In forming the nasals of the five classes, the breath partially passes through the nose while the tongue or the lips are in the position for articulating the corresponding tenuis. The real Anusvāra is formed in the nose only, while the tongue is in the position for forming the particular vowel which the Anusvāra accompanies.

c. The semivowels y, r, l, v are palatal, cerebral, dental, and labial respectively, pronounced in the same position as the corresponding vowels i, ṛ, ḷ, u, the tongue being in partial contact with the place of articulation in the first three, and the lips in partial contact in the fourth.

d. The three sibilants are hard spirants produced by partial contact of the tongue with the palate, roof, and teeth respectively. There are no corresponding soft sibilants (English z, French j), but their prehistoric existence may be inferred from various phenomena of Sandhi (cp. 15, 2*ka*).

tendency to normalize the terminations so as to have s in the 2. s. and t in the 3. s. Some half-dozen examples of this have been found in the Brāhmaṇas; e. g. ā-ves 2. s. impf. (= ā-ved-s) from vid know.

e. h and ḥ are respectively soft and hard spirants produced without any contact, and articulated in the position of the vowel that precedes or follows. h occurs only before soft letters, ḥ only after vowels and before certain hard letters.

30. Quality of consonants.

Consonants are

1. either hard (surd, voiceless): k kh, c ch, ṭ ṭh, t th, p ph; ś ś s; ḥ ḥ ḥ (3); or soft (sonant, voiced): all the rest (3) (besides all the vowels and diphthongs).

2. either aspirated: kh gh, ch jh, ṭh ḍh ḷh, th dh, ph bh, h ḥ ḥ ḥ, ś ś s; or unaspirated: all the rest.

Hence the change of c to k is a change of the position of articulation (palatal to guttural), and that of c to j is a change of quality (hard to soft); while the change of c to g (hard palatal to soft guttural) or of t to j (hard dental to soft palatal) is one of both position and quality.

31. It is essential to remember that consonant Sandhi cannot be applied till finals have been reduced to one of the eight allowable sounds (27). The latter are then modified without reference to their etymological value (except partially in the case of n and Visarjanīya). Only six of these allowable finals occur at all frequently, viz. k, t, n, p, m, and Visarjanīya, while the cerebral ṭ and the guttural ṇ are rare.

I. Changes of Quality.

32. A final consonant (that is, a mute or Visarjanīya) is assimilated in quality to the following initial, becoming soft before soft initials, and remaining hard before hard initials (consonants).

Hence final k, ṭ, t, p before vowels and soft consonants become g, ḍ, d, b respectively; e.g. arvāg rādhaḥ (through arvāk for arvāc); havyavād juhvāsyah (through -vāt for -vāh); śāl urvīḥ (through śāt for śās: cp. 3 b γ); gāmad vājebhiḥ (for gámat); agníd ṛtāyatāḥ (through agnít for agnídḥ); triṣṭúb gāyatrí (through triṣṭúp for triṣṭúbḥ); abjá (for ap-já).

33. Final k, ṭ, t, p before n or m may, and in practice regularly do, become the nasal of their own class; e. g. prāṇaṁ mártasya (through prāṇag for prāṇak); virāṇaṁ mitrávaruṇayoḥ (through viráḍ for virát); śāṇ-ṇavati (TS.) (through śāt-) for śāṣ-ṇavati; āsīn nó (through āsīd for āsīt); tán mitrásya (for tád); trikakúm nivártat (through trikakúb for trikakúp from trikakúbḥ).

34. Final t becomes l through d; e. g. áṅgāl lómnaḥ (for áṅgāt).

35. Since the nasals have no corresponding hard sounds, they remain unchanged in quality before initial hard sounds. The guttural ñ,¹ which is rare, remains otherwise unmodified also (cp. 52); but it may before sibilants insert a transitional k, e. g. pratyáñk sá beside pratyáñ sá. Final m is liable to change of position before all consonants (42). Final dental n is liable to change before vowels (42, 52), palatals, dentals, the semivowel l, and sometimes p (40).

36. The dental nasal n remains unchanged before (1) the gutturals k, kh, g, gh; (2) the labials p,² ph, b, bh, m; (3) the soft dentals d, dh, n; generally also before t (40, 2); (4) the semivowels y, r, v, and the breathing h; (5) the cerebral and the dental sibilants ṣ and s.

a. Before ṣ and s a transitional t may be inserted, e. g. áhan-t sáhasā; tán-t sám.

II. Changes of Position.

37. The only four final consonants (27) liable to change of position are the dental t and n, the labial m, and Visar-janiya.

¹ The palatal and cerebral nasals, as has already been stated, do not occur as finals.

² Before p it sometimes becomes mḥ; cp. 40, 5.

a. The two dentals become palatal before palatals.¹

b. Visarjanīya and m adapt themselves to the phonetic position of the following consonant.

1. Final t.

38. Final t before palatals (c, j, ch, ś) is changed to a palatal (c or j); e.g. tác cákṣuḥ for tát cákṣuḥ; yātayáj-jana for yātayát-jana; rohíc chyāvā for rohít śyāvā.²

2. Final n.

39. Final n before vowels is changed, after a long vowel, to Anusvāra: if the preceding vowel is ā, to ṁ, if it is ī, ū, ṛ, to ṁr;³ e.g. sárgāṁ íva for sárgān; vidvāṁ agne for vidvān; paridhīm̐r átī for paridhín; abhísūm̐r íva for abhísūn; *nṛm̐r*⁴ abhí for nṛn.

40. 1. Final n before all palatals that occur becomes palatal ñ; e.g. ūrdhvāñ caráthāya for ūrdhvān; tāñ juṣethām for tān; vajriñ śnathihi for vajrin; but since before ś a transitional t may be inserted, vajrnt śnathihi may (through *vajriñc*⁵ śnathihi) become vajrñ chnathihi.⁶

a. Before c the palatal sibilant is sometimes inserted⁷ in the RV., the preceding n then becoming Anusvāra. This

² On the change of ś to ch after c see 53.

⁵ That is, t before ś becomes c (38).

⁶ That is, after c initial ś may become ch (53).

⁷ There are no examples of the inserted sibilant before ch in the Samhitās.

insertion takes place, only when the sibilant is etymologically justified,¹ almost exclusively (though not without exception even here²) before ca and cid; e.g. anuyājā́mś ca, amenā́mś cit. In the later Samhitās the inserted sibilant becomes commoner, occurring even where not etymologically justified.³

2. Final n usually remains unchanged before dental t,⁴ e.g. tvāvā́n tmā́nā; but the dental sibilant is sometimes inserted in the RV., the preceding n then becoming Anusvāra. This insertion takes place, only when the sibilant is historically justified;¹ e.g. āvādā́mś tvām (for āvādan). In the later Samhitās the inserted sibilant becomes commoner, occurring even where not etymologically justified.³

3. Final n before initial l always becomes nazalized ḷ; e.g. jigīvā́ḷ lakṣām.

4. Though final n generally remains unchanged before y, r, v, h (36, 4), ān, īn, ūn sometimes become ām, īm̐r, ūm̐r as before vowels (39); e.g. devā́n havā́mahe; but svāvā́m̐ yātu (for svāvān); dadvā́m̐ vā (for dadvān); pīvo-annā́m̐ rayiv́dhaḥ (for annān); paṇīm̐r hatam (for paṇīn); dās-yūm̐r yónau (for dāsýūn).

5. Final n when etymologically representing ns sometimes becomes m̐h before p (36, 2); thus nṛ̐m̐h pāhi (for nṛ̐n); nṛ̐m̐h pātram; svátavā́m̐h pāyúḥ (for svátavān).

3. Final m.

41. Final m remains unchanged before vowels; e.g. agnīm̐ ṛ̐ I praise Agni.

¹ That is, in the nom. s. and acc. pl. m., which originally ended in ns.

² E.g. paśú́ñ ca sthātṛ̐ñ carátham (i. 72⁶).

³ As in the 3. pl. impf., e.g. ābhavan (originally ābhavan-t) and the voc. and loc. of n stems, e.g. rājan (which never ended in s).

⁴ No initial th occurs in the RV.

a. In a very few instances the m is dropped and the vowels thereupon contract. This Sandhi is mostly indicated by the metre only : thus rāṣṭrām ihá must be pronounced rāṣṭréhá. It is very rarely written, as in durgáhaitát for durgáham etát. The Pada text, however, neither here (durgáhā etát) nor elsewhere analyses a contraction in this way.

42. Final m before consonants is changed

1. before the semivowel r, the three sibilants ś, ṣ, s and the breathing h to Anusvāra ; e.g. hótāraṃ ratnadhā-tamam (for hótāram) ; várdhamānaṃ své (for várdhamānam) ; mitráṃ huve (for mitrám).¹

2. before y, l, v it becomes nasalized ṡ, ḷ, ṽ ; but the printed texts regularly use Anusvāra² instead ; e.g. sám yudhí ; yajñám vaṣṭu.³

3. before mutes it becomes the class nasal,⁴ and n before *n*⁵ ; e.g. bhadrán kariṣyási ; tyáñ camasám ; návan tváṣṭuḥ ; bhadrán naḥ. Most MSS. and the printed texts, however, represent this assimilated m by Anusvāra⁶ ; e.g. bhadrám kariṣyási ; tyám camasám ; návam tváṣṭuḥ ; bhadrám naḥ.

a. This Sandhi is identical with that of n before the palatals c, j, ch (40) and the soft dentals d, dh, n (36, 3), and of t before n (33).

⁴ Before labials it of course remains.

⁶ Max Müller in his editions prints Anusvāra throughout, even before labials ; Aufrecht has Anusvāra except before labials, where he retains m.

4. Final Visarjanīya.

43. Visarjanīya is the spirant to which the hard s and the corresponding soft r are reduced in pausā. If followed by a hard sound,

1. a palatal (c, ch) or a dental (t) mute, it becomes the corresponding sibilant; e. g. devās cakṛmā (through devāḥ for devās); pūs ca (through pūḥ ca for pūr ca);¹ yās te (for yāḥ); āṇvībhis tānā (for -bhiḥ).

a. Visarjanīya, if preceded by ī and ū, before dental t often becomes cerebral ṣ, which cerebralizes the following initial t to ṭ. In the RV. this occurs chiefly, and in the later Vedas only, before pronouns; e. g. agnīṣ te; krātuṣ tām; also nākiṣ tanūsu. In compounds this change takes place in all the Samhitās; e. g. dūṣ-ṭara hard to pass.²

2. a guttural (k, kh) or labial (p, ph) mute, it either remains or becomes Jihvāmūliya (ḥ) before the gutturals and Upadhmāniya (ḥ) before the labials; e. g. viṣṇoḥ kārmaṇi (for viṣṇos); īndraḥ pāñca (for īndras); pūnaḥ-punaḥ (for pūnar); dyāuḥ pṛthivī.

a. After ā it often, in the RV., becomes s, and ṣ after ī, ū, ṛ; e. g. divās pári; pátnivatas kṛdhi; dyáuṣ pitā. In compounds this change takes place regularly in all the Samhitās; e. g. paras-pā far-protecting; haviṣ-pā drinking the offering; duṣ-kṛi evil-doing, duṣ-pád evil-footed.

3. a simple sibilant, it either remains or is assimilated; e. g. vaḥ śívátamaḥ or vaś śívátamaḥ; dévīḥ śat or dévīṣ śat; naḥ sapátnāḥ or nas sapátnāḥ; púnaḥ sám or púnas sám.⁴ Assimilation is undoubtedly the original Sandhi;

² The only exception in the RV. is cátus-trimśat thirty-four.

³ This treatment before gutturals and labials corresponds to that before t (a), and was doubtless the original one in sentence Sandhi.

⁴ This combination (in which Visarjanīya represents original r), though contrary to etymology, is universal in external Sandhi; but but the MSS. usually employ Visarjanīya and European editions regularly do so.

a. Before a sibilant immediately followed by a hard mute, a final Visarjanīya is dropped; e.g. mandībhi stōmebhiḥ (through mandībhiḥ for mandībhis); du-ṣṭutī f. ill-praise (for duṣ-ṣṭutī). The dropping is prescribed by the Prātiśākhya of the RV., the VS., and the TS., and is applied by Aufrecht in his edition of the RV.

b. Before a sibilant immediately followed by a nasal or semivowel, a final Visarjanīya is optionally dropped; e.g. kṛta śrāvaḥ (for kṛtaḥ); ni-svarām (through viḥ- for nis-).

44. Visarjanīya (except after a or ā) before a soft sound (vowel or consonant) is changed to r; e.g. ṛṣibhir īdyaḥ (through ṛṣibhiḥ for ṛṣibhis); agnīr hōtā (through agnīḥ for agnīs); paribhūr āsi (through -bhūr for -bhūs).

45. 1. The final syllable āḥ (= ās) drops its Visarjanīya before vowels or soft consonants; e.g. sutā imé (through sutāḥ for sutās); vīśvā vī (through vīśvāḥ for vīśvās).

2. The final syllable aḥ (= as)

a. drops its Visarjanīya before vowels except a; e.g. khyā ā (through khyāḥ for khyas).

b. before soft consonants and before a, is changed to o, after which a may be elided (21 a); e.g. īndavo vām (through īndavaḥ for īndavas); no āti (through naḥ for nas) or nó 'ti.

46. The final syllables aḥ (= ar) and āḥ (= ār), in the comparatively few instances¹ in which the Visarjanīya represents an etymological r, do not form an exception (45) to the general rule (44); e.g. prātār agnīḥ; pūnar naḥ; svār druḥāḥ; vār avāyatī.

in compounds the original r frequently remains; e.g. vanar-śād, dhūr-śād, &c. This survival shows that r originally remained before sibilants in sentence Sandhi.

47. r followed by r is always dropped, a preceding short vowel being lengthened; e. g. púnā rūpāṇi for púnar.¹

48. The three pronouns (nom. m. s.) sáḥ that, syáḥ that, eṣáḥ this, drop the Visarjaniya before all consonants;² e. g. sá vānāni, syá dūtáḥ, eṣá tám. The Visarjaniya is here otherwise treated regularly;³ at the end of a Pāda, e. g. padīṣṭá sáḥ | cakra eṣáḥ |, and before vowels, e. g. só apáḥ, eṣó asura, eṣó 'mandan (for amandan): sá óṣadhīḥ, eṣá índraḥ.

a. sá, however, generally combines in the RV. with a following vowel; e. g. sásmai for sá asmai; séd for sá id; sáuṣadhīḥ for sá óṣadhīḥ.

Sandhi in Compounds.

49. The euphonic combination at the junction of the members of compounds is on the whole subject to the rules prevailing in external Sandhi. Thus the evidence of metre shows that contracted vowels are often to be pronounced with hiatus when the initial vowel of the second member is prosodically long (cp. 18 b); e. g. yuktá-aśva (for yuktáśva) having yoked horses, devá-iddha kindled by the gods (for devédha), ácha-ukti (for áchokti) invitation.

Compounds have, however, preserved many archaisms of Sandhi which have disappeared from Sandhi in the sentence.

a. In viś-páti lord of the house and viś-pátnī mistress of the house ś remains instead of the *ṭ*⁴ required by external Sandhi.

b. In sam-rāj sovereign ruler m appears instead of the Anusvāra required before r (42, 1), as in sam-rājantam.

² sáḥ, however, twice retains it in the RV.; sáḥ páliknīḥ (v. 24) and sás táva (viii. 38¹⁶) for sáḥ.

³ syáḥ never occurs in the RV. before a vowel or at the end of a Pāda.

⁴ viś-páti has in post-Vedic Sanskrit become viṭpati.

c. A group of compounds formed with dus ill as first member combine that adverb with a following d and n to dū-d (= duṣ-d) and dū-n (= duṣ-n) instead of dur-d and dur-n:¹ dū-dābha (for dus-dābha) hard to deceive, dū-dās not worshipping (for dus-dās), dū-dhī malevolent (for dus-dhī); dū-nāśa hard to attain (for dur-nāśa), dū-nāśa (for dus-nāśa) hard to attain and hard to destroy.

d. Final (etymological) r in the first member is preserved in the RV. before hard sounds where the rules of external Sandhi require Visarjaniya or a sibilant (४३): vār-kāryā producing water; svār-cakṣas brilliant as light; pūr-pati lord of the stronghold, svār-pati lord of heaven; vanar-sād and vanar-śād sitting in the wood, dhūr-śād being on the yoke; svār-śā winning light; svār-śāti acquisition of light.² The VS. also has ahar-pāti lord of day, and dhūr-śāh bearing the yoke.³

e. Radical stems in ir, ur mostly lengthen their vowel before consonants (as they do within the simple word);² e.g. dhūr-śād being on the yoke, pūr-yāna leading to the fort.⁴

50. Compounds further often contain archaisms which though still existing in external Sandhi are obsolescent and disappear entirely in later periods of the language.

a. In six compounds ścandrā bright retains its old initial sibilant in the second member; e.g. ásva-ścandra brilliant with horses, puru-ścandrā very brilliant. As an independent word it is, excepting three occurrences in the RV., invariably candrā.⁵

b. A final s of the first member or an initial s of the second member is cerebralized; e.g. duṣ-ṭāra hard to cross, duḥ-śāha hard to resist.⁶

² Nouns ending in radical r retain the r before the ending su of the loc. pl.; gír-sū, dhūr-sū, pūr-sū.

³ External Sandhi gradually encroaches here in the later Saṃhitās; e.g. svāh-pati in the SV.

⁴ But gír retains its short vowel in gír-vaṇas fond of praise and gír-vāhas praised in song.

⁵ How nearly extinct ścandrā is as an independent word is indicated by the fact that in the analysis of its six compounds it always appears as candrā in the Padapāṭha.

c. A dental n in the second member is cerebralized after r, r, ṣ in the first member:

α. almost invariably, whether initial, medial, or final in a root, when a verbal derivative is compounded with a preposition that contains r; e. g. nir-ṇij f. bright garment, pāri-hṇuta denied, prāṇ-á m. breath; and even in suffixes, as pra-yāṇa n. advance (from yā go).

β. predominantly in other compounds when the second member is a verbal noun; e. g. grāma-ñi chief of a village, dur-gāṇi dangers, pitṛ-yāṇa trodden by the fathers, rakṣo-hāṇ demon-slaying; but puro-yāvan beside prātar-yāvaṇ going out early. Cerebralization never takes place in -ghn the weak form of -han killing; nor in akṣā-nāh tied to the axle, kravya-vāhana conveying corpses, carma-mnā tanner, yuṣmā-nīta led by you.

γ. less regularly when the second member is an ordinary (non-verbal) noun; e. g. urū-ṇasā broad-nosed, prā-ṇapāt great-grandson; but candrā-nirṇij having a brilliant garment, púnar-nava again renewed.

d. The final vowel of the first member is often lengthened, especially before v; e. g. annā-vṛdh prospering by food. This is often due to an old rhythmical tendency (also appearing in the sentence) to lengthen a vowel before a single consonant between two short syllables; e. g. rathā-sāh able to draw the car.

e. Final ā or ī of the first member is often shortened before a group of consonants or a long syllable; e. g. ūrṇa-mradas soft as wool (ūrṇā); prṭhivi-ṣṭhā standing on the earth (prṭhivī); amīva-cātana driving away disease (ámīvā).

Doubling of Consonants.

51. The palatal ch etymologically represents a double sound and metrically lengthens a preceding short vowel. For the latter reason the RV. Prātiśakhya prescribes the doubling of ch (in the form of cch) after a short vowel, and, as regards long vowels, after á only, when a vowel follows.¹ This rule is followed by Max Müller in his editions of the RV.; e. g. utá cchadiḥ, ā-cchád-vidhāna, but me chantsat.

¹ The Vedic MSS. almost invariably write the simple ch, and this practice is followed by Aufrecht in his edition of the Rigveda and L. v. Schroeder in his edition of the MS. It is also followed in the present work.

52. Before vowels final ñ and n, if preceded by a short vowel, are doubled; e. g. kīḍññ indrah; áhann indrah. Though the nasal is always written double, the metre shows that this rule is only partially applied as regards pronunciation in the RV.

a. The compound vṛṣaṇ-aśvā with stallions as steeds (ṇ-n) is an exception.

Initial Aspiration.

53. After a final c, initial ś regularly becomes ch; e. g. yác chaknāvāma for yád śaknāvāma.

a. The same change occasionally takes place after ṭ; thus vīpāt chutudrī (for śutudrī); turāṣāt chuṣmī (for śuṣmī).

54. Initial h, after softening a preceding k, ṭ, t, p, is changed to the soft aspirate of that mute; e. g. sadhryāg ghitā for hitā; āvāḍ dhavyāni for āvāt havyāni; śīdad dhótā for śīdat hótā.

55. If gh, dh, bh, or h are at the end of a (radical) syllable beginning with g, d, or b, and lose their aspiration as final or otherwise, the initial consonants are aspirated by way of compensation;¹ e. g. from dagh reach the 3. s. injunctive is dhak (for dagh-t); -búdh waking becomes -bhút; dúh milking becomes dhúk.

B. Internal Sandhi.

56. The rules of internal Sandhi apply to the finals of roots and nominal and verbal stems before all endings of declension (except those beginning with consonants of the middle stem: 73 a) and conjugation, before primary suffixes (182, 1) and before secondary suffixes (182, 2) beginning with a vowel or y. Many of these rules agree with those of external Sandhi. The most important of those which differ from external Sandhi are the following:

¹ This is not really compensation but the survival of the original initial aspiration of such roots, which was lost owing to the avoidance of an aspirate at the beginning and end of the same syllable. Hence when the final aspirate disappeared, the initial returned.

Final Vowels.

57. In many cases before a vowel ī is changed to iy; u and ū to uv; e.g. dhī + e = dhiy-é dat. s. for thought; bhū + i = bhuv-í on earth; yu-yuv-é has joined (✓yu).

58. Final r before y becomes ri (154, 3); e.g. kṛ make: kri-yáte 3. s. pres. pass. is done. Final r̄ before consonant terminations is changed to īr, after labials to ūr; e.g. gr̄ swallow: gīr-yáte is swallowed, gīr-ṇá swallowed; pṝ fill: pūr-yáte is filled, pūr-ṇá filled.

59. e, ai, o, au are changed before suffixes beginning with vowels or y to ay, āy, av, āv respectively; e.g. śe + u = śay-ú lying; rai + e = rāy-é for wealth; go + e = gāv-e for a cow; nau + i = nāv-í in a boat; go + ya = gāv-ya relating to cows.

Final Consonants.

60. The most notable divergence from external Sandhi is the unchangeableness of the final consonants (cp. 32) of roots and verbal or nominal stems before suffixes and terminations beginning with vowels, semivowels and nasals (while before other letters they usually follow the rules of external Sandhi); e.g. vác-ya to be spoken, duras-yú worshipping, yásas-vat glorious; vác-mi I speak (but vákṭi speaks); voc-am I will speak, papṛc-yāt would mix; prāñc-aḥ nom. pl. forward.

a. Before the primary suffix na, d is assimilated; e.g. án-na n. food (for ad-na), chin-ná cut off (for chid-na); and before the secondary suffixes mant and maya, t and d; e.g. vidyún-mant accompanied by lightning (vidyút) and mṛn-māya consisting of clay (mṛd). In the nominal case-form ṣaṇ-nām (for ṣaṭ-nām) of six (ṣás) the final ṭ is assimilated.

61. Nominal or verbal stems ending in consonants and followed by terminations consisting of a single consonant, drop the termination altogether, two consonants not being tolerated at the end of a word (28). The final consonant that remains is then treated according to the rules of external

Sandhi. Thus prāñc + s nom. s. forward becomes prāñ (the s being first dropped, the palatals being changed to gutturals by 27, and the k being then dropped by 28); similarly a-doh + t = á-dhok he milked (55).

62. Aspirates followed by any sounds except vowels, semivowels or nasals (60) lose their aspiration; e. g. randh + dhí = *rand-dhí*¹ 2. s. aor. impv. subject; labh + sya-te = lap-syate (B.) 3. s. fut. will take; but yudh-i in battle; ā-rábh-ya seizing.

a. A lost soft aspirate is, if possible, thrown back before dhv, bh, s (55); e. g. ind-dhvam 2. pl. impv. of indh kindle; bhud-bhís inst. pl., bhut-sú loc. pl. But before s this rule applies only partially; thus from dabh harm: des. díp-sa-ti desires to injure, dip-sú intending to hurt; bhas chew: báps-a-ti chews; guh hide: des. ju-guk-ṣa-tas beside aghukṣat; dah burn: part. dákṣat beside dhákṣant; duh milk: aor. á-dukṣat beside á-dhukṣat.

b. But it is thrown forward on a following t and th,² which are softened; e. g. rabh + ta = rab-dhá seized; ruṇád + ti = ruṇád-dhi; rundh + tām = rund-dhām 3. s. impv. let him obstruct.

63. Palatals. a. While c regularly becomes guttural before consonants (cf. 61; 27; 7 b), j in some cases (the majority) becomes guttural (k, g),³ in others cerebral (ṭ, ḍ, ṣ);

³ j always becomes k before a conjugational s (cp. 144, 4); e. g. mṛk-ṣva 2. s. impv. of mṛj wipe.

e. g. uk-tá spoken (✓vac); yuk-tá joined (✓yuj); rug-ṇá broken (✓ruj: cp. 65); but rāt nom. s. king (for rāj + s); mṛd-ḍhi 2. s. impv. wipe (for mṛj-dhi); rāṣ-ṭrá kingdom (for rāj-tra: cp. 64).

b. The palatal ś before bh (73 a) normally becomes ḍ; ¹ k before s; ² always ṣ before t and th (cp. 64); e. g. paḍ-bhís with looks (pās), viḍ-bhís with tribes (vís); vek-ṣyási fut. of viś enter; vik-ṣú loc. pl. (vís); dík nom. s. of díś direction; nák nom. s. of nās night; viṣ-ṭá entered (✓viś).

c. c and j (not ś) palatalize a following n; e. g. yaj + na = yaj-ñá sacrifice, but prás-ná question.

d. The ch of the root prach ask is treated like ś: á-prāk-ṣit 3. s. siṣ- aor., á-prāṭ 3. s. s- aor. (= á-prach-s-t); prṣ-ṭá asked, prás-ṭum inf. to ask.

64. Cerebrals change following dentals to cerebrals (39); e. g. iṣ + tá = iṣ-ṭá; av-iṣ + dhi = avid-ḍhí 2. s. impv. iṣ- aor. of av; ṣaṇ + nām (for ṣaṭ-nām) = ṣaṇ-ṇām (cp. 33, 60 a).

a. While the cerebral sibilant ṣ seems always ³ to become a cerebral mute (ṭ or ḍ) in declension and becomes ḍ in conjugation, it regularly becomes k before s in conjugation (cp. 63 b and 67); e. g. dviṣ + s = dvit nom. s. hating, vi-prúṣ + s = vi-prúṭ drop, vi-prúḍ-bhis inst. pl.; av-iṣ + dhí = avid-ḍhí 2. s. impv. iṣ- aor. of av favour; dviṣ + sa-t = dvik-ṣat 3. s. inj. sa- aor. of dviṣ hate.

65. Change of dental n to cerebral ṇ.

A preceding cerebral ṛ, ṝ, r, ṣ (even though vowels, guttural or labial mutes or nasals, y, v, or h intervene) changes a dental n (followed by a vowel or n, m, y, v) to cerebral ṇ; e. g. nṛ + nām = nṛṇām of men; pitṛ + nām = pitṛṇām of fathers; var + na = várṇa m. colour; uṣ + na = uṣṇá hot;

² But in the nom. viṭ (vís), ví-pāt (ví-pās) and spāt spy (spás) the cerebral has taken the place of the phonetic k owing to the influence of other forms in which the cerebral is phonetic.

³ No example occurs of this sound before the su of the loc. plur.

krámaṇa n. step (vowels and labial nasal intervene), arkéṇa (guttural and vowel); gr̥bhṇāti seizes (labial mute); brahmanyā devotion (vowel, h, labial nasal, vowel; n followed by y).¹

This rule is followed throughout within a word even when a ṣ which it contains is produced by Sandhi; e.g. uṣuvāṇāḥ (for u suvāṇāḥ).

a. The cerebralization of n takes place almost as regularly in verbs compounded with the prepositions prá before, pārā away, pári round, nír (for nís) out, as well as in nominal derivatives of these combinations; e.g. parā-núde (nud thrust), pra-ṇetṛ guide (nī lead); pári-hṇuta denied; prāṇiti breathes (✓an); nír haṇyāt (han strike), but not in forms with ghn (e.g. abhi-pra-ghnānti); prá hiṇomi, but pari-hinómi (hi impel).

b. In nominal compounds n is usually cerebralized when it is the initial of the second member in the RV.; e.g. dur-pāman ill-named, prá-ṇapāt great-grandson; but tri-nāká n. third heaven. It is less frequent medially; e.g. pūrvāhṇá forenoon, vṛṣa-maṇas manly-spirited, but ṛṣi-manas of fur-seeing mind; nṛ-pāṇa giving drink to men, but pari-pāna n. drink (cp. 50 c β).

c. Cerebralization is even extended to external Sandhi in a closely connected following word, most often initially in the enclitic nas us, rarely in other monosyllables such as nú now, ná like, occasionally in other words also; ² e.g. sahó sú ṇaḥ; pári ṇetá . . . viśat. It sometimes occurs medially, oftenest in the enclitic pronoun ena this; e.g. indra eṇam. It occasionally appears in accented words also after final r; e.g. gór óheṇa.

² After the final cerebral ṭ of sát (for sáṣ six), assimilated to the following n (33), initial dental n is cerebralized in ṣaṇ-ṇavati ninety-six (TS.) and in ṣaṇ ṇiramimīta (B.).

66 A. The dental n

1. remains unchanged before y and v; e.g. han-yáte is slain; tan-v-āná stretching, indhan-van possessed of fuel (indhana), āsan-vánt having a mouth.

2. as final of a root becomes Anusvāra before s; e.g. ji-ghām-sa-ti wishes to kill ($\sqrt{\text{han}}$); also when it is inserted before final s or ṣ in the neuter plural (71c; 83); e.g. énāṃs-i n. pl. of éna sin; haviṃṣ-i n. pl. of havi oblation (83).

B. The dental s

1. becomes dental t as the final of roots or nominal stems

a. before the s of verbal suffixes (future, aorist, desiderative) in the three verbs vas dwell, vas shine, and ghas eat; thus a-vāt-sīs thou hast dwelt; vāt-syati will shine; ji-ghat-sati wishes to eat (171, 5) and jighat-sú hungry.¹

b. before case-endings with initial bh in the reduplicated perf. participle and in four other words: thus jāgrvād-bhis inst. pl. having awakened; uśád-bhis from uśás f. dawn; mād-bhis, mād-bhyás from mās m. month; svátavad-bhyas from svá-tavas self-strong. This change was extended without phonetic justification² to the nom. acc. s. n. in the RV., as tatan-vát extending far.

2. disappears

a. between mutes; e.g. á-bhak-ta 3. s. s- aor., for á-bhak-s-ta beside á-bhak-ṣ-i, of bhaj share; caṣ-ṭe for cakṣ-ṭe (= original caś-s-te) 3. s. pres. of cakṣ speak; a-gdha uneaten for a-ghs-ta from ghas eat.

A similar loss occurs in verbal compounds formed with the preposition ud and the roots sthā stand and stambh support; e. g. út-thita and út-tabhita raised up.

¹ The change of s to t before the t of the 3. s. of a past tense, as in vy-āvāt has shone forth from vi-vas, is probably not a phonetic change, but is rather due to the influence of the 3. s. of other preterites with t; á-vās-t* having thus become á-vāt instead of ávās*.

² There having been no case-ending s here. No example occurs in the RV. and AV. of a loc. pl. in vat-su.

b. before dh; e. g. śā-dhi for śās-dhi 2. s. impv. of śās order; ā-dhvam 2 pl. mid. impv. of ās sit; also after becoming ṣ and cerebralizing the following dental; e. g. á-sto-dhvam (for á-sto-ṣ-dhvam) 2. pl. aor. of stu praise.

67. Change of dental s to cerebral ṣ.

A preceding vowel except ā (even though *Anusvāra*¹ intervenes) as well as k, r, ṣ change dental s (followed by a vowel, s, t, th, n, m, y, v) to cerebral ṣ;² e. g. from havís oblation: havīṣ-ā inst. s., havīṃṣ-i nom. pl.; cákṣus n. eye: cákṣuṣ-ā inst. s., cákṣūṃṣ-i nom. pl.; havīṣ-su loc. pl.; srāj f. wreath: srak-ṣú loc. pl.; gír f. song: gīr-ṣú loc. pl.; tī-ṣṭhati stands from sthā stand; cákṣuṣ-mant possessing eyes; bhavi-ṣyāti will be from bhū be; su-ṣvāpa has slept from svap sleep. But sarpīḥ (final); mānas-ā (a precedes); *us-rá*³ matutinal.

a. The cerebralization of s regularly takes place in the RV. initially in verbal compounds after prepositions ending in i and u, as well as in nominal derivatives from such compound verbs; also after the preposition nís out; e. g. ní ṣīda sit down, ánu ṣṭuvanti they praise; niḥ-ṣāha-māṇaḥ conquering.⁴

b. In nominal compounds, s is more usually cerebralized than not, when the initial s of the second member is preceded by vowels other than ā; e. g. su-ṣóma having abundant Soma. But s is often retained in the RV., not only when ṛ or r follows, as in hṛdi-spṛś touching the heart, ṛṣi-svará sung by seers, but also when there is no such cause to prevent

² Words in which s otherwise follows r or any vowel but ā must be of foreign origin, as bṛsaya a demon, bísa n. root fibre, busá n. vapour.

the change; e. g. gó-sakhi beside gó-ṣakhi possessing cattle. After r the s becomes ṣ in svar-ṣá light winning, svār-ṣáti f. obtainment of light.

c. Cerebralization is even extended to external Sandhi in initial s after a final i and u in the RV. when the two words are syntactically closely connected. This change chiefly takes place in monosyllabic pronouns and particles, such as sá, syá, sīm, sma, svid, and particularly sú; e. g. ū sú. It also occurs in numerous verbal forms and participles; e. g. yūyám hí ṣṭhá for ye are, diví śán being in heaven. In other words the change is rare; e. g. trí ṣadhásthā.¹ In the later Samhitās this form of external Sandhi is very rare except in the combination ū sú.

Vowels except ā (in spite of inter- vening Anusvāra), k , r , ṣ	change s to ṣ	if followed by vowels, t , th , n , m , y , v .

68. The labial m remains unchanged before y, r, l (cp. 60 and 42 B 1); e. g. yam-yāmāna being guided, vam-rá m. ant, ápa-mlukta concealed. But before suffixes beginning with v it becomes n; e. g. jagan-ván having gone (from gam go).

69. a. The breathing h becomes k in all roots before s; e. g. dhák-ṣi 2. s. pres. from dah burn; sak-ṣi 2. s. pres. from sah prevail.

b. In roots beginning with d it is treated like gh before t, th, dh; e. g. dah + tá = dag-dhá burnt (62 b), duh + tām = dug-dhām 3. du. pres. Similarly treated is the oldest form of the perf. pass. participle of the root muh: mug-dhá bewildered.

c. h in all other roots is treated like an aspirate cerebral, which after changing a following t, th, dh to ḍh and lengthening a preceding short vowel, is dropped; e. g. *sah + ta = sã-ḍhá*¹ overcome; rih + ta = rĩ-ḍhá licked; muh + ta = mũ-ḍhá (AV.) bewildered; vah + ta = ũ-ḍhá; ² vah + dhvám = vo-ḍhvám (VS.).³

d. An exception to c is the root nah bind, in which h is treated as dh: naḍ-dhá bound. An exception to both b and c is the root dr̥h: dr̥-ḍhá firm (begins with d and has a short vowel).⁴

CHAPTER III

DECLENSION

70. Declension, or the inflexion of nominal stems by means of endings that express the various syntactical relations represented by the cases, is most conveniently treated, owing to characteristic difference of form, meaning, and use, under (1) nouns (including adjectives); (2) numerals; (3) pronouns.

In Vedic there are

- a.* three genders: masculine, feminine, and neuter;
- b.* three numbers: singular, dual, and plural;
- c.* eight cases: nominative, vocative, accusative, instrumental, dative, ablative, genitive, locative.⁵

³ Through vaz̥h-dhvam: aḷh here becoming o just as original az̥ (through az̥) becomes o (cp. 45 b).

⁴ Before this ḍh the vowel r̥ never appears lengthened, but it is prosodically long (cp. 8, note 2).

⁵ This is the order of the cases in the Hindu Sanskrit grammarians, excepting the vocative, which is not regarded by them as a case. It is convenient as the only arrangement by which such cases as are identical in form, either in the singular, the dual, or the plural, may be grouped together.

71. The normal case-endings added to the stem are the following:—

SINGULAR.			DUAL.		PLURAL.
	M. F.	N.	M. F.	N.	M. F.	N.
N.	s	— ^b	au	ī	as	i ^c
V.	— ^a	—
A.	am	—
I.		ā	bhyām		bhis	bhyas
D.		e
Ab. }
G. }	as		os		ām	su
L.	i

a. The vocative is the same (apart from the accent) as the nominative in all numbers except the masc. and fem. sing. of vowel stems generally and the masc. sing. of consonant stems in -an, -man, -van; -mant, -vant; -in; -as; -yāms, -vāms; -tar.

b. The nom. acc. sing. has the bare stem excepting the words in -a, which add m.

c. The nom. voc. acc. plur. neut. before the ending i insert n after a vowel stem and before a single final mute or sibilant of a consonant stem (modifying the n according to the character of the consonant: cp. 66 A 2).

72. An important distinction in declension is that between the strong and the weak stem. It is fully developed only in derivative consonant stems formed with the suffixes -añc, -an, -man, -van; -ant, -mant, -vant; -tar; -yāms, -vāms. In the first four and in the last the weak stem is further reduced before vowel endings. The stem here has three forms, which may be distinguished as strong, middle, and weakest.

a. Shift of accent was the cause of the distinction. The stem, having been accented in the strong cases, here naturally preserved its full form; but it was shortened in the weak cases by the accent falling on the endings. For a similar reason the last vowel of the strong stem, if long, is regularly shortened in the vocative, because the accent always shifts to the first syllable in that case.

73. The strong stem appears in the following cases :

Nom. voc. acc. sing.	} of masc. nouns. ¹
Nom. voc. acc. dual
Nom. voc. (not acc.) plur.
Nom. voc. acc. plural only of neuters.

a. When the stem has three forms, the middle stem appears before terminations beginning with a consonant² (bhyām, bhis, bhyas, su); the weakest before terminations beginning with a vowel in the remaining weak cases; e.g. pratyāñc-au nom. du.; pratyág-bhis inst. pl.; prātic-ós gen. du. (93).

b. In neuters with three stems, the nom. voc. acc. sing. are middle, the nom. voc. acc. du. weakest; e.g. pratyák sing.; prātic-ī du.; pratyāñc-i pl. (93). The other cases are as in the masc.

NOUNS.

74. Nominal stems are, owing to divergences of inflexion, best classified under the main divisions of consonant and vowel declension.

I. Stems ending in consonants³ may be subdivided into

A. unchangeable; B. changeable.

II. Stems ending in vowels into those in A. a and ā; B. i and u; C. ī and ū.

¹ Excepting names of relationship in -tar (101), nearly all nouns with changeable stems form their feminine with the suffix -ī (100).

² Changeable stems are named in this grammar in their strong and original form, though the middle form would be more practical, inasmuch as that is the form in which changeable stems appear as prior member in compounds.

³ Some Sanskrit grammars begin with the vowel declension in a (II. A) since this contains the majority of all the declined stems in the language. But it appears preferable to begin with the consonant declension which adds the normal endings (71) without modification.

I. A. Unchangeable Stems.

75. These stems are for the most part primary or radical, but also include some secondary or derivative words. They end in consonants of all classes except gutturals (these having always become palatals, which however revert to the original sound in certain cases). They are liable to such changes only as are required by the rules of Sandhi before the consonant terminations (cp. 16 a). Masculines and feminines ending in the same consonant are inflected exactly alike; and the neuters differ only in the acc. s. and nom. voc. acc. du. and pl.

76. The final consonants of the stem retain their original sound before vowel terminations (71); but when there is no ending (i.e. in the nom. sing., in which the s of the m. and f. is dropped), and before the ending su of the loc. pl., they must be reduced to one of the letters k, ṭ, t, p or Visarjaniya (27) which respectively become g, ḍ, d, b or r before the terminations beginning with bh.

a. The voc. sing. m. f. is the same as the nom. except in stems in (derivative) as (83).

b. Forms of the nom. voc. acc. pl. n. seem not to occur in the Saṃhitās¹ except in the derivative as, is, us stems, where they are common; e.g. ápāmsī, arcīṃṣi, cákṣūṃṣi.

¹ But in the Brāhmaṇas are found from -bhṛt bearing, -vṛt turning, -hu-t sacrificing the N. pl. n. forms -bhṛnti, -vṛnti, -hūnti.

1. Of the stems in t most are radical, nearly thirty of them being formed with a determinative t added to roots ending in the short vowels i, u, r; e.g. jí-t conquering, śrú-t hearing, kṛ-t making. Nearly all of them, however, appear as the last member of compounds, except cít f. thought; dyú-t f. brilliance; nṛt f. dancing; vṛ-t f. host. From sarva-hu-t offering completely occurs in N. pl. n. the form sarva-hunti in the AB. There are also a few derivative stems formed with the suffixes -vat, -tāt, -it, -ut, and secondary -t; e.g. pra-vát f. height, devá-tāt f. divine service; sar-it f. stream; mar-út m. storm-god; yákr-t n. liver, śákr-t n. excrement.

2. There are only three stems in th: káprth, n. penis, páth m. path, abhi-śnáth adj. piercing.

3. a. About 100 stems end in radical d, all but a few being roots used as the final member of compounds; e. g. nom. adri-bhíd mountain-cleaving. Only eight occur as monosyllabic substantives: níd f. contempt, bhíd f. destroyer, vid f. knowledge, úd f. wave, múd f. joy, mṛd f. clay, hṛd n. heart (used in weak cases only); and pád m. foot. The latter lengthens its vowel in the strong cases:

Sing. N. pát. A. pád-am. I. pad-ā. D. pad-é. Ab.G. pad-ás. L. pad-í.

Du. N.A. pád-ā. I. Ab. pad-bhyám. G.L. pad-ós.

Pl. N. pád-as. A. pad-ás. I. pad-bhís. D. pad-bhyás.

G. pad-ám. L. pat-sú.

b. There are also six stems formed with derivative d (suffixal -ad -ud), seemingly all feminine: drṣ-ád and dhrṣ-ád nether millstone, bhas-ád hind quarters, van-ád longing, śar-ád autumn, kak-úd summit, kāk-úd palate.

4. There are about fifty radical stems in dh, simple or compound. They are almost restricted to m. and f., no distinctively n. forms (N. A. du. pl.) occurring and only four forms being used as n. in the G. L. s. Seven stems appear as monosyllabic nouns: vṛdh strengthening as a masc. adj., the rest as fem. substantives: nádh bond; sridh foe; kṣúdh hunger; yúdh fight; mṛdh conflict; vṛdh prosperity; spṛdh battle.

5. Radical stems in n are formed from half a dozen roots. Four of these are monosyllabic substantives: tán f. succession; rán m. joy; ván m. wood; sván adj. sounding.¹ There are also the compound adjectives tuvi-ṣván roaring aloud and go-śán winning cows. Han slaying occurs as the final member of at least thirty-five compounds, but as it follows for the most part the analogy of the an stems, it will be treated under these (92).

Stems in Labials.

78. These stems, which end in p, bh, and m only, are not numerous. No neuters occur in the first two and only one or two in the last.

1. All the monosyllabic stems in p are fem. substantives. They are: áp water, kṛp beauty, kṣáp night, kṣíp finger, ríp deceit, rúp earth, víp rod. There are also about a dozen compounds, all adjectives except vi-ṣtáp f. summit. Three of the adjectives occur as f., the rest as m.; e. g. paśu-tṛp m. delighting in cattle.

a. áp lengthens the stem in the N.V. pl. áp-as, a form sometimes used for the A. also. The forms occurring are: Sing. I. ap-á. Ab.G. ap-ás. Du.N. áp-ā. Pl.N.V. áp-as. A. ap-ás. I. ad-bhís. D.Ab. ad-bhyás. G. ap-ám. L. ap-sú.

2. The six uncompounded stems in bh are all f. substantives: kṣúbh push, gṛbh seizing, nábh destroyer, śubh splendour, stúbh praise (also adj. praising), and kakúbh peak. There are also more than a dozen compounds: the substantives are all f., the rest being m. or f. adjectives; there are no neuters. The cases of tri-ṣṭúbh f. triple praise (a metre) are: Sing. N. triṣṭúp. A. triṣṭúbh-am. I. triṣṭúbh-ā. D. triṣṭúbh-e. Ab. triṣṭúbh-as. L. triṣṭúbh-i; Pl. A. triṣṭúbh-as.

a. nábh lengthens its vowel in the N. pl. nábh-as. A. nábh-as.

3. There are five or six monosyllabic stems in m, and one compound: sám n. happiness, dām n. (?) house, kṣám, gám, jám f. earth, hím m. (?) cold; sam-nám f. favour.

a. Gám and jám syncopate in the s. I.Ab.G.: gm-á, jm-á; gm-ás, jm-ás; kṣám syncopates in the Ab.G. s. and lengthens its vowel in N.du.pl.: kṣm-ás; kṣám-ā; kṣám-as. Dám has the G. s. dán (for dām-s) in the expressions pátir dán and pátī dán = dām-patis and dām-patī lord of the house and lord and lady of the house.

Stems in Palatals.

79. The palatals (c, j, ś) undergo a change of organ when final and before consonant terminations (cp. 63). c always becomes guttural (k or g), j and ś nearly always become guttural, but sometimes cerebral (ṭ or ḍ).

1. The unchangeable stems in c¹ when uncompounded are monosyllabic and almost exclusively f. substantives. Tvác skin, however, twice occurs as a m., and krúñc curlew is m. Compounds, as adjectives, are often m., but only one form occurs as a n., in the adv. ā-prík in a mixed manner. Vác speech would be declined as follows:

Sing. N.V. vák. A. vác-am (Lat. voc-em). I. vác-á.

D. vác-é. Ab.G. vác-ás. L. vác-í.

Dual. N.A.V. vác-ā, vác-au. I. vág-bhyám.

Plur. N.V. vác-as. A. vác-as (rarely vác-ás). I. vág-bhís.

Similarly declined are :—tvác *skin*¹; síc hem; rúc lustre, śúc flame, srúc ladle; řc stanza, mřc injury; ni-mřuc sunset and other compounds. Krúñc forms its N. s. krúñ, du. krúñcau.

2. There is only one stem in ch, formed from the root pṛch ask: N. du. m. bandhu-pṛch-ā asking after kinsmen; also the D. and A. infinitive forms pṛch-é to ask, sam-pṛch-e to greet; vi-pṛch-am and sam-pṛch-am to ask.

3. a. Uncompounded radical stems in j are mostly f. substantives; but áj driver, víj stake at play are m., and yúj,² ráj, bhráj are m. as well as f. Neut. forms occur in compound adjectives, but never the distinctively n. endings of the N.A.V. du. and pl.³

When the j is derived from a guttural, it becomes a guttural in the N. s. and before consonant endings; when derived from an old palatal, it becomes a cerebral in the N. s.⁴ and before consonants, but k before the su of the L. pl.

Thus in the N. úrk (úrj) vigour; nir-ṇík (nir-ṇij) bright garment; but bhrát m. shining (bhráj), ráṭ m. king, f. mistress; L. pl. srak-śú garlands (sráj), pra-yák-ṣu offerings (pra-yáj).

a. The N. of ava-yáj f. share of the sacrificial oblation and of ávayāj m. priest who offers the oblation is anomalous in dropping the j and adding the s of the nom.: ava-yās, ávayās (cp. 28 a).

b. There are seven m. and f. adj. or subst. formed with the suffixes -aj and -ij: á-svapn-aj sleepless, tṛṣṇ-áj thirsty,

² This word meaning companion also has a nasalized form in N.A. s. du.: yún (for yúnk), yúnj-am, yúnj-ā.

³ But in a Brāhmaṇa -bhāj sharing forms the N. pl. n. form -bhāñji.

4. There are about sixty monosyllabic and compound stems in ś formed from about a dozen roots. Nine monosyllabic stems are f.: dās̥ worship, dīs̥ direction, dṛś̥ look, nās̥ night, pās̥ sight, pīs̥ ornament, prās̥ dispute, vīs̥ settlement, vrīs̥ finger. Two are m.: íś lord and spās̥ spy. All the rest are compounds (about twenty of them formed from -dṛś̥). Some half-dozen cases of the latter are used as neuter, but no distinctively n. forms (N.A. du. pl.) occur.

The ś, as it represents an old palatal, normally becomes cerebral ḍ before bh, but in dīs̥ and dṛś̥ a guttural. Before the su of the L. pl. it phonetically and regularly becomes k. It usually also becomes k in the N. s. (which originally ended in s), as dik, nāk; but cerebral ṭ in spās̥ and vi-spās̥ spy, vīs̥ and ví-pās̥ a river.

The normal forms, if made from vīs̥ settlement, would be:

N. V. víṭ. A. vīs̥-am. I. vīs̥-ā. D. vīs̥-é. Ab. G. vīs̥-ás̥.

L. vīs̥-í.

Du. N. A. vīs̥-ā, vīs̥-au.

Pl. N. A. vīs̥-as. I. viḍ-bhis. D. viḍ-bhyás̥. G. vīs̥-ām.

L. vik-ṣú.

α. The N. of some compounds of dṛś̥ is nasalized, as kī-dṛñ̄ (for kī-dṛñk) of what kind?, but tā-dṛk̄ such.

The N. s irregularly represents the final palatal (28 a) in puroḍás̥ m. sacrificial cake: N. puroḍás̥, A. puroḍás̥am.

¹ This word is of obscure origin, but the j probably represents a reduced suffix.

Stems in Cerebrals.

80. The only cerebral stems that occur end in ḍ and ṣ. Of the former there are only two: īḍ f. praise (only found in s. I. īḍ-ā) and īḍ f. refreshment (only in s. I. īḍ-ā and G. īḍ-ās).

There are a number of stems from about a dozen roots ending in ṣ preceded by i, u, r, or k. Seven of these are uncompounded: iṣ f. refreshment, tvīṣ f. excitement, dvīṣ f. hatred, riṣ f. injury; uṣ f. dawn; pṛkṣ f. satiation; dadhṛṣ bold. The rest are compounds of the above or of miṣ wink, sriṣ lean, ukṣ sprinkle, muṣ steal, pruṣ drip, dhṛṣ dare, vrṣ rain; ākṣ eye. The ṣ becomes ṭ in the N., and ḍ before bh, but is of course dropped when k precedes; e.g. N. dvīṭ, vi-pruṭ f. drop, an-āk eyeless, blind; I. pl. vi-pruḍ-bhis.

a. The final becomes k in the adverbial neuter form dadhṛk boldly.

Stems in h.

81. There are some eighty stems formed from about a dozen roots. All three genders are found in their inflexion, but the neuter is rare, occurring in two stems only, and never in the plural. Of monosyllabic stems nīh destroyer, mīh mist, gūh hiding-place, rūh sprout are f., drūh fiend is m. or f., sāh conqueror is m., māh great, m. and n. All the rest are compounds, more than fifty being formed from the three roots druh hate, vah carry, sah overcome; over thirty of them from the last.¹ The two stems uṣṇīh f. a metre, and sarāh bee are obscure in origin.

a. As h represents both the old guttural gh and the old palatal jh it should phonetically become g or ḍ before bh, but the cerebral represents both in the only two forms that occur with a bh ending. In the only L. pl. that occurs, anaḍút-su (from anaḍ-váh), the h unphonetically became ṭ, which has been dissimilated to t. In the N. the phonetic k appears in the six forms -dhak, -dhuk, -dhruk, -ruk, -sprk, uṣṇík, and the unphonetic ṭ in the three forms -vāṭ, ṣāt, sarāt.

l. Stems formed from vah¹ and sah lengthen the radical vowel in the strong cases, the former always, the latter generally.

The forms actually occurring if made from sáh victorious would be:

Sing. N.V. m. f. ṣāt.² A. m. f. sáh-am. I. sah-á. D. sah-é.
Ab.G. sah-ás. L. sah-í.

Stems in r.³

82. There are over fifty stems in radical r.⁴ The preceding vowel is nearly always i or u, only two stems containing ā and three a. Twelve stems are monosyllabic (seven f.,⁵ three m.,⁶ two n.⁷), the rest being compounds. The r remains before the su of the L. pl., and the radical vowel

¹ anaḍ-váh being a changeable stem with three forms is treated under the irregular changeable stems (96).

² When h becomes ṭ the initial s is cerebralized.

³ There are no stems in l; while the five which may be regarded as ending in the semivowels y or v are treated below (102) as ai, o, or au stems.

⁴ The stems in which the r is derivative (and preceded by a), in the suffixes -ar and -tar, are treated below (101) as r stems.

a. dvār has the weakened A. pl. form dúras (also once durás and once dváras), the only weak case occurring.

b. tár occurs in one (strong) form only, N. pl. tár-as, and stár in one (weak) form only, I. pl. stṛbhis.¹

c. svār n. light has the two contracted forms D. sūr-é, G. súr-as.² It drops the case-ending in the L. s.³ súar.

Stems in s.

83. 1. The radical s stems number about forty. A dozen are monosyllabic, five being m. : jñās relative, mās month, *vás*⁴ abode, pums male,⁵ śās ruler ; two f. : kās cough, nās nose ; five n. : ās face, bhās light, mās flesh, dós arm, yós welfare. The rest are compounds, e.g. su-dās giving well, liberal.

a. Before bh the s becomes d in the two forms I. mād-bhís and D. mād-bhyás, and r in the only other one that occurs : dor-bhyám.

b. The A. pl. has the accentuation of weak cases in mās-ás and jñās-ás.

2. The derivative stems in s are formed with the suffixes -as, -is, -us, and are, with few exceptions, neuter substantives. All of them lengthen their final vowel in the N.V.A. pl. n., e.g. mánāṃsi, jyótīṃsi, cákṣūṃsi. The m. and f. are mostly compounds with these stems as their final member.

a. The as stems consist almost entirely of neuters, which

⁴ This word might be a feminine.

⁵ This word will be treated later (96, 3) as an irregular changeable stem.

are accented on the root, as mán-as mind, but these as final members of adjective compounds may be inflected in all three genders. There are also a few primary masculines, which are accented on the suffix, being either substantives, as rakṣ-ás m. demon, or adjectives (some of which occur also in the f. as well as n.), as ap-ás active; and one primary f., uṣ-ás dawn.

The N. s. m. f. lengthens the vowel of the suffix: e. g. āṅgirās m., uṣās¹ f., su-mánās m. f. In about a dozen compounds the long vowel appears (owing to the influence of the m.) in the n. also; e. g. ūrṇa-mradās soft as wool.

Before endings with initial bh the suffix as becomes o (45 b). The forms actually occurring, if made from áp-as, n. (Lat. opus) work and ap-ás m. f. active would be as follows:

Sing. N. ápas; apás. A. ápas; apás-am. I. ápas-ā; apás-ā. D. ápas-e; apás-e. Ab. ápas-as; apás-as. L. ápas-i; apás-i. V. ápas.

Du. N.A.V. ápas-ī; apás-ā, apás-au.² D. apó-bhyām. G. ápas-os.

Pl. ápāms-i; apás-as. I. ápo-bhis; apó-bhis. D. ápo-bhyas; apó-bhyas. G. ápas-ām; apás-ām. L. ápas-su; apás-su.

Similarly N. n. yásas glory, m. f. yaśás glorious; f. apsarás nymph.

α. A number of forms have the appearance of being contractions in the A. s. and N.A. pl. m. f.: ām = asam and ās = asas; thus mahām great, vedhām ordainer, uṣām dawn, jarām old age, medhām wisdom, vayām vigour, án-āgām sinless, apsarām. Pl. N. m. āṅgirās, án-āgās, ná-vedās cognisant, sa-jósās united; f. medhās, á-joṣās insatiable, ná-vedās, su-rádhas bountiful. A. m. án-āgās, su-medhās (?) intelligent; f. uṣās.

² The ending au is here very rare and occurs chiefly in the later Samhitās.

b. The is stems, numbering about a dozen, consist primarily of neuters only. When they form final members of compounds, they are secondarily inflected as m.; only one single such form, N. s. svá-śócis self-radiant, occurs as a f.

The final s becomes ṣ before vowel-endings and the L. pl. su, and r before bh. The inflexion of the n. differs from that of the m. in the A. s., N.A. du. and pl. The actual forms occurring, if made from śócis glow in the n. and from -śócis m. (when it differs from the n.), would be :

Sing. N. śócis; A. śócis; m. -śociṣ-am. I. śociṣ-ā.
D. śociṣ-e. Ab.G. śociṣ-as. L. śociṣ-i. V. śócis.

bhyas. G. śociṣ-ām. L. śociṣ-ṣu (67).

a. āśis f. prayer, which is not really an is stem, being derived from ā + śis (the reduced form of the root śās), is inflected thus: N. āśis. A. āśiṣ-am. I. āśiṣ-ā. Pl. N. A. āśiṣ-as.

c. The us stems, numbering at least sixteen exclusive of compounds, comprise several primary masculines as well as neuters; three of the latter when compounded are also inflected as f. Eleven of the us stems are n. substantives, all but one (janús birth) accented on the radical syllable; four of these (árus, cákṣus, tápus, vápus) are also used as m. adjectives. Three of the exclusively m. us stems are adjectives accented on the suffix, while two (náhus, mánus) are substantives accented on the root.

The final s becomes ṣ before vowel endings, and r before bh. The inflexion of the n. is the same as that of the m. except in the A. s. and N.A. du. pl. The only f. forms (about half a dozen) occur in the N. and A.: e. g. N. cákṣus seeing, A. du. tápuṣ-ā hot.

The actual forms occurring, if made from cákṣus eye as n. and seeing as m. would be :

Sing. N. cákṣus. A. cákṣus; m. cákṣuṣ-am. I. cákṣuṣ-ā.
 D. cákṣuṣ-e. Ab. G. cákṣuṣ-as. L. cákṣuṣ-i.

 Pl. N. A. cákṣūṃṣ-i; m. cákṣuṣ-as. I. cákṣur-bhis.
 D. cákṣur-bhyas. G. cákṣuṣ-ām.

I. B. Changeable Stems.

84. Regular changeable stems are found only among derivative nouns formed with suffixes ending in the dentals t, n, s, or the palatal c. Those in t are formed with the suffixes -ant, -mant, -vant; those in n with -an, -man, -van, and -in, -min, -vin; those in s with -yāṃs and -vāṃs; those in c with -añc (properly a root meaning to bend). The stems in -ant (85-86), -in (87), -yāṃs (88) have two forms, strong and weak; those in -an (90-92), -vāṃs (89), and -añc (93) have three, strong, middle, and weakest (73).

Nouns with Two Stems.

85. Stems in -ant comprise present,¹ future, and aorist participles (156) active (m. and n.).² The strong stem is in -ant, the weak in *-at*³; e. g. ad-ánt and ad-at eating from ad cat. These participles are inflected in the m. and n. only, the f. having a special stem in ī.² The n. inflexion differs from the m. in the N.V.A. s. du. pl. only. The accent, if resting on the suffix, shifts in weak cases to the endings that begin with vowels.

¹ Excepting those of the reduplicating verbs and a few others that follow their analogy (85 b).

² On the formation of the f. stems see 95.

³ In Latin and Greek the distinction was lost by normalization: G. edentis, ἔδεντος.

a. The analogy of these participles is followed by a few adjectives that have lost their old participial meaning: ṛhánt weak, pṛśant spotted, brhánt great, rūśant brilliant; also the substantive dánt² tooth. The adj. mahánt great, also originally a participle,³ deviates from the participial declension in lengthening the vowel of the suffix in the strong forms:

Sing. N. m. mahán;	n. mahát.	A. mahánt-am.	I. mahat-á.

b. The participles of verbs with a reduplicating present base, i. e. those of the third class (127, 2) and intensives (172), do not distinguish a strong stem,¹ in other words, have at throughout; e. g. bībhyat fearing, ghānighn-at repeatedly killing (✓han). The analogy of these participles is followed by a few others formed from unreduplicated bases: dās-at worshipping, śās-at instructing; also dākṣ-at and dhākṣ-at aor. part. of dah burn. A few others, again, originally participles, have come to be used as substantives with a shift of accent to the suffix. Three of these are f. and two m.: vahát,² *śravát*³ f. stream; *vehát*⁴ f. barren cow; vāghát m. sacrificer; *śāścāt*⁵ m. pursuer. Besides the first three substantives just mentioned there are no feminines except the adjective a-śāścāt *unequalled*⁶ when used as a f. Hardly any n. forms occur except from the old reduplicated participle jāg-at going, living (from gā go), used chiefly as a substantive meaning the animate world. The inflexion of these reduplicated stems in at is like that of the compounded radical t stems (77), the accent never shifting to the endings.

The forms occurring if made from dādat giving (✓dā) would be:

Sing. N. m. n. dādat. A. m. dādat-am. I. dādat-ā. D. dādat-e. G. dādat-as. L. dādat-i.

Plur. N. A. dādat-as. I. dādad-bhis. G. dādat-ām.

Pl. N. m. gómant-as ; n. gómānt-i.³ A. m. gómat-as. L. gómat-su.

87. Adjective stems are formed with the suffixes -in, -min, -vin, which mean possessing. Those in -in are very common, those in -vin number nearly twenty, but there is only one in -min: ṛg-mín praising. They are declined in the m. and n. only;⁴ but the n. forms are very rare, occurring in the s. N. I. G. only. These stems sometimes come to be used as m. substantives; e.g. gāth-in singer. As in all derivative stems ending in n, the vowel of the suffix is lengthened in the N. s. m., and the n disappears in that case (in the n. also) and before consonant endings.

The forms actually occurring, if made from hast-in having hands, would be as follows :

² There are also vocatives in vas from stems in van and vāms (cp. the V. in yas from stems in yāms).

⁴ The f. stem is formed with ī: aśvín possessing horses; f. aśvín-i.

88. 3. Comparative stems are formed with the suffix yāms, which is nearly always added with the connecting vowel ī to the accented root. Only two stems are formed with yāms exclusively: jyā-yāms greater and sán-yāms older; six others are formed with yāms as well as ī-yāms; e.g. bhū-yāms and bhāv-īyāms more. The strong stem is reduced in the weak cases, by dropping the nasal and shortening the vowel, to yas. These stems are declined in the m. and n. only.¹ No forms of the du. occur, and in the pl. only the N. A. G. are found. The V. s. ends in yas.² The forms actually occurring, if made from kán-īyāms younger, would be as follows:

ok-i-vān¹ (uc be wont). This i is dropped before uṣ; e. g. tasth-úṣ-ā, īy-úṣ-as, jagm-úṣ-e.

90. 2. Nouns in an, man, van include a large number of words, those in van being by far the commonest, those in an the least frequent. These stems are almost restricted to m. and n.;² but some forms of adjective stems serve as f., and there is one specifically f. stem yós-an woman.

In the strong cases the a of the suffix is usually lengthened, e. g. ádhvān-am; but in half a dozen an and man stems it remains unchanged, e. g. arya-māṇ-am. In the weak cases the a is often syncopated before vowel endings, though never when man and van are preceded by a consonant, e. g. I. s. grāvṇā from grāvan pressing stone (but ás-man-ā stone), while before consonant endings the final n disappears,³ e. g. rāja-bhis. In the RV. syncopation never takes place in the N.A. du. n., nor with one exception (śata-dāvni) in the L. s.

As in all other n stems, the nasal is dropped in the N. s., e. g. m. ádhvā, n. kárma. But there are two peculiarities of inflexion which, being common to these three groups, do not appear elsewhere in the consonant declension. The ending of the L. s. is in the RV. dropped more often than not; e. g. mūrdhán beside mūrdhán-i on the head. In the N.A. pl. n. both the final n of the stem and the termination i are, in the RV., dropped in nineteen stems, e. g. kárma;⁴ while they are retained in eighteen, e. g. kármāṇi.

1. The an stems, which are both m. and n.,⁵ besides the ¹ With reversion to guttural, lack of reduplication, and strengthened radical vowel.

² The stems in an and man form their f. with ī added to their weakest form; those in van substitute varī.

³ That is, the a represents an original sonant nasal.

⁴ Seven of these appear with ā in the Samhitā text, but with ā, like the rest, in the Pada text. The evidence of the Avesta indicates that the ā form of the Samhitā is the older.

⁵ Six or seven adjectival forms are used as f.

In the strong forms ṛbhu-kṣán chief of the Ṛbhus, pūs-án, a god, and yóṣ-an woman retain short a; ukṣ-án ox and vṛṣ-an bull fluctuate between a and ā. In the inflexion of these stems (unlike those in man and van) the concurrence of three consonants is not avoided; e. g. śīrṣṇ-ā, I. of śīrṣ-án.

a. Six stems belong etymologically to this group though seeming to belong to one of the other two. They are: *yú-v-an*¹ m. youth, *śv-án*¹ m. dog, *ṛjī-śvan*² m. a man, *mātari-śvan*² m. a demi-god, *vī-bhv-an*³ far-reaching, *pāri-jm-an*⁴ going round. śīrṣ-án n. is an extended form of śīras head = śir(a)s-án.

⁶ No certain examples of f. formed with ī from man stems are found in the RV., though the AV. has five such at the end of compounds, the strong forms arya-mán m. a god, t-mán m. self, jé-man victorious retain the short vowel in the suffix. In the weak forms, even when the suffix is preceded by a vowel, about a dozen forms do not syncopate the a, e. g. bhū-man-ā, dā-man-e. In the I. s. seven stems not only syncopate, but drop either the m or the n as well: prathi-n-á, pre-ṇ-á, bhū-n-á, mahi-n-á, vari-ṇ-á; drāghm-á, raśm-á.

Sing. kárma. Du. kármaṇ-i. Pl. kármāṇ-i, kármā, kárma.

3. The stems in van are chiefly verbal adjectives and are almost exclusively declined in the m. Hardly a dozen of them make n. forms, and only five or six forms are used as f.² In the strong cases there is only one example of the a remaining short: anarván-am. In the weak cases, when the suffix is preceded by a vowel, the a is always syncopated in the Samhitā text except in the forms dā-ván-e, vasu-ván-e, and ṛtā-van-i. The V. is usually formed in van, but there are four in vas: ṛtā-vas, eva-yā-vas, prātar-it-vas, vi-bhā-vas.³

¹ When the suffix is preceded by a vowel, the a is generally syncopated, as mahi-mn-á, also mahi-n-á, &c.

² The f. of these stems is otherwise formed with ī, which is, however, never added to van, but regularly to a collateral suffix vara. Twenty-five such stems in varī are found in the RV.

³ Cp. the mant, vant, yāms, vāms stems.

Irregular Stems in an.

91. 1. Pānth-an m. path, forming the strong stem pānthān, is best treated under the irregular stems in radical ā (97 A. 2 a).

2. áh-an n. day, otherwise regular, supplements the N. s. with áh-ar.¹

3. śv-án m. dog, otherwise inflected like rájan, takes Samprasāraṇa in its weakest stem śún,² which, as representing an originally disyllabic stem,³ retains the accent :

3. Adjectives in añc.

93. These words, the suffix ² of which generally expresses the meaning of -ward, form the strong stem in añc, the middle in īc or *ūc*³ (according as ac is preceded by y or v). About fourteen stems have a weakest form in īc, and about six in ūc, which, if they are the contractions of accented syllables, shift the accent to the endings.⁴ They are inflected in the m. and n. only, the f. being formed with ī from the weakest stem. The only cases occurring in the pl. are the N.A. and in the du. N.A.L.

The forms actually found, if made from praty-āñc turned towards, would be :

² Properly the root añc bend, which has, however, practically acquired the character of a suffix.

³ Here ya and va irregularly contract to ī and ū, instead of i and u.

The only distinctively n. form is N.A. s. prāk.¹ The f. is formed from the weak stem with ī : prāc-ī.

94. The points to be noted about changeable stems are :

1. The vowel of the suffix is lengthened in the N. s. m. except in ant and añc stems : gó-mān, agni-vān ; kānīyān ; cakṛ-vān ; rājā ; ásmā, grāvā, yúv-ā ; hastī, ṛg-mī, taras-vī ; but ad-án, pratyāñ.

2. The N. sing. ends in a nasal in all changeable stems except those in n, which drop it.

3. All changeable stems that lengthen the vowel in the N. s. m. shorten it in the V. Those that drop the n in the N., retain it in the V., while those that have n (after ā) in the N. drop it in the V., and add s :

thus rājan (N. rājā),² ásman (N. ásmā), grāvan (N. grāvā), yúvan (N. yúvā) ;³ hástin (N. hastī) ; háviṣmas (N. haviṣmān), márutvas⁴ (N. marútván) ; kānīyas (N. kānīyān) ; cákṛvas (N. cákṛvān).

a. The only changeable stems in which the V. does not differ in form (though it does in accent) from the N. are the ant and añc stems : ádan (N. adán) ; prátyañ (N. pratyāñ).

95. The feminines of nouns with changeable stems are

c. Adjectives in van form their f. in var-ī; e. g. pí-van (πίων) fat, f. pí-var-ī (πίερα = πίφερα). The f. of the irregular yú-v-an young (91. 4) is yuva-tí.

II. Stems ending in Vowels.

97. A. 1. The stems in derivative a (m. n.)³ and ā (f.)⁴ constitute the most important declensions because the former embraces more than one half of all nominal stems, and the latter includes more feminines than any other declension.

¹ Probably an old compound, with the second part of which the Lat. mās 'male' may be allied.

² With necessary loss of the s between consonants : cp. 28 and 16 a.

³ N. -as, -am = Gk. -os, -ov ; Lat. -us, -um.

⁴ -ā = Gk. -a, -η ; Lat. -a.

These two declensions¹ are also the most irregular since the endings diverge from the normal ones here more than elsewhere. The a declension is the only one in which the N.A. n. has an ending in the singular, and in which the Ab. s. is distinguished from the G. The inflexion of the n. differs from that of the m. in the N.A.V. s. du., and pl. only. The forms actually occurring, if made from priyá dear, would be :

³ This form, made with the normal I. ending ā, is rare.

⁴ This ending is preserved in the Lat. o for od (e.g. Gnaivod in inscriptions) and in the Greek (Cretic) adverb τῶ-δε hence.

⁵ The terminations yai (= yā-e), yās (= yā-as), yām are due to the influence of the feminines in ī (originally yā), e.g. devyái, devyās, devyām (cp. 100).

2. Radical ā stems, m. and f.,¹⁶ are common in the RV., being formed from about thirty roots. Most of them appear only as the final member of compounds, but four are used as monosyllables in the m. : já child, trá protector, dá giver, sthá standing ; and seven in the f. : kṣá abode, khá well, gná divine woman, já child, jyá bowstring, má measure, vrá troop.¹⁷ The forms occurring in the oblique cases are so ⁶ The form amba, occurring thrice in the RV., may have a V. meaning, O mother ! The VS. and TS. have the V. ámbe as from a stem ámbā mother.

⁸ That the ending was originally -ns is shown by the Sandhi (40. 2' ; cp. Gothic -ans, Gk. inscr. -ovs).

⁹ This ending is preserved in such Greek datives as ἡμῖν. It is slightly commoner in the RV. than priyébhis, but in the AV. it is five times as common. It is almost always used in the Brāhmaṇas.

¹⁰ The n seems to have been due to the influence of the n stems.

¹¹ The u of su is almost invariably to be read with hiatus, even before u.

¹² This form is rare in the RV., being probably due to the influence of the many masculines.

¹⁵ This form is due to the influence of the an stems, which form their n. pl. in both ā and āni, e. g. nāmā and nāmāni.

¹⁷ These stems become less common in the later Saṃhitās, where they often shorten the final vowel to a, and are then inflected like derivative a stems.

rare that some endings, such as those of the L. s., the G.L. du., and the G. pl. are not represented at all. a. Five anomalously formed m. derivative stems in ā follow the analogy of the radical ā stems.

The strong stem of pathí m. path is in the RV. pánthā only: Sing. N. pánthā-s. A. pánthā-m. Pl. N. pánthās. The AV. has besides the stem pánthān: Sing. N. pánthā. A. pánthānam. Pl. N. pánthān-as.

From the adverb táthā thus is formed the sing. N. átathā-s not saying 'yes'.

uśānā m., a seer, has a N. like a f.: uśānā. A. uśānā-m. D. uśān-e. mānthā churning stick and mahā great form the A. mānthā-m and mahā-m.

3. Radical a stems, m. n., numbering about twenty, consist almost entirely of stems in radical ā that has been shortened to a. Excepting kha n. aperture they appear as final members of compounds only; e. g. prathama-jā first-born. -ha slaying is a reduced form of han; e. g. śatru-hā slaying enemies.

98. B. Stems in i and u (m.f.n.).

Both declensions embrace a large number of nouns of all genders. But the i declension contains comparatively few n. stems, and, excepting the N.A. s. and pl., n. forms are rare in it, not occurring at all in several cases. In the u declension the masculines greatly preponderate, being about four times as numerous as the f. and n. stems taken together, while the neuters here greatly outnumber the feminines. The inflexion, which is closely parallel in both groups, is practically the same in all genders except that the N.A. s. and pl. n. differ from the m. and f., and the A. pl. m. and f. differ from each other. The final vowel of the stem shows Guṇa in three of the weak cases of the s. (D.Ab.G.), as well as in the V. s. and the N. pl. m. f., while it is abnormally strengthened in the L. s. The normal ending as of the Ab.G. s. is reduced to s, while that of the L. s. is always dropped in the i declension and usually in the u declension. The inflexion of the n stems has influenced the i declension in the I. s. only, but the u declension in the G.Ab. and L. also. Oxytone stems, when i and u are changed to y and v, throw the accent on a following vowel, not as Svarita, but as Udātta, and even on the nām of the G. pl., though the stem vowel in that case does not lose its syllabic value.

¹ Not, however, in most of the dative infinitives; e. g. parā-dái to give up, pra-khyái to see, prati-mái imitate (cp. 167).

² Contrary to the rule generally applicable to monosyllabic stems, the accent remains on the radical syllable throughout.

The adjectives śúc-i bright and mádh-u sweet may be used to illustrate the forms actually occurring :

⁸ The normally formed type mádhv-as is followed by six stems, the prevailing type mádho-s by over seventy in the RV.

a. Twenty-seven i stems in the RV. show forms according to the derivative ī declension in the D.Ab.G.L. s.f. : e.g. bhṛtī f. sustenance : D. bhṛty-ái ; bhūmi f. earth : Ab.G. bhūmy-ās, L. bhūmy-ām. Such forms in ai, ās, ām are much commoner in the AV. In B. ai is regularly used instead of ās (cp. 97 a a). Besides the numerous I. s. forms in nā the RV. has half a dozen i stems showing the influence of the n declension in the incipient use of the endings nī in the N.A.V. du, n, and ni in the N.A. pl. n.

In the u declension the RV. has only three forms following the analogy of the derivative ī declension : iṣu f. arrow : D. iṣv-ai, G. iṣv-ās, su-vāstv-ās of the (river) Suvāstu (all in late passages).⁸ There are

² The original ending ns is in both śúcīn and mádhūn preserved in the Sandhi forms of ṃs or ṃr (39, 40).

³ About ten stems in i in the RV. have N. pl. forms according to the derivative ī declension ; e.g. avānīs streams beside avānayas.

⁵ There is only one example of the N. pl. m. without Guṇa : mádhv-as itself occurring four times.

⁶ There are two examples of the N. pl. f. without Guṇa : mádhv-as and śatá-kratv-as having a hundred powers.

⁸ In B. the D. s. f. ending ai is here regularly used instead of the Ab.G. ās.

also some forms following the analogy of the ū declension : A. á-bhīrv-am from á-bhīru fearless and N. du. and pl. in yuv-ā and yuv-as from several stems derived with the suffix yu. Besides the numerous I. singulars m. and n., there are many alternative n. forms, in the remaining cases of the s. and N. A. pl., following the n declension : D. mādhu-ne, kaśīpu-ne ; Ab. mādhu-nas, sānu-nas ; G. cāru-nas, dāru-nas, drú-nas, mādhu-nas, vāsu-nas ; L. āyu-ni, sānu-ni ; dāru-ni ; N.A. pl. dārū-ni, &c.

b. There is no example of a V. s. n. from an i stem, and the only one from an u stem is gūggulu (AV.). This seems to indicate that the V. s. in these stems was identical with the N.

c. Adjectives in u often use this stem for the f. also ; e.g. cāru dear ; otherwise they form the f. in ū, as tanú m., tanú f. thin (Lat. tenu-is) ; or in ī, as urú m., urv-ī f. wide.

d. There are about a dozen stems in which final i seems to be radical in a secondary sense as representing a reduced form of roots ending in a. They are mostly m. compounds formed with -dhi ; e.g. ni-dhī treasury. There are also about eight stems formed from roots in u, all of which except dyú day are final members of compounds ; e.g. raghu-drú running swiftly ; besides some twelve stems in which u is radical in a secondary sense, as representing the shortened form of the vowel of three roots in ū ; e.g. su-pú clarifying well (from pū purify), pari-bhú surrounding (from bhū be).

The inflexion of these radical i and u stems is exactly the same as that of the derivative i and u stems given above.

Irregularities.

99. 1. páti (Gk. πόσις) m. husband is irregular in the D.G.L. s. : páty-e, páty-ur,¹ páty-au ; while the I. in this sense has the normal form páty-ā. When it means lord, either as a simple word or as final member of a compound, it is regular : D. pátay-e, bṛhas-pátay-e, G. páte-s, prajā-pate-s, L. gó-patau ; while the I. in this sense is formed with nā : páti-nā, bṛhas-pátinā. The f. is pátnī (Gk. πότνια) wife and lady.

¹ The anomalous ending appears to be due to the influence of the Ab.G. in the names of relationship (101) in ṛ like pitúr, G. of pitṛ father.

a. The f. jāni wife takes the anomalous ending ur in the G.: jāny-ur.¹ It has the further anomaly of forming its N. jāni like the derivative ī declension.

2. sákh-i m. friend, besides having irregularities like pāti in the weak cases of the s., has a strong stem formed with Vṛddhi: N. sákhā, A. sákhāy-am, I. sákhya-ā, D. sákhya-e, Ab.G. sákhya-ur,¹ V. sákhe.² Du. sákhāy-ā and sákhāy-au; Pl. N. sákhāy-as, A. sákhī-n, I. sákhi-bhis, D. sákhi-bhyas, G. sákhī-n-ām.

a. In the RV. sákhi occurs as the final member of eight compounds in which it is inflected in the same way and is also used as a f.; e.g. marút-sakhā N. m. f. having the Maruts as friends.

3. arí devout is irregular in forming several cases like the radical ī stems (except in accentuation): sing. A. ary-ām (beside arí-m) m., G. ary-ás m.; pl. N. ary-ás m. f., A. ary-ás m. f.

a. The VS. has also the N. s. arí-s, beside the regular arí-s of the RV. ávi sheep (Lat. ovi-s) also takes the normal ending as in the G. s.: ávy-as. ví m. bird has in the RV. the N. s. vé-s beside ví-s.

4. The neuters ákṣi eye, ásthi bone, dádhi curds, sákthi thigh, form their weakest cases from stems in án; e.g. I. dadhn-ā, sakthn-ā; G. akṣṇ-ás, asthn-ás, dadhn-ás. Du. N. ákṣi-ñī (AV.), I. sákthi-bhyām, G. akṣṇ-ós, but sákthy-os (VS.). In the pl. the an stems are used in the N. A. also: akṣāṇ-i (beside ákṣī-ñī, AV.), asthān-i (beside ásthī-ni, AV.), sakthān-i; I. akṣá-bhis, asthá-bhis; D. asthá-bhyas.

5. dyú m. f. sky (originally ḍiū, weak grade of dyo, 102, 3) retains this stem before consonant terminations (taking Vṛddhi in the N. V. s.), but changes it to div before vowels:

¹ Influenced, like pátyur, by the names of relationship in ṛ (101).

100. C. Stems in ī and ū are mostly f. when substantives, but a great many as final members of compounds are adjectives used in the m. as well as f.

I. The ī stems are very differently inflected according as they are radical (a) or derivative (b). The analogy of the primary radical group (1) is closely followed both in inflexion and accentuation by a secondary group (2) of about eighty polysyllabic stems which, though formed with derivative ī, are for the sake of clearness best treated as a division of the radical group.

a. The normal endings as they appear in the inflexion of consonant stems are taken throughout this declension. The G. pl., however, preserves the normal ending ām in one single form only (dhiy-ām), nām being otherwise always added. The N. s. always adds s. Accentuation on the final syllable of the stem is characteristic of this declension, and, except in monosyllabic stems, the acute remains on that syllable throughout. Before vowel endings the ī is split to iy in monosyllabic nouns, even when they are final members of compounds,⁴ as A. dhíy-am, pl. N. nānā-dhiy-as having diverse intentions; but in roots as final members of

² i.e. díau-s to be pronounced as a disyllable. The s of the N. is retained in this form.

³ These two forms, which occur only in the RV. or passages borrowed from it, always mean days.

⁴ Except accented -dhī, as ā-dhām (but su-dhī follows the general rule, as su-dhíy-as).

compounds only when two consonants precede,¹ as yajña-prīy-am sacrifice-loving, but yajña-nyàm (= yajña-níam) leading the sacrifice. Otherwise ī is always written as y, but is invariably to be pronounced as i, as nady-àm pronounced *nadíam*² stream.

The monosyllabic stems belonging to the radical class are the feminines dhī thought, bhī fear, śrī glory, and the m. vī receiver (occurring only once in the N. s.). The compounds of the first three, being mostly Bahuvrīhis (189), and the compounds formed from the roots krī buy, nī lead, prī love, mī diminish, vī move, śī lie, śrī mix, being mostly accusative Tatpuruṣas (187), are both m. and f.

The secondary group consists of more than eighty polysyllabic stems accented on the final syllable and probably for this reason following the analogy of the radical compounds. Excepting about half a dozen they are substantives, nearly all f. The masculines are ahī serpent, rathī charioteer, and about eight compounds.

b. The declension in derivative ī embraces a large number of stems formed by means of the suffix ī (originally yā) largely to supply a f. to m. words, and not normally accenting the suffix.³ It also includes a large number of miscellaneous f. stems of an independent character having no corresponding m., as śác-ī might. It includes seven m. stems, five of which are proper names: Tiraścī, Námī, Pṛthī, Mātalī, Sóbharī, besides rāṣṭrī ruler, sirī weaver.

¹ In the secondary radical group (a 2, p. 87) the ī is split only in samudrī and partly in cakrī.

² The resolved forms given below are spelt with i (not iy as they may have been pronounced) so as to avoid confusion with the written forms of the Saṃhitā text that are spelt with iy. Again the resolved vowel is given as ī (not ī) because long vowels are regularly shortened in pronunciation before vowels (p. 22, notes 1 and 5).

The inflexion of these stems¹ differs from that of the radical ī stems in three respects:—(1) no s is added in the N. s. m. or f.; (2) the endings diverge considerably from the normal ones, the s. A. taking m, the D. ai, the Ab.G. ās, the L. ām, the pl. N.V.A. s; (3) stems accented on the final vowel shift the acute to the ending in the weak cases of the s., in the G.L. du., and in the G. pl.

β. strī woman, originally a disyllable, is inflected as a radical monosyllabic stem in the sing. A. and pl. N.A.I. : strīy-am ; strīy-as, strī-bhīs (accent); but retains traces of its derivative origin in the s. N. strī (no s), D. *striy-ái*² (AV.), G. striy-ās, L. striy-ām (AV.).

II. The ū declension, which comprises both radical and derivative stems, is much more homogeneous than the ī declension. The inflexion of these two classes corresponds exactly to that of the two divisions of the radical ī declension. Practically all the stems in this declension are oxytones (including both the compound radical and the derivative stems).

a. In the radical class there are seven monosyllabic stems, five of which are f. : dū gift, bhū earth, brū brow, syū thread, srū stream ; one m. and f. : sū begetter and mother ; one m. : jū speeding, steed. There are further two reduplicated f. substantives and one adjective : juhū tongue, juhū sacrificial spoon ; jógū singing aloud. Finally, there are about sixty compounds, almost exclusively formed from about eleven roots, e. g. pari-bhū surrounding.

² In B. this form is used for the G. ; e. g. striyai payaḥ woman's milk.

b. The derivative class comprises two divisions: the one consists of about eighteen oxytone f. substantives, several of which correspond to m. or n. stems in u accented on the first syllable, e. g. a-grú (m. á-gru) maid; the other and more numerous division consists of oxytone f. adjectives corresponding to m. oxytones, e. g. babhrú (m. babhrú) brown.

a. The normal endings as they appear in the inflexion of consonant stems are taken throughout this declension (radical and derivative).¹ The G. pl., however, takes the normal ām in uncompounded radical stems only,² but nām in all others. The N. s. always adds s. Before vowel endings the ū is split into uv in monosyllabic nouns and generally in compounds with roots as final member (even when preceded by a single consonant). In the minority of such compounds (some nine in the RV.) and in all derivative stems,³ it is written as v, but pronounced as u.⁴ Thus A. bhúv-am, ā-bhúv-am present; but vi-bhú-am eminent, tanú-am.

The forms occurring if made from bhú earth and tanú body would be the following:

Ab.G. bhuv-ás	Ab.G. tanú-as
L. bhuv-í	L. { tanú-i { tanú
	V. tánu

¹ The derivative stems show an incipient tendency to be influenced by the inflexion of the derivative ī declension. The RV. has only one such form: śvaśruām; the AV. has at least ten such; the VS. has A. pumścalū-m courtesan, D. tanv-ái, G. tanv-ās. In B. the D. s. f. ending ai is used for ās; e. g. dhenvái rétaḥ the seed of the cow.

² Judging by the only two forms that occur, bhuvām and jóguvām.

³ It is, however, split in the derivative stems a-grú, kadrú Soma vessel, in adjectives when ū is preceded by y, and in bībhatsú loathing.

101. D. Stems in ṛ (m. and f.), which in origin are consonant stems in derivative ar or tar, closely resemble an stems (90) in their declension. Derivative stems in ṛ consist of two groups, the one formed with the original suffix ar, the other with tar. The former is a small group of only eight stems, the latter a very large one of more than 150. Both groups agree in distinguishing strong and weak cases. The strong stem ends in ar or ār, which in the weak forms is reduced to r before vowels and ṛ before consonants. Both groups further agree in dropping the final of the stem in the N. s. m. f., which case always ends in ā. They resemble the vowel declension in adding the ending n in the A. pl. m. and s in the A. pl. f.¹ and in inserting n before the ām of the G. pl.² They have the peculiar ending ur in the G. s.³

2. This group includes two subdivisions, the one forming its strong stem in tar, the other in tār (Gk. -τηρ, -τωρ, Lat. -tor). The former consists of a small class of five names of relationship: three m., pi-tár father, bhrā-tar brother, náp-tar grandson, and two f., duh-i-tár daughter and mā-tár mother, together with the m. and f. compounds formed from them. The second division consists of more than 150 stems (including compounds) which are either agent nouns accented chiefly on the suffix, or participles accented chiefly on the root. These stems are never f., and only four are n.

In the tr declension three stems are to be distinguished: the strong, tar or tār; the middle, tr; and the weakest, tr. The names of relationship take the Guṇa form,⁵ agent nouns the Vṛddhi form of the ¹ áh-ar and údḥ-ar form their other cases from the an stems áh-an and údḥ-an. Cp. 91. 6.

² Often to be pronounced nṛṇám.

³ Following the analogy of the derivative ī declension.

⁴ svásr-ām and nar-ām are the only two forms of the r declension in which ām is added direct to the stem.

⁵ The strong stem náp-tar does not occur in the RV., nápāt taking its place.

strong stem. The inflexion of the m. and f. differs in the A. pl. only. The sing. G. is formed in ur, the L. in ari, the V. in ar ; the pl. A. m. in tṛṇ, f. tṛs, G. in tṛṇām.

The inflexion of the three stems dā-tṛ m. giver (δω-τήρ, da-tor), pi-tṛ m. father (πα-τήρ, pā-ter), mā-tṛ f. mother (μή-τηρ, mā-ter) is as follows :

a. náp-tr in the RV. occurs in the weak stem only : Sing. I. náptr-ā, D. náptr-e, G. nápt-ur. Pl. I. náptr-bhis. It is supplemented in the strong forms by nápāt (Lat. nepōt-): Sing. N.V. nápāt. A. nápāt-am.—Du. N.A. nápāt-ā.—Pl. N.V. nápāt-as. In the TS. occurs náptār-am (like svāsār-am among the ṛ stems).

b. The only n. stems occurring are dhar-tṛ prop, dhmā-tṛ smithy, sthā-tṛ stationary, vi-dhar-tṛ meting out, and of these only about half a dozen forms occur. The only oblique cases met with are the G. sthātūr and the L. dhmātāri. The N.A. s. owing to its rarity seems never to have acquired fixity in the Veda, but sthātār represents the normal form. In B. the N.A. form in ṛ begins to be used in an adjectival sense : bhartṛ supporting, janayitṛ creative.

c. The f. of agent nouns in tr is formed with ī from the weak stem of the m., e. g. jānitr-ī mother (inflected like devī).

102. E. Stems in ai, o, au. The only stems in diphthongs are: rái m. and (rarely) f. wealth, gó m. bull, f. cow, dyó m. f. sky, náu f. ship, gláu m. f. lump. They form a transition from the consonant to the vowel declension ; for while they take the normal endings like the ordinary consonant declension, they add s in the N. s. m. f. and have a vowel before the endings with initial consonant. There are no neuter forms.

1. rái appears as rāy before vowels and rā before consonants. The forms occurring are: Sing. A. rā-m (Lat. re-m). I. rāy-ā. D. rāy-é (Lat. rē-i). Ab.G. rāy-ās.—Pl. N. rāy-as. A. rāy-ās.¹ G. rāy-ām.

2. go has as its strong form gau which appears as gā in the A. s. and pl. The Ab.G. are irregular in adding s only instead of as.² The forms occurring are: Sing. N. gáu-s (βoû-s). A. gā-m (βô-ν). I. gáv-ā. D. gáv-e. Ab.G. gó-s. L. gáv-i.—Du. gáv-ā, -au.—Pl. N. gáv-as. A. gá-s. I. gó-bhis. D. gó-bhyas. G. gáv-ām and gó-n-ām.³ L. gó-ṣu. V. gáv-as.

² As regards accentuation this word is not treated as a monosyllabic stem, never shifting the accent to the endings.

³ This form, which follows the vowel declension and is much less common than gáv-ām, occurs at the end of a Pāda only.

3. dyó m. f. sky (cp. 99. 5) is declined like gó. The forms occurring are : Sing. N. *dyáu-s*¹ (Ζεύς). A. dyám (Lat. diem). Ab. G. dyó-s. L. dyáv-i. V. dyáu-s and *dyàu-s*² (Ζεύ).—Du. N.A. dyáv-ā.—Pl. N.V. dyáv-as.

4. náu is inflected quite regularly as far as can be judged by the few forms occurring : Sing. N. náu-s (ναῦ-s). N. náv-am (νηφα). I. nāv-ā. G. nāv-ás (νηφ-ός). L. nāv-í (νηφ-ί).—Pl. N. nāv-as (νηφ-ες, nāv-es). A. nāv-as (νηφ-ας). I. náu-bhis (ναῦ-φι).

5. gláu occurs in two forms only : Sing. N. gláu-s and Pl. I. glau-bhís.³

Degrees of Comparison.

103. 1. The secondary suffixes of the comparative *tara*⁴ (Gk. -τερο) and the superlative tama (Lat. -timo) are regularly added to nominal stems (both simple and compound), substantives as well as adjectives, generally to the weak or middle stem ; e. g. priyá-tara dearer, tavás-tara stronger, vápuṣ-tara more wonderful, bhágavat-tara more bounteous ; vṛtra-tára a worse Vṛtra ; bhūri-dāvat-tara giving more abundantly ; śásvat-tamá most constant ; ratna-dhā-tama best bestower of treasure ; hiraṇya-vāśī-mat-tama best wielder of the golden axe ; rathī-tama best charioteer.

a. The final n of the stem is retained before these suffixes ; e. g. madín-tara more gladdening, vṛśán-tama most manly. An n is sometimes even inserted ; e. g. surabhí-n-tara more fragrant ; rayín-tama very rich.

² That is, díau-s with the proper V. accent, but with anomalous retention of the N. s.

³ The N. pl. glāv-as also occurs in the AB.

⁴ These secondary comparatives and superlatives are commoner than the primary in the proportion of three to two.

b. In a few instances the strong stem of a present participle is used; e.g. vrádhān-tama being most mighty, sáhan-tama most victorious; and the weakest stem of a perfect participle: vidús-ṭara wiser; mīlhús-tama most gracious.

c. These secondary suffixes are occasionally found added to the primary comparatives and superlatives, e.g. śrēṣṭha-tama most beautiful.

d. They also form a comparative and superlative from the preposition úd up: út-tara higher, *ut-tamá*¹ highest.

e. These suffixes² form their f. in ā; e.g. mātr̥-tamā most motherly.

2. The primary suffix of the comparative īyāms (Gk. -ίων, Lat. -ior) and that of the superlative iṣṭha (Gk. -ιστο) are added directly to the root, which is regularly accented³ and gunates ĩ and ũ, but leaves a unchanged apart from nasalization in a few instances. Final radical ā combines with the initial of the suffix to e, which is, however, usually to be read as two syllables. Examples are: tēj-īyāms sharper, tēj-iṣṭha very sharp (tij be sharp); jāv-īyāms quicker, jāv-iṣṭha quickest (jū be swift); yāj-īyāms sacrificing better, yāj-iṣṭha sacrificing best; mámh-iṣṭha most liberal (mah bestow abundantly); jyēṣṭha greatest and jyēṣṭhá eldest (jyā overcome).

a. In many instances these superlatives attach themselves in meaning to derivative adjectives, being formed from the root which the latter contain; e.g. āṇ-īyāms smaller, āṇ-iṣṭha smallest beside āṇ-u minute; dāv-īyāms farther beside dū-rá far; drágh-īyāms longer, drágh-iṣṭha longest beside dīrgh-á long; lāgh-īyāms lighter beside lagh-ú light; vár-īyāms wider, vár-iṣṭha widest beside ur-ú wide; śás-īyāms more frequent beside śás-vant constant; oṣ-iṣṭha very quick beside oṣ-am quickly; bárh-iṣṭha very lofty beside br̥h-ánt great; yāv-iṣṭha youngest beside yúv-an youth; vár-iṣṭha most excellent beside vár-a choice; sádh-iṣṭha straightest beside sádh-ú straight.

² When used as an ordinal suffix tama forms its f. in accented i (cp. 107).

³ Except jyēṣṭhá meaning eldest and kaniṣṭhá meaning youngest.

β. In a few examples the suffix is added to the derivative form of the root which appears in the adjective; thus ās-iṣṭha (ᾠκ-ιστο-s) beside ās-u (ᾠκ-ύ-s) swift (from aś reach); tikṣṇ-iyāms sharper beside tikṣṇā sharp (from tij be sharp); nāv-iyāms newer, nāv-iṣṭha newest beside náva new; svād-iyāms (ῥδιων, suāv-ior) sweeter, svād-iṣṭha (ῥδ-ιστο-s) beside svād-ú (ῥδ-ύ-s, suāv-i-s) sweet (from svad be sweet).¹

α. Beside the usual forms in iyāms there occur about half a dozen alternative comparatives made with the shorter form of the suffix, yāms: táv-yāms (táv-iyāms) stronger; náv-yāms (náv-iyām-s) newer; pán-yāms (pán-iyāms) more wonderful, *bhū-yāms*² (bháv-iyāms) becoming more, greater; rábh-yāms (rábh-iyāms) more violent; sáh-yāms (sáh-iyāms) stronger. Some half-dozen more have no alternative form beside them: jyá-yāms greater, older; pré-yāms dearer, pré-ṣṭha dearest (priyá dear); vás-yāms better, vás-iṣṭha best (vásu good); śré-yāms (κρείων) better, śré-ṣṭha best (śrī be bright), sán-yāms (Lat. sen-ior) older (sána old), sthé-yāms most steadfast (sthi-rá firm).

β. Some comparatives and superlatives belong to their positives in sense only; e.g. *kán-iyāms*³ lesser, younger, kán-iṣṭha *smallest*⁴ and kan-iṣṭhá youngest (álpa small); néd-iyāms (Av. nazd-yah) nearer, néd-iṣṭha (Av. nazd-iṣṭa) nearest (antiká near), várs-iyāms higher, *várs-iṣṭha*⁵ highest (vṛddhá grown up).

² Here the vowel remains unchanged. This is also the case in the corresponding superlative bhū-y-iṣṭha, which moreover adds the suffix with an intervening y.

³ Cp. kan-yā girl (= kaniā), Gk. καυό-s (= καυλό-s).

⁴ Appears in this sense in the TS.

² The cardinals between 10 and 20 are Dvandva compounds formed by prefixing the accented unit to daśa ten.

³ Here ékā stands for éka under the influence of dvā-daśa.

⁵ tráyo, for tráyas (45. 2), is the N. pl. (105).

⁷ For śaṣ-daśa through ṣaṣ-daśa (cp. 69 c, note 3).

⁸ This and the remaining cardinals are substantives. Those from twenty to ninety are either old compounds (adj. and substantive: two decades, &c.) or derivatives formed with -tí.

⁹ catvārim for catvāri, n. pl. (105), like vimśatí and trimśát.

¹⁰ Sixty to ninety are abstract f. nouns derived from the simple cardinals (except aśī-tí) meaning hexad of tens, &c.

¹¹ aśī- is radically cognate to aṣ-ṭā.

a. The numbers intermediate between the decades 20-100 are Dvandva compounds formed by prefixing the accented unit to the decade ; e. g. aṣṭá-vimśati 28 ; éka-trimśat 31 ; tráyas-trimśat 33 ; náva-catvārimśat 49 ; náva-ṣaṣṭi 69 ; návāśīti 89 ; páñca-navati 95, ṣaṇ-ṇavati 96, aṣṭá-navati 98 ; éka-śatam 101, cátuḥ-śatam 104, trimśác-chatam 130.

a. Intermediate numbers may also be expressed by adding together unit and decade with or without ca ; e.g. náva ca navatim ca ninety and nine, navatim náva ninety-nine.

β. In the TS. the number preceding a decade is also expressed by ékān ná by one not = minus one ; thus ékān ná vimśatī twenty less one = 19 ; ékān ná catvārimśat 39 ; ékān ná ṣaṣṭī 59 ; ékān náśīti 79 ; ékān ná śatām 99.

b. There are two ways of forming multiples. The larger number in the du. or pl. may be multiplied by the smaller used as an adjective ; e. g. dvé śaté 200 ; saṣṭim sahasrā 60,000 ; trīṇi śatā trī sahasrāṇi trimśác ca náva ca 3,339. Otherwise the multiplier prefixed to the larger number forms with it a possessive (adjective) compound accented on the last syllable ; e. g. tráyastrimśat tri-śatāḥ ṣaṭ-sahasráḥ 6,333.

a. Multiples of numbers below 100 are sometimes formed in these two ways ; e.g. navatīr náva nine nineties = 810 ; tri-saptá 21, tri-ṇavá 27.

Declension of Cardinals.

105. Only the first four cardinals, like other adjectives, distinguish the genders. éka one, while inflected chiefly in the s., forms a pl.¹ also in the sense of some ; dvá two is of course inflected in the dual only.

1. éka is declined like the pronominal adjectives víśva and *sárva*¹ (120 b). The forms occurring in the Samhitās are:

m. s. N. ékas. A. ékam. I. ékena. G. ékasya. L. ékasmin. Pl. N. éke. D. ékebhyaḥ.

f. s. N. ékā. A. ékām. I. ékayā. G. ékasyās. Pl. N. ékās.

n. s. N. ékam. Pl. N. ékā.

2. dvā two is declined quite regularly as a dual, like priyá (97 A. 1). The forms occurring are:

m. N. dvā,² dváu. I. dvābhyām. G. dváyoḥ. L. dváyoḥ.

f. N. dvé. I. dvābhyām.

n. N. dvé. L. dváyoḥ.

3. trí three is declined in the m. n. pl. quite regularly, like śúci (98 B). The f. stem is tisṛ,³ the inflexion of which differs in the N.A. from other ṛ stems⁴ by adding the normal ending as to the unmodified stem. The forms occurring are:

m. Pl. tráyaḥ. A. trín. I. tribhís. D. tribhyás. G. trīṇām. L. trīṣu.

f. N. tisrás. A. tisrás. I. tisṛbhis. D. tisṛbhyas. G. tisṛṇām.⁵

n. N.A. trí, trīṇi.

4. catúr four in the m. n. has the strong stem catvār (cp. Lat. quatuor). In the G. pl., though the stem ends in

² The dual form is retained in the numeral compound dvā-daśa 12. Otherwise dvi is used as the stem in compounds, as dvi-pád biped, and in derivation, as dví-dhā in two ways, &c.

³ Probably for tri-sṛ, formed like svá-sṛ (101. 1, note 5).

⁴ Except nar-ás (101. 1 c).

⁵ Once written tisṛṇām, though the ṛ is actually long metrically.

a consonant, n is inserted before the case-ending.¹ The f. stem is cátasr, which is inflected exactly like tisṛ and shifts its accent like pāñca. The forms occurring are:

- m. N. catvār-as. A. catúr-as. I. catúr-bhis. D. catúr-bhyas. G. catúr-ñám.²
 f. N. A. cátasr-as. I. catasṛ-bhis. D. catasṛ-bhyas. G. catasṛ-ñám.
 n. N.A. catvār-i.

106. The cardinals from five to nineteen, though used adjectivally, do not distinguish gender and take no ending in the N.A.³ They also have in common the peculiarity of accenting a before the consonant terminations⁴ and the final syllable in the G.

a. The forms of śás six occurring in the Samhitās are :

N.A. śat (27). I. śaḍ-bhis. D. śaḍ-bhyás. L. śaṭ-sú.

b. The forms of aṣṭá eight indicate that it was an old dual.⁵ The forms that occur are :

N.A. aṣṭá,⁶ aṣṭáu. I. aṣṭā-bhis. D. aṣṭā-bhyás. L. aṣṭā-sú.

c. pāñca five as well as saptá seven and the cardinals from nine to nineteen are declined like neuters in an (90. 2) except in the G., which follows priyá (97). The forms occurring are :

N.A. pāñca. I. pañcá-bhis. D. pañcá-bhyas. G. pañcānám. L. pañcá-su.

¹ Like ṣaṇ-ñám, the G. of śás, which, however, does not seem to occur in any of the Samhitās.

² With accent on the final syllable like the G. of pāñca, &c.

³ Except aṣṭá and aṣṭáu which are N. A. dual forms.

⁴ Except aṣṭá, which accents the terminations.

⁵ Meaning probably the two tetrads (perhaps with reference to the fingers of the two hands).

⁶ aṣṭā is the stem used as the first member of compounds in the RV., but aṣṭa begins to be used in the AV.

N.A. saptá. I. saptá-bhis. D.Ab. saptá-bhyas. G. saptānām.

N.A. náva. I. navá-bhis. D. navá-bhyas. G. navānām.

N.A. dáśa. I. daśá-bhis. D. daśá-bhyas. G. daśānām.
L. daśá-su.

N.A. ékādaśa. D. ekādaśá-bhyas. N. dvádaśa. D. dvādaśá-bhyas. N. tráyaśa. I. trayodaśá-bhis. D. trayodaśá-bhyas. N. pañcadaśa. D. pañcadaśá-bhyas. N. ṣoḍaśa. D. ṣoḍaśá-bhyas. N. saptadaśa. D. saptadaśá-bhyas. N. aṣṭadaśa. D. aṣṭadaśá-bhyas. N. návadaśa. I. navadaśá-bhis. D. ékān ná viṃśatyái (TS.).

d. The cardinals for the decades from twenty to ninety with their compounds are f. substantives, nearly always inflected in the sing. and according to the declension of the stem final ; e. g. N. viṃśatí-s. A. viṃśatí-m. I. viṃśaty-ā. N. triṃśát. A. triṃśát-am. I. triṃśát-ā. L. triṃśát-i. If the sense requires it these numerals may be used in the pl. ; e. g. náva navatís nine nineties ; navānām navatīnām of nine nineties.

śatá hundred and sahasra thousand are neuters, which may be declined in all numbers ; e. g. dvé śaté two hundred ; saptá śatāni seven hundred ; trí sahasrāṇi three thousand.

a. In the group five to nineteen the bare stem may be used in the oblique cases agreeing with substantives ; e. g. saptá hótṛbhiḥ with seven priests (cp. 194 B a).

Ordinals.

107. The ordinals, being all adjectives ending in a, are declined in the m. and n. like priyá. The f. is formed with ī (declined like devī) except in the first four, which take ā.

The ordinals from first to tenth are formed with various suffixes, viz. (t)īya, tha, thama, ma. The formation of the first four is somewhat irregular. The stems of the ordinals from eleventh to nineteenth differ from those of the corresponding cardinals only in being accented on the final syllable; their inflexion differs from that of the latter in following priyá. Thus ekādaśá eleventh forms the cases: m. s. A. ekādaśá-m. Pl. N. ekādaśásas. A. ekādaśán. I. ekādaśáis.

The ordinals from twentieth to ninetieth (including their compounds), which also end in accented á, seem to be abbreviated forms of the corresponding cardinals; e. g. catvārimśá fortieth.¹

The ordinals for hundredth and thousandth are formed with the superlative suffix tama accented on the final syllable: śata-tamá, sahasra-tamá.²

¹ Only about three examples of this formation have been noted in the Samhitās, and four in the Brāhmaṇas.

² Sahasra-tamá has been noted in B. only.

³ Probably for pra-tamá foremost, the th being due to the influence of catur-thá, &c.

Numeral Derivatives.

108. A number of derivatives, chiefly adverbs, are formed from the cardinals.

a. Multiplicative adverbs: sa-kṛt once (lit. one making); dví-s twice (Gk. δίς, Lat. bi-s); trí-s thrice (Gk. τρίς, Lat. tri-s); catús four times (for catúr-s). Others are expressed by the cardinal and the form kṛtv-as times (probably makings A. pl. of kṛtu) which is used as a separate word except in aṣṭa-kṛtvas (AV.) eight times; e. g. dáśa kṛtvas (AV.) ten times, bhūri kṛtvas many times.

b. Adverbs of manner formed with the suffix dhā: dví-dhā in two ways or parts, trí-dhā and tre-dhā, catur-dhā, pañca-dhā, ṣo-dhā, sapta-dhā, aṣṭa-dhā, nava-dhā, sahasra-dhā.

c. A few multiplicative adjectives derived with the suffixes a, taya, vaya meaning -fold: tray-á threefold, dvay-á twofold; dáśa-taya tenfold; cátur-vaya fourfold.

PRONOUNS

109. Pronouns differ from nouns both in origin and declension. They are derived from a small class of roots with a demonstrative sense, and they have several distinct peculiarities of inflexion. These peculiarities have in varying degrees been extended to several groups of adjectives.

A. Personal Pronouns.

This class displays the greatest number of peculiarities: they are for each person derived from several roots or combinations of roots; they are specially irregular in inflexion; they do not distinguish gender, nor to some extent even number. Some resemble neuters in form; a few have no apparent case-ending; in two of them the A. pl. m. does duty as f. also.

² Only this, the normal form (=tvā-i), is found in the RV. The irregular tvāyi appears in the later Saṃhitās.

³ asmān and yuṣmān are new formations according to the nominal declension. The stems are compounds of the pronominal elements a+sma and yu+sma. The VS. twice has the distinctly f. new formation yuṣmās.

⁴ asmākam and yuṣmākam are properly the A. n. s. of the possessives asmāka our, yuṣmāka your.

⁵ asmāsu is a new formation following the analogy of asmābhis.

⁶ asmé is also used as D.

⁷ Changed from original yūṣ-ám by the influence of vay-ám.

Dual. N. *vām*¹ and āvām (ŚB.) we two. A. *āvām*² (ŚB.) us two. Ab. āvā-bhyām (K.) and āvād (TS.) from us two. G. āváy-os (ŚB.) of us two.

N. yuvām ye two. A. yuvām you two. I. yuvā-bhyām and yuvā-bhyām by you two. Ab. yuvád from you two. G. *yuv-ós*³ and yuváy-os of you two.

a. The following unaccented forms, inadmissible at the beginning of a sentence, are also used: Sing. A. mā, tvā. D.G. *me*⁴ (Gk. μοι), *te*⁴ (Gk. τοι). Du. A.D.G. nau (Gk. νῶι), vām. Pl. A.D.G. nas (Lat. nōs), vas (Lat. vōs).

b. The usual stems of these pronouns used in derivation or as first member of compounds are: ma, asma; tva, yuva, yuṣma; thus asma-drūh hating us; tvā-yata presented by thee; yuva-yú desiring you two; yuṣma-yánt desiring you. But the forms mad, asmad, tvađ occur a few times as first member of compounds; thus mát-krta done by me; asmát-sakhi having us as companions; tvád-yoni derived from thee.

B. Demonstrative Pronouns.

110. The inflexion of these pronouns, as compared with the nominal a declension, has the following peculiarities:

1. in the sing. d is added instead of m in the N.A. n.; the element sma appears between the root and the ending in the D.Ab.L. m. n., and syā in the D.Ab.G.L. f.; in (instead of i) is the ending in the L. m. n. 2. in the pl. the N. m. ends in e instead of ās; the G. has s instead of n before the ending ām.

The stem tá that (also he, she, it) may be taken as the type for the inflexion of adjectival pronouns:

¹ vām (probably abbreviated for āvām), occurring once in the RV., seems to be the only N. du. form found in the Samhitās.

² The N. āvām (ŚB.) and A. āvām (K. ŚB.) seem to have been the normal forms judging by yuvām and yuvām.

³ yuv-ós occurs in the RV., yuváy-os in the TS.

⁴ me and te, originally L., have come to be used as D. and G.

DUAL.

N.A. m. tā, táu, f. té, n. té. I.Ab. m. f. tā-bhyām. G.L. m. n. tāy-os.

a. The stem tá is frequently used in derivation, especially that of adverbs, as tá-thā thus; the n. form tád often appears as first member of a compound; e. g. tád-apas accustomed to that work.

a. There are three other demonstratives derived from tá:

1. *e-tá*¹⁰ this here is inflected exactly like tá. The forms that occur are:

¹ On the Sandhi of sás cp. 48; sá, sā, tá-d = Gk. ὁ, ἡ, τό; Gothic sa, sō, that-a (Eng. that, Lat. is-tud).

² tā-m, tā-m, tá-d = Gk. τό-ν, τή-ν, τό.

⁴ These forms have the normal ending e : = tasma-e, tasyā-e. In B. tāsyai is substituted for the G. tāsyās.

⁵ The Chāndogya Upaniṣad once has sasmād.

⁶ Homeric Gk. τοῖο (for tōsio).

⁷ sāsmin occurs nine times in the RV., tāsmin twenty-two times.

⁸ Cp. Lat. is-tōrum.

⁹ Gk. τάων (for τάων), cp. Lat. is-tārum.

¹⁰ The stem used in derivation and composition is eta; e. g. etā-vant so great, etā-dṛś such. In B. etad is sometimes thus used: etad-dā giving this, etan-māya consisting of this.

2. tyá is derived from tá with the suffix ya and means that. It is common in the RV., but rare in the later Saṃhitās.¹ Unlike tá it is used adjectivally only, hardly ever occurring without its substantive. It never begins a sentence except when followed by the particles u, cid, nú, or sú.

The forms occurring are :

a. simá seems to have the sense of an emphatic demonstrative.³ The forms occurring are: Sing. N. simás. V. síma. D. simásmai (n.). Ab. simásmād. Pl. simé.

roots i (which nearly always has a double ending) and *a*¹ are employed, the former in the N. (except the m. s.) and A., the latter in all the other cases. The A. s. m. f. starts from i-m (the A. of i), which appears in the du. and pl. also, so that all these cases have the appearance of being formed from a stem imá.²

N.A. m. im-á, -áu. f. im-é. n. im-é. m. D.Ab. ā-bhyám.
m. G.L. a-y-ós.

¹ These two roots are frequently used in derivation ; e. g. á-tra here, á-tha then ; i-dā now, i-há here, í-tara other.

² From this stem is formed the adverb imá-thā thus.

³ Here i-m is the A. of i, from which is also formed the A. f. i-m and the n. i-d, both used as particles.

⁴ Also twice ena. enā and the remaining oblique cases, when used as nouns and unemphatic, may lose their accent.

⁵ The Ab., according to the nominal declension, ád is used as a conjunction.

⁶ Both asya and asmai may be accented ásya and ásmai when emphatic at the beginning of a Pāda. The form imásya occurs once in the RV. instead of asyá ; and imasmai in the AA. for asmai.

⁷ Instead of ayá the form anáyā occurs twice in the RV. : it is the only form from ana found in the Saṃhitās.

112. The demonstrative corresponding to ayám employed to express remoteness in the sense of that there, you, and having in the N. s. the curious forms m. f. a-s-áu, n. a-d-ás, uses throughout its inflexion the root a, but always in an extended form. The fundamental stem used in every case (except the N. s.) is a-m A. m. of a. This is extended by the addition of the particle u to amu,¹ which appears throughout the sing. (with ū in A. f.) except the N. In the pl. amú is the f. and amí the m. stem (except the A.).

The forms occurring are :

- m. Sing. N. a-sáu.² A. a-m-ú-m. I. amú-n-ā. D. amú-šmai. Ab. amú-šmād. G. amú-šya.³ L. amú-šmin.—Pl. amí. A. amún. D. amí-bhyas. G. amí-šām.

- I. sing. enena. G. du. en-os (RV.), enay-os (AV.).

a. Another unaccented demonstrative pronoun restricted to the RV. (excepting one form in the AV. and the TS.) is tva meaning one, many

² Here the pronominal root a seems to be compounded with sa extended by the particle u : a-sá-u and a-sā-u.

³ This is the only example of sya being added to any but an a stem.

⁴ Used adverbially, with shifted accent.

⁵ Here the neuter a-d of the pronominal root a is extended with the suffix as.

⁶ Here we have the same e (L. of a) as in é-ka one, e-vá thus.

a one, generally repeated in the sense of one another. The n. tvad meaning partly is also found in B. The forms occurring are :

Sing. N. m. tvas, f. tvā, n. tvad. A. m. tvam. I. m. tvena. D. m. tvasmai, f. tvasyai.—Pl. m. tve.

β. The pronoun avā this occurs only in the G. du. form avós in combination with vām meaning of you two being such (used like sa in sā tvām thou as such).

γ. The pronoun āma¹ this occurs only once in the AV. (also in the AB.) in the formula āme 'hām asmi this am I.

C. Interrogative Pronoun.

113. The interrogative ká who? which? what? used as both substantive and adjective, is inflected exactly like tá, excepting the alternative neuter form kí-m,² which instead of the pronominal d has the nominal m (never elsewhere attached to a stem in i). The forms occurring are :

m. Sing. ká-s. A. ká-m. I. kéna. D. ká-smai. Ab. ká-smād. G. ká-sya. L. ká-smin.—Du. N. káu.—Pl. ké. I. ké-bhis. L. ké-ṣu.

n. Sing. N.A. kā-d and kí-m.³—Pl. N. kā and kāni.

a. In derivation the stems ki and ku as well as ka are used ; e. g. kí-y-ant how great? kú-ha where? kā-ti how many?

As first member of a compound kad occurs twice : kat-payá greatly swelling, kád-artha having what purpose? kim is similarly used a few times in the later Saṃhitās and the Brāhmaṇas; e. g. kim-karā servant.

b. kā-ya, an extended form of kā, occurring in the G. only, is found in combination with cid : kāyasya cid of whomsoever.

¹ From this pronoun are derived the I. and Ab. adverbs (with shifted accent) amā at home and amād from near.

² The N. s. m. is preserved as a petrified form in nā-ki-s and mā-ki-s no one, nothing.

³ The relative frequency of kā-d and kí-m is in the RV. as two to three.

D. Relative Pronoun.

114. The relative pronoun yá who, which, what is declined exactly like tá. The forms occurring are :

m. Sing. N. yá-s. A. yá-m. I. *yénā*¹ and yéna. D. yá-smai. Ab. yá-smād.² G. yá-sya. L. yá-smin.

Pl. N. yá-s. A. yā-s. I. yā-bhis. D. yā-bhyas. G. yā-s-ām. L. yā-su.

n. N.A. Sing. yá-d. Du. yé. Pl. yā, yāni.

a. The stem of yá is used to form derivatives ; e. g. yá-thā as. It also appears as first member of a compound in yā-dṛś which like. The neuter yád is also once used thus in the RV. : yát-kāma desiring what ; and a few times later, as yad-devatyā having what deity (K.), yat-kārín doing what (ŚB.).

b. A form of the relative extended with the diminutive suffix ka, ya-ká who, occurs only in the sing. N. m. ya-ká-s, f. ya-ká, and the pl. N. m. ya-ké.

E. Reflexive Pronouns.

115. a. The reflexive indeclinable substantive *sva-y-ám*⁴ self is properly used as a N. referring to all three persons. Sometimes, however, its N. nature being forgotten, it is used as an A. ; e. g. áyuji svayám dhurí I have yoked myself to the pole ; or as agreeing in sense with another case. It occasionally means spontaneously.

¹ yénā is twice as common in the RV. as yéna, but the Pada text always reads yéna.

² The Ab., formed according to the nominal declension, yád is used as a conjunction.

b. tanū body is used in the RV. to express self in other cases than the N. and in all numbers. The reflexive pronoun svá and a possessive G. may be added ; e. g. yájasva tanvām worship thyself and yájasva tanvām táva svām worship thine own self. The reflexive sense of tanū has disappeared in B.

a. There are one or two instances in the RV. of the incipient use of ātmán soul in a reflexive sense ; e. g. bālaṃ dādāhāna ātmāni putting force into himself. The A. ātmānam is frequently thus used in the later Saṃhitās (though never in the RV.) and in B.

c. svá own is a reflexive adjective referring to all three persons and numbers. It is inflected like an ordinary adjective (priyá) in the RV. (except the two isolated pronominal forms svásmin and svásyās). The forms occurring are :

m. Sing. N. svás (Lat. suus). A. svám. I. svéna and svénā. D. svāya. Ab. svād. G. svāya. L. své and svásmin (RV.).

Pl. N. svás. A. sván. I. svébhī and sváīs. D. svébhyaḥ. G. svānām. L. svéṣu.

f. Sing. N. svā (Lat. sua). A. svām. I. sváyā. D. svāyai. Ab. sváyās. G. svásyās (RV.). L. sváyām.

Pl. N. svás. A. svás. I. svábhī. L. svásu.

n. Sing. N.A. svám (Lat. suum). Pl. A. svā (Lat. sua).

a. As first member of compounds svá several times appears in the substantive (as well as the adj.) sense ; e. g. svá-yukta self-yoked. svayám is similarly used in the Saṃhitās ; e. g. svayam-já self-born.

F. Possessive Pronouns.

116. Possessive pronouns are rare because the G. of the personal pronoun is generally used to express the sense which they convey.

a. The possessives of the first person are māma-ka and *māma-ká*¹ my and asmā-ka our. The forms occurring are :

Sing. D. māmakāya. G. māmakasya.

Sing. N. m. māmaká-s. n. māmaká-m. Pl. G. māmakā-nām.

Sing. N.A. n. asmāka-m.² I. asmākena. Pl. N. m. asmākāsas. I. asmāke-bhis.

The n. s. asmākam, by far the commonest of these forms, is used as the G. pl. of the personal pronoun = of us (109).

b. The possessives of the second person are *tāva-ká*³ thy (only D. pl. tāvakébhyas), tvá thy (only I. pl. f. tvā-bhis), and yuṣmā-ka your. Of the latter, three forms occur: I. s. m. yuṣmākena, pl. f. yuṣmākā-bhis, and the N.A. n. yuṣmākam used as the G. pl. of the second personal pronoun = of you.

c. Besides being used reflexively svá is fairly often employed as a simple possessive, generally of the third person (like Lat. suus), his, her, their, but also of the second, thy, your, and of the first, my, our. The inflexion (115 c) is the same in both senses.

G. Pronominal Compounds and Derivatives.

117. With *-drś*⁴ in the RV. and other Saṃhitās, and with -dṛkṣa in the VS. are formed the following pronominal compounds: ī-dṛś, tā-dṛś, etā-dṛś such, *kī-dṛś*⁵ what like? *yā-dṛś*⁶ what like; ī-dṛkṣa, etā-dṛkṣa such.

¹ Both formed from the G. of the personal pronoun māma. There also occurs once in the RV. the derivative mā-k-ina my.

² The VS. has once the N. s. āsmākā-s our formed like māmaká beside māmaka.

³ Formed from the G. tāva.

⁵ N. s. m. kī-dṛñ.

a. With the suffix -ka, conveying a diminutive or contemptuous meaning, very rarely used derivatives are formed from the pronouns tá, yá, sá, and asáu: ta-ká that little (110. 3), yá-ka who, which (114 b), sa-ká (only N. s. f. sa-ká), asakáu N. s. f. that little (VS.).

b. With the comparative suffix -tara derivatives are formed from i, ká, yá, and with the superlative suffix -tama from the latter two (cp. 120): í-tara other, ka-tará which of two? ya-tará who or which of two? ka-tamá who or which of many? ya-tamá who or which of many.

118. a. With ti derivatives with a numerical sense are formed from ká, tá, and yá: ká-ti how many? (Lat. quot); tá-ti so many (Lat. toti-dem); yá-ti as many. No inflected forms of these words occur. They appear in the sense of the N.A. pl. only.

b. With yant expressing the quantitative meaning of much derivatives are formed from i and ki: í-yant so much: n. s. N. íyat, pl. íyānti; f. s. D. íyatyai; kí-yant how much?: sing. N. n. kíyat; f. kíyatī. D. m. kíyate. L. kíyāti (for kíyati).

c. With vant are formed derivatives from personal pronouns with the sense of like, attached to; and from others in the quantitative sense of great; thus tvá-vant like thee, má-vant like me, yuvá-vant devoted to you two (only D. yuvávate); yušmá-vant belonging to you (only L. pl. yušmávatsu); etá-vant and tá-vant so great; yá-vant as great; í-vant so great (s. N. n. ívat. D. m. n. ivate. G. ívatas; pl. A. m. ívatas); kí-vant how far? (G. s. kívatas).

Indefinite Pronouns.

119. a. The only simple pronoun which has an undoubtedly indefinite sense is sama (unaccented) any, every. The six forms that occur are: m. s. A. samam. D. samasmai. Ab. samasmād. G. samasya. L. samasmin. Pl. N. same.

b. Compound indefinite pronouns are formed by combining the particles ca, cana, or cid with the interrogative ká; thus kás ca any, any one; kás caná any one soever, every; kás cid any, some; any one, some one.

Pronominal Adjectives.

120. Several adjectives derived from or allied in meaning to pronouns, follow the pronominal declension (110) altogether or in part.

a. The adjectives that strictly adhere to the pronominal type of inflexion are anyá other and the derivatives formed with tara and tama from ká and yá. The specifically pronominal cases of the latter that have been met with are: Sing. N. n. katará-d, yatará-d; katamá-d, yatamá-d. D. katamá-smai. G. f. katamá-syās. L. f. yatamá-syām. Pl. N. m. katamé, yatamé, yataré (K.). From ítara occur in the Kāthaka Saṃhitā m. D. s. itarasmai and N. pl. itare. The forms of anyá that occur are:

m. Sing. N. anyá-s. A. anyá-m. I. anyéna. D. anyá-smai. G. anyá-sya. L. anyá-smin.—Pl. N. anyé. A. anyān. I. anyé-bhis and anyáis. D. anyé-bhyas. G. anyé-ṣām. L. anyé-ṣu.

f. Sing. N. anyá. A. anyám. I. anyá-y-ā. D. anyá-syai. G. anyá-syās. L. anyá-syām.—Du. N. anyé.—Pl. N. anyá-s. A. anyá-s. I. anyá-bhis. G. anyá-sām. L. anyá-su.

n. Sing. N. anyá-d.—Du. I. anyá-bhyām.—Pl. N. anyá.

b. víśva all, sárva whole, éka one are partially pronominal, differing only in taking m instead of d in the N.A. s. n. Thus:

Pl. N. viśve. G. m. viśveṣām. f. viśvāsām; but sing. N. n. viśvam.

Sing. D. m. sārvasmai. f. sārvasyai. Ab. m. sārvasmād.

Pl. m. N. sārve. G. sārveṣām. f. sārvasām; but sing. N. n. sārvam.

Sing. G. f. ékasyās. L. m. ékasmin.¹ Pl. N. m. éke;
but sing. N. n. ékam.

c. More than a dozen other adjectives, having pronominal affinities in form or meaning, occasionally have pronominal case-forms (but always m instead of d in the N.A. s. n.):

1. Eight adjectives formed with the comparative suffixes -tara and -ra, and the superlative suffix -ma: út-tara higher, later:

Sing. Ab. L. úttarasmād and úttarasmin beside úttarād and úttare. L. f. úttarasyām. Pl. N. úttare. G. úttareṣām (K.).

ápa-ra, áva-ra, úpa-ra lower: sing. L. aparasmin (K.). Pl. N. m. ápare, ávare, úpare beside áparāsas, ávarāsas, úparāsas and úparās.

ava-má lowest: L. s. f. avamáśyām.

para-má farthest: sing. f. G. paramáśyās. L. paramáśyām. Pl. m. N. paramé (K.).

madhya-má middlemost: sing. f. L. madhyamáśyām.

2. Five other adjectives with a comparative or pronominal sense:

pára ulterior: sing. D. m. párasmai. Ab. m. párasmād. L. m. párasmin beside páre. G. f. párasyās. Pl. m. N. páre beside párāsas. G. páreṣām.

púrva prior: sing. D. púrvasmai. Ab. púrvasmād. L. púrvasmin (K.), f. púrvasyām. Pl. N. m. púrve (very common) beside púrvāsas (very rare). G. m. púrveṣām, f. púrvāsām.

néma¹ other : sing. L. m. némasmin. Pl. N. m. néme, but G. nemā-nām (unaccented).

svá own (116c), otherwise following the nominal declension, has once sing. G. f. sváśyās and once L. n. svásmin.

samāná similar, common has once sing. Ab. n. samānásmād beside samānād.

3. Four adjectives, numerical in form or meaning, have occasional pronominal endings: prathamá first has the sing. G. f. prathamáśyās; ² tṛtīya third has sing. L. f. tṛtīyasyām; ² úbhaya of both kinds has pl. m. G. úbhayeṣām and N. úbhaye beside úbhayāśas and úbhayās; ³ kévala exclusive has once pl. N. m. kévale.

CHAPTER IV

CONJUGATION

121. Vedic verbs are inflected in two voices, active and middle. The middle forms may be employed in a passive sense, except in the present system, which has a special passive stem inflected with the middle endings. Some verbs are conjugated in both active and middle, e. g. kṛṇó-ti and kṛṇu-té makes; others in one voice only, e. g. ás-ti is; others partly in one, partly in the other; e. g. vārta-te turns, but perfect va-várt-a has turned.

a. The Vedic verb has in each tense and mood three numbers, Singular, Dual, and Plural, all in regular use, with three persons in each (except the imperative in which the first persons are wanting).

122. There are five tenses in ordinary use, the present, the imperfect, the perfect, the aorist, and the future. The terms imperfect, perfect, aorist are here used in a purely formal sense, that is, as corresponding in formation to the Greek tenses bearing those names. No Vedic tense has an imperfect meaning, while the perfect sense is generally expressed by the aorist.

a. Besides the indicative there are four moods, the subjunctive, the injunctive, the optative, and the imperative, all of which are formed from the stems of the present, the perfect, and the aorist. The imperfect has no moods; and the only modal form occurring in the future is the unique subjunctive kariṣyās from kṛ make.

a. The subjunctive, very common in the RV. and the AV., is three or four times as frequent as the optative; the latter, comparatively rare in the Samhitās, occurs far oftener than the former in the Brāhmaṇas. Both form stems with a special modal affix.

The subj. adds a to the indicative stem: when the latter distinguishes a strong and a weak stem, the a is attached to the former, while it coalesces to ā with the final of a stems. Thus the pr. subj. stem of duh milk is dóh-a, of yuj join yunáj-a, but of bhū be bhāvā.

The opt. adds yā or ī, which when strong and weak stems are distinguished are attached to the latter. Stems in a take ī throughout; others take ī in the mid., yā in the act.; thus the pr. opt. stem of bhū is bhāve (= bhāva-ī); of duh and yuj, act. duh-yā, yuñj-yā, mid. duh-ī, yuñj-ī.

The inj. is identical in form with an unaugmented past tense (impf., aor., plup.). It is very common in the RV., but has almost disappeared from the Brāhmaṇas, except when used with the prohibitive particle mā.

The impv. has no modal affix, adding its endings direct to the tense stem; e. g. 2. s. pr. vid-dhí know, pf. mumug-dhí release, aor. śru-dhí hear. In the 2. 3. du. and 2. pl. act. and mid. (ending in tam, tām; āthām, ātām; ta; dhvam) it is identical with the inj.

b. Participles, active and middle, are formed from the tense stem of the present, future, aorist, and perfect. There are also passive participles, present, perfect, and future; the first being formed from the passive stem in ya, the other two from the root.

c. There are also gerunds, which are stereotyped cases (chiefly instrumentals) of verbal nouns and having the value of indeclinable active participles with a prevailing past sense; e. g. gatví and gatváya having gone.

d. There are about a dozen differently formed types of infinitives, which are cases of verbal nouns made directly or with a suffix from the root, and hardly ever connected with a tense stem; e. g. ídh-am to kindle; gán-tavái to go.

The Present System.

123. While the perfect, aorist, and future tenses add the endings directly (or after inserting a sibilant) to the root, the present group (that is, the present with its moods and participles, and the imperfect) forms a special stem, which is made in eight different ways by primary verbs.

The Eight Classes.

124. These eight classes are divided into two conjugations. In the first, which comprises the first, fourth, and sixth classes, the present stem ends in a and remains unchanged throughout (like the a declension). The secondary conjugations in a (desideratives, intensives, causatives, denominatives) as well as the future follow this conjugation in their inflexion. The second or graded conjugation is characterized by shift of accent between stem and ending, accompanied by vowel gradation. It comprises the remaining five classes, in which the terminations are added directly to the final of the root or to the (graded) suffixes no or nā, and the stem is changeable, being either strong or weak.

A. First Conjugation.

125. 1. The first or Bhū class adds a to the last letter of the root, which being accented takes Guṇa of a final vowel (short or long) and of a short medial vowel followed by one consonant; e. g. ji conquer: jáy-a; bhū be: bháv-a; budh awake: bódh-a.

2. The sixth or Tud class adds an accented á to the root, which being unaccented has no Guṇa. Before this a final ṛ is changed to ir.

3. The fourth or Div class adds ya to the last letter of the root, which is accented;¹ e. g. nah bind: náh-ya; div play: dív-ya (cp. 15, 1 c).

B. Second Conjugation.

126. The strong forms are:

1. The singular present and imperfect active;
2. The whole subjunctive;
3. The third person singular imperative active.

In these forms the vowel of the root or of the affix, being accented, is strengthened; while in the weak forms it is reduced because the terminations are accented.

a. In the ninth class the accented form of the affix is ná, the unaccented nī or n; in the seventh they are respectively ná and n.

127. 1. The second or root class adds the terminations directly to the root (in the subjunctive and optative with the intervening modal suffix). The radical vowel in the strong forms is accented² and takes Guṇa if possible (125, 1);

¹ The weak form in some instances assumed by the root points to the ya having originally been accented (cp. 133 B 1).

² Except in the augmented (128 c) imperfect singular because the augment is invariably accented.

e. g. from i go: sing. 1. é-mi, é-ṣi, é-ti; dviṣ hate: dvéṣ-mi, dvék-ṣi, dvéṣ-ti.

2. The third or reduplicating class adds the terminations directly to the reduplicated root, which in the strong forms takes Guṇa if possible. Contrary to analogy, the accent is not, in the majority of verbs belonging to this class, on the root in the strong forms, but on the reduplicative syllable (which is also accented in the 3. pl. act. and mid.).¹ Thus hu sacrifice: Sing. 1. ju-hó-mi, pl. 1. ju-hu-más; bhṛ bear: Sing. 1. bí-bhar-mi, pl. 1. bibhṛ-más, 3. bí-bhr-ati.²

3. The seventh or infixing nasal class adds the terminations directly to the final consonant, before which ná is inserted in the strong and n in the weak forms; e. g. yuj join: yu-ná-j-mi, yuñj-más.

4. The fifth or nu class adds in the strong forms the accented syllable nó, which in the weak forms is reduced to nu; e. g. kṛ make: kṛ-ṇó-mi, kṛṇ-más.³

a. Four roots ending in n have the appearance of being formed with a suffix u, but this is probably due to the an of the root being reduced to the sonant nasal; thus from tan stretch ta-nu (for tñ-nu). In the tenth Maṇḍala of the RV. the anomalous weak stem kur-u appears three times (beside the normal kṛ-ṇu) and the strong stem karo in the AV. These stems gave rise to the eighth or u class of Sanskrit grammar.

5. The ninth or nā class adds to the root in the strong forms the accented syllable nā, which in the weak forms is reduced to nī before consonants and n before vowels. The root shows a tendency to be weakened. Thus grābh seize: gr̥bh-nā-mi, pl. 1. gr̥bh-nī-mási and gr̥bh-nī-más, 3. gr̥bh-n-ánti.

¹ It is doubtless as a result of this accentuation that these verbs lose the n of the endings in these two forms: bíbhr-ati, bíbhr-ate.

² The intensives conjugated in the active (172) follow this class.

³ The u is dropped before the m of the 1. pl. ind. act. and mid.

The Augment.

128. The imperfect, pluperfect, aorist, and conditional generally prefix to the stem the accented syllable a which gives to those forms the sense of past time.

a. This augment sometimes appears lengthened before the n, y, r, v of seven or eight roots: aor. á-naṭ (naś attain); impf. á-yunak, aor. á-yukta, á-yukṣātām (yuj join); impf. á-riṇak and aor. á-raik (ric leave); aor. á-var (vṛ cover); impf. á-vṛṇi (vṛ choose); impf. á-vṛṇak (vṛj turn), impf. á-vidhyat (vyadh wound).

b. The augment contracts with the initial vowels i, u, ṛ to the Vṛddhi vowels ai, au, ār; e.g. áichat impf. of iṣ wish; áunat impf. of ud wet; ár-ta (Gk. ᾠρ-το) 3. s. aor. mid. of ṛ go.

c. The augment is very often dropped: this is doubtless a survival from the time when it was an independent particle that could be dispensed with if the past sense was clear from the context. In the RV. the unaugmented forms of past tenses are much more than half as numerous as the augmented ones. In sense the forms that drop the augment are either indicative or injunctive, these being about equal in number in the RV. About one-third of the injunctives in the RV. are used with the prohibitive particle mā (Gk. μη). In the AV. nearly all the unaugmented forms are injunctives, of which four-fifths are used with mā.

Reduplication.

129. Five verbal formations take reduplication: the present stem of the third conjugational class, the perfect (with the pluperfect), one kind of aorist, the desiderative, and the intensive. Each of these has certain peculiarities, which must be treated separately under the special rules of reduplication (130, 135, 149, 170, 173). Common to all are the following:

General Rules of Reduplication.

1. The first syllable of a root (i.e. that portion of it which ends with a vowel)¹ is reduplicated; e.g. budh perceive: bu-budh.

2. Aspirated letters are represented by the corresponding unaspirated;² e.g. bhī fear: bi-bhī; dhā put: da-dhā.

3. Gutturals are represented by the corresponding palatals,² h by j; e.g. gam go: ja-gam; khan dig: ca-khan; han smite: ja-ghan.

4. If the root begins with more than one consonant, the first only is reduplicated; e.g. kram stride: ca-kram.

5. If a root begins with a sibilant followed by a hard consonant, the latter is reduplicated; e.g. sthā stand: ta-sthā; skand leap: ca-skand. But svaj embrace: sa-svaj (v is soft); smi smile: si-ṣmi (m is soft).

6. If the radical vowel, whether final or medial, is long, it is shortened in the reduplicative syllable;³ e.g. dā give: da-dā; rādh succeed: ra-rādh.

Special Rule of Reduplication for the Third Class.

130. ṛ and ṝ are represented in reduplication by i; e.g. bhr̄ bear: bí-bhar-ti; pṝ fill: pí-par-ti. The root vṛt turn is the only exception: va-vart(t)-i.

a. Thirteen roots also reduplicate ā with i,⁴ while nine do so with a.

² There are some exceptions to this rule in the reduplication of intensives (173, 3).

³ This rule does not apply to intensives (173), nor for the most part to the reduplicated aorist (149, 2), and in the reduplicated perfect it is subject to numerous exceptions (139, 9).

⁴ Three of these, pā drink, sthā stand, han slay, have permanently gone over to the a conjugation, while ghrā smell is beginning to do so.

Terminations.

131. The following table gives the terminations, which are on the whole the same for all verbs, of the present system. The chief difference is in the optative which is characterized by *e*¹ in the first, and yā and *ī*² in the second conjugation. The present indicative has the primary (mi, si, ti, &c.), and the imperfect, the optative, and (with some modifications) the imperative have the secondary terminations (m, s, t, &c.), while the subjunctive fluctuates between the two. Of the other tenses the future takes the primary, and the pluperfect and the aorist, with the benedictive and the conditional, take the secondary terminations; while the perfect has in the active (with many variations) the secondary, and in the middle the primary endings.

The following distinctions between the two conjugations should be noted. In the first or a conjugation (as in the a declension) the accent is never on the terminations, but always on the same syllable of the stem (the root in the first and fourth, the affix in the sixth class), which therefore remains unchanged. On the other hand, in the second conjugation (as in the declension of changeable stems) the accent falls on the strong stem, which is reduced in the weak forms by the shifting of the accent to the endings. In the second conjugation therefore the endings are accented except in the strong forms (126). The same applies to the unaugmented imperfect (128).

² That is, the modal affix shows vowel gradation (5 b).

¹ The final a of the stem in the first conjugation is lengthened before m or v: bhāvā-mi, bhāvā-vas.

² In the RV. masi is more than five times as common as mas, but in the AV. mas is rather commoner than masi.

³ The only example of the ending thana in the a conjugation is vāda-thana.

⁴ Reduplicated verbs and others treated as such drop the n in the 3. pl. ind. pr. and impv. act. In the whole second conj. the n is dropped in the 3. pl. pres. impf. impv. mid.

⁶ There are no examples of this ending in the a conjugation.

⁷ The ending ur is taken by nearly all the verbs of the reduplicating class and by several of the root class.

⁸ These endings coalesce with the final a of the stem to eyam, es, et, &c.

⁹ Verbs of the a conjugation have normally no ending in the 2. s. impv.; but they not infrequently add tāt, which occurs in B. also. In the graded conjugation dhi, hi, tāt are added to the weak stem, and āna in some verbs of the ninth class: e. g. ad-dhī, śṛṇu-dhi; śṛṇu-hi, punī-hi; aś-āna; vit-tāt, kṛṇu-tāt.

¹⁰ Only two examples occur in the a conjugation: bhāja-tana and nāhya-tana.

¹ The final a of the first conjugation is lengthened before m and v.

² This i combines with the final a of the first conjugation to e : bhāve.

³ In these forms e takes the place of the final a of the a conjugation.

⁴ This modal ī combines with the final a of the first conjugation to e : bhāveya, &c.

⁵ The RV. has a-se only, the AV. and the Brāhmaṇas a-sai only.

⁶ The form a-te is almost exclusively used in the RV., while a-tai is the prevailing one in the AV., and the only one later.

⁷ The ending a-ntai occurs in B. only.

Paradigms.

132. Since the three classes of the first conjugation, as well as all the secondary verbs the stems of which end in a, are inflected exactly alike,¹ one paradigm will suffice for all of them. The injunctive is not given here because its forms are identical with the unaugmented imperfect. Forms of which no examples are found in the Samhitās are added in square brackets.

Irregularities of the Present Stem.

First Conjugation.

133. A. First or Bhū Class. 1. The radical vowel is lengthened in guh hide and in kram stride (in the act. only): gūha,¹ krāma-ti (but mid. krāma-te); ūh consider takes Guṇa: óh-a;² kṛp lament does not take Guṇa: kṛp-a.³

2. gam go, yam restrain, yu separate form their present stems with cha (Gk. σκ): gá-cha (Gk. βά-σκω), yá-cha, yú-cha.

3. a. The four roots pā drink, sthā stand, sac accompany, sađ sit form present stems that originally belonged to the reduplicating class: píba (Lat. bibo); tiṣṭha (ἵστημι, Lat. sisto); *sásca*⁴ (for sá-s(a)c-a); sída (for sí-s(a)d-a; Lat. sido).

b. Four stems are transfers from the fifth or nu class, being either used beside or having entirely superseded the simpler original stems: í-nv-a-ti (from i send) beside i-nó-ti; jí-nv-a-ti (from ji quicken) beside ji-nó-ṣi; hí-nv-a-ti (from hi impel) beside hi-nó-ti; pí-nv-a fatten, doubtless originally pí-nu (✓ pī).

4. daṃś bite and sañj hang lose their nasal: dás-a, sáj-a.

5. The ending tāt (besides being regularly used in the 2. s. impv. by twelve verbs) is exceptionally used for the 3. s. in gácha-tāt and smára-tāt. Only one example occurs, in this class, of the 2. pl. impv. act. ending tana: bhája-tana; and one of dhva (for dhvam) in the 2. pl. mid.: yája-dhva.

³ Against 125, 1.

⁴ A reminiscence of the reduplicative origin of this stem is the loss of the nasal in the 3. pl. pres. sásca-ti and 3. pl. inj. mid. saśca-ata.

B. Fourth or Ya Class. 1. The radical syllable is reduced in seven verbs: spaś sec loses its initial: pás-ya; vyadh pierce takes Samprasāraṇa: vidh-ya; ā is shortened in dhā suck: dhá-ya; mā exchange: má-ya; vā weave: vá-ya; vyā envelope: vyá-ya; hvā call: hvá-ya.

2. Final ṛ sometimes becomes both īr and ūr: jṛ waste away: jūr-ya and jír-ya (AV.); tṛ cross: tūr-ya and tír-ya; pṛ fill becomes pūr-ya only (because of its initial labial).

3. śram be weary lengthens its vowel: śráṁ-ya; in B. tam faint and mad be exhilarated do the same: tám-ya, mád-ya.

C. Sixth Class. 1. The radical vowel is nasalized in eight verbs: kṛt cut: kṛnt-á; trp be pleased: tṛmp-á; piś adorn: pimś-á; muc release: muñc-á; lip smear: limp-á; lup break: lump-á; vid find: vind-á; sic sprinkle: siñc-á. Three other roots, tud thrust, dṛh make firm, śubh shine have occasional nasalized forms.

2. Four roots form their present stem with the suffix cha (cp. A 2): iṣ wish: i-chá; ṛ go: ṛ-chá; praś ask: pṛ-chá; ¹ vas shine: u-chá. The root vraśc cut, which seems to be formed with c,² takes Samprasāraṇa: vṛśc-á.

3. Three roots in ṛ, kṛ scatter, gṛ swallow, tṛ cross, form the present stems kir-á, gir-á, tir-á (beside tár-a).

a. Beside the normal use of the imperative suffix tāt for the 2. s. in mṛdá-tāt, viśá-tāt, vṛhá-tāt, suvá-tāt, it also appears for the 3. s. in viśá-tāt.

134. A. Second or Root Class.

1. The root is irregularly strengthened in the following verbs:

a. kṣṇu whet, yu unite, nu and stu praise take Vṛddhi instead of Guṇa in the strong forms before terminations beginning with consonants; ¹ e.g. stáu-mi, á-stau-t, but á-stav-am.

¹ With Samprasāraṇa and loss of ś. Cp. Lat. prec-or and po(rc)-sco, and Old German frag-en 'ask' and for-scon (forschen).

² Cp. -vras-ka cutting, past participle vṛk-ná cut, and vṛk-a wolf.

b. mṛj wipe takes Vṛddhi in the strong forms: mārj-mi, mārṣ-ti, but mṛj-más, mṛj-ánti.

c. śī lie mid. takes Guṇa and accents the radical syllable throughout its weak forms: e.g. s. 1. 3. śáy-e, 2. śé-ṣe (κεῖ-σαι). It has the additional irregularity of inserting r before the endings in the 3. pl. pr., impv., impf.: śé-r-ate, śé-r-atām, á-śe-r-an.

a. i go, brū speak, stu praise, han slay before the ending of the 2. pl. impv. act. have the alternative forms é-ta and é-tana, brávī-tana, stó-ta, hán-tana. Brū has the same irregularity in the 2. pl. impf. ábravī-ta and ábravī-tana.

2. The root is irregularly weakened in the following verbs:

a. vaś desire takes Samprasāraṇa in the weak forms: 1. pl. uś-mási, part. uś-āná, but 1. s. vās-mi.

b. as be drops its initial a in the optative and all the weak forms of the pr. and impv.; e.g. opt. s-yāt would be; pr. s-más we are, s-ánti (Lat. sunt) they are; impv. du. 2. s-tám, pl. 2. s-tá, 3. s-ántu. The 2. s. impv. preserves the vowel (in an altered form) in e-dhí (for az-dhí, Av. zdi). In the impf. it inserts ī before the endings of the 2. 3. s.: ás-ī-s, ás-ī-t (beside ás = ás-t).

c. han slay in weak forms loses its n before terminations beginning with consonants (except m, y, v), as ha-thá, but hán-ti. In the 3. pl. pr., impv., impf., and part., the a is syncopated and h reverts to the original guttural gh: ghn-ánti, ghn-ántu, á-ghn-an; ghn-ánt. The 2. s. impv. is ja-hí (for jha-hí), with palatalized initial instead of gha-hí.

¹ In B. ru cry, su impel, sku tear, snu distil have the same peculiarity: rau-ti, sau-ti, skau-ti, snau-ti.

3. A vowel or semivowel is irregularly inserted in the following verbs :

a. The roots an breathe, rud weep, vam vomit, śvas blow, svap sleep insert i before all terminations beginning with a consonant, except in the 2. 3. s. impf., where they insert ī ; e. g. án-i-ti, án-ī-t ; a-vam-ī-t ; śvas-i-ti.

b. The roots īḍ praise and ís rule add i in some forms of the 2. s. and pl. mid. : íḍ-i-ṣva ; ís-i-ṣe (beside ík-ṣe), íṣi-dhve. Occasional forms (2. s. impv.) with connecting i from other roots also occur : jan-i-ṣva be born, vas-i-ṣva clothe, śnath-i-hi pierce, stan-i-hi thunder.

c. The root brū speak inserts ī in the strong forms before terminations beginning with consonants : bráv-ī-mi, á-brav-ī-t ; am injure inserts ī before consonants ; thus am-ī-ti, am-ī-ṣva, ām-ī-t (TS.).

4. With regard to the endings :

a. The root śās order loses the n in the 3. pl. act. and mid., and in the part. : śās-ate, śās-atu, śás-at.

b. The root duh milk is very anomalous in its endings. The irregular forms are the following : act. impf. 3. s. á-duh-a-t beside á-dhok, 3. pl. á-duh-ran beside á-duh-an and duh-úr ; opt. 3. s. duh-īyát (for duh-yát), 3. pl. duh-ī-yán (for duh-yúr). Mid. pr. ind. 3. pl. duh-ré and duh-rate beside the regular duh-até ;¹ impv. 3. s. duh-ám,² 3. pl. duh-rām and duh-rátām ; part. dúgh-āna.

c. Roots ending in ā take ur instead of an in the 3. pl. impf. act. ; e. g. pā protect : á-p-ur. A few roots ending in consonants show the same irregularity ; e. g. tviṣ be stirred : á-tviṣ-ur.

a. The verbs ís rule, duh milk, vid find, śī lie frequently, and cit observe, brū speak rarely, take e instead of *te*³ in the 3. s. pr. mid. : ís-e, duh-é, vid-é, śáy-e ; cit-é, bruv-é.

β. In the AV. and B. subj. forms with ā instead of a are not uncommon ; e. g. áy-ā-s, ás-ā-t,⁴ bráv-ā-thas, hán-ā-tha, ád-ā-n.

¹ But with irregular accent, as also rih-até they lick.

² In the AV. the 3. s. impv. mid. is similarly formed in śáy-ām.

³ This irregularity occurs in B. also.

⁴ In B. subj. forms with primary endings are very rare.

B. Third or Reduplicating Class.

1. Roots ending in ā drop the radical vowel before terminations beginning with vowels; e.g. mā measure:

1. s. mīm-e, 3. pl. mīm-ate.

a. The ā of mā measure, mā bellow, rā give, śā sharpen, hā go away is in weak forms usually changed to ī before consonants (cp. 5 c): mīmī-te; rārī-thās; ¹ śīśī-māsi; jīhī-te.

b. dā give, dhā place, the two commonest verbs in this class, use dad and dadh as their stems in all weak forms: dād-mahe, dadh-māsi. When the aspiration of dadh is lost before t, th, s it is thrown back on the initial: dhat-té, dhat-thá, dhat-svá. The 2. s. impv. act. is de-hí (for daz-dhí) beside dad-dhí and dat-tát; and dhe-hí (for dhaz-dhí) beside dhat-tát.

2. The root vyac takes Samprasāraṇa, e.g. 3. du. pr. vivik-tás; hvar be crooked makes some forms with Samprasāraṇa and then reduplicates with u: e.g. ju-hūr-thās, 2. s. inj. mid.

3. bhas chew, sac accompany, has laugh syncopate the radical vowel in weak forms; thus bá-ps-ati 3. pl. ind. pr. (but ba-bhas-a-t 3. s. subj.); sá-śc-ati 3. pl. ind. pr., sá-śc-ata 3. pl. inj.; já-kṣ-at (for ja-gh(a)s-at) pr. part.

a. The roots ṛ go, dā give, dhā put, pr cross, yu separate, śā sharpen, hu sacrifice have several forms with a strong vowel in the 2. impv. act. s. yu-yo-dhí, śi-śā-dhí (beside śi-śī-hí); du. yu-yó-tam (beside yu-yu-tám); pl. í-y-ar-ta, dā-dā-ta and dā-dā-tana, dā-dhā-ta and dā-dhā-tana, pí-par-tana, yu-yó-ta and yu-yó-tana, ju-hó-ta and ju-hó-tana. dā, dhā, hā leave, have similar strong forms in the 2. pl. impf.: á-da-dā-ta, á-dadhā-ta, á-jahā-tana.

β. There are numerous transfers from this to other classes. The roots pā drink, sthā stand, han stride form such stems according to the a conjugation exclusively, píba, tīṣṭha, jíghna (cp. 133 A. 3 a); while ghrā smell, bhas chew, mā bellow, rā give, sac accompany occasionally use the a stems jíghra, bápsa, míma, rāra, sásca. The roots dā give and dhā put also make some forms from their weak stems according to the a conjugation, as 3. s. pr. mid. dád-a-te, 3. pl. act. dádh-a-nti, 3. pl. impv. dádh-a-ntu. The former, dad, has even an incipient tendency to become a root; thus it forms the past part. pass. dat-tá given.

C. Fifth or Nu Class. 1. The u of the suffix is dropped before the m of the 1. pl. ind. act. and mid., as kr̥ṇ-más, kr̥ṇ-máhe.

2. When nu is preceded by a consonant its u becomes uv before vowel endings; e. g. 3. pl. pr. aś-nuv-ánti (but su-nv-ánti).

3. śru hear forms (by dissimilation) the stem śr̥-ṇu, and vṛ cover (with interchange of vowel and semivowel) ūr̥-ṇu beside the regular vṛ-ṇu.

4. Beside the regular and very frequent present stem *kr̥-ṇu*¹ (from kr̥ make) there begins to appear in the tenth Maṇḍala of the RV. the very anomalous kuru.² The strong form of this stem, karó, which has the further anomaly of Guna in the root, first appears in the AV.³

a. The four roots ending in n, tan stretch, man think, van win, san gain, have the appearance of forming their stem with the suffix u, as tan-u. These (with three later roots) form a separate (eighth) class according to the Hindu grammarians. But the a of these present stems in reality probably represents the sonant nasal, = tṇ-nu. This group was joined by kur-u, the late and anomalous present stem of kr̥ make (cp. C 4).

β. Five stems of this class, i-nu, r̥-ṇu, ji-nu, pi-nu, hi-nu, have come to be used frequently as secondary roots forming present stems according to the a conjugation: inv-a, ṛ̥nv-a, jinv-a, pinv-a, hinv-a.

γ. In the 3. pl. pr. mid. six verbs of this class take the ending *re*⁴ with connecting vowel i: inv-i-ré, ṛ̥nv-i-ré, pinv-i-ré, śṛ̥nv-i-ré, sunv-i-ré, hinv-i-ré.

² Twice in the 2. s. impv. kuru and once in the 1. pl. pr. ind. kur-mas.

⁴ Like duh-re in the root class.

ð. In the impv. the 2. s. act. has the ending hi, as śṛṇu-hi, three times as often in the RV. as the form without ending, as śṛṇu; in the AV. it occurs only about one-sixth as often as the latter; in B. it has almost disappeared. In the RV. the ending dhi also occurs in śṛṇu-dhi. The ending tāt occurs in kṛṇu-tāt, hinu-tāt, kuru-tāt. In the 2. du. are found the strong forms kṛṇo-tam, hino-tam; and in the 2. pl. kṛṇó-ta and kṛṇó-tana, śṛṇó-ta and śṛṇó-tana, sunó-ta and sunó-tana, hinó-ta and hinó-tana; tanó-ta and karó-ta.

D. Infixing Nasal Class. 1. añj anoint, bhañj break, himś injure drop their nasal before inserting na: as a-ná-k-ti, bha-ná-k-ti, hi-ná-s-ti.

2. trḥ crush infixes né in the strong forms: e.g. tr-ṇé-ḍhi (69 c).

E. Ninth or Nā Class. 1. The three roots jī overpower, jū hasten, pū purify shorten their vowel before the affix: ji-ná-mi, ju-ná-si, pu-ná-ti.

2. grabh seize and its later form grah take Samprasāraṇa: grbh-ṇá-mi, grh-ṇá-mi (AV.).

3. jñā know and the four roots which in forms outside the present system appear with a nasal, bandh bind, manth shake, skambh make firm, stambh prop, drop their nasal: jā-ná-ti, badh-ná-ti, math-ná-ti, skabh-ná-ti, stabh-ná-ti.

4. Four roots ending in consonants, aś eat, grah seize, bandh bind, stambh prop, have the peculiar ending āna in the 2. s. impv. act.: aś-āná, grh-āná, badh-āná, stabh-āná.

α. pr fill and mṛ crush make, beside the regular stems prṇá and mṛṇá, the transfer stems, according to the a conjugation, prṇá and mṛṇá, from which several forms occur.

The Perfect Tense.

135. This tense is formed by reduplication. Like the present, it has, besides an indicative, the subjunctive, injunctive, optative, and imperative moods, as well as participles, and an augmented form, the pluperfect. It is very common, being formed by nearly 300 verbs in the Samhitās.

Special Rules of Reduplication.

1. r and r̄ (= ar) and l (= al) always reduplicate with ă (ep. 139, 9); e. g. kr̄ do: ca-kr̄; tṝ cross: ta-tr̄; kl̄p be adapted: cā-kl̄p; r̄ go: ār (= a-ar).

2. Initial a or ā becomes ā; e. g. an breathe: ān; āp obtain: āp. The long vowels ī and ū remain unchanged (= i-ī and u-ū); e. g. īṣ move: 1. s. īṣ-é; ūh consider: 3. s. ūh-é.

3. Roots beginning with i and u contract i+i to ī and u+u to ū except in the sing. act., where the reduplicative syllable is separated from the strong radical syllable by its own semivowel: e. g. i go: 2. s. i-y-é-tha; uc be pleased: 2. s. mid. ūc-i-ṣé, but 3. s. act. u-v-óc-a.

4. Roots containing ya or va and liable to Samprasāraṇa in other forms (such as the past part. pass.) reduplicate with i and u respectively. There are four such with ya: tyaj forsake, yaj sacrifice, vyac extend, syand move on: ti-tyaj, i-yaj, vi-vyac, si-ṣyand; and five with va: *vac*¹ speak, vad speak, vap strew, vah carry, svap sleep: u-vac, u-vad, u-vap, u-vah, su-ṣvap. On the other hand the three roots yam stretch, van win, vas wear have the full reduplication ya or va throughout: ya-yam, va-van, va-vas.

136. The singular perfect active is strong (like the sing. pr. and impf. act.), the root being accented; the remaining forms are weak, the terminations being accented. The endings are the following:

ACTIVE.			MIDDLE.
SING.	DUAL	PLUR.	SING.	DUAL	PLUR.
1. a	[vá]	má	é	[váhe]	máhe
2. tha	áthur	á	sé	áthe	dhvé
3. a	átur	úr	é	áte	ré

¹ vac has two forms with the full reduplication: 3. s. act. va-vác-a and 2. s. mid. va-vak-ṣé.

a. Terminations beginning with initial consonants are as a rule added directly to the stem; mahe is invariably so added. The endings tha, ma, se, re are nearly always added direct to stems ending in vowels; thus from dā give: dadā́-tha; ji conquer: ji-gé-tha; nī lead: niné-tha; su press: suṣu-má; hū call: juhū-ré; kṛ make: cakár-tha, cakṛ-má, cakṛ-sé, but cakṛ-i-ré.¹ The same endings tha, ma, se, re are added directly to roots ending in consonants, if the final syllable of the stem is prosodically short, but with connecting *i*² if it is long; ³ e. g. tatán-tha; jagan-má, jagr̥bh-má, yuyuj-má; vivit-sé; cā-kṛp-ré, tatas-ré, yuyuj-ré, vivid-ré; but uvóc-i-tha, ūc-i-má, papt-i-má; īj-i-ré.

b. Before terminations beginning with vowels (cp. 137, 1a)

1. ī preceded by one consonant become y, if preceded by more than one, iy; e. g. bhī fear: bibhy-átur; śri resort: śísriy-é.

2. ū ordinarily become uv; e. g. yu join: yuyuv-é; śru hear: śuśruv-é; sū swell: śūsuv-é.⁴

3. ṛ becomes r, ṝ becomes ir; e. g. kṛ make: cakṛ-é, cakṛ-á; tṛ cross: titir-úr; stṛ strew: tistir-é.

The Strong Stem.

1. Short vowels followed by a single consonant take Guna throughout the singular active; e. g. diś point: di-dés-a; uc be wont: uv-óc-a; kṛt cut: ca-kárt-a; but jinv quicken: ji-jinv-áthur.

² The final radical vowel ā in weak forms is reduced to i, e. g. from dhā put, dadhi-dhvé. This reduced vowel in the very common verbs dā and dhā was probably the starting-point for the use of i as a connecting vowel in other verbs.

³ This is due to the rhythmic rule that the stem may not have two prosodically short vowels in successive syllables. Cp. p. 155, note 2.

⁴ But hū call: juhṽ-é; bhū be: babhūṽ-a; sū bring forth: sa-sūṽ-a.

2. Final vowels take Vṛddhi in the 3. s.;¹ e.g. nī lead: nī-nāy-a; śru hear: śu-śrāv-a; kṛ make: ca-kār-a.

3. Medial a followed by a single consonant takes Vṛddhi in the 3. s.;¹ e.g. han strike: ja-ghān-a, but takṣ fashion: ta-tākṣ-a.

4. Roots ending in ā take the anomalous ending au in the 1. and 3. s. act.; e.g. dhā put: da-dhāu. The only exception is the root prā fill, which once forms the 3. s. pa-prā beside the regular pa-prāu.

The Weak Stem.

137. 1. In roots containing the vowels ĩ, ũ, ṛ the radical syllable remains unchanged except by Sandhi; e.g. yu join: yu-yuj-má; vid find: vi-vid-é; kṛ make: ca-kṛ-má.

a. Before terminations beginning with vowels, ĩ and ṛ, if preceded by one consonant become y and r, if by more than one, iy and ar; while ũ and ṝ regularly become uv and ir; e.g. ji conquer: ji-gy-úr; bhī fear: bi-bhy-úr; kṛ make: cakr-úr; śri resort: śi-śriy-é; yu join: yu-yuv-é; śru hear: śu-śruv-é; sū swell: śū-śuv-é; tṛ cross: ti-tir-úr; stṛ strew: ti-stir-é.

2. In roots containing a medial a or final ā the radical syllable is weakened.

a. About a dozen roots in which a is preceded and followed by a single consonant (e.g. pat) and which reduplicate the initial consonant unchanged (this excludes roots beginning with aspirates, gutturals, and for the most part v) contract the two syllables to one containing the diphthong e (cp. Lat. fac-io, fec-i).² They are the following:

¹ The 1. sing. never takes Vṛddhi in the RV. and AV. In an Upaniṣad and a Sūtra cakāra occurs as 1. sing. and in a Sūtra jigāya (√ji) also.

tap heat, dabh harm, nam bend, pac cook, pat fly, *yat*¹ stretch, *yam*¹ extend, rabh grasp, labh take, śak be able, śap curse, sap serve. Examples are: pat : pet-átur; śak : śek-úr.

The two roots tan stretch and sac follow join this class in the AV.

b. Four roots with medial a but initial guttural, syncopate their vowel: khan dig: ca-khn; gam go: ja-gm; ghas eat: ja-kṣ; han smite: ja-ghn.

Six other roots, though conforming to the conditions described above (2 a), syncopate the a instead of contracting: jan beget: ja-jñ; tan stretch: ta-tñ; pan admire: pa-pñ; man think: ma-mñ; van win: va-vñ; sac follow: sa-śc.

a. pat fly both contracts and syncopates in the RV. : pet and pa-pt.

c. Eight roots containing the syllables ya, va, ra take Samprasāraṇa : *yaj*² sacrifice, vac and vad speak, vap strew, vas dwell, vah carry, svap sleep, grabh and grah seize; e. g. su-ṣup, ja-grbh and ja-grh. In the first six, as they reduplicate with i or u, the result is a contraction to ī and ū. Thus yaj : īj (= i-ij); vac : ūc (= u-uc).

d. A few roots with medial a and penultimate nasal, drop the latter: krand cry out: ca-krad; tams shake: ta-tas; skambh prop: ca-skabh (AV.); stambh prop: ta-stabh.

e. Roots ending in ā reduce it to i before consonants and drop it before vowels; e. g. dhā place: dadhi-má; dadh-úr.

² From yaj occurs one form according to the contracting class (2 a) : vej-é.

Irregularities.

139. 1. bhaj share, though beginning with an aspirate, follows the analogy of the contracting perfects with e (137, 2 a); e. g. ba-bháj-a: bhej-é. bandh bind, after dropping its nasal, does the same; e. g. ba-bándh-a: bedh-úr (AV.).

2. yam guide, van win, vas wear have the full reduplication throughout (135, 4); yam takes Samprasāraṇa of the radical syllable: ya-yāma: yem-é (= ya-im-e); van syn-copates its a: va-vān-a, va-vn-é; vas retains its radical syllable unweakened throughout: vā-vas-e (cp. 139, 9).

3. vid know forms an unreduplicated perfect with present meaning: 1. véd-a I know (οἶδα, German weiss). 2. vét-tha (οἶσ-θα; weiss-t), 3. véd-a (οἶδε; weiss); pl. 1. vid-má (ἴδ-μεν; wissen), 2. vid-á, 3. vid-úr.

a. A few isolated unreduplicated forms from about six other roots occur: takṣ-áthur; skambh-áthur and skambh-úr; cet-áthur; yam-áthur and yam-úr; nind-i-má; arh-i-ré.

4. The initial of ci gather, ci observe, cit perceive, ji conquer, han kill reverts to the original guttural in the radical syllable: 3. s. act. ci-kây-a, ci-két-a, ji-gây-a, ja-ghân-a. bhṛ bear almost invariably reduplicates with j in the RV.: ja-bhár-tha, ja-bhâra, ja-bhr-úr; ja-bhr-é, ja-bhr-i-śé, ja-bhr-i-ré; but only once with b: ba-bhr-é.

5. ah say is defective, forming only the 3. s. and pl.: âh-a and âh-úr. The two additional forms 2. s. ât-tha, 3. du. âh-áthur occur in the Brāhmaṇas.

6. Five roots beginning with a prosodically long a reduplicate with ân: aṃś attain, añj anoint, ardh thrive, arc praise, arh deserve. Only the first two make several forms. Here the radical nasal is repeated with the initial vowel: s. 3. ân-ámś-a (Gk. ἄν-εγκ-α); pl. 1. ân-ás-má. 2. ân-as-á, 3. ân-as-úr; mid. s. 3. ân-as-é; ¹ s. 3. ân-āñja, mid. s. 1. ân-aj-é, pl. 3. ân-aj-ré. The analogy spread from these to the roots which have no nasal: pl. 3. ân-ṛc-úr, ân-ṛdh-úr, ân-ṛh-úr; mid. s. 3. ân-ṛc-é, ân-ṛdh-é.

7. bhū be has the double irregularity of reduplicating with a and retaining its ū throughout (cp. Gk. πε-φύ-ασι): sing. 1. ba-bhū-v-a (Gk. πέ-φν-κα). 2. ba-bhū-tha and ba-bhū-v-i-tha. 3. ba-bhū-v-a. Du. 2. ba-bhū-v-áthur. 3. ba-bhū-v-áthur. Pl. 1. ba-bhū-v-i-má. 2. ba-bhū-v-á. 3. ba-bhū-v-úr.

sū bring forth has the same peculiarities¹ in sa-sū-v-a, the only perfect form of this root occurring.

8. cyu stir reduplicates ci-cyu (beside cu-cyu) and dyut shine similarly di-dyut. This was due to the vocalic pronunciation of the y: ciu, diut.

9. The reduplicative vowel is lengthened in more than thirty perfect stems; e.g. kan be pleased: cā-kan; gr wake: jā-gr; kḷp be adapted: cā-kḷp; dhī think: dī-dhī; tu be strong: tū-tu; śū swell: śū-śū.²

a. In the Mantra portion of the Saṃhitās there once occurs a periphrastic perfect form with the reduplicated perfect of kṛ make governing the acc. of a fem. substantive in ā derived from a secondary (causative) verbal stem. This form is gamaṃ cakāra (AV.) he caused to go (lit. made a causing to go). In the Brāhmaṇa parts of the later Saṃhitās (TS., MS., K.) such periphrastic forms are occasionally met with, and they become more frequent in the regular Brāhmaṇas.

Moods of the Perfect.

140. Modal forms of the perfect are of rare occurrence in the Saṃhitās except the RV.

1. The subjunctive is normally formed by adding a to the strong perfect stem accented on the radical syllable. In the active the secondary endings are the more usual; when the primary endings are used the reduplicative syllable is in several forms accented.³ In about a dozen forms the weak stem is used. Middle forms, of which only seven or eight occur, are almost restricted to the 3. sing. Examples are :

¹ The root śi lie also reduplicates with a in the part. śa-śay-ānā. These three, bhū, sū, śi, are the only roots with an i or u vowel that reduplicate with a.

² Here the radical vowel itself is shortened. The quantitative form of the stem is subject to the rule that it may not contain two prosodically short vowels (except in the 1. s. act.). Hence sah reduplicates either as sā-sah or sa-sāh (in a weak form).

³ Cp. the accentuation of the reduplicating class in the present system.

Act. s. 1. an-aj-ā¹ (añj anoint) ; 2. ta-tán-a-s (tan stretch), bu-bódh-a-s (budh wake), pi-práy-a-s (prī please) ; jú-joṣ-a-si (juṣ enjoy) ; ci-kit-a-s (cit observe), mu-muc-a-s (muc release). 3. ci-ket-a-t, ja-ghán-a-t (han smite), ta-tán-a-t, tu-ṣṭáv-a-t (√stu praise), pi-práy-a-t ; dí-deś-a-ti (dīś point), bú-bodh-a-ti, mú-moc-a-ti ; mu-muc-a-t, vi-vid-a-t (vid find).

Du. 2. ci-ket-a-thas, jú-joṣ-a-thas. Pl. 1. ta-tán-ā-ma. 2. ju-joṣ-a-tha. 3. ta-tán-a-n.

Mid. s. 3. ta-táp-a-te, jú-joṣ-a-te. Pl. 1. an-ás-ā-mahai.¹

2. The *injunctive*² occurs in hardly a dozen forms, a few in the sing. act., the rest in the 3. pl. mid. ; e.g. s. 2. śa-śās (= śa-śās-s : śās order). 3. dū-dho-t (dhū shake), su-sro-t (sru flow) ; mid. pl. 3. ta-tán-a-nta (cp. 140, 6).

3. The optative is formed by adding the accented modal suffix combined with the endings to the weak perfect stem. The active forms are much commoner than the middle. Examples are :

Act. s. 1. ān-as-yám,³ ja-gam-yám, ri-ric-yám, va-vṛt-yám. 2. ba-bhū-yás, va-vṛt-yás. 3. an-aj-yát,¹ ja-gam-yát, va-vṛt-yát, ba-bhū-yát.

Du. 2. ja-gam-yátam. Pl. 1. va-vṛt-yā-ma. 3. ja-gam-yúr, va-vṛt-yúr.

Mid. s. 1. va-vṛt-īyá. 2. vā-vṛdh-ī-thās. 3. va-vṛt-ī-tá. Pl. 1. va-vṛt-ī-máhi.

a. There also occurs one mid. precativ form sā-sah-ī-ṣ-ṭhās (sah overcome).

¹ In these three forms the ā of the reduplicative syllable ān is shortened as if the indicative contained an augment.

² Identical in form with the unaugmented pluperfect (140, 6).

³ From amś attain, with the long reduplicative vowel retained. Cp. 139, 6.

4. The imperative perfect is formed like that of the present reduplicating class, the radical syllable being weak except in the 3. s. act., where it is strong. Nearly all the forms occurring, which number about twenty, are active. Examples are :

Act. s. 2. ci-kid-dhí (√cit), di-diḍ-ḍhí (√diś), mu-mug-dhí (√muc), śa-śā-dhí (√śās).¹ 3. ba-bhū-tu,² mu-mók-tu.

Du. 2. mu-muk-tam, va-vṛk-tam (vṛj twist). Pl. 2. di-diṣ-ṭana (√diś), va-vṛt-tana.

Mid. s. 2. va-vṛt-svá. Pl. 2. va-vṛd-dhvám.

Participle.

5. Both active and middle forms of the perfect participle are common. It is formed from the weak perfect stem, with the accent on the suffix, as cakr-vāms, cakr-āṇá. If, in the active form, the stem is reduced to a monosyllable, the suffix is nearly always added with the connecting vowel i, but not when the stem is unreduplicated ; e.g. papt-i-vāms (Gk. πεπτ-ός), but vid-vāms (Gk. εἰδ-ός). Examples are :

Act. ja-gan-vāms (√gam), ja-grbh-vāms (√grabh), ji-gī-vāms (√ji), jū-ju-vāms³ (√jū), ta-sthi-vāms (√sthā), ba-bhū-vāms (Gk. πε-φύ-ός), ri-rik-vāms (√ric), va-vṛt-vāms, vā-vṛdh-vāms,³ sā-sah-vāms,³ su-ṣup-vāms (√svap); īy-i-vāms (√i), ūṣ-i-vāms (vas dwelt); dās-vāms (dās worship), sāh-vāms (√sah).

Mid. ān-aj-āṇá (√añj), ān-aś-āṇá (√amś), īj-āṇá (√yaj), ūc-āṇá (√vac), ja-gm-āṇá (√gam), ti-stir-āṇá (√stṛ), tep-āṇá (√tap), pa-spaś-āṇá (√spaś), bhej-āṇá (√bhaj), ¹ Cp. Gk. κέ-κλυ-θι, 2. pl. κέ-κλυ-τε (κλυ = śru hear).

² With ū unchanged as in strong forms elsewhere (139, 7).

³ With long reduplicative vowel.

yem-āná (√yam), vā-vṛdh-āná, śa-śay-āná (√śī), śi-śriy-āná (√śri), si-ṣmiy-āná (√smi), su-ṣup-āná (√svap), seh-āná (√sah).

Pluperfect.

6. Corresponding to the imperfect there is an augmented form of the perfect called the pluperfect. The strong stem is used in the singular active, the weak elsewhere. The secondary endings only are used; in the 3. pl. ur always appears in the active and *iran*¹ in the middle. The s and t of the 2. and 3. s. are in some forms preserved by an interposed ī. There are also several forms made with thematic a in this tense. The augment is often dropped, as in other past tenses. The total number of pluperfect forms occurring is about sixty. Examples are:

Act. s. 1. á-cacakṣ-am, á-jagrabh-am, á-tuṣṭav-am; cakar-am, ciket-am (√cit). 2. ā-jagan (= á-jagam-s); na-nam-a-s; á-viveś-ī-s (√viś). 3. á-jagan (= á-jagam-t), a-ciket (√cit); rā-ran (= rāran-t: ran rejoice); á-jagrabh-ī-t; á-cikit-a-t and á-ciket-a-t; tastambh-a-t.

Du. 2. á-mu-muk-tam; mu-muk-tam. 3. á-vāvaś-ī-tām (vaś desire).

Pl. 2. á-jagan-ta; á-cucyav-ī-tana. 3. á-cucyav-ur.

Mid. s. 1. á-śuśrav-i. 3. didiṣ-ṭa (√diś). Pl. 3. á-cakr-iran, á-jagm-iran, á-pec-iran; á-vavṛt-ran, á-sasṛg-ram (√srj).² There are also several transfer forms as from a stems; e. g. á-titviṣ-a-nta, cakṛp-á-nta, dá-dhṛṣ-a-nta.

Aorist.

141. This tense is of very common occurrence in the Vedas, being formed from more than 450 roots. It is an augmented tense, taking the secondary endings and forming moods and participles. It is distinguished from the imperfect by having no corresponding present and by difference of meaning. There are two types of aorist. The first or sigmatic aorist is formed by inserting s, with or without an added a, between the root and the endings. It is taken by more than 200 roots. The second aorist adds the endings to the simple or the reduplicated root either directly or with the connecting vowel a. It is taken by over 250 roots. There are four forms of the first Aorist, and three of the second. Upwards of 50 roots take more than one form. One verb, budh wake, has forms from five varieties of this tense.

² With reversion of the palatal to original guttural, and ending ram for ran.

First Aorist.

a. The stem of the first form is made by adding to the augmented root the suffix sa. It is inflected like an imperfect of the sixth or á class of the first conjugation, the sá being accented in unaugmented forms. It is taken in the Samhitās by only ten roots¹ containing one of the vowels i, u, ṛ, and ending in one of the consonants j, ś, ṣ, or h, all of which phonetically become k before s.² These roots are: mṛj wipe, yaj sacrifice, vṛj twist; kruś cry out, mṛś and sprś touch; dviṣ hate; guh hide, duh milk, ruh ascend. In the indicative no dual forms are found; and in the mid. only the 3. s. and pl. are met with. The only moods occurring are the injunctive and the imperative, with altogether fewer than a dozen forms. This form of the aorist corresponds to the Greek First Aorist (e.g. ἔ-δειξε, Lat. dixi-t). The augment, as in other past tenses, is sometimes dropped.

² The stem of this aorist therefore always ends in kṣa.

Indicative. Act. s. 1. ávr̥kṣam. 2. ádruḁṣas (B.), ádhukṣas. 3. ákruḁṣat, ághukṣat, áduḁṣat¹ and ádhukṣat, ámr̥kṣat (✓mr̥ś), áruḁṣat, áspr̥kṣat. Pl. 1. ámr̥kṣāma (✓mr̥j), áruḁṣāma. 3. ádhukṣan; duḁṣan¹ and dhukṣan.

Mid. s. 3. ádhukṣata; duḁṣata¹ and dhukṣata. Pl. 3. ámr̥kṣanta (✓mr̥j).

In the injunctive only the following forms occur:

Act. s. 2. duḁśás,¹ mr̥kṣás (✓mr̥ś). 3. dvikṣát. Pl. 2. mr̥kṣata (✓mr̥ś).

Mid. s. 3. duḁśata¹ and dhukṣata, dvikṣata. Pl. 3. dhukṣanta.

In the imperative only three forms occur:

Act. du. 2. mr̥kṣátam (✓mr̥j). 3. yakṣátām.

Mid. s. 2. dhukṣásva.

142. The other three forms of the First Aorist are made by adding to the augmented root the suffixes s, iṣ, s-iṣ respectively. They are inflected like imperfects of the second or graded conjugation. The siṣ form is used in the act. only (excepting three optative forms) and is taken by not more than six roots. The other two are very common, being formed from nearly 300 roots in V. and B. taken together.

Second or s form.

143. This form of the aorist is taken by at least 135 roots in V. and B. In addition to the indicative it forms all the moods and a participle.

Indicative.

1. The radical vowel as a rule takes Vr̥ddhi (a being lengthened) in the active. In the middle, excepting final ĭ and u (which take Guṇa) the radical vowel remains unchanged. The only point in which the inflexion differs from that of the imperfect of the graded conjugation is that the 3. pl. act. invariably ends in ur. In the active, the endings s and t of the 2. 3. s. disappear and the tense sign also, unless the root ends in a vowel; e.g. á-hār = á-hār-s-t, but á-hā-s = á-hā-s-t. The AV. and TS., however, less often than not, insert a connecting ī before these endings,¹ thus preserving both the latter and the s of the tense stem; e.g. á-naik-ṣ-ī-t (nij wash). The forms of the indicative actually occurring would, if made from bhr̥ bear in the active, and from budh wake in the middle, be as follows:

ACTIVE.

SINGULAR.	DUAL.	PLURAL.
1. á-bhār-ṣ-am	[á-bhārṣ-va]	á-bhārṣ-ma
2. á-bhār	á-bhārṣ-tam	á-bhārṣ-ṭa
3. á-bhār	á-bhārṣ-tām	á-bhār-ṣ-ur

MIDDLE.

SINGULAR.	DUAL.	PLURAL.
1. á-bhut-s-i (62 a)	[á-bhut-s-vahi]	á-bhut-s-mahi
2. á-bud-dhās (62 b)	á-bhut-s-āthām	á-bhud-dhvam (62 a)
3. á-bud-dha (62 b)	á-bhut-s-ātām	á-bhut-s-ata

The middle voice, as exemplified by a root ending in u, stu praise, is inflected as follows:

Sing. 1. á-sto-ṣ-i. 2. á-sto-ṣ-ṭhās. 3. á-sto-ṣ-ṭa. Du. 1. [á-sto-ṣ-vahi]. 2. [á-sto-ṣ-āthām]. 3. á-sto-ṣ-ātām. Pl. 1. á-sto-ṣ-mahi. 2. á-sto-ḍhvam (66 B 2 b). 3. á-sto-ṣ-ata.

¹ The RV. and K. have no forms with the inserted ī; while in B. the chief forms without it are adrāk (dr̥ś ser) and aj āṭ (yaj sacrifice); also bhais ($\sqrt{\text{bhi}}$) = bhais-s, which while losing the s ending preserves the appearance of a 2. sing.

2. The subjunctive is common in the RV.¹ in active forms, but not in the middle. The root regularly takes Guṇa throughout (active and middle). The primary endings are frequent. The forms occurring, if made from stu praise, would be :

Act. sing. 1. stó-ṣ-āṇi. 2. stó-ṣ-a-si, stó-ṣ-a-s. 3. stó-ṣ-a-ti, stó-ṣ-a-t. Du. 2. stó-ṣ-a-thas. 3. stó-ṣ-a-tas. Pl. 1. stó-ṣ-ā-ma. 2. stó-ṣ-a-tha. 3. stó-ṣ-a-n.

Mid. sing. 1. stó-ṣ-ai. 2. stó-ṣ-a-se. 3. stó-ṣ-a-te. Du. 2. stó-ṣ-āthe (for stó-ṣ-aithe). Pl. 3. stó-ṣ-a-nte.

3. Injunctive forms are fairly common. When normal they are of course identical with the unaugmented indicative. But the sing. 1. act. is irregular in never taking Vṛddhi: all the forms of it that occur either have Guṇa, as sto-ṣ-am, je-ṣ-am (√ji); or lengthen the radical vowel, as yū-ṣ-am (yu separate); or substitute e for ā in roots ending in ā, as ye-ṣ-am (yā go), ge-ṣ-am (gā go), sthe-ṣ-am (sthā stand). The latter irregularity also appears in pl. 1: je-ṣ-ma, ge-ṣ-ma, de-ṣ-ma (dā give), beside the normal yau-ṣ-ma (yu separate).

4. The optative occurs in the middle only, the 2. 3. s. always having the precativ s (with one exception). The forms actually occurring are :

Sing. 1. di-ṣ-īyá² (dā cut), bhak-ṣ-īyá (bhaj divide), ma-s-īyá³ (man think), muk-ṣ-īyá (muc release), rā-s-īyá (rā give), sāk-ṣ-īyá⁴ (AV.), str-ṣ-īyá (str̥ strew). 2. mam-s-ī-ṣ-ṭhās⁵ (man think). 3. dar-ṣ-ī-ṣ-ṭa (dr̥ tear), bhak-ṣ-īta⁶ (SV.), mam-s-ī-ṣ-ṭa, mr̥k-ṣ-ī-ṣ-ṭa (mṛc injure). Du. 2.

¹ Subjunctives of this aor. are very rare in B. except yakṣ-a-t (√yaj) and vakṣ-a-t (√vah).

² With radical ā reduced to i: cp. 5 c. Similarly dhi-ṣ-īya (√dhā) in B.

³ With an reduced to a (= sonant nasal).

⁴ From sah overcome, with radical vowel lengthened.

⁵ Anusvāra for n (66 A 2).

trā-s-ī-thām¹ (trā protect). Pl. 1. bhak-ṣ-ī-māhi, maṁ-s-ī-māhi,² vaṁ-s-ī-māhi and va-s-ī-māhi³ (van win), sak-ṣ-ī-māhi (sac follow), dhuk-ṣ-ī-māhi (duh milk). 3. maṁ-s-ī-rata.

5. Only six imperative forms occur, and four of these are transfers (with thematic a). They are: Act. s. 2. ne-ṣ-a (nī lead) and par-ṣ-a (pr take across). Mid. s. 2. sāk-ṣ-va (√sah). 3. rā-s-a-tām. Du. 2. rā-s-āthām. Pl. 3. rā-s-a-ntām.

6. Only two or three forms of the active participle occur: dāk-ṣ-at⁴ and dhāk-ṣ-at (dah burn), sāk-ṣ-at (√sah).

About a dozen stems, irregularly formed by adding s to the root with an intermediate a and taking the regular ending āna, may be accounted middle s aorist participles; e. g. mand-a-s-āná rejoicing, yam-a-s-āná being driven.

Irregularities of the s form.

144. 1. Before the suffix s, (a) final radical n (as well as m) becomes Anusvāra (66 A 2), as á-maṁ-s-ata (√man), vaṁ-s-ī-māhi (√van); (b) s becomes t in the verb vas dwell and possibly also in vas shine: á-vāt-s-ī-s⁵ (AV.) thou hast dwelt and á-vāt (= á-vas-s-t) has shone (AV.).

2. The RV. has one example of an incipient tendency to preserve the s and t of the 2. 3. s. in 2. s. á-yā-s (= a-yaj-s-s) beside the phonetically regular form of the 3. s. á-yāt (= á-yaj-s-t). The AV. has three or four examples of this: s. 2. srā-s (= sraj-s-s: √srj); 3. á-śrai-t (= á-śrai-s-t:

⁴ Without initial aspiration: cp. 62 a and 156 a.

a. The ending dhvam (before which the s of the aor. is lost) becomes ḍhvam when the s would have been cerebralized (66 B 2): á-sto-ḍhvam (= á-sto-ṣ-ḍhvam) is the only example.

3. The roots dā give and dā cut reduce the radical vowel to i in á-di-ṣ-i, di-ṣ-īyá; gam, man, van lose their nasal in á-ga-smahi, ma-s-īyá, va-s-ī-máhi (beside vaṃ-s-ī-máhi); while sah lengthens its vowel in á-sāk-ṣ-i, śāk-ṣ-i; sāk-ṣ-āma; sāk-ṣ-īya; śāk-ṣ-va.

4. The roots sṛj emit and pṛc mix take metathesis in the act.: s. 2. srā-s (= srāk). 3. á-srāk; á-prāk. Du. 2. á-srāṣ-ṭam.

5. The following are the forms occurring in the 3. s. ind. act. in which (a) the ending t is lost: á-jai-s (√ji), á-prā-s, á-hā-s; (b) both the tense-sign s and the ending t are lost:² á-krān (krand cry out), á-kṣār (kṣar flow), á-cait (cit perceive), á-chān (chand seem), á-tān (tan stretch), á-tsār (tsar approach stealthily), á-dyaut (dyut shine), á-dhāk (dah burn), á-prāk (pṛc mix), á-prāṭ (prach ask), á-bhār (bhar), á-yāṭ (yaj sacrifice), á-yān (yam guide). á-raut (rudh obstruct), á-vāṭ (vah convey), á-vāt¹ (vas shine), á-śvait (śvit be bright), á-syān (syand move on). á-srāk (sṛj emit). á-svār (svar sound), á-hār (har take), á-raik (ric leave).

6. After a consonant other than n, m, r the tense sign s is dropped before t, th, and dh; e. g. á-bhak-ta (beside á-bhak-ṣ-i); á-muk-thās (beside á-muk-ṣ-i).

¹ But the t may in this instance represent the changed final radical s: 144, 1 (b). There are a few additional examples in B.: ajait (beside ajais and ajaiṣit: √ji); acait (√ci); nait (√nī).

² And even the final consonant of the root when there are two (28).

Third or iṣ form.

145. About 145 roots take this aorist in V. and B. It differs from the s aorist merely in adding the s with the connecting vowel i, which changes it to ṣ (67).

Indicative.

1. The radical vowel as a rule takes Guṇa throughout; but in the active a final vowel takes Vṛddhi and a medial vowel is sometimes lengthened. The endings are the same as those of the s aorist except that the 2. 3. s. end in īs (= iṣ-s) and īt (= iṣ-t). This aorist has all the moods, but no participle. Middle forms are not common and very few occur except in the 2. 3. sing.

The normal forms occurring, if made from kram stride, would be:

Act. sing. 1. á-kram-iṣ-am. 2. á-kram-īs. 3. á-kram-īt.
Du. 3. á-kram-iṣ-ṭam. Pl. 1. á-kram-iṣ-ma. 3. á-kram-iṣ-ur.

Mid. sing. 1. á-kram-iṣ-i. 2. á-kram-iṣ-ṭhās. 3. á-kram-iṣ-ṭa. Du. 3. á-kram-iṣ-ātām. Pl. 3. á-kram-iṣ-ata.

2. Subjunctive forms are rare except in the 2. 3. s. act. Examples are:

Act. sing. 1. dá-v-iṣ-āṇi. 2. áv-iṣ-a-s, kán-iṣ-a-s. 3. kár-iṣ-a-t, bódh-iṣ-a-t. Pl. 3. sán-iṣ-a-n.

Mid. pl. 1. yác-iṣ-ā-mahe. 3. sán-iṣ-a-nta.

3. Injunctive are commoner than subjunctive forms. They occur most frequently in the 2. 3. s. and plur. Examples are:

Act. sing. 1. śáms-iṣ-am (śáms praise). 2. áv-īs (av jour), tár-īs (tṛ cross), yódh-īs (yudh fight), sáv-īs (sū generate). 3. ás-īt (ás eat), tár-īt. Du. 2. táriṣ-ṭam, márdh-iṣ-ṭam (mṛdh neglect). Pl. 1. śráṃ-iṣ-ma. 2. vádḥ-iṣ-ṭa and vádḥ-iṣ-ṭana. 3. jār-iṣ-ur (jṛ waste away).

Mid. sing. 1. rādh-iṣ-i (rādh succeed). 2. márs-iṣ-ṭhās (mṛṣ not heed). 3. páv-iṣ-ṭa (pū purify). Pl. 1. vyáth-iṣ-mahi (vyath waver).

4. Optative forms are rare, occurring in the middle only. The 2. 3. s. take the precative s. Examples are :

Sing. 1. edh-iṣ-īyá (edh thrive). 2. mod-iṣ-i-ṣ-ṭhás (mud rejoice). 3. jan-iṣ-i-ṣ-ṭá. Du. 1. sah-iṣ-i-váhi. Pl. tār-iṣ-i-máhi.

5. Imperative forms are rare, occurring in the active only. Sing. 2. av-iḍ-ḍhí. 3. av-iṣ-ṭu. Du. 2. av-iṣ-ṭám. 3. av-iṣ-ṭám. Pl. 2. av-iṣ-ṭána.

a. The radical medial a is lengthened in kan enjoy, car move, das waste, mad exhilarate, stan thunder, svan sound, and optionally in vad speak, ran rejoice, san gain, sah prevail; while the radical syllable appears in a reduced or unstrengthened form in the opt. s. 1. mid. of gam and ruc shine : gm-iṣ-īyá and ruc-iṣ-īyá.

b. The root grabh seize takes the connecting vowel ī (as it does in other verbal forms) instead of i, as á-grabh-iṣ-ma.

c. In s. 1. ind. act. the ending im appears instead of iṣ-am in the three forms á-kram-im, á-grabh-im, and vadh-im, doubtless owing to the analogy of the 2. 3. s. in is, it. In B. is also found a-grah-iṣ-am (✓grah).

Fourth or siṣ form.

146. This form differs from the preceding one simply in prefixing an additional s to the suffix. Only seven verbs ending in ā, n, or m, gā sing, jñā know,¹ pyā fill up, yā go, hā leave, van win, ram rejoice, take this aorist. The total number of forms occurring is under twenty; and middle forms are found in the optative only. The forms occurring are :

1. Indicative. Sing. 1. á-yā-siṣ-am. Du. 3. á-yā-siṣ-ṭám. Pl. 2. á-yā-siṣ-ṭa. 3. á-gā-siṣ-ur, á-yā-siṣ-ur.

2. Subjunctive. Sing. 3. gá-siṣ-a-t, yá-siṣ-a-t.

¹ In B. also occurs dhyā think, besides forms in s-īt from drā sleep, vā blow, hvā call.

3. Optative. Sing. 1. vaṃ-siṣ-īyá. 2. yā-siṣ-ī-ṣ-ṭhās,¹
Pl. 1. pyā-siṣ-ī-mahi.

4. Injunctive. Sing. 1. raṃ-siṣ-am. Du. 2. hā-siṣ-ṭam.
3. hā-siṣ-ṭam. Pl. 2. hā-siṣ-ṭa. 3. hā-siṣ-ur.

5. Imperative. Du. 2. yā-siṣ-ṭam. Pl. 2. yā-siṣ-ṭá.²

Second Aorist.

147. This aorist resembles an imperfect formed directly from the root, the terminations being added with or without the connecting vowel a.

The first form is like an imperfect of the accented á class (125, 2), the stem being formed by adding a to the unmodified root.³ It corresponds to the second aorist of the first conjugation in Greek. It is taken, in V. and B. together, by nearly eighty roots, chiefly with a medial vowel. Middle forms are rare.

1. Indicative. The forms actually occurring would, if made from vid find, be as follows:

Act. sing. 1. ávidam. 2. ávidas. 3. ávidat. Du. 1. ávidāva. Pl. 1. ávidāma. 2. ávidata. 3. ávidan.

Mid. sing. 1. ávide. 2. ávidathās. 3. ávidata. Du. 1. ávidāvahi. 3. ávidetām. Pl. 1. ávidāmahi. 3. ávidanta.

2. The subjunctive forms from the same root would be:
Act. sing. 2. vidási, vidás. 3. vidāti, vidát. Du. 1. vidáva. 2. vidáthas. 3. vidátas. Pl. 1. vidāma. 2. vid-átha, vidáthana.

Mid. sing. 3. vidáte. Pl. 1. vidāmahe.

3. The injunctive forms from vid would be:

Act. sing. 1. vidám. 2. vidás. 3. vidát. Pl. 3. vidán.

Mid. sing. 3. vidáta. Pl. 1. vidāmahi. 3. vidánta.

4. The optative is rare in V., but not infrequent in B.

² With ī for i.

³ Three roots with ṛ, however, show forms with Guṇa (147 a 2 and c).

It is almost restricted to the active. The forms from vid would be :

Act. sing. 1. vidéyam. 2. vidés. 3. vidét. Pl. 1. vidéma.

Mid. sing. 1. vidéya. Pl. 1. vidémahi. There also occurs one precativ form, s. 3. vidéṣṭa (AV.).

5. Imperative forms are rare and almost restricted to the active. Those made by sad sit are :

Sing. 2. sadá. 3. sadátu. Du. 2. sadátam. 3. sadátām. Pl. 2. sadāta, sadātana. 3. sadántu.

Mid. pl. 2. sadadhvam. 3. sadantām.

6. Rather more than a dozen examples of the participle, taking active and middle together, occur: e. g. trp-ánt, śucánt; guhāmāna, śucāmāna.

Irregularities.

a. Several roots form transfer stems according to this instead of the root form, chiefly by reducing the radical syllable.

1. khyā see, vyā envelope, hvā call shorten their ā to a: á-khya-t, á-vya-t, á-hva-t; dā give, dhā put, sthā stand occasionally do the same, in the forms á-da-t; á-dha-t (SV.) and dha-t; á-stha-t (AV.); sās order shortens ā to i; e. g. 3. s. inj. śíṣat, part. śíṣánt.

2. kṛ make and gam go form a few transfers from the root class in the AV., retaining the strong radical vowel: á-kar-a-t, á-gam-a-t, á-gam-a-n.

b. The root is reduced by the loss of its nasal in krand cry out, taṃs shake, dhvaṃs scatter, bhraṃś fall, randh make subject, sraṃs fall; e. g. 3. sing. átasat; pl. dhvasán; subj. pl. 1. radhāma; inj. sing. 1. radham; 2. kradas; 3. bhraśat.

c. The root takes Guṇa in ṛ go, drś see, sṛ flow; e. g. ár-anta (unaugmented 3. pl. ind. mid.); dárs-am (s. 1. inj., but pl. 3. inj. drśán, opt. 1. s. drśéyam, pl. drśéma); sárat (unaugmented 3. s.).

Second Form: Root Aorist.

148. This form of the simple aorist is taken by about 100 roots in V., and about 25 others in B., the commonest being those with medial a (about 30). It corresponds to the second aorist of the second conjugation in Greek. It is inflected in both active and middle.

Indicative.

1. The root is strong in the sing. act., but weak elsewhere. Roots ending in vowels, however, tend to retain the strong vowel throughout the active except the 3. pl. Those ending in ā regularly retain that vowel throughout the ind. act. except in 3. pl. where it is dropped before ur, which is always the ending in these verbs. In the 3. pl. mid. the ending ran is more than twice as common as ata; ram as well as ran is taken by three roots.

a. The forms occurring from roots ending in ā, if made from sthā, would be:

Act. sing. 1. á-sthā-m (ἐ-σθη-ν). 2. á-sthā-s. 3. á-sthā-t (ἐ-σθη). Du. 2. á-sthā-tam. 3. á-sthā-tām. Pl. 1. á-sthā-ma (ἐ-σθη-μεν). 2. á-sthā-ta. 3. á-sth-ur.

Mid. sing. 2. á-sthi-thās (ἐ-στιά-θης). 3. á-sthi-ta. Pl. 1. á-sthi-mahi. 3. á-sthi-ran.

b. Roots in ṛ take Guṇa throughout the ind. act. except the 3. pl. The forms from kṛ would be:

Act. sing. 1. á-kar-am. 2. á-kar. 3. á-kar. Du. 2. á-kar-tam. 3. á-kar-tām. Pl. 1. á-kar-ma. 2. á-kar-ta. 3. á-kr-an.

Mid. sing. 1. á-kr-i. 2. á-kṛ-thās. 3. á-kṛ-ta. Du. 1. á-kṛ-vahi. 3. á-kṛ-tām. Pl. 1. á-kṛ-mahi. 2. á-kṛ-dhvam. 3. á-kr-ata.

c. bhū be retains its ū throughout (as in the perfect), interposing v between it and a following a:

Act. 1. á-bhuv-am.¹ 2. á-bhū-s. 3. á-bhū-t (ἐ-φῦ). Du. 2. á-bhū-tam. 3. á-bhū-tām. Pl. 1. á-bhū-ma (ἐ-φῦ-μεν). 2. á-bhū-ta and á-bhū-tana. 3. á-bhū-v-an.

d. The following are forms of the 2. 3. s. act. in which the endings s and t are lost: 2. á-kar, á-gan (= á-gam-s), á-ghas, á-var (vr̥ cover), á-spar (spr̥ win); with lengthened augment: *á-naṭ*¹ (naś attain), á-var (vr̥ cover), *á-vas*² (vas shine). 3. á-kar, *á-kran*³ (kram stride), á-gan,³ á-ghas, á-cet (cit observe), á-tan, á-dar (dr̥ pierce), á-bhet (bhid pierce), á-bhrāṭ (bhrāj shine), á-mok (muc release), á-myak (myakṣ be situated), á-vart (vṛt turn), á-star; with lengthened augment: á-naṭ,⁴ á-var (vr̥ cover), *á-vas*² (vas shine); without augment: *vark*⁵ (vr̥j twist), *skan*⁶ (skand leap).

¹ With split ū; in the later language a-bhūv-am.

e. In the 3. pl. act. and mid. roots with medial a are syncopated: á-kṣ-an (= á-ghas-an), á-gm-an (= á-gam-an); á-gm-ata (= á-gam-ata), á-tn-ata (= á-tan-ata); but in the 2. 3. s. mid. they lose their nasal: á-ga-thās, á-ga-ta, á-ma-ta (but 1. du. gan-vahi, pl. á-gan-mahi).

f. Final ā is in the mid. ind. reduced to i, and before m also to ī; e.g. 2. á-di-thās, á-sthi-thās. 3. á-dhi-ta (ṣ-θε-το). Pl. 1. á-dhi-mahi (TS.) and á-dī-mahi (VS.), á-dhī-mahi.

g. In the 3. s. ind. ghas is reduced to g: gdha (= ghas-ta)⁷; while r̥ go takes Guṇa: ár-ta (unaugmented) and ār-ta (ṵρ-το), 3. pl. ár-ata.

h. The forms taking ran in 3. pl. mid. are: á-kṛp-ran, á-gr̥bh-ran, á-jus-ran, á-dr̥ś-ran, á-pad-ran, á-budh-ran, á-yuj-ran, á-vas-ran (vas shine), á-viś-ran, á-vṛt-ran, á-sṛg-ran,⁸ á-sthi-ran, á-spr̥dh-ran; with ram: á-dr̥ś-ram, á-budh-ram, á-sṛg-ram.⁸

¹ For á-naś-s, the phonetic result of which should have been á-nak (63 b).

² For á-vas-s, ā-vas-t. These forms have by an oversight been omitted in § 499 of my Vedic Grammar.

³ For á-kram-t, á-gam-t.

⁵ For varj-t.

⁶ For skand-t.

⁷ By syncopation gh-s-ta; loss of s between consonants (66 B 2 a) gh-ta, and loss of aspiration, which is thrown forward on the t and renders it sonant (62 b).

⁸ With reversion to the original guttural.

2. The subjunctive is common, nearly 100 forms being met with. The forms occurring, if made from kr, would be:

Act. sing. 1. kārā and kār-āṇi. 2. kār-a-si and kār-a-s.
3. kār-a-ti and kār-a-t.¹ Du. 2. kār-a-thas. 3. kār-a-tas.
Pl. 1. kār-ā-ma. 3. kār-anti, kār-a-n.

Mid. sing. 2. kār-a-se. 3. kār-a-te.² Pl. 1. kār-ā-mahe and kār-ā-mahai. 3. kār-anta.

3. The injunctive is fairly frequent, nearly sixty forms of it being met with. Examples are:

Act. sing. 1. kar-am, darś-am,³ bhuv-am, bhoj-am.
2. je-s, bhū-s, bhé-s (bhī fear), *dhak*⁴ (dagh reach), bhet (bhid split), rok (ruj break). 3. bhū-t, śre-t (√śri), nak and naṭ (naś attain). Pl. 1. dagh-ma, bhū-ma; ched-ma,⁵ *ho-ma*⁵ (hū call). 3. bhūv-an, vr-an (vr cover); kram-ur, dur (dā give), dh-úr (dhā put).

Mid. sing. 1. naṃś-i (naṃś = naś attain). 2. nut-thās (nud push), mṛ-thās (mṛ die), mṛṣ-ṭhās (mṛṣ neglect), rik-thās (ric leave). 3. ar-ta (ṛ go), aṣ-ṭa (aś attain), vik-ta (vij tremble), vr-ta (vr choose). Pl. 1. dhī-mahi (dhā put).

4. More than forty optative forms are met with. Examples are:

Act. sing. 1. aś-yām (aś obtain), vrj-yām, de-yām (dā give). 2. aś-yās, ṛdh-yās, gam-yās, jñe-yās, bhū-yās.
3. *bhū-yāt*⁶ (AV.). Pl. 1. aś-yāma, ṛdh-yāma, kri-yāma, bhū-yāma, sthe-yāma. 3. aś-yúr (aś attain), dhe-yúr.

Mid. sing. 1. aś-īyá. 3. ar-ī-tá (ṛ go). Pl. 1. aś-ī-máhi, idh-ī-máhi (idh kindle), naś-ī-máhi (naś reach).

² The weak root appears once in the form idh-a-té. The weak root also appears once in the 2. du. form ṛdh-āthe.

³ This may, however, be an irregular a aorist: cp. 147 c.

⁴ For dagh-s.

⁶ The RV. has no forms of the 3. s. in yāt, but only precatives in yās (= yās-t).

a. There are also about thirty precative forms (made from about twenty roots in the Samhitās), all of which except two are active. Examples are :

Act. sing. 1. bhū-yāsam. 3. aś-yās (= aś-yās-t), gam-yās, dagh-yās, pe-yās (pā drink), bhū-yās. Du. 2. bhū-yāstam. Pl. 1. kri-yāsma. 2. bhū-yāsta.

Mid. s. 3. pad-ī-ṣ-ṭa, muc-ī-ṣ-ṭa.

5. Over ninety forms of the imperative occur, all but about twelve being active. Several forms in the 2. persons act. have a strong root, which is then usually accented. Examples are :

Act. s. 2. kṛ-dhí, ga-dhí (gam), pūr-dhí (pṛ fill), bo-dhí,¹ yó-dhi² (yudh fight), śag-dhí (śak be able) ; ga-hí (gam go), mā-hi (mā measure), sā-hi (sā bind). 3. gán-tu (gam go), dhā-tu, bhū-tu, śró-tu.

Du. 2. kṛ-tám and kar-tam (AV.), ga-tám and gan-tám, dā-tam, dhak-tam (dagh reach), bhū-tám, var-tam (vṛ cover), vo-ḷhám (vah carry), śru-tám. 3. gan-tām, pā-tām, vo-ḷhám. Pl. 2. kṛ-ta and kár-ta, ga-ta and gán-ta, bhū-tá, yán-ta, śru-ta and śró-ta ; kár-tana, gán-tana, dhā-tana, bhū-tana. 3. gám-antu, dhāntu, śruv-antu.

Mid. s. 2. kṛ-ṣvá, dhi-ṣvá (dhā put), yuk-ṣvá (yuj join) ; accented on the root : mát-śva, yák-ṣva (yaj sacrifice), rá-śva, vām-śva (van win), sák-ṣva (sac follow). Pl. 2. kṛ-dhvam, vo-dhvam.

6. Of the participle only seven or eight examples occur in the active, but nearly forty in the middle. Examples are :

Act. ṛdh-ánt, kr-ánt, gm-ánt, sthánt.

Mid. ar-āná, idh-āná, kr-āná, dṛś-āna and dṛś-āná, budh-āná, bhiy-āná, vr-āná (vṛ cover), śubh-āná and śum-bhāná, suv-āná (always to be pronounced svāná) and sv-āná (SV.).

¹ Formed from both bhū be (for bhū-dhí) and budh awake (for bód-dhi instead of bud-dhí).

² For yud-dhí (through yód-dhi).

Third or Reduplicated Form.

149. This aorist is formed from nearly ninety verbs in the Saṃhitās and from nearly thirty more in the Brāhmaṇas. Though (with a few slight exceptions) unconnected in form with the causative, it has come to be connected with the causative in sense, having a causative meaning when the corresponding verb in aya has that meaning. The characteristic feature of this aorist is the almost invariable quantitative sequence of a long reduplicative and a short radical vowel (— ◡). In order to bring about this rhythm, the reduplicative vowel (unless it becomes long by position) is lengthened, if the radical vowel is (or is made) prosodically short. With this view the radical vowel is shortened in vāś bellow, sādh succeed, hīd be hostile and, by dropping the nasal, in krand cry out, jambh crush, randh subject, syand flow, srams fall. The stem of the great majority of forms is made with a thematic a. But about a dozen roots ending in vowels (ā, i, ũ, ṛ) and svap sleep make occasional forms from stems without thematic a, the inflexion then being like that of an imperfect of the reduplicating class (127, 2). A medial radical vowel remains unchanged or is weakened, but a final vowel takes Guṇa. All the moods occur, but no participle.

Special Rules of Reduplication.

a. The vowels ā, ĩ, ṛ are represented in the reduplicative syllable by i.

b. The vowel of the reduplicative syllable, unless already long by position, is lengthened.

1. The forms of the indicative actually occurring would, if made from jan beget, be as follows:

Act. s. 1. ájījanam. 2. ájījanas. 3. ájījanat. Du. 2. ájījanatam. Pl. 1. ájījanāma. 2. ájījanata. 3. ájījanan.

Mid. s. 3. ájījanata. Pl. 2. ájījanadhvam. 3. ájījananta.

The following are examples :

Act. s. 1. ánīnaśam (náś be lost), ácíkr̥ṣam (kr̥ṣ drag), ápiplavam (B.), ápiparam (pr̥ pass). 2. áci-krad-as, ábūbhuvas; siṣvap̥as; without thematic a: á-jīgar (gr̥ swallow and gr̥ waken); siṣvap̥. 3. ácíkl̥pat, ácucyavat (K.), ájīhiḍat (√hīḍ), ádidyutat, ábūbudhat, ávīvaśat (√vāś), ávī-vṛdhat, ásiṣyadat (√syand); bibhayat, śísñathat (śñath pierce); without thematic a: á-śísre-t (√śri), á-śísñat. Pl. 3. ávīvaśan (√vāś), ásisrasan (√sram̐), ásiṣadan (√sad); ábibhajur (B.).

Mid. s. 3. ávīvarata (vr̥ cover). Pl. 2. ávīvṛdhadhvam. 3. ábibhayanta, ávīvaśanta (√vāś), ásiṣyadanta.

2. The subjunctive is rare, only about a dozen forms occurring, all active except one. Examples are :

Act. s. 1. rāradhā. 2. tītapāsi. 3. cíkl̥pāti, piṣpr̥śati,¹ siṣadhāti (√sādh). Pl. 1. rīramāma, siṣadhāma.

3. Injunctive forms are fairly common, more than fifty occurring in the active, but only five in the middle. Examples are :

Act. s. 1. cukrudham, dīdharam (dhṛ hold). 2. cikṣipas, piṣpr̥śas, rīradhas, siṣadhas. 3. cucyavat, dīdharat, mīmayat (mā bellow), siṣvadat (svad sweeten).

Du. 2. jihvaratam. Pl. 2. rīradhata. 3. rīraman, śūsūcan (śuc shine). 3. siṣapanta (sap serve).

4. The optative forms number hardly a dozen, being made from only three roots, mostly from vac speak, the rest from cyu stir and riṣ hurt. They are :

Act. s. 1. vocéyam. 2. rīriṣes, vocés. 3. vocét.

Du. 2. vocétam. Pl. 1. vocéma. 3. vocéyur.

Mid. s. 1. vocéya. Pl. 1. cucyuv-ī-mahi,¹ vocémahi. 3. cucyav-ī-rata.¹ There is also the 3. s. mid. precativ form rīriṣ-ī-ṣ-ṭa.

5. Hardly more than a dozen imperative forms occur, all of them active. These are :

Sing. 2. vocatāt. 3. vocatu.

Du. 2. *jigṛtām*¹ (gr waken), didhṛtām,¹ vocatam. Pl. 2. jigṛ-tā,¹ didhṛtā,¹ paptata, vocata, suṣūdáta (AV.). 3. pūpurantu (pr fill), śísṛathantu.

Irregularities.

a. 1. The reduplicative syllable of dyut shine has *i*² : á-didyutat ; that of am injure repeats the whole root³ : ám-am-at (= á-am-am-at) ; while it is left short in jigṛtām, jigṛtā (beside á-jigar), didhṛtām, didhṛtā (beside á-didharat), and in the isolated inj. didīpas for didīpas (dīp shine).

2. The radical syllable suffers contraction or syncopation (as in the weak forms of the perfect) in the three verbs naś be lost, vac speak, and pat fall ; thus á-neś-at (= á-nanaś-at), á-voc-at (= á-va-uc-at : cp. Gk. ἔ-ειπ-ο-ν) and á-papt-at. Having all had the reduplicative vowel of the perfect (while the regular aorist reduplicative i appears in the alternative forms á-nīnaś-at and á-pīpat-at), they were probably pluperfects in origin. But they have come to be aorists as is shown by their meaning and by the occurrence of modal forms (as vocatu, &c., and paptata).

3. The initial of the suffix is retained from the causative stems jñā-paya, sthā-paya, hā-paya, bhī-ṣaya, ar-paya, jā-paya (√ji). The radical vowel is reduced to i in the first four, while the reduplicative vowel comes after instead of before the radical vowel in the fifth : thus á-ji-jñip-at ; á-ti-ṣṭhip-at ; jī-hip-as ; bī-bhiṣ-as, bī-bhiṣ-athās ; *arp-ip-am*⁴ ; *á-jī-jap-a-ta*⁵ (VS.).

Benedictive or Precative.

150. This is a form of the optative which adds an s after the modal suffix and which is made almost exclusively from aorist stems. In the RV. it occurs in the 1. 3. s. and

² Cp. its perfect reduplication : 139, 8.

³ Cp. the perfect reduplication of roots with a + nasal (139, 6).

⁴ Here the p of the suffix is not only retained, but reduplicated.

⁵ The causative of ji conquer from which this aor. is formed, would normally have been jāy-aya. In B. also occurs the form á-jī-jip-ata.

1. pl. active, and in the 2. 3. s. mid. The endings together with the modal suffix are:

Act. s. 1. yā-s-am. 3. yā-s (= yās-s); pl. 1. yā-s-ma.

Mid. s. 2. i-ṣ-ṭhās. 3. i-ṣ-ṭa.

a. The only perfect precativ occurring is the 2. s. mid.: sā-sah-i-ṣ-ṭhās.

b. Of the root aorist nearly thirty precatives are met with in the Saṃhitās. They occur in the act. 1. 3. s., 2. du., 1. 2. pl.; mid. 3. s. (see 148, 4 a). The a aorist and the reduplicated aor. have one precativ form each in the 3. s. mid. (147, 4 and 149, 4). In the s aorist four precativ forms occur in the 2. and 3. s. mid. (see 143, 4).

Simple Future.

151. The stem is formed by adding the suffix syá or (rather less frequently with connecting i) i-ṣyá to the root. As the future sense is often expressed by the subjunctive and sometimes also by the indicative, the future tense is not common in the RV., being formed from only sixteen roots, while the AV. makes it from about thirty-two others, and the TS. forms it from over sixty roots. In V. and B. taken together over one hundred form the future in sya and over eighty that in iṣya. The only derivative verbs that form the future (always with iṣya) are causatives, of which four stems appear, two in the RV. and two in the AV. Roots ending in ṛ always take iṣya, whereas those ending in other vowels generally take sya.

a. Final vowels and prosodically short medial vowels take Guṇa, final ā and medial a remaining unchanged; e. g. ji conquer: je-ṣyá; nī lead: ne-ṣyá; dā give: dā-syá; mih shed water: mek-ṣyá; yuj join: yok-ṣyá; kṛt cut: kart-syá; dah burn: dhak-ṣyá; bandh bind: bhant-syá; bhū be: bhav-iṣyá; sṛ flow: sar-iṣyá; vṛt turn: vart-iṣyá.

a. Causatives, which always take iṣya, retain the present stem, dropping only the final a; thus dhāray-iṣyá (dhṛ support); vāsay-iṣyá (vas wear); dūṣ-ay-iṣyá (duṣ spoil); vāray-iṣyá (vṛ cover).

b. The inflexion of the future is like that of the present of the first conjugation (bhāvāmi). Middle forms occur in the sing. only. The forms met with, if made from kṛ do, would be:

Act. s. 1. kar-iṣyāmi. 2. kar-iṣyāsi. 3. kar-iṣyāti.

Du. 2. kar-iṣyāthas. 3. kar-iṣyātas. Pl. 1. kar-iṣyāmas, -masi. 2. kar-iṣyātha. 3. kar-iṣyānti.

Mid. s. 1. kar-iṣyé. 2. kar-iṣyāse. 3. kar-iṣyāte.

1. Only one subjunctive, the 2. s. act. kar-iṣyās, has been met with in V., and one other, 1. du. mid., not-syāvai (nud push) in B.

2. More than twenty participles occur, of which only four are mid. Examples are:

Act. kar-iṣy-ánt, dhak-ṣy-ánt (√dah); mid. yak-ṣyā-māṇa (√yaj), staviṣyā-māṇa (√stu).

Irregularities.

c. In sū bring forth the future stem is formed with unchanged final vowel, which is moreover accented: sū-ṣya; while the medial a of sah is lengthened: sāk-ṣyā.

Periphrastic Future.

152. There is no certain example of this form of the future in the Samhitās. But such a phrase as anv-āgantā yajñápatir vo átra (TS., VS.) the sacrificer is following after you here may be an example of its incipient use.¹

In B. this future is taken by nearly thirty roots. It is made by using the N. s. of an agent noun in tr (180), to which the present of the verb as be is added in the 1. 2. persons, while in the 3. persons du. and pl. the N. du. and pl. appear. The use of this tense-form is almost limited to the active, only a few isolated examples being found in the middle. Forms occurring, if made from bhū be, would be: Act. sing. 1. bhavitāsmi; 3. bhavitā. Pl. 1. bhavitāsmas; 3. bhavitāras. Mid. sing. 1. 2. bhavitāse. Pl. 1. bhavitāsmahe.

Conditional.

153. This is a past tense of the future meaning would have. Only one example occurs in the Samhitās: á-bhar-iṣya-t (RV. ii. 30²) was going to bear off. This form is very rare in B. also, except in the ŚB. where it is found more than fifty times.

Passive.

154. The passive, which takes the terminations of the middle, differs from the latter only in the forms made from the present stem and in the 3. s. aor. From the middle of verbs of the fourth class it differs in accent only: náh-ya-te binds: nah-yá-te is bound.

The stem is formed by adding accented yá to the root, which appears in its weak form.

1. Final ā mostly becomes ī; e. g. dā give: dī-yá; but it also remains; e. g. jñā know: jñā-yá.

2. Final i and u are lengthened; e. g. ji conquer: jī-yá-te; śru hear: śrū-yá-te.

3. Final ṛ becomes ri; e. g. kṛ make: kri-yá-te.¹

4. Final ṛ becomes īr; e. g. śṛ crush: śīr-yá-te.²

5. Roots ending in a consonant preceded by a nasal, lose the nasal; e. g. añj anoint: aj-yá-te; bandh bind: badh-yá-te; bhañj break: bhaj-yá-te; vañc move crookedly: vac-yá-te; śams praise: śas-yá-te.

¹ The only two roots in which ṛ is preceded by two consonants and which form a passive are str strew and smṛ remember. Their passives do not occur in the Samhitās, but in B. are found stri-yá-te and smar-yá-te.

² The passive of pṛ fill does not occur in the Samhitās, but in B. it is pūr-yá-te (the ṛ being preceded by a labial).

6. Roots liable to Samprasāraṇa (17 note 1) take it; e. g. vac speak: uc-yá-te; vad speak: ud-yá-te; vah carry: uh-yá-te; grah seize: grh-yá-te.

a. Derivative verbs in aya (causatives) drop the suffix while retaining the strong radical vowel. Only one such stem has been noted in the Samhitās: bhāj-yá-te is caused to share (from bhāj-āya causative of bhāj share).

a. The forms of the present indicative passive occurring, if made from hū call, would be:

Sing. 1. hū-yé. 2. hū-yá-se. 3. hū-yá-te. Du. 3. hū-yé-te. Pl. 1. hū-yá-mahe. 3. hū-yá-nte.

b. As regards the moods only two certain subjunctive forms (s. 3. uh-yá-te, bhri-yá-te) and one injunctive (s. 3. sū-ya-ta: sū bring forth) occur. No optative forms occur in the RV. or AV.¹ There are, however, nearly thirty imperative forms occurring in the 2. 3. s. pl. These forms, illustrated by hū call, are: s. 2. hū-yá-sva. 3. hū-yá-tām. Pl. 2. hū-yá-dhvam. 3. hū-yá-ntām.

c. Of the participle over forty examples occur; e. g. hū-yá-māna being called. Of the imperfect only about eight forms have been noted, occurring only in the 3. s. and pl.: á-hū-ya-ta and á-hū-yanta.

Irregularities.

d. tan stretch forms its passive from tā: tā-yá-te². Similarly jan beget becomes jā-ya-te is born, which, however, in form belongs to the radically accented fourth class. mri-yá-te dies (√mr) and dhri-yá-te (√dhr) is steadfast, while passive in form, are intransitive in sense.

Aorist Passive.

155. Outside the present system the passive has no special finite form except in the 3. sing. aor. This is a peculiar middle form (made from about forty-five roots in the Samhitās)¹ which is used with a predominantly passive meaning. When it is formed from verbs with a neuter sense, like gam go, that sense remains unchanged (as in the past passive participle). It is a 3. s. ind. in which the augmented root takes the ending i. The characteristic feature of this form is the strengthening of the root as compared with other middle forms; e. g. á-kār-i beside á-kr-i (1. s. mid.). Prosodically short medial i, u, ṛ take Guṇa, and medial a is normally lengthened; final i, u, ṛ take Vṛddhi, while final ā interposes a y before the ending. The accent of unaugmented forms is always on the root. Examples are: á-ved-i (vid find), á-bodh-i (budh wake), á-darś-i (drś see), á-vāc-i (vac speak); á-śrāy-i (śri resort), á-stāv-i (stu praise), á-kār-i (kṛ do), á-dhā-y-i (dhā put).

¹ But they are met with in the Brāhmaṇas.

² In B. khā-yá-te is formed from khan dig.

More than twenty unaugmented forms are also used injunctively; e. g. śrāv-i let be heard.

Irregularities.

a. 1. The medial a is not lengthened in á-jan-i, the unaugmented jān-i (beside jān-i), and á-vah-i.

2. From the denominative stem jāraya play the lover the unique form jārayā-y-i let him be embraced is formed.

PARTICIPLES, GERUNDS, AND INFINITIVE.

I. Active Participles.

156. The stem of the present (except the reduplicating class), the future, and the aorist active participle is formed with the suffix ant.² The strong stem may be obtained by dropping the i of the 3. pl. ind. act.; e. g. bhāv-ant, kṣip-ánt, ás-yant; duh-ánt, kṛṇv-ánt, bhind-ánt, pri-ṇánt.

² On the declension of participles in ant see 85; on the formation of their fem. stems, 95 a.

Stems of the reduplicating class do not distinguish strong forms because they drop the n: e. g. júhv-at (3. pl. júhv-ati).

The strong stem of the future participle may similarly be obtained by dropping the i of the 3. pl. act.: bhaviṣyánt, kariṣyánt.

The active participle is formed by the root aorist, the a aorist, and the s aorist, from the unaugmented tense stem in the latter two; e. g. vidá-nt, sák-ṣ-ant (sah prevail); and from the weakened or unmodified root in the former; e. g. rdh-ánt, kr-ánt (kr̥ make), gm-ánt (gam go), pánt (pā drink).

a. Irregularities.—In the pres. part. the initial a of as be and the medial a of han slay are lost: sánt (3. pl. sánti), ghn-ánt (3. pl. ghn-ánti); while the n of the suffix is lost in dās-at worshipping and *śās-at*¹ (3. pl. śās-ati). The n is also lost in the s aor. part. of dah burn: dākṣ-at and dhākṣ-at. Whether it was also lost in sákṣ-at, the part. of the same aor. from sah prevail, is uncertain because it is only met with in a weak case.

157. The reduplicated perfect participle is formed from the weak (but uncontracted or unsyncopated) stem to which the suffix vāms is directly added. There are more than fifty such stems. Examples are: cakṛ-vāms, jagan-vāms (gam go), tastabh-vāms (stambh prop), tasthi-vāms (sthā stand), dadṛś-vāms, dad-vāms (dā give), ba-bhū-vāms, vavṛt-vāms, sasa-vāms (san gain), suṣup-vāms (svap sleep).

a. Some half-dozen of these participles are formed by adding the suffix with connecting i to the reduplicated stem contracted to a single syllable: ī-y-i-vāms (i go); ūṣ-i-vāms (vas dwell); *ok-i-vāms*² (uc be pleased); papt-i-vāms (pat fall); saśc-i-vāms (sac follow); in the later Samhitās also ¹ Both dās and śās belong to the root, and not the reduplicating class.

jakṣ-i-vāms (ghas eat).¹ The only certain example of a perf. part. adding the suffix with connecting i to the fully reduplicated stem is viviś-i-vāms (TS.).²

b. A few perfect participles are formed by attaching vāms to the unreduplicated stem: dāś-vāms worshipping, vid-vāms knowing, sāh-vāms prevailing, and perhaps khid-vāms³ oppressing. Similarly formed is mīdh-vāms bountiful, though the root does not occur in independent use. Three unreduplicated roots take connecting i in the later Samhitās: dāś-i-vāms (SV.) worshipping, viś-i-vāms (AV.) entering, varj-i-vāms⁴ (AV.) having twisted.

a. Irregularities.—In seven stems the palatal reverts to the original guttural: cikit-vāms (√cit), jigī-vāms (√ji), ririk-vāms (√ric), ruruk-vāms (√ruc), vivik-vāms (√vic), śūsuk-vāms (√śuc), ok-i-vāms (√uc). The radical vowel is strong in dadā-vāms (AV.), ok-i-vāms, sāh-vāms; while the reduplicative vowel is long in sāsah-vāms and śūśu-vāms (√śū).

II. Middle and Passive Participles.

158. The participles of the future middle, of the present passive, and the present middle of the a conjugation are formed by adding the suffix māna to the stem (which always ends in a); e.g. fut. mid. yakṣyā-māna (√yaj); pres. pass. kriyā-māna (√kr); pres. mid. yāja-māna.

a. Verbs of the second conjugation add the suffix āna to the weak stem in the pres. mid.; e.g. bruv-ānā (√brū), jūhv-āna (√hu), rundh-ānā (√rudh), kr̥ṇv-ānā (√kr̥), pun-ānā (√pū).

a. There are several irregularities in the formation of the middle participles of the root class. 1. The root ās sit optionally takes the anomalous suffix ina: ās-ina beside ās-ānā. 2. The final of the root

² In B. are also found dadṛś-i-vāms and cichid-i-vāms.

³ Occurring only in the voc. khidvas.

duh milk optionally reverts to the original guttural : dúgh-āna beside the regular dúh-āna. 3. A few roots take Guṇa : oh-āná (√ūh), yodh-āná (√yudh), śáy-āna (√śī), stav-āná (√stu). 4. Several of these participles optionally accent the radical syllable instead of the final vowel of the suffix ; e. g. víd-āna beside vid-āná.

159. The Perfect Middle Participle is formed by adding the suffix -āná to the weak form of the stem as it appears before the ending of the 3. pl. mid. re (ire, rire). It is common, more than eighty examples occurring. The following are some of them : ānaj-āná (√añj), ānaś-āná (√amś), ār-āná (√ṛ), īj-āná (√yaj), ūc-āná (√vac), cakr-āná (√kṛ), cikit-āná (√cit), jagm-āná (√gam), tasth-āná (√sthā), tistir-āná (√stṛ), tep-āná (√tap), pap-āná (pā drink), paspaś-āná (√spaś), bhej-āná (√bhaj), yem-āná (√yam), lebh-āná (√labh), vāvas-āná (vas wear and dwell), śísriy-āná (√śri), siṣmiy-āná (√smi), suṣup-āná (√svap).

a. Irregularities.—1. This participle of śī lie has the double anomaly of reduplicating with a and of strengthening the radical syllable :¹ śāśay-āná. 2. The root sah prevail adds the suffix to a reduplicated as well as to a contracted stem : sāsah-āná and seh-āná. 3. The radical vowel of kam love and śam labour is not syncopated : cakam-āná and śāśam-āná. 4. Four of these participles have the intensive accent on the reduplicative syllable : tūtuj-āna², śúśuj-āna, śúśuv-āna (√śū), and śāśad-āna³ (śad prevail).⁴

160. The Perfect Passive Participle is formed by adding, in the great majority of instances, the suffix tá (with or without connecting i) or, far less commonly, the suffix ná (directly) to the root.

² Also normally, but less frequently, accented tūtuj-āná.

³ Cp. the Gk. perf. mid. part. κεκαῖ-μένο-s.

⁴ The first three cannot be accounted intensives because they have not the intensive reduplicative vowel (173, 1). Though the reduplicative vowel of śāśad-āna may be that of either perfect or intensive, the occurrence of the perf. form śāśadūr beside it favours the view that it is a perf. participle.

1. ná, which is taken by primary verbs only, is attached to the (unweakened) root, which ends in a long vowel or one of the consonants d and (rarely) c or j. Before this suffix, ī and ū remain unchanged; ā remains or is reduced to ī or i; ṛ becomes īr or (generally when a labial precedes) ūr; d is assimilated to n; c and j revert to the original guttural. Thus lī cling: lī-ná; dū burn: dū-ná; drā sleep: drā-ṇá; dā divide: di-ná; hā leave: hī-ná; gṛ swallow: gīr-ṇá; mṛ crush: mūr-ṇá; jṛ waste away: jūr-ṇá; bhid split: bhin-ná; skand leap: skan-ná; vraśc cut up: vṛk-ṇá; ruj break: rug-ṇá.

a. Several roots take alternative forms in ta: nun-ná and nut-tá ($\sqrt{\text{nud}}$); vin-ná and vit-tá ($\sqrt{\text{vid find}}$); san-ná and sat-tá ($\sqrt{\text{sad sit}}$); śī-ná and śī-tá ($\sqrt{\text{śyā coagulate}}$); pṛ fill: pūr-ṇá and pūr-tá; ṣṛ crush: śīr-ṇá and śūr-tá; prc mix: -prg-ṇa and prk-tá.

b. The final palatal of prc mix, vraśc cut up and ruj break reverts to the guttural (cp. 160, 1).

2. When tá is added direct the root tends to appear in its weak form: verbs liable to Samprasāraṇa take it; a medial or final nasal is lost; ā is often reduced to ī or i; yā sometimes to ī. Examples are: yā-tá, ji-tá, bhī-tá, stu-tá, hū-tá, kṛ-tá; naṣ-ṭá ($\sqrt{\text{naś be lost}}$), sik-tá ($\sqrt{\text{sic}}$), yuk-tá ($\sqrt{\text{yuj}}$), gū-ḍhá ($\sqrt{\text{guh}}$),¹ dug-ḍhá ($\sqrt{\text{duh}}$), sṛṣ-ṭá ($\sqrt{\text{sṛj}}$); iṣ-ṭá ($\sqrt{\text{yaj}}$), vid-ḍhá ($\sqrt{\text{vyadh}}$), uk-tá ($\sqrt{\text{vac}}$), ū-ḍhá ($\sqrt{\text{vah}}$),² sup-tá ($\sqrt{\text{svap}}$), prṣ-ṭá ($\sqrt{\text{prach}}$); ak-tá ($\sqrt{\text{añj}}$), ta-tá ($\sqrt{\text{tan}}$), ga-tá ($\sqrt{\text{gam}}$); pī-tá (pā drink), sthi-tá ($\sqrt{\text{sthā}}$); vī-tá ($\sqrt{\text{vyā}}$).

a. The root dhā put is doubly weakened in hi-tá beside -dhi-ta. Medial ā is reduced to i in śiṣ-ṭá (śās order). Syncopation and loss of s appear in -g-dha eaten ($\sqrt{\text{ghas}}$).³

b. Excepting the occurrence of the normal form -dāta in the compound tvā́-dāta given by thee, dā give regularly uses the weak pres.

¹ With cerebralization and aspiration of the suffix, loss of the radical final and lengthening of the radical vowel (cp. 62, 69 c).

² With the same changes as in gūḍhá after vah-tá has been reduced by Samprasāraṇa to uh-tá.

³ Cp. p. 170, note 7.

stem dad in forming its past passive participle : dat-tá. The latter is further reduced to -tta in deva-ttá given by the gods, and when combined with certain prepositions : vy-ā-tta opened, pāri-tta given away, prāti-tta given back. The same syncopation appears in the compound participle of dā divide : āva-tta cut off.

c. One root in an and three or four in am retain the nasal and lengthen the vowel : dhvan sound : dhvān-tá; krām stride : krān-tá; śam be quiet : śān-tá; śram be weary : śrān-tá; dham blow has the irregular dhmā-tá and dham-i-tá.

d. A few roots in an have *ā*¹ : khan dig : khā-tá; jan be born : jā-tá; van win : -vā-ta; san gain : sā-tá.

3. i-ta is taken by a considerable number of roots ending not only in conjunct consonants or in single consonants difficult to combine with t, but also in simple consonants, especially sibilants, which present no such difficulty. The root is not weakened (excepting four instances of Samprasāraṇa). Secondary verbs (almost without exception causatives)² take ita exclusively (after dropping aya).³

Examples are : nind-itá, rakṣ-itá; grath-itá, īl-itá, car-itá, jīv-itá; pat-itá, pan-itá; kup-itá, stabh-itá; muṣ-itá; *arp-itá*⁴ (arp-āya cause to go), cod-itá (cod-āya set in motion).

a. The roots taking Samprasāraṇa are : grabh and grah seize : grbh-i-tá and grh-i-tá (AV.);⁵ vakṣ increase : ukṣ-itá; vad speak : ud-itá; śrath slacken : śrth-itá.

161. There is once found in the AV. a perfect passive participle extended with the possessive suffix vant, which gives it the sense of a perfect participle active : aśitā-vant having eaten.⁶

³ In B. jñāpaya, causative of jñā know, forms its part. without connecting i : jñāp-tá.

⁴ Usually (and abnormally) accented ārp-ita.

⁵ With i for ī as in some other forms from this root.

⁶ This type of participle hardly occurs even in the Brāhmaṇas.

162. The Future Passive Participle is in the RV. formed with four suffixes: one with the primary suffix ya, which is common, the rest with the secondary suffixes áy-ya, én-ya, and tv-a, each of which occurs about a dozen times. In the AV. there begin to be used two other gerundives, formed with tavyā and aníya, each occurring twice. All these participles correspond in sense to the Lat. gerundive in -ndus.

1. In the RV. about forty examples of the gerundive in ya occur, and about twenty more in the AV. The suffix is nearly always to be read as ia, which accounts for the treatment before it of final radical vowels. The root, being accented, appears in a strong form excepting a few examples which have the short radical vowel i, u, or ṛ.

a. Final ā coalesces with the initial of ia to e, between which and the following a a phonetic y is interposed: dā give: déya (= dā-i-y-a) to be given.

b. Final ī, ū, ṛ regularly take Guṇa or Vṛddhi, the final element of which always appears as y, v, r, as before a vowel; e. g. lī cling: -lāy-ya; nu praise: nāv-ya; bhū be: bhāv-ya and bhāv-yā future; hū call: hāv-ya; vṛ choose: vār-ya.

c. Medial i, u, ṛ, if followed by a single consonant, may take Guṇa and a may be lengthened; e. g. dviṣ: dvēs-ya hateful; yudh: yódh-ya to be subdued; ṛdh: árdh-ya to be accomplished; mṛj: mārj-ya to be purified; vac: vác-ya to be said; but also gūh-ya to be concealed; -dhr̥ṣ-ya to be assailed; -sād-ya to be seated.

d. A final short vowel sometimes remains unchanged, a t being then interposed: ī-t-ya to be gone; śrú-t-ya to be heard; -kr̥-t-ya to be made; carkṛ̥-t-ya to be praised.

2. The suffix áyya, nearly always to be read áya, is almost restricted to the RV.; e. g. pan-áyya to be admired; vid-áyya to be found; śrav-áyya glorious. It is sometimes attached to secondary stems; to a causative: panay-áyya admirable, spr̥hay-áyya desirable; to a desiderative: di-dhi-ṣ-áyya to be conciliated (✓ dhā); to an intensive: vi-tan-tas-áyya to be hastened.

3. énya (generally to be read énia) is attached to the root, which remains unaltered except when it ends in a vowel: thus dviṣ-én̄ya malignant, yudh-én̄ya to be combatted, dr̥ś-én̄ya worthy to be seen; but vár-én̄ya choiceworthy (vṛ choose). It is once added to an aor. stem: yam-s-én̄ya to be guided (√yam). Secondary verbs also take this suffix; desideratives: didr̥kṣ-én̄ya worthy to be seen, śuśr̥ṣ-én̄ya deserving to be heard; intensives: marmṛj-én̄ya to be glorified, vāvṛdh-én̄ya to be glorified; denominatives: sapar-én̄ya to be adored.

4. tv-a, almost restricted to the RV.¹ and generally to be read tua, is added to the strong form of the root, which is accented. Thus kár-tva to be made, hé-tva to be driven on (√hi), só-tva to be pressed (√su), vák-tva to be said; with connecting i: sán-i-tva to be won; with connecting ī: *bháv-ī-tva*² future.

5. The only two examples in V. (both occurring in AV.) of the gerundive in tavyà, which in both cases is added with connecting i, are jan-i-tavyà to be born and hims-i-tavyà to be injured.³

6. The only examples of the gerundive in anīya (both appearing in the AV.) are upa-jīv-anīya to be subsisted on and ā-mantr-anīya worthy to be addressed.⁴

III. Gerund or Indeclinable Participle.

163. More than 120 examples of the gerund occur in the RV. and AV. It expresses an action which accompanies or more often precedes that of the finite verb. It is formed with the three suffixes tví, tvā, tvāya (all old cases of stems

² With ī instead of i.

³ This gerundive has become not uncommon in B., where it is formed not only from the root, but from secondary stems.

⁴ In B. nearly a dozen examples have been met with.

in tu which is also used to form infinitives) attached to the simple root.

1. The form in tvī, which is almost restricted to the RV.,¹ is the commonest of the three in that Saṃhitā, where fifteen examples occur. It probably represents an old locative of stems in tu. It is as a rule added directly to the root, which has the same form as in the perf. pass. participle in ta. Examples are: kr-tvī having made, ga-tvī having gone, gū-dhvī having hidden, bhū-tvī having become, vṛk-tvī having overthrown (√vṛj), hi-tvī having abandoned (√hā). There are two forms in which the suffix is added with the connecting vowel i: jan-i-tvī having produced and skabh-i-tvī having propped.

2. The suffix tv-ā (an old inst. sing. of a verbal noun in tu) is taken by nine roots in the RV. and about thirty more in the AV. The root has the same form as before the ta of the perf. pass. participle. The forms occurring in the RV. are: pī-tvā (pā drink), bhit-tvā having shattered, bhū-tvā having become, mi-tvā having formed (√mā), yuk-tvā having yoked, vṛ-tvā having covered, śru-tvā having heard, ha-tvā having slain, hi-tvā having abandoned. Some of the forms from the AV. are: iṣ-tvā having sacrificed (√yaj), jag-dhvā having devoured (√jaks), tīr-tvā having crossed (√tṛ), tṛ-dhvā having shattered (√tṛh), dat-tvā having given (√dā), pak-tvā having cooked (√pac), bad-dhvā having bound (√bandh), bhak-tvā having divided (√bhaj), rū-dhvā having ascended (√ruh), vṛṣ-tvā having cut up (√vraśc), sup-tvā having slept (√svap); three take the connecting vowel i: cāy-i-tvā noting (√cāy), hims-i-tvā having injured, grh-i-tvā having seized; a few also are formed from secondary stems in aya (which is retained); e. g. kalpay-i-tvā having arranged.

3. The rarest gerund is that in tvāya, which is formed from only eight roots in the RV.¹: ga-tvāya having gone, jag-dhvāya having devoured, dat-tvāya having given, dr̥ṣ-tvāya having seen, bhak-tvāya having attained, yuk-tvāya having yoked, ha-tvāya having slain, hi-tvāya having abandoned; three more of these gerunds appear in the Yajurveda: kr̥-tvāya having done, ta-tvāya having stretched, vr̥-tvāya having covered.

164. When the verb is compounded the suffix is regularly either yā or tyā. In at least two-thirds of such forms the vowel of the suffix is long in the RV. The root is always accented.

1. yā is added (but never with i) to the root, which has the same form as before tvā, except that final ā and am remain unchanged. Nearly forty roots in the RV. and about thirty more in the AV. form these compound gerunds. Examples from the RV. are: āc-yā bending (= ā-ac-), abhy-ūp-ya having enveloped (✓vap), abhi-krām-ya approaching, abhi-gūr-yā graciously accepting (gr̥ sing), saṃ-gṛbh-yā gathering, ni-cāy-yā fearing, vi-tūr-yā driving forth (✓tṛ), ā-dā-ya taking, ati-dīv-ya playing higher, anu-dṛś-ya looking along, ā-rābh-ya grasping, ni-śād-yā having sat down; from a causative stem: prārp-ya setting in motion (prā-arpaya). Examples from the AV. are: ud-ūh-ya having carried up (✓vah), saṃ-gīr-ya swallowing up (✓gṛ), upa-dād-ya putting in (✓dā), saṃ-bhū-ya combining, ut-thā-ya arising (✓sthā), saṃ-sīv-ya having sewed; from a causative stem: vi-bhāj-ya having apportioned (✓bhaj).

a. Three roots are found in the RV. compounded with adverbs or substantives: punar-dā-ya giving back, mitha-spṛdh-ya vying together, kārṇa-gṛh-ya seizing by the ear, pāda-gṛh-ya grasping by the foot, hasta-gṛh-ya grasping by the hand.

¹ This gerund occurs twice in the AV. and about half a dozen times in B. It is once formed from a causative stem in the ŚB.: spāś-ay-i-tvāya (✓spāś).

165. 2. tyā (nearly always with long vowel in the RV.) is added instead of yā to compound verbs ending in a short vowel;¹ e. g. é-tyā having come (ā-i), abhi-jí-tya having conquered, ā-dṛ-tyā regarding, *apa-mi-tya*² having borrowed, upa-sṛu-tya having overheard; with adverbial or nominal prefix: aram-kṛ-tyā having made ready, akḥkhalī-kṛ-tya shouting, namas-kṛ-tya (AV.) paying homage.

a. The analogy of these verbs is followed by some roots ending in n or m preceded by a, which drop the nasal as in the perf. pass. part.: vi-hā-tyā having driven away (√han), ā-gá-tyā having come (√gam), ud-yá-tya (AV.) lifting up (√yam).

166. The accusative in am of certain verbal nouns, though not yet construed like a gerund in the Saṃhitās, is not infrequently so construed in the Brāhmaṇas and Sūtras. Before the suffix, the root (which is almost always compounded) appears in the form it assumes before the i of the 3. s. aor. pass. (155); e. g. śákhām sam-ā-lámbh-am taking hold of a branch (ŚB.); mahānāgām abhi-saṃ-sār-am running together around a great snake (ŚB.).

IV. Infinitive.

167. The infinitive, all the forms of which are old cases of verbal nouns, acc., dat., abl.-gen., or loc., is very frequent, occurring about 700 times in the RV. Only the acc. and dat. forms are common, but the datives outnumber the acc. in the proportion of 12 to 1 in the RV. and 3 to 1 in the AV. It is a remarkable fact that the infinitive in tum, the only form surviving in Sanskrit, occurs not more than five times in the RV., while the dative infinitive, which in the RV. is more than seven times as common as all the rest put together, has already for the most part disappeared in the Brāhmaṇas.

a. The infinitive is as a rule formed from the root, not being connected with any tense stems or ever showing the distinctions of voice. The forms in dhyai, áse and sáni are, however, not infrequently connected with a present stem; that in dhyai is once formed from a perfect stem, and is also in several instances taken by causative stems. The forms in dhyai and tavái are at once recognizable as infinitives by their abnormal endings; that in sáni, though it has an ordinary case-ending, by its isolated stem-formation. The acc. inf. in tum and am and the abl. gen. inf. show their infinitive character by their power of combining with prepositions and their verbal construction. Some infinitives, however, cannot be distinguished from ordinary cases of verbal nouns: they are not to be regarded as genuine infinitives unless they are isolated case forms or have a verbal construction.

1. Dative Infinitive.

This infinitive¹ ends in e, which with the final ā of a root or stem combines to ai.² It is formed from:

a. roots, about sixty forms occurring. About a dozen are formed from roots ending in long vowels and from one in i, all of them (except an alternative form of bhū) being compounded with prefixes; e.g. parā-dái to give up, pra-hyè to send (\sqrt{hi}); -míy-e to diminish ($\sqrt{mī}$), -bhv-é and bhuv-é to be; -tír-e to cross.

The rest are from roots ending in consonants. About a dozen are uncompounded, as mah-é to be glad, mih-é to shed water, bhuj-é to enjoy, drś-é to see. But the compounded forms are commoner; e.g. -grábh-e to seize, -ídh-e to kindle, -núd-e to thrust, *-přch-e*³ to ask, *-vác-e*⁴ to speak, *-víd-h-e*⁵ to pierce, *-syád-e*⁵ to flow.⁶

² Except śrad-dhé to trust and pra-mé to form, which drop the ā.

⁵ With loss of nasal (\sqrt{syand}).

⁶ In B. have been noted half a dozen infinitives in e from roots

b. verbal nouns derived with nine different suffixes. These in the aggregate are more numerous.

1. Some twenty-five are datives of stems in as; ¹ e. g. áy-as-e to go, cákṣ-as-e to see, car-ás-e to fare, puṣy-ás-e to thrive, bhiy-ás-e to fear, śriy-ás-e to be resplendent.

2. Five or six datives of stems in i are found in the RV., and one or two in other Saṃhitās; tuj-áye to breed, drś-áy-e to see, mah-áy-e to rejoice, yudh-áy-e to fight, san-áy-e to win; grh-aye to seize (K.), cit-áye to understand (VS.).

3. Four or five are datives of stems in ti: iṣ-táy-e to refresh, pī-táy-e to drink, vī-táy-e to enjoy, sā-táy-e to win.

4. More than thirty are datives of stems in tu ² (added to the gunated root, sometimes with connecting i); e. g. át-tav-e to eat, é-tav-e to go, ó-tav-e to weave ($\sqrt{ū} = vā$), kár-tav-e to make, gán-tav-e to go, pá-tav-e to drink, bhár-tav-e to bear away, yás-ṭav-e to sacrifice, vák-tav-e to speak, vás-tav-e to shine, vó-lhav-e to convey (\sqrt{vah}); áv-i-tav-e to refresh, cár-i-tav-e to fare, sáv-i-tav-e to bring forth ($\sqrt{sū}$), sráv-i-tav-e to flow (\sqrt{sru}), háv-i-tav-e to call ($\sqrt{hū}$); jīv-á-tav-e to live, stár-ī-tav-e (AV.) to lay low (\sqrt{str}).

5. More than a dozen are datives of stems in tavá (which is added like tu to the gunated root) and have the peculiarity of being doubly accented; e. g. é-tavái to go, ó-tavái to weave, gán-tavái to go, pá-tavái to drink, mán-tavái to think, sár-tavái to flow; yám-i-tavái to guide, sráv-i-tavái to flow.

ending in consonants, all but one being compounded: drś-é (TS.) to see, prati-dhṛṣ-e to withstand (TS.), pra-mrad-é to crush (SB.), ā-rābh-e to take hold (SB.), ā-sād-e to sit upon (AB.), ati-sṛp-e to glide over (MS.). All these except pra-mrad-é occur in the RV.

¹ Which is generally accented, but about half a dozen examples accent the root.

² The only examples of this infinitive noted in B. are ávitave and stártave.

a. This infinitive is still in regular use in B., where the following examples have been noted : étavái and yátavái to go, kártavái to do, dédiyitavái to fly away, drógdhavái to plot, mántavái to think, mánthitavái to rule, stártavái to lay low, áti-caritavái to transgress, á-netavái to bring, nir-astavái to throw out, pári-staritavái to strew around, sámhvayitavái to call together.

6. There is only one certain example of a dative infinitive from a stem in tyā : i-tyái to go.

7. More than thirty-five are datives (almost restricted to the RV.) of stems in dhyā, which is added to verbal stems ending in a (generally accented) ; e. g. iyá-dhyai to go (\sqrt{i}), gáma-dhyai to go, cará-dhyai to fare, śayá-dhyai to lie ($\sqrt{śi}$), stavá-dhyai to praise (\sqrt{stu}) ; pibá-dhyai to drink ($\sqrt{pā}$), prṇá-dhyai to fill ($\sqrt{pṛ}$), huvá-dhyai to call ($\sqrt{hū}$) ;¹ *vāvrđhá-dhyai*² to strengthen ; *nāśayá-dhyai*³ to cause to disappear, *vartayá-dhyai*³ to cause to turn.

a. Only one of these infinitives has been noted in B. : sāḍhyai to conquer (\sqrt{sah}). In the TS. occurs one example ending in e instead of ai : gamá-dhye to go.

8. Five are datives of stems in man : trá-man-e to protect, dā-man-e to give (Gk. δόμεν-αι), dhár-man-e to support, bhár-man-e to preserve, vid-mán-e (Gk. ῖδ-μεν-αι) to know.

9. Three are datives of stems in van : tur-van-e to overcome (\sqrt{tr}), dā-ván-e (Gk. δοῦναι = δόφεναι) to give, *dhúr-van-e*⁴ to injure.

2. Accusative Infinitive.

This infinitive is formed in two ways.

a. One of them (of which more than a dozen examples occur in the RV. besides several others in the AV.) is made with am added to the weak form of the root, which nearly ¹ The last three are made from regular present stems.

² From the reduplicated perfect stem.

³ From the causative stem, from which about ten such infinitives are formed.

⁴ With interchange of vowel and semivowel : ūr = vr. Cp. 171, 2.

always ends in a consonant (except dhā, mī, tṛ); e.g. sam-ídḥ-am to kindle, sam-pṛch-am to ask, ā-rábh-am to reach, ā-rúh-am to mount, śúbh-am to shine; pra-tír-am to prolong (✓tṛ), prati-dhā-m to place upon, pra-míy-am to neglect (✓mī).

b. The second form which is made from stems in tu (= Lat. supine) is much less common than the datives from the same stems. Only five examples occur in the RV. and about as many others in the AV.; RV.: ó-tum to weave, dā-tum to give (Lat. da-tum), prās-ṭum to ask, prá-bhar-tum to present, anu-prá-voḷhum to advance; AV.: át-tum to eat, kár-tum to make, drás-ṭum to see, yác-i-tum to ask, spárdh-i-tum to contend with; K., VS.: khán-i-tum to dig.

a. The acc. inf. has become nearly twice as frequent as the dat. in B. The form in am is not unusual, while that in tum is quite common.

3. Ablative-Genitive Infinitive.

This infinitive is rare, fewer than twenty examples occurring in the Saṃhitās. It is rather of the nature of a verbal noun than a genuine infinitive. Like the acc. infinitive it is formed in two ways: from a radical (consonant) stem and from a verbal noun in tu. It thus ends either in as or tos; and as each of these endings represents both the abl. and the gen., the cases can only be distinguished syntactically.

a. The as form has the abl. sense almost exclusively. There are six examples of it in the RV.: ā-tṛd-as being pierced, ava-pád-as falling down, sam-pṛc-as coming in contact, abhi-śríṣ-as binding, abhi-śvás-as blowing, ati-ṣkád-as leaping across. There seems to be one certain example of the gen.: ni-miṣ-as to wink.

b. Of the tos form the RV. has six examples in the abl. sense: é-tos and gán-tos going, ján-i-tos being born, ní-dhā-tos putting down, śár-ī-tos being shattered, só-tos pressing, hán-tos being struck. Three examples in the gen. sense are: kár-tos doing, dā-tos giving, yó-tos warding off.

a. The abl. gen. inf. has become as common as the dat. in B.

4. Locative Infinitive.

This form of the infinitive is rare; hardly more than a dozen examples occur even if several doubtful forms are included.

a. Five or six are locatives of radical stems: vy-úṣ-i at the dawning, saṃ-cákṣ-i on beholding, drś-i and saṃ-drś-i on seeing, budh-i at the waking. As these forms, however, have nothing distinctive of the infinitive and govern the genitive only, they are rather to be regarded as ordinary locatives of verbal nouns.

b. From a stem in tar are formed dhar-tár-i to support and vi-dhartár-i to bestow; it is, however, doubtful whether these forms are genuine infinitives.

c. The RV. has eight locatives from stems in san, with a genuine infinitive sense: ne-śaṇ-i to lead, par-śaṇ-i to pass, abhi-bhū-śaṇ-i to aid, śū-śaṇ-i to swell, sak-śaṇ-i to abide (✓sac); with connecting i: tar-ī-śaṇ-i; from present stems: gr-ṇī-śaṇ-i to sing, str-ṇī-śaṇ-i to spread.

DERIVATIVE VERBS.

I. Causatives.

168. This is by far the commonest of the secondary conjugations, being formed from more than two hundred roots in the Samhitās and from about a hundred additional ones in the Brāhmaṇas. Of about 150 causative stems in the RV., however, at least one-third have not a causative, but an iterative sense. The whole formation may indeed originally have had an iterative meaning. This perhaps explains how an iterative formation, the reduplicated aorist, specially attached itself to the causative. The same root occasionally forms both the iterative and the causative, as pat-āya-ti flies about and pāt-āya-ti causes to fly beside the simple verb pāta-ti flies.

The causative is formed by adding the suffix áya to the root, which is usually strengthened.

1. Initial or medial i, u, r, l (if not long by position) take Guṇa; e.g. vid know: ved-áya cause to know; krudh be angry: krodh-áya enrage; ṛd dissolve (intr.): ard-áya destroy; ṛp be pleased: tarp-áya delight; kṛp be adapted: kalp-áya arrange.

a. Several roots, mostly lacking the causative meaning, leave the radical vowel unchanged; e.g. ruc shine: ruc-áya, id. (but roc-áya illumine).

b. Initial or medial a (if not long by position) is lengthened in about thirty roots; e.g. am be injurious: ām-áya suffer injury; naś be lost: nāś-áya destroy.

a. In the following roots the a optionally remains short in the causative: gam go, das waste away, dhvan disappear, pat fly, mad be exhilarated, ram rest; thus pat fly: pat-áya fly about, once cause to fly, and pāt-áya cause to fly.

β. In about twenty-five roots the a always remains short, the causative meaning being mostly absent; e.g. dam control: dam-áya id.; jan beget: jan-áya id.

c. Final i, ū, ṛ take Guṇa or Vṛddhi; e.g. kṣi possess: *kṣay-áya*¹ cause to dwell securely; cyu waver: cyāv-áya shake; bhū be: bhāv-áya cause to become; ghṛ drip: ghār-áya cause to drip; śru hear, jṛ waste away, and sṛ flow have Guṇa as well as Vṛddhi: śrav-áya and śrāv-áya cause to hear; jar-áya and jār-áya wear out, sar-áya and sār-áya cause to flow; ḍṛ pierce has Guṇa only: dar-áya shatter.

d. Roots ending in ā add páya; ² e.g. dhā put: dhā-páya cause to put.

e. The causative retains the suffix throughout the conjugation even outside the present system. Its inflexion is identical with that of the primary verbs of the first conjugation(132). Subjunctive,¹ imperative,² injunctive, imperfect, and present participle forms are common; but the optative is very rare in the active and does not occur at all in the middle. Only four future forms occur in the RV. and the AV.: dūṣay-iṣyāmi I shall spoil, dhāray-iṣyāti will support, vāsay-iṣyāse thou wilt adorn thyself, vāray-iṣyāte will shield. In the perfect only one periphrastic form (139, 9 a) occurs: *gamayām cakāra*³ (AV.). Reduplicated aorist forms are connected with only six causative stems (p. 175, a. 3). There are also three iṣ aorists formed from the causative stem: vyathay-īs from vyath-āya disturb; ailay-īt from il-āya quiet down; dhvanay-īt from dhvan-āya envelope.⁴

f. Of nominal derivatives the following are examples: a pres. pass. part. bhāj-yá-māna; a few perf. pass. participles: ghār-i-tá smeared, cod-i-tá impelled, veś-i-tá caused to enter; a few gerundives in āyya (162, 2): trayay-āyya to be guarded; panay-āyya admirable; sprhay-āyya desirable; ten infinitives in dhyai: nāśayá-dhyai to destroy, &c. (p. 193, 7); four gerunds in the AV.: arpay-i-tvā having delivered up, kalpay-i-tvā having arranged, sāday-i-tvā having set down, sraṁsay-i-tvā letting fall.

Irregularities.

1. Three causatives in the AV. shorten the ā before paya: jñā-pāya cause to know, śra-pāya cook, sna-pāya bathe beside snā-pāya (RV.).

2. Four roots in vowels other than ā, that is, in ṛ or i, take paya; ṛ go: ar-pāya cause to go; kṣi dwell: kṣe-pāya cause to dwell (beside

² The 2. s. in tāt occurs in both V. and B.; and from vṛ cover occurs the unique 2. pl. vāraya-dhvāt in K.

³ In B. such forms are still uncommon except in the ŚB., where they are numerous.

⁴ In B. desideratives are formed from about a dozen causative stems; e. g. di-drāpay-iṣa desire to cause to run.

kṣay-āya) ; ji conquer and śri resort substitute ā for i : jā-pāya cause to conquer, śrā-pāya raise.¹

3 The root bhī fear forms the quite anomalous causative stem bhī-ṣ-āya frighten.

4. The roots pā drink and pyā swell add āya with interposed y : pāy-āya cause to drink and pyāy-āya fill up. This is probably to be explained by the assumption that the original form of these roots was pai and pyai.

5. The vowel of grabh grasp is weakened by Samprasāraṇa : gr̥bh-āya grasp ; while that of duṣ spoil is lengthened : dūṣ-āya, id. The root pṛ fill, owing to its initial labial, forms its causative with medial ū for ā : pūr-āya fulfil.

II. Desideratives.

169. The desiderative, which is the least common of the secondary conjugations, is formed from the root with an accented reduplicative syllable and the suffix sa. This sa is never added with a connecting i in the RV., nor, with the single exception of pí-pat-i-sa, in the AV., jí-jīv-i-sa in the VS., and jí-gam-i-sa in the TS.² The desiderative is formed from fewer than sixty roots in the Samhitās and from more than thirty additional ones in B. It is inflected like verbs of the first conjugation (132).

The accent being on the reduplicative syllable, the root as a rule remains unchanged ; e. g. dā give : dí-dā-sa desire to give ; bhid cleave : bí-bhit-sa ; nī lead : ní-nī-sa ; guh hide : jú-guk-sa (62 a, 69 a) ; bhū be : bú-bhū-sa ; dr̥ś see : dí-dr̥k-sa. But

1. final i and u are lengthened, and r̥ becomes īr ; e. g. ji conquer : jí-gī-sa ; śru hear : śú-śrū-sa ; kṛ make : cí-kīr-sa.

2. final ā is in three roots reduced (cp. 171, 3) to ī and in one to i: gā go: jí-gī-ṣa (SV.); pā drink: pí-pī-ṣa (beside pí-pā-ṣa); hā go forth: jí-hī-ṣa; dhā put: dí-dhi-ṣa (beside dhít-sa).

² In B. about a dozen other roots form their desiderative stem thus ; e. g. ci-kram-i-sa, ji-grah-ī-sa, vi-vid-i-sa (vid know), &c.

Special Rule of Reduplication.

170. The characteristic reduplicative vowel is i, which appears in all stems except those formed from roots containing ũ (which reduplicate with u); e. g. gyā overpower: jí-gyā-ṣa; miś mix: mí-mik-ṣa; prī love: pí-prī-ṣa; vṛt turn: ví-vṛt-sa; but guh hide: jú-guk-ṣa; bhū be: bú-bhū-ṣa.

Irregularities.

171. 1. Five roots with medial a followed by m or n lengthen the vowel: gam go: jí-gām-ṣa; han smite: jí-ghām-ṣa (66 A 2); man think lengthens the reduplicative vowel also: mí-mām-ṣa (66 A 2); van win and san gain drop the nasal: ví-vā-ṣa and sí-ṣā-ṣa.

2. dhvṛ injure, after interchange of semivowel and vowel to ur, lengthens its u: dú-dhūr-ṣa. Cp. p. 193, note 4.

3. Half a dozen roots containing ā or a shorten the radical syllable by a kind of syncopation: dā give and dhā put lose their vowel: dí-t-sa (= dí-d[ā]-sa) beside dí-dā-ṣa; dhít-t-sa (= dí-dh[ā]-sa) beside dí-dhi-ṣa; dabh harm, labh take, śak be able, sah prevail lose their initial radical consonant and their vowel: *dí-p-sa*¹ (= dí[da]bh-sa), *líp-sa*² (= lí[la]bh-sa), śík-ṣa (= śí[śa]k-ṣa), sík-ṣa, with lengthened reduplicative vowel (= sí[sa]k-ṣa).³

a. āp obtain and ṛdh thrive (treated as ardh) contract the reduplicated i with the radical initial to ī: īp-sa (= ī-āp-sa) and īrt-sa (= ī-ardh-sa).

4. In ci note, cit perceive, ji conquer, han slay, the radical initial reverts to the original guttural: cí-kī-ṣa, cí-kit-sa, jí-gī-ṣa, jí-ghām-ṣa.

² Also līpsa in B.

³ In B. are similarly formed dhīkṣa (dah burn), pītsa (pad go), ripśa (rabh grasp).

5. ghas eat changes its final s to t (66 B 1): jī-ghat-sa (AV.) be hungry.

6. Three roots reduplicate with a long vowel: tur cross (= tṛ): tū-tur-ṣa; bādh oppress: bī-bhat-sa; ¹ man think: mī-mām-sa.² On the other hand the reduplicative syllable is reduced in the desiderative fyaj sacrifice and naś attain by loss of the initial consonant: ī-yak-ṣa (for yī-yak-ṣa) and ī-nak-ṣa (for nī-nak-ṣa). In one form from āp obtain the reduplication is dropped altogether: ap-santa.

a. The two roots with initial vowel aś eat and edh increase form their desiderative stem with the reduplicative vowel in the second syllable: aś-iś-i-ṣa (B.) and ed-idh-i-ṣa (VS.).

In the inflexion of the desiderative all the moods of the present system, besides the imperfect, are represented, though not fully; and of present participles more than twenty-five examples are met with. The forms occurring, if made from vī-vā-sa desire to win, would be:

Present ind. act. sing. 1. vīvāsāmi. 2. vīvāsasi.
3. vīvāsati. Du. 2. vīvāsathas. 3. vīvāsatas. Pl. 1. vīvāsāmas. 3. vīvāsanti.

Mid. sing. 1. vīvāse. 2. vīvāsase. 3. vīvāsate.
Pl. 1. vīvāsāmahe. 3. vīvāsante.

Subj. act. sing. 1. vīvāsāni. 3. vīvāsāt. Pl. 3. vīvāsān.

Inj. act. sing. 3. vīvāsat. Mid. pl. 3. vīvāsanta.

Opt. act. sing. 1. vīvāseyam. 3. vīvāset. Pl. 1. vīvāsema. Mid. sing. 1. vīvāseya.

Impv. act. sing. 2. vīvāsa and vīvāsātāt. 3. vīvāsatu.
Du. 2. vīvāsataṁ. 3. vīvāsatām. Pl. 2. vīvāsata.
3. vīvāsantu.

Part. act. vīvāsant. Mid. vīvāsamāna.

Impf. act. sing. 2. āvivāsas. 3. āvivāsat. Pl. 3. āvivāsan.

a. Outside the present system only two desiderative verbal forms¹ have been met with, two iṣ aorists in the AV.: á-cikits-ís and írts-ís.² Three participial forms have also been noted: the perf. pass. part. *mīmāṃs-i-tá*³ and the gerundives didṛkṣ-éṇya worthy to be seen and śúśrūṣ-éṇya worthy to be heard.⁴ Finally, over a dozen verbal adjectives formed with u from the desiderative stem occur in the RV., e. g. iyakṣ-ú wishing to sacrifice. They have the value of a pres. part. governing a case.

III. Intensives (Frequentatives).

172. These verbs are meant to convey intensification or frequent repetition of the action expressed by the simple root. They are common, being formed from over ninety roots in the Samhitās, and about twenty-five others in the Brāhmaṇas. The formation is restricted to roots with initial consonants, nor is it ever applied to derivative verbs.

The stem, of which a peculiar form of strong reduplication is characteristic, has two forms. The primary type, which is by far the commonest, adds the personal endings immediately to the reduplicated stem (accented on the first syllable in strong forms: App. III. 12 e). It is inflected, in both active and middle, like a verb of the third or reduplicated class (132); e. g. nij wash: 3. sing. né-nek-ti. The secondary form, which is rare, adds accented yá in the same way as the passive (154) to the reduplicated stem. It is conjugated in the middle only, like the passive; e. g. vij tremble: ve-vij-yá-te trembles violently.

² In B. iṣ aorists from half a dozen desiderative stems occur; e. g. aips-it, aips-iṣ-ma, a-jighāms-ís, a-mīmāṃs-iṣ-ṭhās. One or two simple and periphrastic futures also occur in B., as titikṣ-iṣyate (tij be sharp), didṛkṣ-i-tāras (drś see).

³ In B. also jijyūṣ-i-tá (jiv live), dhikṣ-i-tá (dah burn), śúśrūṣ-i-tá (śrū hear).

⁴ In B. also līps-i-tavya (labh take), didhyās-i-tavyā (dhyā think), jijñās-yā (jñā know).

a. The primary intensive optionally inserts ī between the root and terminations beginning with consonants. This ī is found in the 1. 3. s. ind. act. and the 2. 3. s. impv. and impf. act.; e.g. ind. cākaś-ī-mi, cākaś-ī-ti; impv. 2. cākaś-ī-hi. 3. jōhav-ī-tu; impf. 3. ā-johav-ī-t.

Special Rules of Reduplication.

173. 1. Radical ĩ and ũ are reduplicated with the respective Guṇa vowels e and o; e.g. diś point: de-diś; nī lead: ne-nī; śuc shine: śo-śuc; nu praise: no-nu; bhū be: bo-bhū.

2. Radical ǣ and ǣ̃ are reduplicated in two ways:

a. More than a dozen roots with medial ǣ (ending in mutes or sibilants, and one in m) as well as three with final ṛ, reduplicate with ā: kāś shine: cā-kaś; pat fall: pā-pat; gam go: jā-gam; gr wake: jā-gr; dṛ split: dā-dṛ; dhr hold: dā-dhr; also cal stir: cā-cal.

b. All other roots containing ṛ (dṛ and dhr also alternatively) and those with medial a followed by r, l, or a nasal, reduplicate with ar, al, an or am; e.g. kṛ commemorate: car-kṛ and car-kir; kṛṣ drag: car-kṛṣ; dṛ split: dar-dṛ and dar-dir (beside dā-dṛ); dhr hold: dar-dhr (beside dā-dhr); hrṣ be excited: jar-hrṣ; car move: car-car; phar scatter: par-phar; cal stir: cal-cal (beside cā-cal); gam go: jañ-gam (beside jā-gam); jambh chew up: jañ-jabh; damś bite: dan-daś; tan thunder: tañ-stan (66 A 2).

3. Over twenty roots with final or penultimate nasal, ṛ or ū, interpose an ī (or i if the vowel would be long by position) between the reduplicative syllable and the root; e.g. gam go: gan-ī-gam (but gan-i-gm-at); han slay: ghan-ī-ghan; krand cry out: kan-i-krand and kan-i-krad; skand leap: kan-i-ṣkand and can-i-ṣkad; bhr bear: bhar-ī-bhr; vṛt turn: var-ī-vṛt; nu praise: nav-ī-nu; dhū shake: dav-i-dhv; dyut shine: dav-i-dyut.

Irregularities.

174. The radical vowel is shortened in roots with medial ā : kāś shine : cā-kaś ; bādh oppress : bā-badh ; vāś bellow : vā-vaś. In a few roots containing ṛ or r the radical syllable varies ; thus gr swallow : jar-gur and jal-gul ; car move : car-cur beside car-car ; tṛ cross : tar-tur beside tar-tar.

a. The root ṛ go reduplicates with al : al-ar (dissimilation) ; gāh plunge, with a nasal : jañ-gah ;¹ bādh oppress, with its final mute :² bad-badh (beside bā-badh) ; *bhr*³ bear and bhur quiver, with a palatal : jar-bhr, jar-bhur ; bhur and gur greet reduplicate u with a : jar-bhur, jar-gur.

b. Roots with initial guttural, if interposing ĩ before the root, reduplicate with the same guttural ; thus krand cry out : kan-i-krand ; gam go : gan-ĩ-gam ; han (for ghan) slay : ghan-i-ghan ; kr make has both *kar-i-kr*⁴ and car-i-kr ;⁴ skand leap has both kan-i-škad and can-i-škad.

A. The forms of the primary type that occur, if made from nij wash, would be the following :

1. Pres. ind. act. sing. 1. nénej-mi, nénej-ĩ-mi. 2. nének-ši. 3. nének-ti, nénej-ĩ-ti. Du. 2. nenik-thás.⁵ 3. nenik-tás. Pl. 1. nenij-más, nenij-mási. 3. nenij-ati.

Mid. sing. 1. nenij-é. 3. nenik-té. Du. 3. nenij-áte. Pl. 3. nenij-ate.

2. Subj. act. sing. 1. nenij-āni.⁶ 2. nenij-a-s. 3. nenij-a-t. Du. 1. nenij-ā-va. Pl. 1. nenij-ā-ma. 3. nenij-a-n.

Mid. du. 3. nenij-aite. Pl. 3. nenij-a-nta.

² This is the only example of such reduplication.

³ This root shows the same peculiarity in the perfect (139, 4).

⁴ The intensive of this root occurs only in the participle karikr-át and carikr-át.

⁵ The only form occurring in this person has the interposed ĩ and strong radical syllable : tar-tar-ĩ-thas.

⁶ The only form actually occurring in this person is jañghán-āni (accented like the subj. of the reduplicating present).

3. Opt. No certain forms occur in the RV. and only two active forms in other Saṃhitās: sing. 3. veviṣ-yāt (AV.), pl. 1. jā-gr-yāma (VS., MS., TS.), jāgrī-yāma (TS.). The 3. s. mid. nenij-īta occurs in K.

4. Impv. About twenty active (but no middle)¹ forms occur. Made from jāgr these would be: sing. 2. jāgr-hí, jāgar-ī-hi, jāgr-tát. 3. jāgar-tu, jāgar-ī-tu. Du. 2. jāgr-tám. 3. jāgr-tám. Pl. 2. jāgr-tá.²

5. Of the participle over forty stems occur, about two-thirds of them being active. Examples are: act. kánikrad-at, cékit-at, jánghan-at, jāgr-at, dárdṛ-at, nānad-at, róruv-at; mid. járbhur-āṇa, dándaś-āna, yóyuv-āna (yu join), sársr-āṇa.

6. Impf. Fewer than thirty forms of this tense occur, only three of them being middle. Examples of the persons occurring are:

Act. sing. 1. á-cākaś-am. 2. á-jāgar. 3. á-dardar, á-var-ī-var, á-johav-ī-t; dáv-i-dyot, náv-ī-no-t. Du. 2. á-dardṛ-tam. Pl. 1. marmṛj-má. 3. á-carkṛṣ-ur, á-dardir-ur, á-nonav-ur.

Mid. sing. 3. á-dediṣ-ṭa, á-nan-na-ta.³ Pl. 3. mármṛj-ata.

a. Outside the present system few intensive forms occur. There are four act. perfect intensives with present sense: sing. 1. jāgara. 3. jāgār-a (ἐγρήγορε), dauidhāv-a (dhū shake), nónāv-a (nu praise); also dodrāv-a (dru run: TS.), yoyāv-a (yu separate: MS.), leláy-a (lī be unsteady: MS.). There is besides the perf. part. jāgr-vāms. A causative intensive appears once in the participial form var-ī-varj-áyant-ī twisting about.⁴

² The RV. has no impv. forms with interposed ī, but the AV. and VS. have a few in the 2. 3. s., as cākaś-ī-hi, johav-ī-tu. A few examples occur in B. also.

³ From nam bend, with loss of nasal (a = sonant nasal), for á-nan-nan-ta.

⁴ In B. also occur the causative stems from intensives jāgar-áya and dādhār-áya (dhṛ hold).

B. The forms of the secondary type, which is indistinguishable from a passive in form, number only about a dozen. They occur only in the 2. 3. s. and 3. pl. ind. pres., besides a few participles. They are :

Pres. ind. sing. 2. co-ṣkū-yá-se (sku tear). 3. dediṣ-yá-te, ne-nī-yá-te, marmṛj-yá-te, rerih-yá-te, vevij-yáte, vevī-yáte (vī enjoy). Pl. 3. tartūr-yánte (\sqrt{tr}), marmṛj-yánte.

Part. carcūr-yá-māṇa (\sqrt{car}), nenī-yá-māṇa, marmṛj-yá-māṇa.

IV. Denominatives.

175. These verbs, inflected like those of the a conjugation (132), are derived, almost exclusively with the suffix ya, from nouns, to which they express some such relation as 'be or act like', 'treat as', 'turn into', or 'use as', 'wish for'. More than a hundred denominative stems occur in the RV. and about fifty in the AV.¹ The suffix is normally accented, but a certain number of undoubted denominatives, such as mantrá-ya utter a prayer, arthá-ya make an object of, desire, have the causative accent, thus forming a connecting link between the regular denominatives and the causatives.

A. Before the suffix ya :

1. final *i*² and u are lengthened ;³ e. g. kavī-yá be wise (kaví), rayī-yá desire wealth (rayí) ; ṛjū-yá be straight (ṛjú) ; vasū-yá desire wealth (vásu) ; śatrū-yá play the enemy (śátru), be hostile.

2. final a usually remains unchanged, but is often lengthened ; it is sometimes changed to ī ; and even dropped ;

¹ Denominatives are less common in B. ; thus the AB. has hardly twenty, and the ŚB. about a dozen.

² Except arāti-yá act like an enemy, be hostile beside arāti-yá, and jani-yá seek a wife beside jani-yá ; gātu-yá set in motion (gātú).

³ In the Pada text the ī is usually, the ū is always, written short.

e. g. jāra-yá treat like a lover, deva-yá serve the gods, *ṛtā-ya*¹ act according to sacred order; aśvā-yá desire horses, ṛtā-yá observe sacred order (beside ṛtā-ya), yajñā-yá sacrifice; adhvarī-yá perform the sacrifice (adhvará), *putrī-yá*² desire a son (putrá), *rathī-yá*² drive in a car (rátha); adhvar-yá perform sacrifice (beside adhvarī-yá), taviṣ-yá be mighty (taviṣá: beside taviṣī-yá).

3. final ā remains unchanged; e. g. gopā-yá act as herdsman, protect, *pṛtanā-yá*³ fight. Final o, in the only example occurring, becomes av: gav-yá desire cows.

4. Consonant stems, the commonest being those in as, nearly always remain unchanged; e. g. bhiṣaj-yá play the physician, heal; ukṣaṇ-yá act like a bull (ukṣán); vadhar-yá hurl a bolt (vádhar); su-manas-yá be gracious (su-mánas); taruṣ-yá engage in fight (tárus).

a. A few denominative forms are made without a suffix, direct from nominal stems, but nearly always beside regular denominatives in yá; e. g. bhiṣák-ti from bhiṣáj act as physician beside bhiṣaj-yá; and the forms taruṣe-ma, taruṣa-nte, taruṣa-nta (from táruṣa conqueror) beside taruṣ-yá.

Inflexion.

B. All the tenses, moods, and participles of the present system are represented. If made from namas-yá pay homage the forms occurring would be:

1. Pres. ind. act. sing. 1. namasyāmi. 2. namasyási. 3. namasyāti. Du. 2. namasyáthas. 3. namasyátas. Pl. 1. namasyá-masi, -mas. 2. namasyátha. 3. namasyánti.

Mid. sing. 1. namasyé. 2. namasyáse. 3. namasyáte.

² The Pada text in this and nearly every example has ī-yá. Even the Saphitā text of the AV. has putrī-yá.

³ The ā may also be dropped: pṛtan-yá fight against.

Du. 2. namasyéthe. 3. namasyéte. Pl. 1. namasyá-mahe. 3. namasyánte.

2. Subj. act. sing. 1. namasyá. 2. namasyás. 3. namasyát. Du. 3. namasyátas. Pl. 3. namasyán.

Mid. sing. 2. namasyáse. 3. namasyáte.

3. Inj. act. sing. 2. namasyás. Pl. 3. namasyán.

4. Opt. act. sing. 2. namasyés. 3. namasyét. Pl. 1. namasyéma.

Mid. sing. 3. namasyéta.

5. Impv. act. sing. 2. namasyá. 3. namasyátu. Du. 2. namasyátam. 3. namasyátām. Pl. 2. namasyáta. 3. namasyántu.

Mid. sing. 2. namasyásva. Pl. 2. namasyádhvam. 3. namasyántām.

6. Part. act. namasyánt. Mid. namasyámāna.

7. Impf. act. sing. 2. ánamasyas. 3. ánamasyat. Du. 3. namasyátām. Pl. 3. ánamasyan.

Mid. sing. 3. ánamasyata. Du. 2. ánamasyethām. Pl. 3. ánamasyanta.

a. The only finite forms occurring outside the present system are four aorists. Two are injunctives: 2. s. ūnáy-is (RV.) from ūnaya leave unfulfilled (ūna); 2. pl. pāpay-iṣ-ṭa (TS.) from pāpaya lead into evil (pāpa); and two indicatives: 3. s. ásaparyait (AV.) has worshipped (an irregular form, probably = á-sapary-it); 3. pl. á-vṛṣāy-iṣ-ata (VS.) they have accepted.¹ The TS. has also the three fut. participles kaṇḍūy-iṣyánt about to scratch, meghāy-iṣyánt about to be cloudy, śikāy-iṣyánt² about to drip, with the corresponding perf. pass. part. kaṇḍūyitá, meghitá, śikitá.³

² In B. also occurs the future gopāy-iṣyati.

³ In B. there are also a few other past pass. participles and a few gerunds.

CHAPTER V

INDECLINABLE WORDS

Prepositions.

176. Two classes of prepositions have to be distinguished. The first comprises the genuine or adverbial prepositions. These are words with a local sense which, primarily used to modify the meaning of verbs, came to be connected independently with the cases governed by the verbs thus modified. They show no signs of derivation from inflexional forms or (except tirá́s and purá́s) forms made with adverbial suffixes. The second class has been called adnominal prepositions because they are not compounded with verbs, but govern cases of nouns only. They almost invariably end in case terminations or adverbial suffixes.

1. Adverbial Prepositions.

There are fourteen or (if sám is included) fifteen genuine prepositions which, when used independently of verbs, define the local meaning of cases. They are almost entirely restricted to employment with the acc., loc., and abl. As their connexion with the abl. is only secondary, the genuine prepositions appear to have been originally connected with the acc. and loc. only. As a rule these prepositions follow, but also often precede, their case.

1. The accusative is exclusively taken by ácha towards, áti beyond, ánu after, abhí towards, práti (Gk. πρωτί) against, and tirá́s across (cp. Lat. trans).

a. pári (Gk. περί) around takes the acc. primarily, but secondarily and more frequently the abl. in the sense of from (around).

b. úpa to (with verbs of motion) takes the acc. primarily, and less frequently the loc. in the sense of beside, upon, at.

2. The locative is exclusively taken by ápi (Gk. ἐπί) upon and primarily by ádhi upon, antár (Lat. inter) between, á on, in, at, to, purás before.

a. ádhi takes the abl. secondarily and less commonly in the sense of from (upon).

b. The last three secondarily take both abl. and acc.; purás does so without change of meaning.

antár with abl. means from (within); with acc., between.

á with acc. means to, expressing the goal with verbs of motion. With the abl., if following,¹ it means from (on); if preceding, up to.²

3. The ablative seems to be used once or twice independently with áva in the sense of down from.

2. Adnominal Prepositions.

177. These prepositions, being adverbs in origin, govern oblique cases (except the dat.) independently. Several of them govern the genitive and the instrumental, cases that are practically never connected with the genuine prepositions in the Samhitās. In the following list these prepositions are grouped under the cases which they accompany:

1. Acc.: adhás below (also with abl. or gen.), antará between, abhí-tas around, upári above, beyond, parás beyond (also with abl., more often inst.), parí-tas around (AV.), sanitúr apart from.³

2. Instr.: sahá with, sākám with, sumád with, smád with; avás below (also abl.), parás outside (also acc. and abl.).

3. Abl.: adhás below (also acc. and gen.), avás down from

¹ It sometimes also precedes the abl. in this sense.

² This is almost the only use of á in B.; in C. it means both from and up to.

³ In B. several adverbial instrumentals expressing situation or direction govern the acc.: ántareṇa between, ávareṇa below, pāreṇa beyond; úttareṇa to the north of, dákṣiṇena to the south of.

(also instr.), āré far from (also gen.), ṛté without, parás apart from (also acc. and inst.), purá before, bahir-dhá from out, sanutár far from.

4. Gen.: purás-tād in front of.¹

5. Loc.: sácā (in association) with, beside, at, in.

Adverbial Case-forms.

178. Many case-forms of nominal and pronominal stems, often not otherwise in use, are employed as adverbs. Examples of all the cases appear with adverbial function.

1. Nom.: prathamá-m firstly, dvitīya-m secondly. Such adverbs were originally used in apposition to the verbal action.

2. Acc.: these adverbs find their explanation in various meanings of the case. They represent (a) the cognate acc.; e. g. bhūyas more, and comparatives in taram added to verbal prefixes, as vi-tarám (kram) (stride) more widely; (b) the appositional acc.; e. g. nāma by name, rūpám in form, satyám truly; (c) the acc. of direction; e. g. ágram (i) (go) to the front of, before, ástam (gam) (go) home; (d) the acc. of distance and time; e. g. dūrám a long way off, far; náktam by night, sāyám in the evening, nityám constantly, pūrvam formerly.

a. There are also some acc. adverbs derived from obsolete nominal stems, as āra-m sufficiently, nū-nám now; others from pronominal stems, as adás there, i-dám here, now, kí-m why?, yád when.

3. Instr.: adverbs with the ending of this case (sometimes pl.) are formed from substantives, adjectives, and pronouns. They usually express manner or accompanying circumstances, as sáhas-ā forcibly, návyas-ā anew, ená in this way; also not infrequently extension of space or time, as ágreṇa in front, aktú-bhis by night, dív-ā by day.

a. The substantive instrumentals are chiefly formed from feminines in ā not otherwise used, as ṛtayā in the right way, naktayā by night.

b. The adjective instrumentals are formed from stems in a and a few in c; e.g. uccā and uccāis on high, paścā behind, madhyā in the midst, sánais slowly; prāc-ā forwards. There are also several anomalous feminines from stems in u and one or two in ī; e.g. āśu-y-ā swiftly, raghu-y-ā rapidly, sādhu-y-ā straight, urviy-ā far.

c. The pronominal instrumentals are formed from stems in a and one in u; e.g. anā thus, amā at home, ayā thus, kayā how?, ubhayā in both ways; amu-y-ā in that way.

4. Dat.: the adverbial use of the dat. is rare: aparāya for the future (from ápara later), vārāya according to wish (vāra choice).

5. Abl.: these adverbs are seldom formed from substantives, as ārāt from a distance, āsāt from near; or from pronouns, amāt from near, āt then, tāt thus, yāt as far as; but they are fairly often formed from adjectives, as uttarāt from the north, dūrāt from afar, paścāt from behind, sanāt from of old, sākṣāt visibly.

6. Gen.: such adverbs are very rare: aktós by night, vāstós in the morning.

7. Loc.: ágre in front, astam-iké at home, āké near, āré afar, ṛté without, dūré afar; aparīṣu in future.

Adverbs formed with Suffixes.

179. The suffixes more or less commonly used in the formation of adverbs may be grouped under the senses expressed by the instr., abl., and loc. cases.

1. Instr.: thā forms adverbs of manner especially from pronominal stems: á-thā and more commonly (with shortened vowel) á-tha then, i-t-thā thus, imá-thā in this manner, ka-thā how?, tá-thā thus, yá-thā in which manner, anyá-thā otherwise, viśvá-thā in every way; ūrdhvá-thā upwards, pūrvā-thā formerly, pratnā-thā as of old; ṛtu-thā regularly, nāmā-thā by name; evā-thā just as.

α. tham is similarly used in it-thām thus and ka-thām how?

dhā forms adverbs of manner from numerals or cognate words: eka-dhā singly, dvī-dhā in two ways, kati-dhā how many times, puru-dhā variously, bahu-dhā and viśvā-dhā in many ways, śaśva-dhā again and again. It also forms adverbs from a few nouns, adverbs, and pronouns: priya-dhā kindly, mitra-dhā in a friendly way; bahir-dhā outward; ā-dhā then, a-d-dhā (thus =) truly. The same suffix, with its vowel shortened, forms sa-dha (in one way =) together, which appears as the first member of several compounds, and as an independent word assumes the form of sahā with.

β. The suffix ha probably also represents original dhā in i-hā here (Prākṛit i-dhā), kú-ha where? viśvā-ha and viśvā-hā always, sama-ha in some way or other.

va, expressing similarity of manner, forms the two adverbs i-va like, as, and e-vā (often e-vā) thus. vam appears in e-vām thus, the later form of evā.

vat forms adverbs meaning like from substantives and adjectives; e. g. manu-vát like Manu; purāṇa-vát, pūrva-vát, pratna-vát as of old.

śas forms adverbs of manner with a distributive sense: śata-śas by hundreds, sahasra-śas by thousands, śreṇi-śas in rows; ṛtu-śas season by season, deva-śas to each of the gods, parva-śas joint by joint, manma-śas each as he is minded.

s forms two or three multiplicative adverbs: dvī-s twice, trī-s thrice. It also appears in a few other adverbs: adhā-s below, avā-s downwards; dyú-s (from dyu day) in anye-dyú-s next day and ubhaya-dyú-s on both days.

2. Abl.: tas forms adverbs in the ablative sense from pronouns, nouns, and prepositions; e. g. ā-tas hence, amú-tas thence, i-tás from here, mat-tás from me; dakṣiṇa-tás from the right, hṛt-tás from the heart; abhí-tas around, pari-tas round about. These adverbs are sometimes equivalent to ablatives; e. g. áto bhūyas more than that.

tāt (an old abl. of ta that) forms adverbs with an abl. sense (sometimes merging into the loc.); e. g. adhás-tāt below; ārát-tāt from afar; paścá-tāt from behind; purás-tāt in or from the front; prāk-tāt from the front.

3. Loc.: as forms adverbs chiefly of a local or temporal sense: tir-ás across, par-ás beyond, pur-ás before; sa-dív-as and sa-dy-ás to-day, śv-ás to-morrow, hy-ás yesterday; also mith-ás wrongly.

trā or tra forms adverbs with a local sense, mostly from pronominal or cognate stems: á-tra here, anyá-tra elsewhere, viśvá-tra everywhere; asma-trā among us, sa-trā in one place, dakṣiṇa-trā on the right, puru-trā in many places, bahu-trā amongst many; deva-trā among the gods, martya-trā among mortals, śayu-trā on a couch.

α. These adverbs are sometimes used as equivalents of locatives, e. g. hāsta á dakṣinatrā in the right hand.

dā forms adverbs of time almost exclusively from pronominal roots: i-dā now, ka-dā when? ta-dā then, ya-dā at what time, sá-dā and sarva-dā always.

β. dam occurs beside dā in sá-dam always; and dā-nīm, an extended form of dā, in i-dā-nīm now, ta-dā-nīm then, viśva-dā-nīm always.

γ. There are also various miscellaneous adverbs, mostly of obscure origin, formed with other suffixes of rare occurrence; e. g. pur-á before, mith-u wrongly.

Conjunctive and Adverbial Particles.

180. aṅgá emphasizes a preceding word (sometimes separated from it by short particles like hí and īm) in such a way as to express that the action especially or exclusively applies to that word, = just, only, else; e. g. yó aṅgá just he who; yád aṅgá just when, just because; tvám aṅgá thou only; kím aṅgá how else, why else?

a. In B. aṅgá never has this meaning; but it sometimes there begins a sentence with an adhortative sense, accentuating the verb: aṅgá no yajñám vyācákṣva pray explain the sacrifice to us (MS.).

átra sometimes occurs as the correlative to yád when; e. g. viśve yád asyām raṇáyanta devāḥ, prá vo 'tra sum-nám aśyām when all the gods shall rejoice in it, then may I obtain your favours.

átha, a collateral form of ádha, occurs chiefly in the more recent hymns of the RV., and entirely supplants the older doublet in the later Vedas. Connecting sentences and clauses it expresses a temporal or logical sequence. It may generally be translated by (and) then, (and) so; when there is a contrast, especially after a negative, it is equivalent to but. It often corresponds to a yádā when or hí since, as, in the antecedent clause. With very few exceptions átha begins the sentence or clause. Examples are: marúdbhir, indra, sakhyám te astu, áthemá vísvāḥ pṛtanā jayāsi be friends with the Maruts, O Indra, then thou shalt win all these battles (viii. 96⁷); huvé vām, átha má (= mā á) gatam I call you, so come to me (viii. 10⁵); yádéd ádevīr ásaḥiṣṭa māvā, athābhavat kévalaḥ sómo asya when he had overcome the godless wiles, Soma became exclusively his (vii. 98⁵); mákir neśan, mákīm riṣan, mákīm sám śāri kévaṭe, áthāriṣṭā-bhir á gahi let none be lost, let none suffer harm, none incur fracture in a pit, but come back with them uninjured (vi. 54⁷). From B.: pátim nú me púnaryuvāṇam kurutam, átha vām vakṣyāmi make my husband young again, then I shall tell you (SB.); ahám durgé hántā_ity, átha kás tvám iti I am called the slayer in danger, but who are you? (TS.).

a. átha is also occasionally used after gerunds (which are equivalent to an antecedent clause): sáubhāgyam asyai dattváya_átha_ástaṁ ví páretana having wished her luck, then go home (x. 85³⁸). This use is common in B., where it also occurs after present participles and locatives absolute.

b. átha in the sense of also connects substantives, but this use represents an abridged sentence; e. g. imé sómāso ádhi turváśe, yádau, imé káṇveṣu vām átha these Somas are beside Turvaśa, beside Yadu, (they are) also beside the Kaṇvas for you (viii. 9¹⁴). From B. : idám hí pitá_ evá_ ágré 'tha putró 'tha páutraḥ for here first comes the father, then the son, then the grandson (ŚB.).

c. In B. átha also connects the verbs of a compound relative clause : yásya pitá pitāmahāḥ pūṇyaḥ syād, átha tán ná prāpnuyāt whose father and grandfather are pious, but who cannot attain to this (TS.).

átho (= átha u) generally means and also, moreover : arvāváto na á gahy átho, śakra, parāvátaḥ come to us from near, and also, O mighty one, from afar (iii. 37¹¹). From B. : sām inddha á nakhébhyo 'tho lómabhyaḥ he kindles himself completely up to his nails and also his hair (ŚB.).

a. In B. átho sometimes has the sense of but also, e.g. té vái dvé bhavataḥ . . . átho ápi trīṇi syuḥ there are two of them, but there may also be three (ŚB.).

ádha occurs in the RV. only, and almost exclusively, as compared with átha, in the earlier hymns. Like the latter it means then, expressing both a temporal and a logical sequence ; when there is a contrast, but. ádha...ádha both... and ; ádha dvitá and that particularly ; ádha nú just now ; now at last ; and even ; ádha sma especially then. Unlike átha it is never used with u.

ápi meaning also, even generally precedes the word it emphasizes : yó gopá ápi tám huve he who is the herdsman, him too I call (x. 19⁴) ; oṣadhīr bāpsad agnīr ná vāyati, púnar yān táruṇīr ápi Agni tires not of chewing plants, returning even to the young ones (viii. 43⁷). From B. : tād dhaitád ápy ávidvāṃsa āhuḥ even those who do not know say this (ŚB.) ; adyápi even to-day (AB.).

áram is an adverb meaning suitably, in readiness. Sometimes used like an adjective, it is construed with the dative ; e.g. távāñ ayám pátave sómo astu, áram mánase yuvá-bhyām such let this Soma be (for you) to drink, according to (your) mind for you two (i. 108²) ; sāsmai_ áram it is ready for him. In combination with kṛ it means serve, prepare (anything) for, with gam, serve, with bhū, accrue (to any one) suitably or sufficiently, always taking the dative.

a. ālam, the form in which the preceding word appears in B., is there often similarly used; e. g. sá nālam āhutyā āsa nālam bhakṣāya it was not fit for offering, nor fit for consuming (ŚB.).

āha in the RV. and AV. emphasizes a preceding word whether it be verb, substantive, pronoun, adjective, adverb, or preposition. Its sense may generally be expressed by surely, certainly, indeed, just, or merely by stress. It also appears after other emphasizing particles such as íd, ghéd, utó, im. Examples of its use are: kvāha where pray? (x. 51²); náha not at all (i. 147³); yásyāha śakráḥ sávan-eṣu rányati in the pressings of whomsoever the mighty one rejoices (x. 43⁶).

In B. this use of āha is still found. But here it generally occurs in the first of two slightly antithetical sentences, the verb of the first being then nearly always accented, while the antithesis in the second sentence is either not expressed at all, or is indicated by the particles átha, u, or tú; e. g. párācy āha devébhyo yajñám váhaty arvācī manuṣyān avati turned away it takes the sacrifice to the gods; turned hither it advances men (ŚB.). Sometimes (in MS. and TS.) āha is thus used with the first of two vā's; e. g. kásya váhedám śvó bhavitá kásya vā this will to-morrow belong either to the one or the other (MS.).

á (otherwise a preposition) appears in V. fairly often emphasizing, in the sense of completeness, words expressive of number or degree, or sometimes even ordinary adjectives and substantives; e. g. trír á diváh three times each day (i. 142³); kó vo vārṣiṣṭha á, narah who is the very mightiest of you, heroes? (i. 37⁶); prá bodhayā púramdhiṃ jārā á sasatīm iva awake the wise man, just as a lover a sleeping maiden (i. 134³).

ád (originally an abl. of the pronoun a = from or after that) is used as an adverb expressing sequence of time = thereupon, then, often as a correlative to yád, yadā or yádi when, sometimes to the relative when equivalent to those conjunctions: yadéd áyukta harítaḥ sadhásthād ád rátri vāsas tanute as soon as he has yoked his steeds from their stall, then night spreads her garment (i. 115⁴); ádihā yó víśvā bhúvanābhy ávardhata, ád ródasī jyótiṣā váhnir átanot now (who =) when he surpassed all beings, then the charioteer overspread the two worlds with light (ii. 17⁴).

a. It sometimes connects words and clauses in the sense of and, moreover: asáu ca yá na urvárā ád imám tanvaṃ máma that field of ours and this my body (viii. 91⁶); yád, indra, áhan prathamajám áhinām, án māyínām ámināḥ prótá māyáḥ when, O Indra, thou didst slay the firstborn of the serpents and then didst bring to nought the wiles of the wily (i. 32⁴).

b. It is sometimes used with interrogatives, when it means then, pray: kím ád ámatraṃ sakhyám how mighty then is the friendship? (iv. 28⁶).

c. Unless used with interrogatives, ád almost invariably begins the Pāda.

d. ád is often followed by íd, when it means just then, then at once, then more than ever.

íti thus is used with verbs of speaking and thinking, which have sometimes to be supplied. The particle generally concludes the speech and is followed by the verb: yá índrāya sunāvāma íti áha who says 'we will press Soma for Indra' (iv. 25⁴); néndro asti íti néma u tva āha 'Indra does not exist' one and another says (viii. 100³). Less commonly the verb precedes: jyeṣṭhá āha camasá dvā karā íti the eldest said 'I will make two cups' (iv. 33⁵). Very rarely both íti and the verb precede the speech: ví pṛchad íti mātáraṃ, ká ugráḥ he asked his mother, 'who are the strong ones?' (viii. 77¹). The verb is occasionally omitted: tváṣṭā duhitré vahatúṃ kṛṇoti íti idám víśvaṃ bhúvanam sám eti 'Tvāṣṭṛ prepares a wedding for his daughter' (thinking) thus this whole world comes together (x. 17¹). Thus a principal sentence as direct speech is used with íti where in other languages a subordinate sentence would be employed.

1. In B. the use of íti is much the same, only that íti regularly follows and seems seldom to be omitted; the verbs of saying and thinking, too, with which it is employed, are more numerous: táthā íti devá abruvan 'yes', said the gods (SB.).

2. There are in B. also some additional uses :

a. Very often the quotation is only an appellative that may be expressed by inverted commas: yāms tv étād devā ādityā itī ā-cākṣate whom they call thus: 'the divine Ādityas' (ŚB.).

b. Sometimes itī is used at the end of an enumeration to express that it forms a well-known aggregate: etad vai śiraḥ samṛddham yasmin prāṇo vāk cakṣuḥ śrotram itī that is a complete head in which are breath, speech, eye, ear (KB.).

c. The particle is also often used in a special sense with reference to a ritual act to indicate how it is done: itī āgre kṛṣati ātha itī ātha itī ātha itī ātha itī (ŚB.) so he first draws the furrow, then so, then so, then so, then so (= as you see).

d. Sometimes a conjunction is introduced before the quotation that ends with itī, but without changing the construction: sā rtām abravīd yāthā sārvasv evā samāvad vāsāni itī (MS.) he swore that 'I will dwell with all equally' (= that he would).

itthā primarily means so: gāntā nūnām . . yāthā purā itthā as before, so come ye now (i. 39⁷); satyām itthā truly so (viii. 33¹⁰). Secondarily it comes to mean (just so as it should be =) truly: kṛṇóti asmai váriṇo yā itthā indrāya sómam uśaté sunóti he (Indra) gives ease to him that truly presses Soma for Indra who desires it (iv. 24⁶). In this sense the word is sometimes used like an adjective: itthā sākhibhyaḥ for (those who are truly =) true friends (iii. 32¹⁶).

id (n. of the pron. stem i, Lat. i-d) is a very common particle in the RV., is much less frequent in the AV., and is comparatively rare in B.¹ It emphasizes preceding words of all kinds, including the finite verb (which it accents), and may usually be rendered by just or stress only, sometimes by even; e. g. tād in náktam tād id dívā máhyam āhuḥ this is what they tell me by night, this by day (i. 24¹²); syāma id indrasya śārmaṇi may we be in Indra's care (i. 4⁶); ádha smā no maghavañ carkṛtād it then especially think of us, O Bounteous One (i. 104⁵); sadṛśir adyā sadṛśir id u śvāḥ alike to-day, alike even to-morrow (i. 123⁸). When the verb is compound, the particle regularly follows the preposition, not the verb itself: ulūkhalā-sutānām āva id v, indra, jalgulah gulp eagerly down, O Indra, the drops shed by the mortar (i. 28¹).

a. In B. the particle is similarly used: nā tā it sadyò 'nyāsmāi āti diśet he should not assign (just those =) the same (cows) to another on the same day (ŚB.); tāthā in nūnām tād āsa now thus it came to pass (ŚB.).

iva is an enclitic particle with two uses :

1. It means as if, as, like in abbreviated similes in apposition, never introducing a clause like yāthā. It follows the word with which comparison is made ; if the comparison consists of several words, the particle generally follows the first, less commonly the second. The comparison is usually complete, but not infrequently it is only partially expressed. This employment of iva is very common in V., but comparatively rare in B. Examples of this use are: dūré cit sán talid ivāti rocase even though far away, thou shinest brightly as if near at hand (i. 94⁷); tāt padām paśyanti divīva cākṣur ātatam they see that step like an eye fixed in heaven (i. 22²⁰); sā naḥ pitā iva sūnāve āgne sūpāyanó bhava as such be accessible to us, O Agni, as a father to his son (i. 1⁹); dviṣo no āti nāvā iva pārāya take us across our foes as [across the ocean] in a ship (i. 97⁷); tābhī rājānam parigrhya tiṣṭhati samudra iva bhūmim with these he keeps embracing the king, as the sea the earth (AB.).

2. It modifies a statement not intended to be understood in its strict sense, meaning as it were. It chiefly follows adjectives, adverbs, prepositions or verbs. This use of iva is rare in V., but very common in B. Examples are: ihā iva śṛṇve I hear close at hand as it were (i. 37³); tād, indra, prā iva vīryam cakārtha that heroic deed, O Indra, thou didst perform (as it were =) quite pre-eminently (i. 103⁷); yā prā iva nāśyasi who (as it were =) almost losest thyself (i. 146¹); yādi tán nā iva hāryatha if ye are not quite pleased with that (i. 161⁸). From B.: tāsmāt sā babhrukā iva hence he (is as it were=) may be called brown (ŚB.) ; rebhati_iva he seems to chatter (AB.) ; tán na sárva iva_ abhiprá padyeta not exactly every one should have access to that (ŚB.) ; upári_iva vái tát yád ūrdhvám nábhēḥ above may be called what is higher than the navel (ŚB.).

īm (an old enclitic acc. of the pron. root i) occurs in V. only, and is almost restricted to the RV.

1. It is generally employed as an acc. sing. of all genders = him, her, it, sometimes even as an acc. du. or pl. It either takes the place of a noun, or prepares for a following noun, or is accompanied by other pronouns (tám, yám, enam, enān) ; e. g. á gachanti_īm ávasā they come to him with aid (i. 85¹¹) ; á_īm āśúm āśáve bhara bring him, the swift, to the swift (i. 4⁷) ; tám īm hinvanti dhītáyaḥ him devotions impel (i. 144⁵) ; yád īm enāñ usató abhy ávarṣīt (vii. 103³) when it has rained upon them that longed (for rain).

2. īm also appears as a generalizing particle with relatives (whoever), with yád (whenever), with interrogatives (who, pray?), with kím caná (nothing at all) ; e. g. yá īm bhāvanti ājáyaḥ whatever conflicts take place (vii. 32¹⁷) ; ká īm vyāktā nárah who, pray, are the radiant men ? (vii. 56¹).

u is an enclitic particle, often written ū where the metre requires or favours a long syllable, especially in the second syllable of a Pāda, before a single consonant. It often appears contracted to o (cp. 24) with a preceding a or ā (mostly the final of particles or prepositions, also of the pron. eṣá, sometimes of verbal forms). It has two main uses in the RV. :

1. It is employed deictically with verbs and pronouns.

a. With verbs it expresses the immediate commencement of an action : with a present = now, already ; with a past tense = just ; with an imperative, injunctive, or optative used in an impv. sense = at once ; sú is here very often added, ū sú being = instantly. When the verb is accompanied by a preposition, the particle regularly follows the latter. Examples of its use are: úd u tyám jātávedasam devám vahanti ketávaḥ his beams now bear aloft the god that knows all creatures (i. 50¹); ábhūd u bhāḥ the light has just arisen (i. 46¹⁰); tápa u śv āgne ántarāñ amitrān burn instantly, O Agni, our neighbouring foes (iii. 18²).

a. This use of u with verbal forms does not seem to be found in B.

b. It emphasizes deictic pronouns, which may then be rendered by stress, and interrogative pronouns, when it may be translated by pray; e. g. ayám u te, sarasvati, vásiṣṭho dvārāv ṛtasya subhage vy āvaḥ this Vasiṣṭha has opened for thee, O bountiful Sarasvatī, the two doors of sacrifice (vii. 95⁶); ká u śravat who, pray, will hear? (iv. 43¹).

a. In B. this use is very rare with deictic pronouns, but not infrequent with interrogatives; e. g. idám u no bhaviṣyati yádi no jeṣyánti this at least will remain to us, if they conquer us (TS.); kím u sá yajñéna yajeta yó gām iva yajñám ná duhitá what sort of sacrifice, pray, would he offer if he were not to milk out the sacrifice like a cow? (MS.).

2. The particle u is used anaphorically to connect sentences, when a word (usually the first) is repeated in the second, in the sense of also; e. g. trír náktam yāthás, trír u, aśvinā, dívā thrice by night ye come, thrice also, O Áśvins, by day (i. 34²); tvám trātá tvám u no vṛdhé bhūḥ thou be our protector, thou, too, be for our increase (i. 178⁵). The repeated word need not always have the same form: yó no dvéṣṭy ádharah sás padīṣṭa, yám u dviṣmās tám u prāṇó jahātu may he who hates us fall downward; whom also we hate, him too let his breath forsake (iii. 53²¹). The u sometimes appears in both sentences, sometimes in the first only: vayám u tvā dívā suté, vayám náktam havāmahe we call thee by day to the pressed Soma, we also by night (viii. 64⁶).

a. It is sometimes used without referring back definitely, but simply adding some similar quality or activity with reference to the same thing = and also, and; e. g. sá devó devān prāti paprathe pṛthú, víśvéd u tá paribhūr bráhmaṇas pátih he, the god, has extended himself widely to the gods, and he, Lord of Prayer, embraces all this universe (ii. 24¹¹).

b. It also, in the same sentence, expresses a contrast = on the contrary, or, more frequently, with the demonstrative tá corresponding to the relative yá = again, in return; e. g. striyaḥ satís táñ u me pumsá āhuḥ those who are women, them on the contrary they speak of to me (as) men (i. 164¹⁶); yó adhvaréṣu hótā . . tám u námobhir á kṛṇudhvam him who is priest at sacrifices, in return bring hither with devotions (i. 77²).

a. In B. the anaphoric use is common, prevailing chiefly in the ŚB.; e. g. tásmād vá indro 'bibhet, tásmād u tváṣṭābibhet of that Indra was afraid, of that also Tvaṣṭr was afraid (MS.).

a. The demonstrative here often refers back with u to previous statements: utó pañcāvattām evá bhavati : páñkto yajñāḥ, páñktaḥ paśúḥ, pañcartávaḥ samvatsarásya : eṣá u pañcāvattásya sampát : but it is also divided into five parts : the sacrifice is fivefold, cattle are fivefold, the seasons of the year are five : this is the sum of what is divided into five parts (ŚB.). Similarly used are the phrases tád u ha smāha with reference to this he used to say, tád u hovāca with reference to this he said ; tád u tátā nā kuryāt that one should not do thus.

β. A slight contrast is expressed by u in the second sentence: yádi nāśnāti pitṛdevatyò bhavati, yády v aśnāti devān áty aśnāti if he does not eat, he becomes a worshipper of the Manes, but if he does eat, he eats before the gods (ŚB.).

γ. Used in combination with kím, u expresses a climax in the second clause = how much more: manuṣyā in nvá úpastirṇam ichánti, kím u devá yéṣāṃ návāvasānam even men wish for something spread out, how much more the gods whose is a new dwelling (TS.).

utá in the RV. means and, connecting two or more words or sentences.

a. The particle commonly couples two words; e. g. yáḥ . . pṛthivím utá dyām éko dādhāra who alone has supported heaven and earth (i. 154⁴). When there is an enumeration of more than two objects, utá comes after the last; e. g. ádite, mítra, váruṇa utá O Aditi, Mitra, and Varuṇa (ii. 27¹⁴). When a word is repeated from the beginning of a clause, utá (like u) follows the repeated word: tríḥ saubhagatvám trir utá śrávāṃsi naḥ thrice (grant) us prosperity and thrice fame (i. 34⁵).

b. When utá connects a sentence with a preceding one, it is placed at the beginning : eténāgne bráhmanā vāvṛdhasva . . utá prá neṣy abhí vásyo asmán with this prayer, O Agni, strengthen thyself, and lead us onward to greater fortune (i. 31¹⁸).

c. utá...utá means both...and ; utá vā or ; utá vā...utá vā either...or ; e. g. utá idānīm bhágavantaḥ syāma utá prapitvá utá mādhye áhnām both now may we be fortunate and at eventide and at midday (i. 41⁴) ; samudrád utá vā divás pári from the ocean or from heaven (i. 47⁶) ; yá ápo divyá utá vā srávanti khanítṛmāḥ either the waters that are celestial or that flow in channels (i. 49²).

a. In B. utá does not mean and, but also, even, emphasizing the assertion generally and not (like ápi) a single notion in the sentence : utá yádi itāsur bhávati jīvaty evá even when his breath is gone, he still lives (TS.). Even when preceding a substantive utá seems to refer to the whole statement : utá mátsya evá mátsyam gilati it is also the case that one fish devours another (ŚB.).

B. With the optative utá expresses that an action might after all take place : utá evām cid deván abhí bhavema after all we might thus overcome the gods (ŚB.).

b. utá...utá in B. (as well as in V.) means both...and : utá ṛtáva utá paśáva iti brūyāt he should say 'both the seasons and the animals' (ŚB.).

γ. utá is regularly the first word in the sentence except that kím or forms of tá or yá precede it : tásmād utá bahúr apaśúr bhavati therefore even though rich he becomes cattleless (ŚB.).

utó (= utá u) in the RV. means and also : utó no asyá uṣáso juṣéta hí and may he also be pleased with us this morning (i. 131⁶).

a. In B. utó has the sense of but also or also : āhavanīye havíṃṣi śrapayeyuḥ . . . utó gārhapatya evá śrapayanti they should cook the oblation on the Āhavanīya fire, but they also cook it on the Gārhapatya (ŚB.).

evá has two uses in the RV. and the AV. :

1. At the beginning of sentences or clauses it means thus, referring either to what precedes or follows ; e. g. evāgnír gótamebhir astoṣṭa thus Agni has been praised by the Gotamas (i. 77⁵) ; evā tám āhur : índra éko vibhaktá thus they speak of him : 'Indra is the one dispenser' (vii. 26⁴).

It often appears as the correlative of yáthā as: yáthā ná púrvam áparo jáhāty, evá, dhātar, áyūṃṣi kalpayaiṣām as the later abandons not the earlier, so, Creator, arrange their lives (x. 18⁵). With the impv. evá = so, then: evá vandasva váruṇam bṛhántam (viii. 42²) then praise the lofty Varuṇa (who has done these great deeds).

2. As an emphasizing particle following the word on which stress is laid, evá may be variously rendered just, quite, alone, &c., or by stress; e. g. tám evá him only; éka evá quite alone; átraivá just here; svayám evá quite spontaneously, jātá evá scarcely born, ná evá not at all.

a. In B. the first of the above uses has entirely disappeared (evám here taking the place of evá), while the second is extremely common. The particle follows all kinds of words requiring emphasis for any reason; this is especially the case when a word is repeated; e. g. yám ágre 'gnīm hotráya právr̥ṇata, sá prádhanvad, yám dvitíyam právr̥ṇata, sá prá evá adhanvat the Agni whom they first chose for the priesthood, perished; he whom they chose the second time, likewise perished (ŚB.). When two notions are connected by way of contrast or otherwise, evá may follow either the first or the second; e. g. amúm evá devá upáyan, imám ásurāḥ (ŚB.) the gods inherited that world (heaven), the Asuras this one (the earth); sómo yuṣmákam, vág evāsmákam (let) Soma (be) yours, Vāc ours (ŚB.).

evám thus occurs only once in the RV. (as correlative to yáthā as) and in the AV. not at all with yáthā, but only as an adverb with the verb vid know: yá evám vidyát he who may possess such knowledge.

In B. evám is very common, having two uses:

1. It is correlative to yáthā as, being often accompanied by a form of the same verb as the latter; e. g. yáthā vái parjányah sūvr̥ṣṭim várṣaty, evám yajñó yájamānāya varṣati as Parjanya rains heavily, so the sacrifice rains for the sacrificer (TS.). When the second verb is omitted, yáthā...evám is equivalent to iva; e. g. té devá abhy āsr̥jyanta yáthā vittim vetsyámānā evám the gods rushed up like those wishing to obtain property (ŚB.).

2. It accompanies verbs as an adverb, especially in the very frequent phrase yá evám véda he who possesses such knowledge; utá evám cin ná labheran after all they will thus not touch it (ŚB.).

kam appears both as an accented and an unaccented particle. The former use is found in both V. and B., the latter in the RV. only.

1. a. kám as an adv. with the full meaning well (equivalent to the Vedic śám) appears in B. only; e. g. kám me 'sat may it be well with me (ŚB.); it also occurs in a negative form: á-kam bhavati he fares not well (TS.).

b. kám has the same meaning attenuated after datives (generally at the end of a Pāda) either of persons = for the benefit of (dat. commodi) or of abstract nouns (final dative); e. g. yuvám etám cakrathuḥ síndhuṣu plavám taugryāya kám ye two have placed that ship in the waters for the benefit of the son of Tugra (i. 182^v); tvám devāso amṛtāya kám papuḥ thee the gods have drunk for the love of immortality (ix. 106^s); samānám añjy añjate śubhé kám (vii. 57³) with the same hue they adorn themselves in order to shine (well). From B.: kásmai kám agnihotrám hūyata iti for whose benefit is the Agnihotra offered? (MS.); tējase kám pūrṇámā ijjate for the sake of splendour the full moon sacrifice is offered (MS.).

2. The unaccented kam occurs in the RV. only excepting one independent passage of the AV. It always appears as an enclitic following the particles nú, sú, hí. It means willingly, gladly, indeed, but the sense is generally so attenuated as to be untranslatable. nú kam appears with the inj., impv., subj., ind., also in relative clauses; e. g. áso nú kam ajáro vārdhāś ca be unaging and grow (x. 50^v). sú kam appears with the imperative only: tiṣṭhā sú kam, maghavan, mǎ párā gāḥ pray stand still, bounteous god, go not further (iii. 53²). hí kam generally appears with the ind. (occasionally omitted), sometimes with impv. or subj.: rājā hí kam bhúvanānām abhiśrīḥ for he indeed is the king who rules over beings (i. 98¹).

kím (n. of kí = ká) has two uses. In the first place it means why? e. g. kím u śréṣṭhaḥ kím yáviṣṭho na ájagan why has the best, why has the youngest come to us? (i. 161¹). It is also a simple interrogative particle (equivalent to a mark of interrogation); e. g. kím me havýám áhrṇāno juṣeta would he, free from anger, enjoy an oblation of mine? (vii. 86²); kím rájasa enā paró anyád ásti is there anything else beyond the welkin? (AV. v. 11⁵).

a. In B. kím is similarly used. With following u it here adds a climax in a second sentence = how much more (see u); with following utá and the optative it means why after all; e. g. kím utá tvareran why, after all, should they hasten? (ŚB.).

kíla, an uncommon particle in V., meaning indeed, certainly, strongly emphasizes (in RV. and AV.) the preceding word (noun, pronoun, adjective, and the negative ná); e. g. svādúṣ kíla ayám (vi. 47¹) sweet, indeed, is this (Soma); tādítṇā sátrum ná kíla vivitse then thou didst find no foe at all (i. 32⁴).

a. In B. the use is similar; e. g. kṣiprám kíla śtrṇuta (ŚB.) quickly, then, spread (the barhis). But here kíla usually follows other particles, vái or (ha) vāvá: eṣá vái kíla haviṣo yāmaḥ this, indeed, is the course of the sacrifice (ŚB.); tava ha vāva kíla bhagava idam Sir, this belongs to you only (AB.).

kuvíd, a pronominal interrogative particle, introduces sentences which, though apparently independent, are treated as dependent, since the verb (except twice in the RV.) is regularly accented. This use seems to have arisen from the particle's having been employed as an elliptical expression of doubt such as might be rendered by 'I wonder (whether)'; e. g. tám, indra, mádam á gahi kuvín nv ásyā tṛpnávaḥ come, Indra, to this carouse (to see) whether you shall enjoy it (iii. 42²); kuvít sómasya ápām iti hare I, indeed, drunk Soma (x. 119¹) = (I wonder) whether I have drunk Soma.

a. In B. kuvíd is similarly used; e. g. kuvín me putráṁ ávadhīt has he actually killed my son? (ŚB.); kuvít tūṣṇím áste does he indeed sit silent? (ŚB.).

khálu indeed, in truth, does not occur at all in the AV., and only once in the RV., where it emphasizes an imperative: mitráṃ kṛṇudhvāṃ khálu pray, conclude friendship (x. 34¹⁴).

a. In B. the particle is common. It is rarely used alone, but often with other particles.

a. It appears alone with the impv., subj., or ind.; e.g. átra khálu ramata here, pray, remain (ŚB.); ṛdhnávat khálu sá yó maddevatyāṃ agnīm ādādhātai he indeed shall prosper who shall establish a fire consecrated to me (TS.); asmākāṃ evā₁idāṃ khálu bhūvanam to us alone indeed this world belongs (ŚB.).

b. After the particles u or átho and before or after vái, it emphasizes the word preceding the combined particles; e.g. tád u khálu mahā-yajñó bhavati thus, indeed, the great sacrifice arises (ŚB.).

a. átho khálu is used either to express an (usually preferred) alternative = or else, or rather, but surely rather; or to introduce an objection; e.g. vaiśvadevām iti brūyād, átho khálu aindrām iti brūyāt 'for all gods' one should say, or else one should say 'for Indra' (TS.); dikṣitena satyam eva vaditavyam; atho khalv āhuḥ: ko 'rhati manuṣyaḥ sarvaṃ satyaṃ vaditum iti an initiated man should speak the truth only; now they make the objection: 'what man can speak the whole truth?' (AB.).

β. vái khálu can only be distinguished from vái alone as an emphatic vái. But khálu vái in the TS. and AB. has the special use of introducing a second causal protasis after a first beginning with simple vái, the conclusion then following with evá; e.g. prājāpatyó vái pūruṣaḥ; prajāpatiḥ khálu vái tāsya veda: prajāpatim evá svéna bhāgadheyéna upa dhāvati now man comes from Prajāpati; again Prajāpati knows about him: so he approaches Prajāpati with the portion (of the sacrifice) belonging to him (TS.). This use occasionally occurs even though the preceding clause does not begin with vái.

gha is an enclitic particle, almost restricted to the RV. Generally occupying the second place in the Pāda, it is with few exceptions metrically lengthened to ghā. It emphasizes the preceding word, which is nearly always either the negative ná, or a pronoun (demonstrative or personal), or a verbal preposition, the meaning being variously rendered by just, only, very, or merely stress. It emphasizes a noun only twice and a verb only once in the RV.: tr̥tīye ghā sāvane at least at the third Soma libation (i. 161⁸); uśānti ghā té amṛtāsa etát those immortals desire this (x. 10³).

ca (Gk. τε, Lat. -que) and is an enclitic conjunction used to connect both words and sentences. It regularly follows an accented word, and when it adds a clause, the first word of that clause.

1. ca connects substantives (including pronouns and numerals) and adverbs; e.g. mitráṃ huve várūṇaṃ ca I invoke Mitra and Varuṇa (i. 2⁷); maghāvāno vayāṃ ca the patrons and we (i. 73⁸); śatām ékaṃ ca a hundred and one (i. 117¹⁸); adyā nūnāṃ ca to-day and now (i. 13⁶). In a few passages (but never in B.) the ca follows the first word instead of the second: náktā ca . . uśásā night and morning (i. 73⁷).

a. ca...ca are used much in the same way; e.g. giráyaś ca dyāvā ca bhūmā the mountains and heaven-and-earth (i. 61¹⁴); divás ca gṃás ca of heaven and of earth (i. 37⁶); asmāñ ca tāñś ca us and them (ii. 1¹⁰); náva ca navatīṃ ca nine and ninety (i. 32¹⁴); á ca párá ca cárantam moving hither and away (i. 164³¹).

Similarly in B.: devás ca ásurās ca gods and Asuras (ŚB.); ṣaṣṭís ca trīṇi ca śatāni sixty and three hundred; purástāc ca upáriṣṭāc ca from before and from behind.

β. ca...ca sometimes also express a contrast: náktā ca cakrúr uśásā vírūpe; kṛṣṇāṃ ca várūṇaṃ aruṇāṃ ca sám dhuḥ they have made night and morning of different aspect: they have put together the black colour and the ruddy (i. 73⁷).

Similarly in B.: ubháyaṃ grāmyāṃ ca āraṇyaṃ ca juhōti he sacrifices both: what is tame and what is wild (MS.).

a. A peculiar use of ca in the RV. is to add a second vocative in the form of a nominative; e.g. vāyav indrás ca . . á yātam O Vāyu and Indra, come (i. 2⁶).

b. Another peculiar use of ca, both in V. and B., is to add one noun (nearly always in the nom.) to another which has to be supplied; e.g. á yád indrás ca dádvahē when we two, (I) and Indra, receive (viii. 34¹⁶); indrás ca sōmaṃ pibatam, bṛhaspate do ye, (thou), O Bṛhaspati, and Indra, drink (iv. 50¹⁰).

From B.: tā bṛhaspátis ca anvávaitām they two, (he) and Bṛhaspati, followed them (TS.); tát samjñāṃ kṛṣṇājīnāya ca vadati so he pronounces harmony (between it) and the black antelope skin (ŚB.).

a. In B. ca is used to add a single word at the end of a sentence in the sense of and (so did) ; e. g. śrámeṇa ha sma vái tád devá jayanti yád eṣāṃ jáyyam ása ṛṣayaś ca by penance the gods were wont to win what was to be won by them, and so did the seers (ŚB.).

c. ca following the interrogative ká, or the relative yá and the interrogative ká combined, gives them an indefinite sense: kás ca or yáh kás ca any one, whoever (cp. 119 b).

2. ca also connects both principal sentences and relative clauses: á devébhir yāhi yákṣi ca come with the gods and sacrifice (i. 14¹) ; yá vyūṣúr yás ca nūnám vyuchán that have shone forth and that shall now shine forth (i. 113¹⁰) ; yò 'smān dvēṣti yám ca vayám dviṣmáh who hates us and whom we hate (ŚB.).

a. ca...ca connect sentences to express a contrast by means of parallel verbal forms which are either identical or at least appear in the same number and person, the first verb being then always accented: pārā ca yānti púnar á ca yanti they go away and come again (i. 123¹²).

a. In B. the use of ca...ca is similar ; e. g. vatsām ca upāvasrjáty ukhām ca ádhi śrayati he admits the calf and puts the pot on the fire (TS.). The rule of accentuation applies even when the second verb is omitted: agnāye ca haviḥ paridádāti gúptyā asyái ca prthivyái he delivers the oblation for protection to Fire and to this Earth (ŚB.). This connecting use is particularly common in parallel abridged relative sentences: sárvān paśūn ní dadhire yé ca grāmyā yé ca āraṇyāḥ they laid down all animals, those that are tame and those that are wild (ŚB.).

3. ca is used a few times in V. in the sense of if with the subjunctive or the indicative: índraś ca mṛláyāti no, ná naḥ paścád aghám naśat if Indra be gracious to us, no calamity will hereafter befall us (ii. 41¹¹) ; imām ca vácāṃ pratiháryathā, naro, víśvéd vāmá vo aśnavat if ye graciously accept this song, O heroes, it will obtain all goods from you (i. 40⁶).

caná, properly meaning not even, is most usually employed after a negative ; e. g. tr̥tīyam asya nákir á dadharṣati, váyaś caná patáyantaḥ patatrīṇaḥ no one dares approach his third (step), not even the winged birds though they fly (i. 155⁵). From its use in such supplementary clauses, where it may also be translated by even, the latter sense comes to be the natural or even necessary one after a negative in a single clause sentence ; e. g. yásmād ṛté ná sídhyati yajñó vipaścitaś caná without whom the sacrifice does not succeed [not] even of the wise man (i. 18⁷) ; índraṃ ná mahná pr̥thiví caná práti even the earth is not equal to Indra in greatness (i. 81⁵). As one of the two negatives is superfluous in a single clause sentence, caná alone occasionally does duty for the negative : mahé caná tvám párā śulkáya deyām not even for a great reward would I give thee away (viii. 1⁵).

a. In a few passages, even when there is no accompanying negative, caná throwing off its own negative sense, means even, also : ahám caná tát sūribhir ānaśyām I too would acquire this with the patrons (vi. 26⁷) ; ádhā caná śrād dadhati therefore also they believe (i. 55⁵).

a. In B. caná appears only after a negative in single clause sentences, in which ná caná means not even ; e. g. ná hainaṃ sapátnas túṣṭūrśamānaś caná str̥ṇute no enemy fells him even though desiring to fell him (ŚB.).

b. caná gives the interrogative an indefinite sense : kás caná any one, ná kás caná no one (cp. 119 b).

cid is an enclitic particle very frequently used to emphasize the preceding word. It has two senses :

1. expressing that the statement is not to be expected in regard to the word emphasized : even ; e. g. á dr̥ḍhám cid árujo gávyam ūrvám even the firm cowstall thou hast broken through (iii. 32¹⁶). This sense is, however, sometimes so attenuated as to be capable of being rendered by stress only ; e. g. tvám cin naḥ śámyai bodhi svādhīḥ be thou attentive to our endeavour (iv. 3⁴).

2. generalizing = any, every, all; e. g. kṛtām cid énaḥ prā mumugdhy asmāt (i. 24⁹) remove from us any (every, all) sin committed (by us). Similarly, with interrogatives = any, with relatives = ever; thus kás cid any one: śṛṇóti kás cid eṣām any one (= every one) hears them (i. 37¹³); sun-vádbhyo randhayā kām cid avratām subject every impious man to those that press Soma (i. 132⁴); ná or mā kás cid (not any =) no one; kadā cid ever = at any time or always; yás cid whoever; yác cid if ever; yáthā cid as ever.

a. In B. the only use that survives is the generalizing sense with interrogative pronouns = any, some; e. g. átha kām cid áha then he says to some one (ŚB.); yát te kás cid ábravīt what any one said to you (ŚB.).

céd (= ca íd) if occurs only three times in the RV., but later becomes commoner. In the RV. and AV. it is found with the ind. pres. and aor.; in the AV. it also occurs once with the opt. Thus: ví céd uchánty, áśvinā, uṣásah, prā vām bráhmāṇi káravo bharante when the Dawns shine forth, O Áśvins, the singers offer prayers to you (vii. 72⁴); brahmá céd dhástam ágrahīt sá evá pátir ekadhā if a Brahman has taken her hand, he alone is her husband (AV. v. 17⁸); íti manvīta yācitāḥ vaśām céd enaṃ yāceyuḥ thus one would think who has been requested, if they were to request a cow of him (AV. xii. 4⁴⁸).

a. In B. céd is used with the ind. pres., aor., fut. and with the opt.; e. g. átaś céd evá náiti náśya yajñó vyathate if he does not go away from there, his sacrifice does not fail (MS.); sá hovāca túriyaṃ-túriyaṃ cén mām ábibhajamś túriyaṃ evá tárhi vān níruktam vadiṣyatíti he said 'if they have given me only one-fourth each time, then Vāc will speak distinctly only to the extent of one-fourth' (ŚB.); tām cén me ná vivákṣyasi, mūrdhā te ví paṭiṣyati if you cannot explain this (riddle) to me, your head will burst (ŚB.); etām céd anyásmā anubrūyás táta evá te śiráś chindyām if you were to tell this to another, I would strike off your head (ŚB.).

tátas occurs in the RV. several times adverbially in the local sense of the ablative = thence; e. g. táto viśám prā vāvṛte thence the poison has turned away. It also, but very rarely, has the temporal sense of thereupon, then; e. g. yajñáir átharvā prathamāḥ pathás tate, tátaḥ sūryo . . ájani with sacrifices Atharvan first extended the paths, then the sun was born (i. 83⁵).

a. In B., on the other hand, the temporal sense of thereupon is extremely common. Here it also often appears at the beginning of a sentence connected with a preceding one in the sense of therefore, consequently; e. g. sá yajñám evá, yajñapátrāṇi prá viveśa; táto haināṃ ná śekatur nīrhantum it entered into the sacrifice itself, into the sacrificial vessels; consequently those two were unable to expel it (ŚB.).

táthā occurs in the RV. in the sense of so, thus; e. g. tátha ṛtūḥ such is the rule (i. 831⁹). It also appears as a correlative (though less often than evá) to yáthā; e. g. śyāvāśvasya sunvatás táthā śṛṇu yáthāśṛṇor átreḥ listen to the sacrificing Śyāvāśva as thou didst listen to Atri (viii. 36⁷).

a. In B. the use is similar; e. g. táthā in nūnāṃ tád āsa so, indeed, it came to pass (ŚB.); as correlative (though less often than evám) to yáthā: ná vái táthā abhūd yáthā ámaṃsi it has not come about as I had thought (ŚB.).

b. tátho (= táthā u) occurs in B., meaning and in the same way, but so; e. g. tátho evóttare ní vapet and in the same way he should assign the last two (TS.); sá yád dakṣiṇā-pravaṇā syát, kṣipré ha yájamāno 'mūṃ lokám iyát, tátho ha yájamāno jyóg jīvati if it (the altar) were sloping to the south, the sacrificer would quickly go to nether world, but thus (as it is) the sacrificer lives a long time (ŚB.).

tád is often used adverbially in the RV. It then has three different senses:

1. It frequently means then as correlative to yád when; e. g. yáj jāyathā vṛtrahátyāya tát pṛthivīm aprathayaḥ when thou wast born for the Vṛtra-fight, thou didst spread out the earth (viii. 89⁵).

2. It is also often used in the sense of thither (acc. of the goal); e. g. tád ít tvā yuktá hárayo vahantu thither let the yoked bays waft thee (iii. 53⁴).

3. Occasionally it has the sense of therefore; e. g. tád vo devá abruvan, tát va ágamam that the gods said to you, therefore I have come to you (i. 161²); prá tád viṣṇuḥ stavate víryeṇa therefore Viṣṇu is praised for his heroism (i. 154²).

a. In B. tád has four different adverbial uses:

1. as a correlative to yád (when, inasmuch as) = thereby, and to yátṛa (where) = there; e. g. yán nv évá rájānam abhiṣunvánti, tát tám ghnanti now when they press the king (soma), they kill him thereby (ŚB.); yátrānyā óṣadhayo mlāyanti tát eté módamānā vardhante where other plants wither, it (the wheat) grows merrily (ŚB.).

2. in the sense of thereupon, then; e. g. áttha itithīm sámāṃ tát aughá āgantá, tán mā návam upakálpya úpāsāsaí now in such and such a year a flood will then come, then having built a ship you shall turn to me (ŚB.).

3. constantly with reference to a preceding statement in the sense of as to that, thereby, thus; e. g. yajūám evá tát devá upāyan the gods thus obtained the sacrifice (ŚB.); tát tát avakṛptám evá yád brāhmaṇò 'rājanyāḥ syát so it is quite suitable that a Brahman should be without a king (ŚB.); tád āhuḥ as to that they say; tád u tát now as to this (ŚB.).

4. before yád with reference to a preceding statement to add an explanation, and may be rendered by that is to say, now; e. g. tád yád eṣá etát tápati téna eṣá śukráḥ now, inasmuch as he burns here, therefore he is bright (ŚB.). Similarly in the phrase tád yát táthā that is to say, why it is so (is as follows) = the reason for this is as follows (ŚB.).

tárhi at that time, then, occurs only once in the RV., but several times in the AV.: ná mṛtyúr āsíd amṛtam ná tárhi there was not death nor immortality then (x. 129²). In the AV. the word appears as correlative to yádā when, and in B. to yátṛa, yád, yádā, yárhi when, and yádi if; e. g. rakṣāṃsi vā enaṃ tarhy ā labhante yarhi na jāyate the Rakṣases then seize him when (the fire) does not arise (AB.); yádi vā ṛtvíjo 'loká bhāvanty aloká u tárhi yájamānaḥ if the priest is without a place, the sacrificer is then also without a place (ŚB.).

tásmād therefore is not found as an adverb in the RV., but occurs several times as such in the AV., and is constantly so used in B. As correlative to yád because it appears once in the AV. and is very common in B.; e. g. yád vái tát várunagrhitābhyah kám ábhavat tásmāt kāyāḥ (MS.) because those who were seized by Varuṇa felt well, therefore it is called kāya (body).

tú, though accented, never commences a sentence or Pāda. It has two uses:

1. It is an emphasizing particle. In the RV., where it occurs nearly fifty times, it seems to be restricted to this sense.

a. In about two-thirds of its occurrences tú emphasizes an exhortation in the 2. pers. impv. (rarely the 3. pers., or the subj. in an impv. sense) = pray, then; e.g. á tv étā, ní ṣīdata pray come, sit you down (i. 5¹); ná te dūré paramā cid rájāmsy, á tú prá yāhi háribhyām even the highest spaces are not far to thee; come hither, then, with thy two boys (iii. 30²).

b. In several passages tú emphasizes assertions (generally following the demonstrative tá) in the sense of surely, indeed; e.g. tát tv āsya that surely is his work (iii. 30¹²).

2. It is an adversative particle meaning but. This is its sense in the only passage of the AV. in which it occurs, and is its only meaning in B.; e.g. cakāra bhadram asmābhyam ātmāne tāpanam tú sah he has done what is good for us, but painful to himself (AV. iv. 18⁶); tád evāṃ véditor ná tv evāṃ kártavái that one should know thus, but not do thus (MS.). With áha or nú in the preceding clause, it expresses the sense it is true...but; e.g. tád áha tēsāṃ váco, 'nyá tv évātaḥ sthitiḥ this indeed is what they say, but the established practice is different therefrom (ŚB.).

téna occurs in B. as an adverb correlative to yád because; e.g. yád grāmyāsyā ná āśnāti téna grāmyān āva runddhe because he does not eat any tame animal, therefore he gains tame animals for himself (MS.).

tvāvā (compounded of tú vāvā), a particle sometimes occurring in B., does not perceptibly differ in sense from vāvā (q. v.); e.g. trāyo ha tvāvā paśāvo 'medhyāḥ there are just three kinds of animals unfit for sacrifice (ŚB.).

tvái (compounded of tú vái) is sometimes found in B. meaning but indeed.

dvitá, a particle occurring about thirty times, is restricted to the RV. There can be no doubt that it is an old instrumental, etymologically meaning doubly. This sense taken either literally = in two ways, or figuratively = emphatically, especially, more than ever, seems to suit all the passages in which the word occurs; e. g. bharádvājāya áva dhuṣṣata dvitá dhenúm ca viśvádohasam iṣam ca viśvábhojasam on Bharadvāja do ye (Maruts) milk down doubly, both the all-milking cow and all-nourishing food (vi. 48¹³); rājā devānām utá mártvyānām dvitá bhuvad rayipátī rayiṇām as king of gods and mortals may he be doubly lord of riches (ix. 97²⁴); dvitá yó vṛtrahántamo vidá índraḥ śatákratuḥ úpa no háribhiḥ sutám may he who above all is known as the best Vṛtra-slayer, Indra Śatakratu, (come) to our pressed Soma with his bays (viii. 93³²); gavām éṣe sakhyá kṛṇuta dvitá (x. 48⁹) in the search for the cows he especially concluded friendship (with me).

a. The word occurs several times with ádha, meaning and that too doubly or especially, e. g. ví tád vocer ádha dvitá explain this, and (do so) particularly (i. 132⁸).

ná has two senses in V. (but only the first of the two in B.):

1. As a negative particle meaning not it denies an assertion, appearing in principal sentences with the ind. of all tenses, with the subj., the opt., the inj. (in the sense of a fut.), but not with the impv.; it is also employed in relative and conjunctive clauses. It negatives either the assertion of the whole sentence (when it appears as near the beginning as possible, in V. even before the relative) or only the assertion of the verb. It can only be used in a sentence which contains a finite verb or in which one is to be supplied. There seems to be no undoubted example of its negating any word (such as a participle or adjective) other than the verb. The employment of this negative ná is much the same in B. as in V.

a. A verb (such as asti is) has often to be supplied with this negative in simple sentences, especially with the gerundive, the infinitive, or a dative equivalent to an infinitive; e.g. tán ná sūr-ksyam that (is) not to be troubled about (MS.); ná yó várāya who (is) not for hindering = who is irresistible (i. 143⁵). Or the verb has to be supplied in a second sentence from the first; e.g. nāktam ūpa tiṣṭhate, ná prātāḥ he worships at night, (he does) not (worship) in the morning (TS.).

b. Two negatives express a strong positive; e.g. ná hí paśávo ná bhuñjanti for cattle always eat (MS.).

2. ná is used in V. (very commonly in RV., comparatively rarely in AV., but never in B.) as a particle of comparison, exactly like iva as, like. This meaning seems to be derived from not as negating the predicate of a thing to which it properly belongs; e.g. 'he (neighs), not a horse neighs' = 'he, though not a horse, neighs' = 'he neighs like a horse'. This ná, being in sense closely connected with the preceding word, never coalesces in pronunciation (though it does in the written Sandhi) with a following vowel, whereas ná not generally does. This ná always follows the word of comparison to which it belongs; or if the simile consists of several words, the ná generally follows the first word, less commonly the second; e.g. arān ná nemih pári tā babhūva he surrounds them as the felly the spokes (i. 32¹⁵): pakvā śákhā ná like a branch with ripe fruit (i. 8¹).

a. When the object compared is addressed in the voc. (which is sometimes to be supplied), the object with which it is compared is sometimes also put in the voc. agreeing with it by attraction; e.g. ūso ná śubhra ā bharā like brilliant Dawn, (O sacrificer) bring (i. 57³); ásve ná citre, aruṣi like a brilliant mare, O ruddy Dawn (i. 30²¹).

b. When the object compared is not expressed, ná means as it were; e.g. śivābhir ná smāyamānābhir āgāt he has come with gracious smiling women as it were (i. 79²).

c. ná sometimes interchanges with iva; e.g. rātham ná tāṣṭeva tátsināya as a carpenter (fashions) a car for him who desires it (i. 61⁴).

*ná-kis*¹ (not any one) is found in V. only, being almost restricted to the RV., where it frequently occurs. It properly means no one; e. g. nákir indra tvád úttaraḥ no one, O Indra, is superior to thee (iv. 30¹); yáthā kṛmīṇām nákir ucchiṣyātai that none of the worms shall be left (AV. ii. 31³). Losing its N. sense,¹ it comes to be used, though less often, as a strong negative adverb meaning not at all, never; e. g. yásya śárman nákir devā vāráyante ná mártāḥ in whose protection gods never hinder him nor mortals (iv. 17¹⁹). Cp. mákis.

¹ N. sing. of interrogative kí (Lat. qui-s) of which the n. kí-m is in regular use (cp. 113).

*ná-kīm*² occurs only twice in one hymn of the RV. in the sense of a strong negative adverb = not at all, never: nákīm índro níkartave Indra can never be subdued (viii. 78⁵).

ná-nu occurs only twice in the RV. where it has the sense of a strong negative = by no means, never. In B. it occurs a few times as an interrogative expecting assent (= nonne), not?; e. g. nánu śúsruma have we not heard? (ŚB.).

na-hí, as the compounded form of ná hí, occurs only in V., where it sometimes has the sense of for not; e. g. nahí tvā śátruḥ starate for no foe strikes thee down (i. 129⁴). More commonly it emphatically negatives a statement as something well known = certainly not, by no means, as appears most clearly at the beginning of a hymn; e. g. nahí vo ásty arbhakó, dévāsaḥ not one of you, O gods, is small (viii. 30¹).

a. This compounded form never occurs in B., where ná hí alone is found. On the other hand, ná hí seems never to occur in V.

nāma is used adverbially in the following two senses:

1. by name; e. g. sá ha śrutá índro nāma devāḥ that god famous as Indra by name (ii. 20⁶); kó nāma asi who art thou by name? (VS. vii. 29). 2. namely, indeed, verily; e. g. ájasro għarmó havír asmi nāma I am constant heat, namely the oblation (iii. 26⁷); mám dhur índraṃ nāma devátā they have placed me among the gods verily as Indra (x. 49²).

² Probably A. n. of ná-kis with lengthened vowel.

nú¹ or nú² means 1. now; e. g. sá nv iyate he is now implored (i. 145¹); indrasya nú víryāṇi prá vocam I will now proclaim the heroic deeds of Indra (i. 32¹); yójá nv, indra, te hári yoke now (= at once), O Indra, thy two bays (i. 82¹); uvásoṣá uchác ca nú (i. 48³) Dawn has shone (in the past) and she shall shine now (= henceforth); asmábhír ū nú praticákṣyā abhūt to us she has just now become visible (i. 113¹¹). 2. still: páśyema nú sūryam uccárantam we would still see the sun rising (vi. 52⁵); mahāñ indraḥ parás ca nú great is Indra and still more (i. 8⁵). 3. pray with interrogatives: kadā nv àntár varuṇe bhuvāni when, pray (= at last), shall I be in (communion with) Varuṇa (vii. 86²). 4. ever with relatives: yá nú kṛṇávai whatever (deeds) I shall accomplish (i. 165¹⁰). 5. ever, at all with negatives: ná asya vartá ná tarutá nv ásti there is none at all to obstruct, none to overcome him (vi. 66⁸). 6. with cid it means (a) even now, still; e. g. nú cid dadhiṣva me girāḥ even now take to thyself my songs (i. 10³); daśasyá no, maghavan, nú cit favour us still, Bountiful one (viii. 46¹¹); (b) never; e. g. nú cid dhí parimamnáthe asmán for never have ye despised us (vii. 93⁶).

a. The senses of nú found in B. are the following :

1. Now actually in affirmative sentences, often correcting a previous statement; e. g. nirdaśo nv abhūd, yajasva mā anena now he is actually more than ten days old : sacrifice him to me (AB.). 2. then, pray, in exhortations with the subj., the impv., or má with the inj., e. g. śraddhādevo vái mánur : āvám nú vedāva Manu is godfearing; let us two then try him (ŚB.); má nu me prá hārṣiḥ pray, do not strike at me (ŚB.). When átha follows such sentences, nú may be translated by first: nirdaśo nv astv, atha tvā yajai let him (the victim) first be more than ten days old, then I will sacrifice him to you (AB.). 3. pray, in questions with or without an interrogative; e. g. kvā nu víṣṇur abhūt what, pray, has become of Viṣṇu? (ŚB.); tvám nú khálu nō bráhmīṣṭho 'si are you, pray, indeed the wisest of us? (ŚB.). 4. now, after iti followed by átha next: iti nu pūrvam paṭalam, athottaram this now is the first section; next follows the second (AB.). 5. indeed, in the first of two antithetical clauses, when the second is introduced with tú or kím u; e. g. yó nv évá jñātās tāsmai brūyād, ná tv évá sárvasmā iva he may indeed tell it to him who is known to him, but not to any and every one (ŚB.).

nūnām now has three uses in the RV.:

1. With the ind. pres. it means now as opposed to formerly or in future (an opposition often expressed by purā before and aparām after); e. g. ná nūnām ásti nó śváḥ there is no now and no to-morrow (i. 170¹).

It is a few times used with the perfect in combination with purā to express that an action has taken place in the past and still takes place; e. g. purā nūnām ca stutāya řṣiṇām pasprdhra índre formerly and now the praises of seers have striven to Indra (vi. 34¹).

2. With the subj., impv., opt., or inj., it expresses that an action is to take place at once; e. g. ví nūnām uchāt she shall now shine forth (i. 124¹¹); prá nūnām pūrṇāvandhuras stutó yāhi praised advance now with laden car (i. 82³).

With the perfect it is a few times used in the RV. to express that an action has just been completed; e. g. úpa nūnām yuyuje hārī he has just yoked his two bay steeds (viii. 4¹¹).

3. It occurs sometimes with interrogatives = pray; e. g. kadā nūnām te dāśema when, pray, may we serve thee? (vii. 29³).

a. In B. none of these uses seem to survive, while the new sense of certainly, assuredly (perhaps once already in the AV.) has appeared; e. g. tathā in nūnām tād āsa just so assuredly it came to pass (ŚB.).

néd (= ná id and not treated as a compound by the Padapāṭha) has two uses in both V. and B.: 1. sometimes as an emphatic negative, certainly not; e. g. anyó nét sūrír óhate bhūridāvattaraḥ no other patron indeed is accounted more liberal (viii. 5³⁹); āhaṃ vadāmi nét tvám I am speaking, not thou (vii. 38⁴); néd ánuhūtaṃ práśnāmi I certainly do not eat it before it is invoked (ŚB.). 2. much more commonly as introducing a final clause in order that not with the subj.

(= Lat. ne); e. g. vy ūchā, duhitar divo, nēt tvā tāpāti sūrah shine forth, daughter of the sky, lest the sun scorch thee (v. 79⁹); nén mā rudró hinásat lest Rudra injure me (ŚB.). In B. the verb may also be in the inj. : néd idām bahirdhā yajñād bhávat lest it be outside the sacrifice (ŚB.).

a. nvái (= nú vái as analysed by the Padapāṭha of the TS.) occurs not infrequently in B. in the sense of indeed; e. g. íti nvái etād brāhmaṇam udyate such indeed is the Brāhmaṇa that is told (ŚB.).

mā is the prohibitive negative (Gk. μή) regularly used with the injunctive. It is never used with the impv.; with the opt. only in the single form bhujema (RV.); and with the subj. only once (ŚB.); e. g. mā no vadhīḥ slay us not (i. 104⁸); mā hrñīthā abhy asmān be not enraged against us (viii. 2¹⁹).

a. An interrogative following mā in a few cases receives an indefinite sense in the RV.; e. g. mā kasmai dhātam abhy āmitrīṇe naḥ deliver us not to any foe (i. 120⁸).

mā-kis (not any one, Gk. μή-τις), occurring about a dozen times in the RV., to which it is restricted, is used in prohibitive sentences with the injunctive in two senses:

1. no one: mākis tokāsya no riṣat may no one of our offspring be injured (viii. 67¹¹).

2. more often an emphatic negative = by no means, never: mākir devānām āpa bhūḥ be not at all away from the gods (x. 11⁹). Cp. nā-kis.

mā-kīm, used as an emphatic prohibitive particle with the injunctive, occurs only in two passages of the RV.: mākim sám śāri kévaṭe let none suffer fracture in a pit (vi. 54⁷).

yātra is employed in two main senses: 1. usually as a relative adverb, meaning where, but sometimes whither, e. g. yajñé . . náro yātra devayāvo mādanti where pious men rejoice in sacrifice (vii. 97¹); yātrā ráthēna gáchathāḥ whither ye go with your car (i. 22⁴). The correlative is generally tātra, sometimes ātra or tád.

a. Occasionally as equivalent to the locative of the relative; e. g. á gha tá gachān úttarā yugāni yātra jāmāyaḥ kṛṇāvann ājāmi those later generations will come in which those who are akin will do what befits not kinsmen (x. 10¹⁰).

2. not infrequently as a temporal conjunction, when, in both V. and B.; e. g. yātra prā sudāsam āvatam when ye helped Sudās (vii. 83⁶). In V. ādha, ātra, tád appear as correlatives; e. g. yātra śūrāsas tanvò vitanvaté . . ādha smā yacha tanvè táne ca chardíḥ when the heroes strain themselves (in battle) . . then especially bestow protection on us and our sons (vi. 46¹²). In B. tád is generally the correlative, sometimes tátas; e. g. tám yātra devā ághnamṣ, tán mitráṃ abruvan when the gods killed him, they said to Mitra (ŚB.).

yáthā has two distinct uses in both V. and B.:

1. as a relative adverb meaning as; e. g. nūnám yáthā purá now as before (i. 39⁷); yáthā vayám uśmāsi tát kṛdhi as we wish that do (x. 38²); yáthā vái puruṣó jīryaty evám agnir áhito jīryati as a man grows old, so fire when it has been laid grows old (TS.). When there is a correlative in the RV., it is usually evá, sometimes táthā: in B. usually evám, sometimes táthā.

2. as a conjunction meaning in order that, so that, introducing a posterior clause, generally with the subj., rarely the opt.; e. g. haviṣ kṛṇuṣva subhāgo yáthā śasasi prepare the oblation that thou mayest be successful (ii. 26²); á daívyā vṛṇīmahé 'vāṃsi, yáthā bhāvema mīḥṣe ánāgāḥ (vii. 97²) we crave divine aids that we may appear sinless to the gracious god; tathā me kuru yathā aham imāṃ senāṃ jayāni arrange it so for me that I may conquer this army (AB.); táthaivá hotavyāṃ yáthā agnīm vyaveyát it must be poured so that it should divide the fire (ŚB.).

a. In the RV. after verbs of knowing or saying yáthā introduces an explanation = how; e. g. kás tát brūyād anudéyī yáthā ábhavat who could tell us this, (viz.) how the gift was? (x. 135⁵). Occasionally it is used thus even without such verbs: ná pramīye savitúr daívyasya tād yāthā viśvaṃ bhūvanam dhārayiṣyāti that 'power' of the divine Savitṛ (is not to =) will not decay, (viz.) that he will support the whole world (iv. 54⁴).

yād (n. of the relative yā) is used in four distinct senses :

1. that, expanding the meaning of a word in the preceding principal clause ; e.g. grṇé tād, indra, te śávo yád dhāmsi vṛtrám I praise this mighty deed of thine that thou slayest Vṛtra (viii. 62⁸); kím āga āsa, varuṇa, jyēṣṭham yát stotāraṃ jighāmsasi sákhāyam, what has been the chief guilt, O Varuṇa, that thou wishest to slay thy praiser (who is) thy friend? (vii. 86⁴). This use is not common in V.

a. yad is similarly employed in B. with reference to a preceding tād (often omitted) ; e.g. tād yát páyasā śrīṇāti : vṛtró vái sóma āsīt that (= the reason why) he mixes Soma with milk 'is' this: Vṛtra was Soma (ŚB.). This use is also found in B. after certain verbs : áva kalpate it is suitable, út sahate is able, ichāti desires, yuktó bhavati is intent on, véda knows, and iśvará it is possible ; e.g. ná hí tād avakálpate yád brūyāt for it is not suitable that he should say (ŚB.).

2. when with the ind. pres., imp., perf., aor., fut., and with the subj. ; e.g. yád dha yānti mārutaḥ sám ha bruvate when the Maruts go along, they speak together (i. 37¹³); kám apaśyo yát te bhír ágachat whom didst thou see when fear came upon thee? (i. 32¹⁴); índraś ca yád yuyudháte áhiś ca, maghāvā ví jigye when Indra and the serpent fought, the bountiful god conquered (i. 32¹³); citró yád ábhrāt bright when he has shone forth (i. 66⁶); tigmā yád aśánir pátāti, ádha no bodhi gopāḥ when the sharp bolt shall fly, then be our protector (iv. 16¹⁷). It also occurs rarely in anacolutha with the pres. part. and the past pass. part. much as in English ; e.g. pácanti te vṛṣabhāñ, átsi téśāṃ yán, maghavan, hūyámānaḥ they roast bulls for thee, thou eatest of them, O bounteous one, when being called (x. 28³).

a. In B. yád occurs with the sense of when with the pres., fut., and aor., and in the sense of whenever or while with the impf.

3. if used with the ind. pres., the subj., or the opt. ; e.g.

yád, indra, údañ nyàg vā hūyāse, á yāhi túyam if, O Indra, thou art called above or below, come quickly (viii. 65¹); yád ūrdhvás tīṣṭhā dráviṇā ihá dhattād yád vā kṣáyah if thou shalt stand upright, bestow treasures here, or if thou shalt lie (iii. 8¹). The opt. is used when it is assumed that the condition will not be fulfilled; e. g. yád, agne, syám ahám tvám, tvám vā ghā syá ahám, syúṣ te satyá ihá āśíṣah if, O Agni, I were thou. or if thou wert I, thy prayers here would be fulfilled (viii. 44²³).

a. In B. yád is used with the opt. as in V. (while with yádi the fulfilment of the condition is usually assumed) and with the conditional; sá yád bhidyeta ártim árched yájamānaḥ if it were to break, the sacrificer would fall into misfortune (TS.); yád evám ná ávakṣyo mūrdhá te vy ápatiṣyat if thou hadst not spoken thus, thy head would have fallen to pieces (ŚB.).

4. in order that, in posterior clauses, with the subj., very rarely with the opt. in V.; e. g. á vaha devátātim śárdho yád adyá divyám yájāsi bring hither the host of the gods that thou mayest adore the divine throng (iii. 19⁴); yán nūnám aśyám gátim, mitrásya yāyām pathá that I may now obtain refuge. I would go on Mitra's path (v. 64³).

a. In B. this use of yád is very rare, occurring only a few times with the subj.; e. g. tát prāpuhi yát te prāṇó vátam apipádyātai obtain thou this, that thy breath may pass into the wind (ŚB.).

yadā when is used in V. and B. with the ind. perf., impf., pres., and with the subj.; with the aor. ind. and the inj. in V. only; and with the fut. and opt. in B. only. The correlative word (when there is one) is in V. ád, átha, ádha, tát, tárhi; in B. átha and tárhi.

1. yadā is most commonly used in the RV. with the aor. ind., when as the beginning of the action is emphasized, the sense is as soon as; e. g. yadéd ádevīr ásaḥiṣṭa māyá, átha abhavat kévalaḥ sómo asya as soon as he had overcome the ungodly wiles, then Soma became his exclusively (vii. 98⁵); abhí grṇanti rádho yadā te mártó ánu bhógam ānaṭ they praise thy wealth as soon as the mortal has obtained thy reward (x. 7²). When the principal clause contains a historical tense, the aor. with yadā has the value of a pluperfect.

a. The injunctive is found only once with yadā in the RV. : yadā máhyam dīdharo bhāgām, indra, ād in māvā kṛṇavo vīryāṇi when thou shalt have secured for me my share, O Indra, then thou shalt perform heroic deeds with my help (viii. 100¹).

2. a. with the impf. and perf. ; e. g. yadā viṣṇus trīṇi padā vicakramé, yadā sūryam divi . . ādhāraya, ād it te hārī vavakṣatuḥ when Viṣṇu took his three steps, when thou didst fix the sun in the sky, then thy two bays grew in strength (viii. 12^{27.30}) ; tāsya yadā mārmaśagachann āthaceṣṭat as soon as they touched his weak spot, he quivered (MS.) ; sā yadā ābhyām anūvācā āthasya tād indraḥ śiraś cicheda as soon as he had told them, Indra cut his head off (ŚB.).

b. with the pres. ind. : yadā satyām kṛṇuté manyúm indro, vísvam dr̥hām bhayate éjad asmāt when Indra shows his true anger, all that is firm, trembling, is afraid of him (iv. 17¹⁰) ; yadā vai paśur nirdaśo bhavaty atha sa medhyo bhavati as soon as the victim is more than ten days old, it becomes fit for sacrifice (AB.) ; sā yadā keśaśmaśrú vápaty ātha snāti when he has cut off his hair and beard, he bathes (ŚB.).

c. with the subj. (here = future perfect) : yadā śrtām kṛṇavo 'tha im enam prá hiṇutāt pitṛbhyah when thou shalt have made him done, then deliver him to the fathers (x. 16¹) ; yadā tām ativārdhā, ātha karṣum khātvā tāsya mā bibharāsi when I shall have grown too big for it, you shall, having dug a pit, keep me in it (ŚB.).

3. a. with the fut. : yadaiva hotā paridhāsyaty atha pāśān prati mokṣyāmi when the Hotṛ shall have concluded, I shall tighten the cords (AB.).

b. with the opt. : sā yadā samgrāmam jāyed āthaindrāgnam nīr vapet as soon as he may have won a battle, he should sacrifice to Indra and Agni (MS.).

yādi if (sometimes when with a past tense) is found with perf. and impf. in V. only ; with the ind. pres., aor., fut., and with the subj. in V. and B. ; and with the opt. in B. only.

1. With the perf. used historically and with the impf. yádi means when, the verb then having the force of a pluperfect ; e. g. *úd astambhīt samídhā nākam agnir yádi bhṛgubhyaḥ pári mātariśvā havyavāhaṃ samídhé Agniḥ supported the vault with fuel when Matarīśvan from the Bhṛguś had kindled the oblation-bearer (iii. 5¹⁰) ; yádi sahaśraṃ mahiṣāñ ághaḥ, ād it ta indriyāṃ máhi prá vāvṛdhe when thou hadst eaten a thousand bulls, thy might grew great (viii. 12⁸). But when the perf. has the pres. perf. sense, yádi has its ordinary meaning of if: *grāhir jagráha yádi vaitád enaṃ, tásyā, indrāgnī, prá mumuktam enaṃ or if illness has seized him, from that release him, Indra and Agni (x. 161¹).

2. a. with the pres.: yádī mánthanti bāhúbhir ví rocate when they rub with their arms, he shines (iii. 29⁶) ; adyá muriya yádi yātudháno ásmi to-day I would die, if I am a sorcerer (vii. 104¹⁵) ; yádi ná aśnāti pitṛdevatyò bhavati if he does not eat, he becomes dedicated to the Manes (ŚB.).

b. with the aor.: yádī mātúr ūpa svāsā . . ásthita, adhvaryúr modate if the sister (coming) from the mother has approached, the priest rejoices (ii. 5⁶) ; yady áha enaṃ práñcam ácaīṣir, yáthā párāca ásināya pṛṣṭhatò 'nnādyam upāhāret if you have piled it frontways, it is as if one handed food from behind to one sitting with averted face (ŚB.).

c. with the fut.: yady evā kariṣyátha, sākāṃ deváir yajñīyāso bhaviṣyatha if ye will act thus, ye shall become objects of worship together with the gods (i. 161²) ; yádi vā imám abhimamṣyé kánīyó 'nnaṃ kariṣye if I shall plot against him, I shall procure less food (ŚB.).

d. with the subj.: yájāma devān yádi śaknāvāma we will worship the gods, if we shall be able (i. 27¹³) ; yádi stómaṃ máma śrávad, asmákam índram índavaḥ . . mandantu

if he shall hear my song of praise, let our drops gladden Indra (viii. 1¹⁵); yádi tvā etát púnar brávas, tvám brūtāt if they two shall say that to thee again, do thou say (ŚB.).

a. With the opt. yádi is (excepting one occurrence in the SV. found in B. only, where this use is very common. Here a case is usually supposed with a rule applicable to it in the principal clause; e. g. yádi na śaknuyāt, so 'gnaye purolāśaṃ nir vapet if he should not be able to do it, he should offer a cake to Agni (AB.).

3. after the verb vid know, yádi is used in the sense of whether in one passage of the RV. (x. 129⁷) and often in B.; e. g. hánta na éko véttu yádi ható vā vṛtró jīvati vā come, let one of us find out whether Vṛtra is dead or whether he is alive (ŚB.).

a. yádi vā is not only used after a preceding yádi in the sense of or if, but also alone in the sense of or, nearly always without a verb; e. g. só aṅgá veda yádi vā ná véda he alone knows or he does not know (x. 129⁷); yám váhanti śatám ásvā yádi vā saptá whom a hundred horses draw, or seven (AV. xiii. 2⁷); yádi vā itárathā or conversely (ŚB.).

yárhi (at the time) when occurs only in B., where it is used with the pres. or past ind., and with the opt. It has almost invariably tárhi or etárhi then as a correlative; e. g. sá tárhy evá jāyate yáry agním ādhatté he is born at the moment when he lays his fire (MS.); yárhi prajāḥ kṣúdhāṃ nigáচেyus tárhi navarātreṇa yajeta when his people should suffer from hunger, he should sacrifice with the rite of nine night's (TS.).

yásmād does not occur as a conjunction in V., but it sometimes appears as such in B. meaning why; e. g. átha yásmāt samiṣṭa-yajūṃṣi náma now (follows the reason) why they are called Samiṣṭayajus (ŚB.).

yád (an old abl. of yá) is found in V. only. It is used with the indicative pres. or past, and with the subj. With the ind. it means as far as in the RV.; e. g. árcāmasi yád evá vidmá tát tvā mahántam (vi. 21⁶) we praise thee, the great, as far as we know (how to); it seems to mean since in the AV.: yá ákṣiyan pṛthivīm yád ájāyata who ruled the earth since it arose (AV. xii. 1⁵⁷). With the subj. yád means as long as; e. g. anānukṛtyám apunás cakāra yát sūryāmāsā mithá uccārātaḥ he has once for all done what is inimitable as long as sun and moon alternately shall rise (x. 68¹⁰).

yāvat already appears in V. as an adverb meaning as far as, as long as, an extension of its acc. use; e. g. yāvad dyāvāprthivī tāvad it tát (x. 114⁸) as far as heaven and earth, so far it (extends); juhómi havyám yāvad íse I offer oblation as long as I am able (iii. 18³); ájāto vái tāvat púruṣo yāvad agním ná ādhatté man is so long unborn, as he does not lay his fire (MS.).

vā or is employed much in the same way as ca and. It is enclitic, following the word to which it belongs; and it connects words, clauses, or sentences; e. g. áta ā gahi divó vā rocanád ádhi come from here or from the shining realm of heaven (i. 6⁹); yasya bhāryā gaur vā yamau janayet whose wife or cow bears twins (AB.); prāti yáḥ śásam ínvati, ukthá vā yó abhigṛṇāti who promotes the law or welcomes songs of praise (i. 54⁷).

a. vā...vā is frequently used in the same way; e. g. śákti vā yát te cakṛmā vidā vā that we have offered to thee according to our power or knowledge (i. 31¹⁸); náktam vā hí dívā vā várṣati for it rains by night or by day (TS.); yád vā āhám abhidudrōha yád vā śepá utá āṇṛtam what evil I have plotted or what I have sworn falsely (i. 23²²).

b. But vā...vā also mean either...or. When they contrast two principal sentences in this sense, implying exclusive alternatives, the verb of the first is accented even when the second is incomplete; e. g. āhaye vā tán pradádātu sóma ā vā dadhātu nírṛter upáste let Soma either deliver them to the serpent or place them in the lap of dissolution (vii. 104⁹); tád vā jajñáu tád vā ná jajñau she either agreed to it or did not agree to it (SB.); tásya vā tvám mána ichá sá vā táva either do thou seek his heart, or he thine (x. 10¹⁴).

vāvá (doubtless a contraction of two particles) is found in B. only. It emphasizes the preceding word in the sense of certainly, just, being particularly frequent in the first of two correlated clauses; e. g. eṣá vāvá sò 'gnir ity āhuḥ that is certainly the same Agni, they say (TS.).

vái is an emphasizing particle meaning truly, indeed.

1. In the RV. this particle occurs only in 28 passages, in all but three of which it follows the first word of the sentence; e. g. bhadrám vái váram vṛṇate truly they make a good choice (x. 164²); íti vā íti me mánah sò, indeed, so is my mind (x. 119¹); ná vái stráṇāni sakhyāni santi

there are, indeed, no friendships with women (x. 95¹⁵). The stress is laid on the whole sentence, not on any particular word. The particle is often followed by u (vá u) without any perceptible change of meaning.

a. In the AV. the use is similar except that here the particle often appears after a demonstrative or a relative; e.g. tásmād vái sá párahavāt therefore, indeed, he perished (xii. 4¹⁹); yó vái tá vidyāt pratyákṣam, sá vā adyā mahād vadet whoever may know them plainly, he, verily, may speak aloud to-day (xi. 8³).

2. In B. vái usually occupies the same position, but often yields the second place to céd, hí, khálu, and of course always to the enclitics iva, u, ca, sma, ha. When átho begins a sentence vái occupies the second place.

Here the use of vái in the first sentence of a narrative is typical; e.g. yámo vā amriyata: té devā yamyā yámam āpābruvan Yama died: the gods (then) dissuaded Yamī from (thinking of) Yama (MS.).

a. The particle often appears in the concluding sentence in discussions; e.g. tásmād vā āpa úpa sprśati that is, indeed, why he sips water (ŚB.).

b. It is very often placed after the first word of a sentence that gives the reason for the one that follows; e.g. śraddhādevo vái mánur: āvām nú vedāva now Manu is god-fearing: we two will therefore ascertain (ŚB.). When vái is used in this way the clause containing it is often equivalent to a parenthetical one; e.g. té vāyúm abruvan (ayām vái vāyúr yó 'yām pávate) váyo tvám idám viddhi, iti they said to Vāyu (now Vāyu is he who blows), 'Vāyu, ascertain this' (ŚB.). In this sense vái is especially frequent in periods of three clauses, when that with vái contains the reason, and that with evá the conclusion; e.g. tá etābhis tanúbhiḥ sám abhavan; paśávo vái devānām priyās tanvāḥ: paśúbhir éva sám abhavan they were together with these bodies: now animals are the bodies dear to the gods: they were therefore together with animals (MS.).

c. The differences between the use of vái and of evá in B. are the following: vái coming after the first word emphasizes the whole sentence, while evá emphasizes a particular word in any part of the sentence; vái follows the first word of a sentence beginning a narrative, evá never does; in a period vái is typical in the clause stating a reason, evá in that expressing the conclusion.

sá is often used pleonastically before relatives in B. ; e. g. sá yó no vácam vyāhṛtām mithunéna ná₂anunikrá₂māt, sá sárva₂m párá jayātai he who shall not follow the word uttered by us with (another of) the corresponding gender, he shall lose everything (ŚB.). This use led to sá being employed in a formulaic way not only pleonastically but also without reference to gender or number ; e. g. tásya táni śīrśāni prá cicheda. sá yát somapānam āsa tátaḥ kapiñjalaḥ sám abhavat he struck off his heads. Now that which had been Soma-drinking, from that arose the francoline partridge (ŚB.) ; sá yádi ná vindānti kím ā driyeran now if they do not find it, why should they mind? (ŚB.).

sīm is an enclitic particle restricted to the RV. Originally the acc. sing. of a pronoun, related to sá as kīm to ká, it is generally used (much like īm) as an acc. of all numbers and genders in the third person—him, her, it, them, representing a substantive (which sometimes follows) and frequently placed between a preposition and its verb, occasionally also after a relative ; e. g. pári śīm nayanti they lead him around (i. 95²) ; prá sīm ādityó asṛjat the Āditya made them (the streams) to flow (ii. 28⁴) ; ní śīm vṛtrásya mármaṇi vájram índro apīpatat Indra has caused it, his bolt, to fall on Vṛtra's vital spot (viii. 100⁷) ; yám sīm ákṛṇvan támase vipṛce, tám sūryam whom they created to disperse the darkness, that sun (iv. 13³).

a. sīm sometimes gives the relative the sense of ever ; e. g. yát sim āgaś cakṛmā, śīśráthas tát whatever sin we have committed, remove that (v. 85⁷).

sú, sū well, used asseveratively = thoroughly, fully, verily and always referring to the verb, is almost restricted as an independent particle to the Saṃhitās, being common in the RV., but rare in the others ; e. g. juśásva sū no adhvarám thoroughly enjoy our sacrifice (iii. 24²) ; námaḥ sū te homage verily (be) to thee (VS. xii. 63) ; jarām sū gacha go safely to old age (AV. xix. 24⁵).

a. With preceding u the particle means right well: imā u śú śrudhī girāḥ hear these songs right well (i. 26⁵); vidmó śv asya mātāram we know full well his mother (AV. i. 2¹).

b. With preceding mā it = by no means, not at all, never: e.g. mó śú tvā . . . asmán ní rīraman let none by any means keep thee from us (vii. 32¹).

c. sū kam is used like the simple sū except that it appears with the impv. only; e.g. tiṣṭhata . . . sū kam stand quite still (i. 191⁶).

sma, an enclitic, slightly emphasizing particle, has two senses in the RV.:

1. It generally emphasizes:

a. demonstrative or personal pronouns, relatives, or nouns, and may be rendered by just, especially, or simply by stress; e.g. tásya sma prāvitā bhava be his helper (i. 12⁸); sá śrudhī yāḥ smā pṛtanāsu kásu cit . . . śúraiḥ svāḥ sánitā hear thou, who especially in all battles with heroes dost win the light (i. 129²).

b. the verb, which or (if it is compounded) the preposition of which it follows (generally at the beginning of the sentence); e.g. smási śmā vayám eṣām we are indeed theirs (i. 37¹⁵); ā smā rátham tiṣṭhasi thou mountest indeed upon thy car (i. 51¹²). The verb is in the present ind. or the impv., rarely the perf.; it appears to have been accented before sma judging by the only example (vi. 44¹⁸) in which it is not the first word in the sentence (App. III, 19 A).

c. adverbs and particles; e.g. utá sma and especially; ná sma and mā sma by no means.

a. In the AV. these emphasizing uses are similar; but in B. they have entirely disappeared.

2. In a few instances sma occurs in the RV. before purā with the pres. ind. to express that an action has habitually taken place in the past down to the present time; e.g. yé smā purā gātūyánti who have always aided = who aids now and formerly did so (i. 169⁵).

a. This use is not found in the AV., but has become extremely common in B., where sma is always preceded by ha. The meaning here expressed is that something habitually took place in the past (but does not as in the RV. include the present); e.g. nā ha sma vāi purā agnir aparaśuvṛkṣaṃ dahati formerly Agni used not to burn what was not lopped off with the axe (TS.).

b. Much more frequently, however, purā is left out and the particles ha sma, from their frequent association with it, assume its meaning; e.g. té ha sma yád devā ásurāñ jáyanti, táto ha sma evā enān pūnar upóttiṣṭhanti as often as the gods defeated the Asuras, the latter always opposed them again (SB.). This use of ha sma is very common with the present perfect āha; e.g. etád dha sma vā āha nāradaḥ with regard to this Nārada used to say (MS.). Other tenses than the present with ha sma are found in the AB. where, in two or three passages, the perf. and the impf. are used with them in the same sense.

svid is an enclitic particle emphasizing the first word of a sentence, usually an interrogative pronoun or adverb. It may generally be translated by pray; e.g. kāḥ svid vṛkṣó níṣṭhito mādhye árṇasaḥ what tree, pray, was that which stood in the midst of the sea? (i. 182⁷). In one passage of the RV. this particle gives the interrogative an indefinite meaning: mātá putráśya cárataḥ kvà svit the mother of the son that wanders who knows where (x. 34¹⁰). Very rarely (in double questions) the particle appears without an interrogative: ásti svin nú vīryaṃ tát ta, indra, ná svid asti: tád ṛtuthā ví vocaḥ is this thy heroic deed, O Indra, or is it not: that declare in due season (vi. 18³).

a. In a few instances svid appears in non-interrogative sentences: tvāyā ha svid yujā vayāṃ abhī śmo vājasātaye with thee as companion we are equipped for the obtainment of booty (viii. 102³).

b. The employment of svid in B. is similar; e.g. kām u svid átó 'dhi váraṃ variṣyāmahe what boon, pray, beyond this shall we choose? (MS.); tvāṃ svin no bráhmīṣṭho 'si art thou, pray, the most learned of us? (SB.); yád āṅgāreṣu juhóti tát svid agnáu juhóti what he pours on the coals, that itself he pours on the fire (MS.).

ha, an enclitic particle occurring after all words capable of beginning a sentence, has a slightly emphasizing and asseverative force. It is probably identical in origin with gha, but unlike that particle hardly ever (only twice) appears in the RV. with its vowel lengthened. It is common in the RV., occurring after personal, demonstrative, interrogative, and relative pronouns, nouns, verbs, verbal prepositions, and adverbs.

a. In B. the use of this particle varies in frequency: it is comparatively rare in the TS., where it generally appears with sma or with perfects; while in the ŚB. it is extremely frequent. It lays stress on the first word of sentences so as to emphasize the connexion or to mark a new or important step in the narrative; e.g. iti marīmṛjyeta : ājarasaṃ ha cakṣuṣmān bhavati ya evaṃ veda with these words he should wipe (his eyes) : so till old age he who knows this becomes possessed of vision (AB.).

b. It is very often used after the first word of a story with or without vái. It appears predominantly with the perfect in those parts of the ŚB. and the AB. that narrate with the perfect, mostly with verbs of speaking. Thus sa ha ūvāca appears here, while so 'bravīt is said elsewhere.

hánta occurs three times in the RV. as an interjection in exhortations; e.g. yājāmahai yajñīyān hánta devān come, we will worship the adorable gods (x. 53²).

a. It is similarly used in B. : hanta ūimaṃ yajñāṃ sambharāma well, we will prepare the sacrifice (AB.).

hí, in origin probably an emphasizing particle, is used throughout as a subordinating conjunction which regularly throws the accent on the verb. It nearly always follows the first word of the sentence, or the second when the first two are closely connected. In V. it is used in two ways:

1. in indicative sentences (the verb having sometimes to be supplied) to express the reason (like γάρ), meaning either for, if the clause containing it follows, or because, since, if it precedes; e.g. bālaṃ dhehi tanūṣu no, tvāṃ hí baladā āsi bestow strength on our bodies, for thou art a giver of strength (iii. 53^{1b}); śruṣṭīvāno hí dāśūṣe devās, tán ā vaha since the gods give ear to the pious man, bring them hither (i. 45²).

2. in exhortative sentences, mostly with the impv., as an emphatic particle = pray, indeed; e.g. yukṣvā hí keśinā hārī pray harness thy two long-maned bay steeds (i. 10³).

a. In B. three uses of hí may be distinguished :

1. it expresses the reason, as in the first use in V., only that the clause containing hí always follows (= for only), and the verb is much oftener omitted than expressed ; e. g. tád índro 'mucyata, devó hí sáh from that Indra freed himself, for he (is) a god (ŚB.). The particle vái is often added to strengthen hí ; e. g. vájro hí vā ápaḥ for water is indeed a thunderbolt (ŚB.).

2. it is sometimes employed to emphasize an interrogative = pray ; e. g. kathám hí kariṣyási how, pray, wilt thou do it ? (ŚB.).

3. it expresses assent in answers after a word repeated from a preceding question ; e. g. tám eva tvám paśyasi iti ; tám hí 'do you see him ?' Yes, (I see) him (ŚB.).

a. In B., when hí appears in the relative clause of a period explaining a previous statement, the verb of the principal clause 'to which hí properly applies' is sometimes irregularly unaccented ; e. g. idám hí yadā vársaty átha ōṣadhayo jāyante for, when it rains here, then the plants spring up (ŚB.).

181. A certain number of words having the nature of interjections occur in the Saṃhitās. They are of two kinds, being either exclamations or imitative sounds.

a. The exclamations are : bát (RV.) truly, bata (RV.) alas ! hánta come, used exhortatively with the subjunctive and hayé come before vocatives ; híruk and hurúk (RV.) away ! hái (AV.) ho !

b. CHAPTER VI

NOMINAL STEM FORMATION AND COMPOUNDS

A. Nominal Stems.

182. Declinable stems, though they often consist of the bare root (either verbal or pronominal), are chiefly formed by means of suffixes added to roots. These suffixes are of two kinds: primary, or those added directly to roots (which may at the same time be compounded with verbal prefixes): and secondary, or those added to stems already ending in a suffix and to pronominal roots (which are thus treated as primary stems).

1. Primary Derivatives as a rule show the root in its strong form; e. g. véd-a m. knowledge (vid know); sár-ana n. running (√sr); kār-á making (√kr); grābh-á m. seizer (√grabh). In meaning they may be divided into the two classes of abstract action nouns (cognate in sense to infinitives) and concrete agent nouns (cognate in sense to participles) used as adjectives or substantives; e. g. ma-ti f. thought (man think); yodh-á, m. fighter (yudh fight). Other meanings are only modifications of these two; e. g. dāna (= dā_ana) n. act of giving, then gift.

a. When the bare root is used as a declinable stem, it usually remains unchanged; e. g. dā m. giver, bhíd f. destroyer, yúj m. companion, spás m. spy, vr̥dh adj. strengthening. Roots ending in i or u take a determinative t; e. g. mí-t f. pillar, stú-t f. praise. The root may appear in a reduplicated form; e. g. cikít wise, jó-gū singing aloud.

b. Several primary nominal suffixes connected with the verbal system have already been sufficiently dealt with, viz. those of the pres. and fut. participles: ant (85; 156), āna and māna (158); of the perf. act. part.: vāms (89; 157); of the perf. pass. part.: ta and na (160); of the gerundive: ya, āyya, enya, tva, *tavyā*¹ and *anīya*² (162). The formation of stems to which the primary suffixes of the comparative and superlative, īyāms and iṣṭha, are added has also been explained (88; 103, 2). Of the rest the following in alphabetical order are the most usual and important:

a: e. g. bhāg-á m. share (√bhaj); megh-á m. cloud (mih discharge water); cod-á m. instigator (√cud); sārg-a m. emission (√srj); nāy-á m. leader (√nī), priy-á pleasing (√pri); hav-á m. invocation (√hū); jār-á m. lover (√jṛ); ve-vij-á quick (vij dart), carā-car-á far-extending. The substantives are almost exclusively m.; but yug-á n. (Gk. ζυγ-ό-ν; Lat. jug-u-m).

an: m. agent nouns and about a dozen defective n. stems; e. g. ukṣ-án m. ox, mūrdh-án m. head, rāj-an m. king; ás-an n. blood, áh-an n. day, ud-án n. water, údh-an n. udder.

anā: f. action nouns: jar-aṇā old age, yós-aṇā woman, vadh-ánā slaughter. This is also the f. form of adjectives in ana; e. g. tur-ánā speeding.

¹ The second part, ya, of this suffix is secondary (182, 2), but the whole is employed as a primary suffix (162, 5). The first part, tav, is probably derived from the old infinitive ending tave (p. 192, 4).

² The second half of this suffix, īya, is secondary, but the whole is employed as a primary suffix (162, 6).

Some of these derivatives, especially those formed from pronominal stems, have the sense of resembling; e. g. mā-vant like me; nṛ-vánt manly. From this sense is derived the use of the n. acc. as an adv. of comparison; e. g. manuṣ-vát like Manus.

vin: forms adjectives from stems ending in a (which is lengthened), ā, and as; e. g. ubhayā-vín partaking of both (ubháya), aṣṭrā-vín obedient to the goad, yaśas-vín glorious. Exceptionally formed are dhr̥ṣad-vín bold (dhr̥ṣát) and vāg-vín eloquent (vác).

śa: forms adjectives and m. substantives, sometimes without change of meaning; e. g. éta-śa variegated (éta id.), yuva-śa youthful (yúvan id.), roma-śa hairy (róman hair); aṅku-śa m. hook, kalá-śa m. jar.

183. The above lists of suffixes practically supply the rules of gender for the Vedic noun. These may be summarized as follows:

Speaking generally, bare roots as stems, if action nouns, are f., if agent nouns, m.

Derivative stems in ā, ī, ū are f.; stems in a, t, n may be m. or n.; stems in i and u may be of any gender.

a. Feminine are all stems formed with the suffixes ā, ī,¹ ū; tā, tāt, tāti, ti,² trā.

¹ Except seven m. stems in ī; see 100, I b.

² But when stems in ti appear as agent nouns they are m., and m. f. as adjectives.

b. Neuter are all stems formed with is, tva, tvana, and, unless adjectives¹ or agent nouns,² those formed with ana, as, us.

c. Masculine are (in so far as not used adjectivally) all stems formed with the suffixes yu, va; āyana, i,³ ka, bha, la.

d. Masc. or fem. are stems formed with the suffixes ni, nu, mi, *tr*⁴; also stems formed with the bare root.⁵

e. Masc. or neut. are stems formed with the suffixes a, ta, tha, na, una, ma, ya, ra, tya, tra, tu, an, man, van; also adjectives formed with in, vin, īna, īya, tana, tama, tara, maya, mant, vant.

f. Masc., fem., neut. are stems formed with i or u.

B. Compounds.

184. I. Verbal Compounds are formed by combining roots with twenty prepositions and a few adverbs. The compound verb (which, however, in finite forms is actually compounded only in subordinate clauses when the preposition immediately precedes the verb) is conjugated like the simple verb. Thus gam go combines with sam together to sam-gām go together, unite; 3. s. sam-gáchati. The compound root can be used to form nominal stems by means of the primary suffixes enumerated above (182, 1); e. g. sam-gam-á m. union.

a. The prepositions which are compounded with roots are the following: ácha towards, áti beyond, ádhi upon, ánu after, antár between, ápa away, ápi on, abhí against, áva down, *á*⁶ near, úd up, ní down, into, nís out, pārā away,

¹ When they are of course m. as well as n.

² When they are m.

³ In patronymics.

⁴ Stems in tr are always m. when they are agent nouns.

⁵ These when used as adj. are occasionally neuter.

⁶ The preposition ā reverses the sense of verbs of going or giving; e. g. ā-gām come, ā-dā take.

pári around, prá forth, práti towards, ví asunder, sám together.

b. A few adverbs are also compounded with a limited number of verbs:

áram at hand is combined with kr̥ = serve (dat.), prepare (acc.); with gam = serve; with bhū = serve, conduce to (dat.).

āvis openly is combined with as, bhū and kr̥ only; with the two former it means become visible, appear; e. g. āvis sánti being manifest; āvīr agnīr abhavat Agni became manifest; with kr̥ it means make visible, e. g. āviṣ karta make manifest.

tiráś aside is combined with bhū be and *dhā*¹ put only; e. g. mā tiró bhūt may it not disappear.

purás in front is combined with kr̥ do and dhā put only; e. g. kr̥ṇótu rathám puráh may he place (our) car in the forefront.

śrád, an old word meaning heart (Gk. καρδ-ία and καρδ-ίη, Lat. cord-), having acquired the character of an adverb, is once combined with kr̥ and often with dhā put in the sense of put faith in, credit (= Lat. credo for cred-do), but is nearly always separated from the verb by other words; e. g. śrád asmai dhatta believe in him; śrád víśvā vāryā kr̥dhi entrust all boons (to us).

prā-dúr (before the door) begins to appear in the AV. in combination with bhū = become manifest, appear.

c. A few substantives, after assuming an adverbial character, appear compounded like verbal prefixes, with participial forms in the AV. These are: *ásta-m*² home with i go: astam-yánt setting, astam-eṣyánt about to set, ástam-ita set; námas obeisance with the gerund of kr̥ make: namas-kṛtya doing homage.

¹ In the ŚB. and later tiráś is also combined with kr̥ do.

² This word is still a substantive in the RV.

In the RV. a few substantives designating parts of the body are compounded with the gerund of grah seize: karna-gr̥hya seizing by the ear, pāda-gr̥hya seizing by the foot, hasta-gr̥hya grasping by the hand.

d. The interjection hiñ is compounded with kr̥ in the sense of utter the sound hiñ, murmur; e. g. hiñ-kr̥ṇvati lowing. There are also a few reduplicated interjectional words, mostly onomatopoeic and nearly always ending in ā, that appear compounded with bhū and kr̥: alalā-bhāvānt sounding merrily; jañjanā-bhāvānt sparkling; malmalā-bhāvānt glittering; bharbharā-bhāvāt became confounded; bibibā-bhāvānt crackling; kikirā kr̥ṇu tear to tatters; maṣmaṣā karam I have crushed; masmasā kuru and mṛsmṛsā kuru crush; akhkhalī-kṛtya croaking.

a. The latter compound is the only example in the RV. of i appearing instead of ā before kr̥ or bhū. The AV. has vātī-kṛta n. a disease (from vāta wind).

II. Nominal Compounds.

185. From the Indo-European period the Vedic language has inherited the power of combining two or more words into one treated like a simple word as regards accent, inflexion, and construction. Both in the frequency and in the length of compounds the Vedic language resembles the Greek of Homer. In the RV. and the AV. no compounds of more than three independent members are met with, and those in which three occur are rare, such as pūrva-kāma-kṛtvān fulfilling former wishes.

The two characteristic features of a compound are unity of accent and employment of the uninflected stem in the first member (or members); but there are exceptions to both these rules. Occasionally tmesis of a compound occurs.¹

¹ Chiefly in dual compounds, as dyāvā ha kṣāmā heaven and earth; also in a few others, as nārā vā śāṃsam, for nārā-śāṃsam. It takes place only when the compound is doubly accented.

The Sandhi between the members is, moreover, sometimes different from that between words in a sentence.

a. The gender of compounds, if they end in substantives, is with few exceptions that of the last member; the gender of collectives is always neuter. The number in compounds depends on the sense; that in collectives is always singular. When the word appearing as the first member has two stems, the weak stem is used; when it has three, the middle stem (73 a). In substantive compounds the last member retains, as a rule, its gender, form, and inflexion; while in adjectival compounds the gender and inflexion of the last member are of course variable.

b. Classification. Vedic compounds may be divided into three main classes according to their syntactical relations: 1. Co-ordinatives, or those in which the members are co-ordinated; 2. Determinatives, or those in which the first member determines or limits the sense of the last; 3. Possessives, or adjectives the general meaning of which implies possession (as bāhv-anná possessing much food). To these must be added, in order to classify Vedic compounds exhaustively, three lesser groups: 4. Governing compounds, or adjectives in which the first member governs the last in sense (as kṣayád-vīra ruling men): 5. Syntactical compounds, or irregular formations arising from the juxtaposition of two words in a sentence: 6. Iteratives, or repeated words treated as compounds in the Saṃhitās inasmuch as they have only one accent and a special meaning when thus combined.

1. Co-ordinative (Dvandva)¹ Compounds.

186. These consist of two substantives, far less commonly adjectives, connected in sense with 'and'.

¹ This term applied to co-ordinatives by the later Hindu grammarians, means pair or couple.

A 1. The most numerous group (about three-fourths of all the Dvandvas) in the Rigveda comprises those compounds (nearly always names of deities) in which each member is dual in form and has a separate accent ; e. g. mitrá-váruṇā Mitra and Varuṇa ; mātārā-pitārā mother and father ; dyāvā-prthivī heaven and earth. In the RV. the two duals are often separated, as in the line á náktā barhiḥ sadatām uśásā let Night and Dawn scat themselves upon the litter. The proper genitive of such compounds is e. g. mitráyor váruṇayoḥ. But as these co-ordinate duals early came to be regarded as a unit, the commonest ending of the first member, that of the N. A., came to be retained unaltered in the other cases : G. mitrá-váruṇayoḥ, I. mitrá-váruṇābhyām. A further step towards unification is taken in a minority of cases in which the first member loses its accent and the last syllable of the final member (irrespectively of its original accent) receives the acute, as sūryā-candramás-ā sun and moon (candrá-mas). The last stage in the Rigveda appears in four examples in which the first member assumes the stem-form, e. g. indra-vāyú Indra and Vāyu. In the later Saṃhitās and in B. this is the prevailing type in new formations, e. g. dakṣa-kratū m. will and understanding (TB.).

2. Another type is represented by the plural Dvandvas¹ which express pairs of groups. These show the stem-form in the first member and the accent on the final syllable of the last. The only examples in the RV. occur in Book X ; e. g. *aho-rātrāṇi*² days and nights, ajāvāyas goats (ajā) and sheep (ávi) ; but in the later Saṃhitās this type becomes quite general, e. g. bhadra-pāpāḥ (AV.), the good and the bad.³

² This Dvandva shows a double irregularity : the gender of the first member has prevailed over that of the second, and the f. stem rātrī has been changed to rātra.

³ Several of the cardinal numerals are old Dvandvas, e. g. dvā-daśa twelve (two and ten), dvā being an old dual ; trāyo-daśa thirteen (three and ten).

3. There occur in the Saṃhitās a few singular Dvandvas which express a collective sense and are always neuter,¹ and accent the final syllable; e. g. iṣṭā-pūrtām² what has been offered or given; kṛta-akṛtām (AV.) what has been done and not done; keśa-śmaśrū n. hair and beard (AV.); bhadra-pāpām (AV.) good and evil; samiṣṭa-yajús (VS.) sacrifice and sacrificial formula.

B. Dvandvas consisting of adjectives are rare. They are of three types:

1. The adjectives designate colours, their combination expressing a mixture of the two, as nīla-lohitā dark blue and red = dark red.

2. They express a contrast, as utkūla-nikūlā (VS.) going uphill and downhill.

3. They are used with dual substantives to express that each is an attribute of one unit of the kind, as pad-bhyām dakṣiṇa-savyābhyām (AV.) with the two feet, the right and the left.

a. The old dual Dvandvas (A 1) are frequently represented by elliptical duals which put one of a pair in the dual to express both, as dyāvā = heaven and earth; mitrā = Mitra and Varuṇa; pitārā = father and mother; mātārā = mother and father, parents.

2. Determinatives.

187. This numerous class of compounds comprises two groups. In the larger group (2 a) the first member has the value of a substantive dependent, in the sense of an oblique case, on the second, which may be either a verbal noun or an ordinary substantive. This may be called the dependent determinative group (named Tatpuruṣa by the later Hindu grammarians). In the other group (2 b) the final member, if an ordinary substantive, is described adjectivally, or, if a verbal noun, adverbially, by the first member. This may be called the descriptive determinative group (called Karma-dhāraya by the later Hindu grammarians).

² Originally doubtless iṣṭāpūrtā, dual in both members.

2 a. Dependent (Tatpuruṣa) Determinatives.

A. The first member (substantive or pronoun) may have the sense (and often even the form) of any oblique case. When it has an acc., inst., abl., or loc. sense, the final member is mostly a verbal noun;¹ when it has a dat.² or gen.³ sense, it is always an ordinary noun.⁴ The compound may be a substantive or an adjective, according as the last member is one or the other.

1. In acc. dependents the final member is always a verbal noun; e.g. havir-ād eating the oblation; go-ghnā cow-slaying, *aśva-hayā*⁵ urging on steeds; deva-mādana exhilarating the gods; gara-gīrṇā (AV.)⁶ having swallowed poison; bhūri-dāvan giving much; bhadra-vādīn uttering an auspicious cry; vāja-sāti f. act of winning booty; vṛtra-hātya n. act of slaying Vṛtra.

2. Inst.: indra-pātama most drunk by Indra; agni-dagdhá burnt with fire; *devá-tta*⁷ given by the gods; aritra-pāraṇa, adj. crossing with oars; tanú-śubhra shining (with =) in body; bala-vijñāyā to be recognized by his strength.

¹ The subdivision ending in verbal nouns may be called 'verbal dependents'.

² Examples of this sense are very rare. The final member is an ordinary adjective or substantive.

³ The final member of genitive dependents is always an ordinary substantive.

⁴ The subdivision ending in ordinary substantives may be called 'nominal dependents'.

⁵ Cf. Greek ἵππο-δαμο-s horse-taming.

⁶ An example of the rare use of a past pass. part. in a transitive sense.

⁷ tta for datta (160, 2 b).

3. Dat.: vakmarāja-satya faithful to the ordainers of hymns; viśvá-śambhū salutary for all.

4. Abl.: go-jā produced from cows; tīvra-sú-t pressed from the fermenting mass.

5. Gen. (the commonest sense): rāja-putrá king's son; viś-pāti lord of the clan; deva-kilbiṣá m. offence against the gods;¹ dru-padá n. post of wood.²

6. Loc.: áhar-jāta (AV.) born in the day; uda-plutá (AV.) swimming in the water; puru-bhū being in many places; bandhu-kṣit dwelling among relatives.

a. In their first member many dependent compounds retain the case-ending, most commonly the acc., often the loc., but the rest rarely. Sing. endings (acc. and inst.) may express a plur. sense. Plur. endings (acc. and loc.) sometimes occur, but du. endings never in these compounds.

The acc. generally expresses the object of a transitive verb. The form in am is, in the RV., the rule before the verbal nouns -kara making, -caya collecting, -jaya conquering, -tara overcoming, -dara cleaving, -bhara bearing, -ruja breaking, -sani winning, -saha overwhelming; e.g. abhayam-kará procuring security, dhanam-jayá winning booty, puram-dará,³ destroying forts, sutam-bhará⁴ receiving pressed Soma; it also occurs before other verbal nouns, not infrequently before such as begin with vowels; e.g. dhiyam-dhá devout, viśvam-invá all-moving, áśvam-iṣṭi⁵ seeking horses. An example of a cognate acc. is śubham-yá moving in brilliance, and of an adverbial acc., ugram-paśyá (AV.) looking fiercely. Examples of an acc. pl. ending are kā-cit-kará doing all manner of things; páśva-iṣṭi⁵ desiring kine.

³ The singular acc. form with plural sense.

⁴ Also im in puṣṭim-bhará bringing prosperity and harim-bhará bearing the tawny (bolt).

⁵ This and áśvam-iṣṭi are Tatpuruṣa possessives (189, 2).

Inst.: girā-vṛdh rejoicing in song; śúneṣita driven by dogs¹ (śúnā); vidmanāpas working (apás) with wisdom (vidmānā); kṣudhā-mārā (AV.) m. death by hunger; *vācā-stena*² thief by speech, secretly injuring by words.

Dat.: the only example seems to be found in the loose syntactical compound dāsyave vṛka wolf to the Dasyu, used as a proper name.

Abl.: divo-jā produced from heaven; divo-rúc shining from the sky.

Gen.: very common before pāti husband or lord, as gnā-s-pāti husband of a divine woman; jā-s-pāti lord of a family; brāhmaṇas-pāti lord of prayer.³ It also occurs in the proper names dīvo-dāsa servant of heaven and śúnaḥ-śépa Dog's-tail.

Loc.: common in the RV. before agent nouns formed from the simple root; e. g. divi-yāj worshipping in heaven; rathe-ṣṭhā standing on a car; also before several formed with a; e. g. divi-kṣayā dwelling in heaven. There are also several examples of plurals, as apsu-śād dwelling in the waters; goṣu-yúdh fighting in (= for) kine; hṛtsv-ás piercing the heart. The singular also occurs a few times before an ordinary adj. or subst., as māde-raghu quick in exhilaration; svapne-duḥṣvapnyā (AV.) n. evil dream in sleep.

α. If a root forms the last member of a Tatpuruṣa, final long vowels (ā, ī, ū) undergo no change, while short vowels⁴ (i, u, ṛ) usually add a determinative t; e. g. agre-pā drinking first; yajña-ní leading the

² A rare example of an inst. with an ordinary substantive as final member.

sacrifice ; rāja-śū king-creating ; but divi-kṣi-t dwelling in heaven ; soma-sū-t Soma-pressing ; jyotiṣ-kṛ-t light-creating. There is, however, no t added in vanar-gú forest-roaming.¹

2 b. Descriptive (Karmadhāraya)² Compounds.

188. This class of Determinatives is comparatively rare in the Saṃhitās. The last member is generally an ordinary substantive, but is sometimes a verbal or an ordinary adjective. The relation of the first member to the last is appositional, attributive, or adverbial. It is expressed in three ways :

1. By a Substantive. If followed by a subst., it has an attributive sense equivalent to an adj. expressing sex or a compound nature ; e. g. puruṣa-mṛgá (VS.) m. (man =) male antelope ; úlūka-yātu m. owl demon, i. e. demon in form of an owl ; puruṣa-vyāghrá (VS.) m. man-tiger, a kind of demon ; vṛṣā-kapi m. man-ape.

If followed by a verbal adj., the preceding subst. is usually appositional in sense ; e. g. īśāna-kṛt acting as a ruler ; stóma-taṣṭa fashioned as a hymn of praise. But sometimes it is adverbial ; e. g. ṛtv-ij sacrificing in season = regularly ; sárga-takta speeding with a rush.

a. Before a verbal noun a substantive sometimes implies a comparison ; e. g. dhāra-vāká sounding like a stream, śyená-jūta speeding like an eagle. Similarly before an ordinary adjective : śúka-babhru (VS.) reddish like a parrot.

2. By an Adjective. If followed by an ordinary subst., the adj. has the usual attributive sense ; e. g. candrā-mās m. (bright) moon ; kṛṣṇa-śakuní (AV.) m. raven (lit. black bird); nava-jvārā m. new pain; *mahā-grāmā*¹ m. great host; yāvayat-sakhā m. protecting friend.² Sometimes the qualifying adj. indicates a part of what the last member expresses; e. g. adhara-kaṇṭhā (VS.) m. lower (part of the) neck; ardha-devā m. demigod; *pūrvāhṇā*³ m. forenoon; *madhyām-dina*⁴ m. midday.

² This is the term applied to this class of compounds by the later Hindu grammarians.

If followed by a verbal noun, the preceding adj. is adverbial in sense;⁵ e. g. *āśu-pátvan*⁶ swift-flying, i. e. flying swiftly; āśu-héman swiftly-speeding; sana-jā born of old (= sānā); satya-yāj sacrificing truly (= satyām), dvi-jā (AV.) born twice.⁷ Similarly before ordinary adjectives: viśvá-ścandra all-glittering; hāri-ścandra glittering yellow; *try-āruṣa*⁸ (AV.) ruddy in three places.

a. At the end of Karmadhārayas the final n of an stems is dropped⁸ in eka-vṛṣā (AV.) m. only bull, mahā-vṛṣā (AV.) m. great bull, *bhadrāhā*⁹ (AV.) n. auspicious day.

3. By an Adverb (inclusive of particles and prepositions): akṣṇayā-drūh injuring wrongly; amutra-bhūya (AV.) n. state of being there; evāra quite (evā) ready (āra); pūnar-nava renewing itself; punar-bhū arising again; puro-yāvan going before; puró-hita placed in front; sató-mahat equally (sa-tás) great; satyām-ugra truly mighty; sāyam-bhavā

² Here sākhi friend becomes sakha. Cf. 189, 4 d and 189 A. 2 a.

³ Here āhan day is syncopated and extended with a; also in aparāhṇā (AV.) afternoon, ny-āhn-a (AV.) decline of day.

⁴ With case-ending retained in the first member.

⁵ The sense is rather appositional in pūrva-pā drinking (as) first, vāmā-jāta born as one dear, i. e. dear by nature.

⁶ Cf. Gk. ἄκν-πέτης swift-flying.

⁷ Here the cardinals are used for the numeral adverbs dvi-s, trí-s.

⁸ This is much commoner in Bahuvrīhis (189, 4).

⁹ Also in ṣaḍ-ahā (AV.) m. period of six days (189, 4).

(AV.) m. becoming evening; paścā¹-dośá (VS.) m. later part of the evening; idā-vatsará¹ (AV.) m. the present year; puró-agni¹ (VS.) m. fire in front; su-dā² giving willingly; duḥ-śéva unfavourable; a-mitra m. non-friend, enemy; su-vasaná n. fair garment; áti-kr̥ṣṇa excessively dark; prá-ṇapāt m. great grandson; adhi-rājá m. supreme king; prá-vīra m. great hero; saṃ-vatsará m. full year.

3. Possessive (Bahuvrīhi) Compounds.

189. These compounds are secondary adjectives. They are determinatives (generally Karmadhārayas), ending in substantives, which have been transformed into adjectives agreeing in gender, number, and case with another substantive expressed or understood. The transformation is accompanied by a shift of accent from the final member to the first. The term 'possessive' is probably the most appropriate as applied to these compounds, for it expresses their general meaning in the vast majority of cases; in a few instances the more comprehensive sense of 'connected with' is required to indicate the relation between the substantive and the Bahuvrīhi compound agreeing with it; e.g. viśvā³-nara belonging to all men. Possessives are of two kinds:

1. Karmadhāraya Possessives, in which the first member is an attributive adj. (including participles), an appositional subst., or an adverb (including particles and prepositions): e.g. ugrá-bāhu powerful-armed; hatá-mātr whose mother has been slain; rūśad-vatsa having a shining calf; áśva-parṇa horse-winged, i. e. whose wings are horses; indra-śatru having Indra as a foe; rājá-putra having kings as sons; hiraṇya-nemi whose fellies are (made of) gold; aṣṭá-pad² eight-footed, dvi-pád³ two-footed; itthá-dhī having such thought, devout; puro-rathá whose car is in front; ví-grīva wry-necked; an-udrá¹ waterless; a-pád footless; kú-yava causing a bad harvest; duṣ-pád ill-footed; su-parṇá beautiful-winged.

² Gk. ὀκτώ-ποδ-,

³ Lat. bi-ped-.

a. In some possessives based on appositional Karmadhārayas a comparison of the first with the final member is implied; e. g. varsājya (AV.) whose rain is (like) butter; vrkṣá-keśa whose trees are (like) hair, tree-haired = wooded (mountain).

b. The superlatives jyēṣṭha chief and śrēṣṭha best, the comparative bhūyas more, and pāra higher, are used substantively as final member of possessives: indra-jyeṣṭha having Indra as chief, yamá-śreṣṭha (AV.) of whom Yama is best, āsthi-bhūyāms (AV.) having bone as its chief part = chiefly bone, avara-s-pará² (VS.) in which the lower is higher, topsy-turvy.

2. In Tatpuruṣa Possessives the first member most commonly has a gen., not infrequently a loc., but rarely an inst. or acc. sense. The case-ending is in several instances retained. Examples are: rāyás-kāma having a desire for wealth; diví-yoni having (his) origin in heaven; bhāsá-ketu recognizable by light; tvām-kāma having a desire for thee.

a. In possessives based on gen. Tatpuruṣas, the first member often implies a comparison, but never with a case-ending; as agní-tejas (AV.) having the brightness of fire, fire-bright; ṛkṣa-grīva bear-necked; gó-vapus cow-shaped; māno-java having the swiftness of thought, swift as thought; mayūra-roman having the plumes of peacocks.

b. When a loc. sense is intended, parts of the body appear as the last member; e. g. aśru-mukhá (AV.) having tears on her face, tear-faced; ghṛtá-prṣṭha having butter on his back, butter-backed; pātra-hasta (AV.) having a vessel in his hand; maṇi-grīvā having pearls on the neck; mádhu-jihva having honey on his tongue; vájra-bāhu having a bolt on his arm.

3. Bahuvrīhis come to be used substantively, when the noun with which they agree is dropped: thus su-parṇá fair-winged, m. bird. Of this use there are three applications:

a. These compounds very frequently appear as m., sometimes as f., proper names, the adjectival sense often not occurring at all. Thus br̥hád-uktha adj. having great praise, m. a seer; br̥hád-diva adj. dwelling in high heaven, m. a seer, f. br̥had-divā a goddess; m. as names only, Priyá-medha (to whom sacrifice is dear) and Vāmá-deva (to whom the gods are dear).

² Here the s of the nom. survives from the use of the two words in syntactical juxtaposition. Cp. the later para-s-para and anyo-'nya.

b. They appear not infrequently as n. substantives with an abstract (sometimes a collective) sense, especially when the first member is the privative particle a- or an-, or the adjective sárva all; e. g. an-apatyá, adj. childless (AV.), n. childlessness; sarva-vedasá (AV.) n. whole property; ni-kilbiṣá n. deliverance from sin; mātr-bandhú (AV.) n. maternal kinship.

c. With numerals, from dvi two upwards, as their first member, they form sing. neuters¹ (always ending in accented á) with a collective sense; e. g. tri-yugá n. period of three lives; dvi-rājá (AV.) n. battle of two kings; daśāṅgulá n. length of ten fingers (4 ḍ).

4. The final member of Bahuvr̥his is liable to various changes tending to make it end in a.

a. The n of several words in an, kárman,² dhāman, nāman, párvan, vṛṣan, sakthán, is frequently dropped in ordinary Bahuvr̥his, and that of áhan in numeral collectives; e. g. *viśvá-karma*³ performing all work, priyá-dhāma occupying desirable places, chando-nāmá (VS.) named metre, metrical, *vī-parva*⁴ jointless, dvi-vṛṣá (VS.) having two bulls, lomaśá-saktha (VS.) having hairy thighs; ṣaḍ-ahá (AV. m. period of six days).

b. The suffixes a and ya are frequently added, and sometimes ka; e. g. catur-akṣ-á four-eyed, su-gáv-a having fine cows, anyódar-ya born from another womb (udára), dāśa-mās-ya ten months old, mádhu-hast-ya honey-handed, try-āmba-ka having three mothers, vī-manyu-ka (AV.) free from anger, a-karṇá-ka (TS.) earless.

c. The suffix in (possessing) is sometimes pleonastically added: mahā-hast-in having large hands, ku-nakh-in (AV.) having lad nails, ¹ Except those formed with ahá day, which are m., as ṣaḍ-ahá m. series of six days.

² But this word retains its n in seven compounds in the RV.

³ But also viśvá-karman.

⁴ But a-parván and vṛṣa-parvan.

yaśo-bhag-in (VS.) rich in glory, sa-rath-in (VS.) riding in the same chariot.

d. a is substituted for i in *kavā-sakhā*¹ having a niggard for a friend, and in daśāṅgulā n. length of ten fingers (aṅgūli). On the other hand, i is substituted for a in some compounds of gandhā smell, and in a few others: dhūmā-gandhi smelling of smoke, kr̥ṣṭā-rādhi (AV.) attaining success (rādha) in agriculture, prāty-ardhi to whom the half (ārdha) belongs.

e. In the f. of Bahuvrīhis pāti hus' and or lord, instead of remaining unchanged, takes the f. form of the subst. (pātnī wife) in dāsā-patnī having a demon as master, devā-patnī having a god as a husband, vīṣa-patnī ruled by a mighty one, śūra-patnī having a hero as a husband.

4. Governing Compounds.

189 A. In this class, which embraces a considerable number of compounds, the first member, being either a preposition or a verbal noun, governs the last in sense. They resemble Bahuvrīhis in form² as well as in their adjectival character.

1. In the prepositional group, in which about twenty examples occur in the RV., the first member is a preposition capable of governing a case; e.g. *ati-rātrā*³ lasting overnight; anu-kāmā according to wish; ā-pathi and ā-pathī being on the way; paro-mātrā going beyond measure, excessive.

a. Like Bahuvrīhis, compounds of this type may become substantives; e.g. upānas-ā adj. being on a wagon, n. (AV.) space on a wagon.

b. The final member, when it does not end in a, adds the suffix a, and ya sometimes even when it already ends in a; e.g. ānu-path-a going along the road, adhas-pad-ā being under the feet, paró-kṣ-a (AV.) away from the eye (áḁṣ), puro-gav-ā m. leader (going before the cows);

¹ Otherwise sakhi remains unchanged in both Bahuvrīhis and Karmadhārayas (but 188, 2) in the RV.; cp. 189, 2a.

³ Here rātrī night becomes rātra, as in the Dvandva aho-rātrā n. day and night.

ādhi-gart-ya being on the car-seat (gārta), antaḥ-parśav-yá (VS.) being between the ribs (pārsu), ūpa-mās-ya (AV.) occurring every month (māsa), tiró-ahn-ya (being beyond a day), belonging to the day (āhan, before yesterday).

2. In the verbally governing class the first member is an agent noun or an action noun governing the last member as an-object. With a single exception¹ they never add a suffix. Three types (in all of which examples of proper names occur) may be distinguished.

a. In the commonest type, which is almost restricted to the RV., the first member is a participle ending in át formed from transitive present stems in a, á, or áya; e. g. *ṛdhád-vāra*² increasing goods, tarád-dveṣas overcoming (tárat) foes, dhārayát-kavi supporting the wise, *mandayát-sakha*³ gladdening his friend. The following are used as proper names: *ṛdhád-ray*² (increasing wealth), *jamád-agni*⁴ (going to Agni), bharád-vāja (carrying off the prize).

b. Only three or four examples occur of a second type, in which the first member consists of a simple present stem (probably representing an imperative): *radā-vasu*⁵ dispensing wealth, *śikṣā-nar-á*⁶ helping men; as the name of a man: trasá-dasyu (terrify the foe).

c. Some half dozen examples occur in the RV. of a third type, in which the first member is an action-noun in ti: dāti-vāra giving treasures, vīti-rādhās enjoying the oblation, vṛṣṭi-dyāv causing the sky to rain; as the name of a man: pūṣṭi-gu m. (rearing kine).

5. Syntactical Compounds.

189 B. A certain number of irregular compounds are formed in a manner differing from that of any of the four classes described above. They may be treated as a class, since all of them have been produced by the same cause: frequent syntactical juxtaposition in a sentence.

⁴ jamat is a palatalized form of an aor. part. of gam go.

⁵ In this and the following example the a of radā and śikṣa is metrically lengthened.

⁶ Here the stem of the final member is extended with a.

a. The relative adverb yād (a nominally formed abl.) in so far as has come to be compounded with a superlative in the adj. yāc-chreṣṭhá the best possible (lit. in so far as best), and with a gerundive in the adv. yād-rādhyaṁ as quickly as possible (lit. in so far as attainable).

b. The initial words of a text begin to be compounded in the later Saṃhitās as a substantive to designate that text. Thus ye-yajāmahá (VS.) m., used in the N. pl., means the text beginning with the words yé yājāmahe.

c. Several subst. or adj. compounds have resulted from phrases consisting of two words in juxtaposition. Thus aham-uttará (AV.) n. dispute for precedence (from ahám úttaraḥ I am higher); mama-satyá n. dispute as to ownership (from māma satyám it is certainly mine); mām-pāśyá (AV.) designation of an aphrodisiac plant (from mām paśya look at me); kuvít-sa some one (from kuvít sá is it he?); āham-sana (voc.) rapacious (from ahám sanā I will obtain); aham-pūrvá eager to be first (from ahám pūrvāḥ I should be first); kim-tvá (VS.) asking garrulously (from kím tvám what are you doing?).

6. Iterative Compounds.

189 C. Substantives, adjectives, pronouns, numerals, adverbs, and prepositions are often repeated. They are then treated as compounds, the second member losing its accent and the two words being written in the Pada text with the Avagraha between them, as in other compounds. This class resembles other compounds in having a single accent, but differs from them in having not the stem but the fully inflected form of nominal words in the first member. In the RV. the iteratives number over 140, rather more than half of them being substantives. The sense conveyed by the repetition is frequency, or constant succession in time, or distribution in space. Examples of the various kinds of iteratives are the following:

a. Substantives: áhar-ahar,¹ divé-dive,² dyávi-dyavi every day, māsī-māsi month after month; gr̥hé-gr̥he, dāme-dame, viśé-viśe³ in every house; āngād-āngāt from every limb; diśó-diśaḥ (AV.) from every quarter; yajñásya-yajñasya of every sacrifice; párvani-parvani in every joint; agním-agnim (duvasyata), (worship) Agni again and again; ánnam-annam (AV.) food in perpetuity.

b. Adjectives: pányam-panyam . . sómam Soma who is again and again to be praised; prācīm-prācīm pradīśam each eastern direction; úttarām-uttarām sámām (AV.) each following year.

c. Pronouns: tvám-tvam aharyathāḥ thou didst ever rejoice; yád-yad yāmi whatever I ask; tát-tad . . dadhe he always bestows that.³

d. Numerals: páñca-pañca five each time; saptá-sapta (tredhā three times) seven in each case (= 21).⁴

e. Adverbs:⁵ yáthā-yathā as in each case; adyādyā śváḥ-śvaḥ on each to-day, on each to-morrow.

f. Prepositions: the four which are found used thus are úpa, párá, prá, sám; e. g. prá-pra . . śasyate it is ever proclaimed.

g. The only example of a verbal form occurring as an iterative is píba-piba drink, drink.⁶ Otherwise a repeated verb is treated independently; e. g. stuhí stuhí praise, praise.

¹ áhar-divi day after day, is a kind of mixed iterative.

² For divi-divi and viśi-viśi, owing to the influence of the frequent loc. in e from a stems.

³ In the ŚB. such words are repeated with vā: yāvad vā yāvad vā and yatamé vā yatame vā.

⁴ Such iteratives led to the formation of regular compounds in B.: éka-ekaḥ (AV.): ékaikaḥ (ŚB.); dvā-dvā (RV.): dvan-dvām (MS.) in twos, dvan-dvā pair (B.).

⁵ In a few instances repeated adverbs are not treated as compounds, both words being accented: nú nú now, now; ihéhá (AV.) here, here, but always ihéha in RV.

⁶ In the ŚB. also occurs yájasva-yajasva.

CHAPTER VII

OUTLINES OF SYNTAX

190. Having in the preceding parts of the present grammar dealt with single words in their phonetic, their derivative, and their inflexional aspects, we now turn to their treatment in syntax, which regards their arrangement and mutual meaning when they are combined to form a sentence, which is the expression of a connected and definite unit of thought. The parts of which the sentence may consist are either inflected words: the noun (substantive and adjective) and the verb, the participle which shares the nature of both, and the pronoun; or uninflected words: prepositions, adverbs, and conjunctions. A comparison of the syntax of the RV. with that of classical Sanskrit shows (1) that the use of the middle voice, the tenses, the moods, the inflected participles, the infinitives, and the genuine prepositions is much fuller and more living in the former, while (2) that of the passive voice and of indeclinable participles is much less developed, that of absolute cases and of adverbial prepositions with case-endings is only incipient, and that of periphrastic verbal forms is non-existent. The later Saṃhitās and the Brāhmaṇas exhibit a gradual transition by restriction or loss in the former group and by growth in the latter to the condition of things prevailing in classical Sanskrit.

The Order of Words.

191. Since metrical considerations largely interfere with the ordinary position of words in the Saṃhitās, the normal order is best represented by the prose of the Brāhmaṇas, and as it there appears is, moreover, doubtless the original one.

The general rule is that the subject begins the sentence and the verb ends it, the remaining members coming between.

a. The subject begins the sentence ; e. g. víśaḥ kṣatriyā-ya balīm haranti the peasants pay tribute to the prince (ŚB.). It may, however, be preceded by a particle like utá or occasionally by any other member of the sentence intended to be strongly emphasized ; e. g. prayājair vái devāḥ svargām lokām āyan by means of the Prayajas the gods went to the heavenly world (ŚB.).

b. The verb occasionally moves to the beginning of the sentence when it is strongly emphasized ; e. g. yánti vá āpa, éty ādityá, éti candrá mā, yánti ná kṣatrāṇi the waters move, the sun moves, the moon moves, the stars move (ŚB.). A predicative noun with the copula (which may be omitted) being equivalent to a verb, naturally occupies the same position ; e. g. sárve ha vái devā āgre sadṛśā āsuḥ all the gods in the beginning were similar (ŚB.) ; mitró vái śívó devānām Mitra, indeed, is the kindly one among the gods (TS.). Nevertheless the predicative noun, being emphatic, is as a rule the first word in the sentence ; e. g. mártyā ha vá āgre devā āsuḥ the gods were originally mortals (ŚB.) ; púruṣo vái yajñáḥ the sacrifice (is) a man (ŚB.).

c. As regards the cases, the acc. is placed immediately before the verb ; e. g. chándāṃsi yuktāni devébhyo yajñām vahanti the metres, when they are yoked, take the sacrifice to the gods (ŚB.). Adverbs and indeclinable participles occupy a similar position. Occasionally such words move to the beginning ; e. g. diví vái sóma āsīd, átha íhá devāḥ in heaven was Soma, but here the gods (SB.).

d. The apposition, including patronymics and participles, follows the word which it explains or defines ; e. g. sómo rájā Soma, the King. A participle, in its proper sense, if emphatic may be placed at the beginning ; e. g. svapántam vái dikṣitám rákṣāṃsi jighāṃsanti it is when he sleeps that the Rakṣases seek to slay the initiated man (TS.).

e. The attribute, whether adjective or genitive, precedes its substantive ; e. g. hiraṇyáyena ráthēna with golden car (i. 35²) ; devánām hótā the priest of the gods. Only when adjectives are used in apposition, especially as epithets of the gods, do they follow ; e. g. mitráya satyáya to Mitra, the true (TS.). Also adjectives designating the colours of certain animals, especially horses and cows, are found after the subst. The subst. belonging to a gen. is placed before the latter only when it is emphatic.

f. The preposition belonging to a verb precedes it, always in B., generally in V., where, however, it also sometimes follows ; e. g. jáyema sám yudhí spṛdhaḥ we would conquer our foes in battle (i. 8³). The preposition as a rule immediately precedes the verb, but is often also separated from it by one or more words ; e. g. á sáyakam maghāvā adatta the Bounteous One seized his missile (i. 32³) ; ápa támah pāpmānam hate she drives away darkness and sin (TS.). When a compound verb is emphatic, the preposition alone as a rule moves to the front occupying the position that the simple verb would occupy ; e. g. prá prajáyā jāyeya I would increase with progeny (TS.).

When used with substantives the genuine prepositions as a rule follow their case, while the prepositional adverbs precede it. The reason of this doubtless is that the former supplement the sense of the case, while the latter modify the sense much more emphatically.

g. Multiplicative adverbs precede their genitive ; e. g. tríḥ samvatsarásya three times a year.

h. Enclitics cannot, of course, begin a sentence. If they belong to a particular word they follow it ; otherwise they tend to occupy the second position in the sentence. The enclitic particles that follow the word with which they are most closely connected are ca, vā, iva, cid; kam is restricted to following nú, sú, hí in V., and sma to following ha in B. The other unaccented particles, u, gha, ha, svid, which refer to the statement of the whole sentence, occupy the second (or third) position in the sentence.

i. Even accented particles for the most part cannot begin a sentence. They either follow the word they emphasize in any position in the sentence: á, evá, kám; or they occupy the second position in the sentence, as emphasizing the whole statement: aṅgá, áha, íd, kíla, khálu, tú, nú, vái, hí.

The only particles that can begin the sentence are átha, ápi, utá; also ná if it negatives the whole sentence, but if it negatives the verb only, it follows that.

j. Forms of the pronoun tá tend in B. to occupy the first position, especially sá when it anticipates a proper name in dialogues, or tád as an acc. when famous authorities are quoted; e. g. sá hovāca gārgyaḥ (ŚB.) Gārgya spoke (as follows); tád u hovāca āsuriḥ with regard to this Āsuri said (ŚB.). The order is similar when átha or ápi are used: ápi hovāca yājñavalkyaḥ (ŚB.).

k. In relative and interrogative sentences there is nothing peculiar except that, as these two classes of words tend to begin the sentence, cases of them come to occupy the first position which in ordinary sentences do not occupy it; e. g. kim hí sá táir grháih kuryát what indeed should he do with this house? (ŚB.).

a. The last position in the sentence is exceptionally occupied in the following ways: 1. very often by final datives as a supplement to the sentence; e. g. tát paśún evāsmāi pári dadāti gúptyai thus he hands the cattle over to him for protection (ŚB.); 2. by the subject either when it is the name of an authority quoted or when it is equivalent to a relative clause; e. g. sá ha uvāca gārgyaḥ so said Gārgya; aindrām carūm nír vapet paśúkāmaḥ one (who is) desirous of cattle should assign a pap for Indra (TS.).

192. There is neither an indefinite nor a definite article in the Vedic language. Their meaning is inherent in the substantive much as personal pronouns are in forms of the definite verb. Whether the one or the other is meant is made sufficiently clear by the context; e.g. agnīm ile puróhitam I praise Agni the domestic priest (i. 1¹); agnīm manye pitáram Agni I deem a father (x. 7³). In B. the anaphoric use of tá is sometimes very nearly equivalent to the definite article (cp. 195 B 3 b, p. 294).

Number.

193. 1. Singular words with a plural or a collective sense are always treated strictly as singulars, being never construed with a plural form of the verb (cp. 194).

2. The dual number is in regular use and, generally speaking, in strict application. But in certain parts of the RV. the plural is often used instead of the dual of natural pairs; sometimes also otherwise; e.g. sám añjantu víšve devāḥ, sám āpo hṛdayāni nau let all the gods, let the waters unite the hearts of us two (x. 85⁴⁷).

a. A m. or f. du. is sometimes used to express a male and female of the same class; e.g. pitārā = father and mother; mātārā = mother and father. This type of the dual has its widest application in naming pairs of deities by means of one of them and is equivalent to dual compounds containing both names; e.g. dyāvā heaven and earth (= dyāvā-prthivī); uṣāsā Dawn and Night (= uṣāsā-náktā); mitrá Mitra and Varuṇa (= mitrá-varuṇā). Sometimes the other member of the pair is added in the N. sing.; e.g. mitrá tánā ná rathyā varuṇo yás ca sukrātuḥ Mitra (and Varuṇa) and the very wise Varuṇa, like two constant charioteers (viii. 25²).

3. a. The plural is sometimes used (analogously to the dual) so as to include the other two of a group of three; e.g. dyāvāḥ the (three) heavens = heaven, air, and earth;

pr̥thivīḥ *the (three) earths = earth, air, and heaven.*¹ This inclusive plural is also found with the names of the two other members of the group added in the N. sing.; thus abhī samrājō várūṇo gr̥ṇanty, abhī mitráso aryamā́ sajósāḥ to it the universal sovereigns Varuṇa, to it the Mitras (= Mitra, Varuṇa, Aryaman), and Aryaman, accordant, sing (vii. 38⁴).

b. The 1. pers. pl. is sometimes loosely used instead of the sing. or du. ; thus Yama in his dialogue with Yamī says ná yát purá cakṛmā́ kád dha nūnám ṛtā́ vādanto ánṛtam rapema how pray can we, what we have never done before, speaking of righteous things now talk of what is unrighteous ? (x. 10⁴). The plur. of personal pronouns is also occasionally used in a similar way ; thus in the dialogue of Yama and Yamī (x. 10⁴) nas alternates with the correct nau : sā́ no nābhiḥ, paramám jā́mī tán nau that is our bond of union, that our highest kinship. This occasional looseness is probably due to the situation for the moment being regarded more generally so as to include others ; we would then mean I and those present, we two and others in like circumstances. In B. the use of the pl. for the sing. of the first pers. of the personal pronoun is not infrequent both when the pronoun is expressed and when it is latent in the verb ; e. g. sá ha uvāca : námo vayám bráhmīṣṭhāya kurmaḥ he replied : we (= I) show reverence to the most learned man (ŚB.) ; váram bhávate gautamāya dadmaḥ we (= I, Jaivali) offer a boon to his Honour Gautama (ŚB.).

Concord.

194. The rules of concord in case, person, gender, and number are in general the same as in other inflexional languages.

¹ To this use is probably due the conception of the three heavens and three earths in Vedic cosmology.

A. 1. To the rule that the verb agrees with its substantive in person and number the exceptions are very rare. Thus the sing. of the word tva many, having a pl. sense, appears once with a pl. verb: jáyān u tvo juhvati many a one sacrifices for victories (MS.). On the other hand, there are a few examples in the RV. of a neut. pl. taking a verb in the sing.; e. g. dhṛṣṇāve dhīyate dhánā to the bold man booty accrues (i. 81³).

2. a. When two sing. subjects have one verb, the latter in most cases is in the dual; e. g. índraś ca yád yuyudháte áhiś ca when Indra and the dragon fought (i. 32¹³); úrjaṃ no dyáuś ca pṛthivī ca pinvatām may heaven and earth increase our strength (vi. 70⁶); índraś ca sómaṃ pibatam bṛhaspate do ye two, Indra and (thou), O Bṛhaspati, drink Soma (iv. 50¹⁰).

When one only of two subjects is expressed, the other having to be supplied, the verb is also in the dual; e. g. á yád índraś ca dádvahe when (I) and Indra receive (viii. 34¹⁶); bṛhaspate yuvám índraś ca vásvo divyásya íśāthe O Bṛhaspati, ye two, (thou) and Indra, dispose of heavenly wealth (vii. 97¹⁰). In B. this usage seems to be found only when the verb is in the third person; e. g. prajāpatiḥ prajā asṛjata: tá bṛhaspátīś ca anvávaitām Prajapati created beings: (he) and Bṛhaspati followed them (TS.).

a. In a minority of cases two sing. subjects take a sing. verb when they are equivalent in sense to a du. compound; e. g. tokām ca tásya tánayaṃ ca vardhate his offspring and family prosper (ii. 25²).

β. In B. when two sing. subjects are connected by ca the verb is in the du.; but if a contrast is intended, in the sing.; e. g. tásyā dbātá ca aryamá ca ajāyetām from her Dhātṛ and Aryaman were born (MS.); but pṛthivyā vái médhyaṃ ca amedhyaṃ ca vyūd akrāmat from the earth there issued on the one hand the pure and on the other the impure (MS.).

b. When there are more than two subjects the verb is not necessarily in the pl., but may agree with only one of them.

1. If each of the subjects is sing. the verb is sing.; e. g.

mitrás tán no váruṇo ródasī ca dyúbhaktam índro aryamā dadātu let Mitra, Varuṇa, Rodasī, Indra and Aryaman give us this divine wealth (vii. 40²).

2. If the subjects are of different numbers the verb may agree with either one or the other; e.g. ávaḍ índraṃ yamúnā tṛtsavaś ca Yamunā and the Tṛtsus helped Indra (vii. 18¹⁰); índro vidur āṅgirasas ca Indra and the Āṅgirasas know it (x. 108¹⁰).

The du. and pl. take the du. or the pl.; e.g. giráyaś ca dr̥ḥhá dyāvā ca bhúmā tujete the firm mountains and heaven and earth trembled (i. 61¹⁴); dyāvā ca yátra pīpáyann áhā ca where heaven and earth and the days have given abundance (vii. 65²).

a. In B. a sing. and a du. subject take a verb in the sing. or pl.; e.g. vyāmamātráu pakṣáu ca púchaṃ ca bhavati both the wings and the tail are a fathom in length (TS.); táv aśvínau ca sárasvatī ca apāṃ phenám vájram asiñcan the Āśvins and Sarasvatī moulded the foam of the waters into a bolt (ŚB.); a sing. and a pl. take the verb in the pl.; e.g. devás ca vái yamáś ca asmin lokè 'spardhanta the gods and Yama fought for (the possession of) this world (TS.).

β. In B. anyò 'nyá one another takes the verb in the sing., du., or pl. according as one, two, or several agents are intended; e.g. tábhyah sá n'r̥ r̥chād yó naḥ prathamò 'nyò 'nyásmai drúhyāt of these he shall be deprived who first of us may cheat another (TS.); néd anyò 'nyám hinásātaḥ lest they injure each other (ŚB.); táni sṛṣṭāny anyò 'nyéna aspardhanta being created they fought with one another (ŚB.).

3. When two or more subjects of different persons take a verb in the du. or pl. the first person is preferred to the second or third, the second to the third; e.g. ahám ca tvám ca sám yujyāva I and thou will unite together (viii. 62¹¹); tám yūyám vayám ca aśyāma may you and we obtain him (ix. 98¹²). Occasionally, however, the third person is preferred to the first; e.g. amí ca yé maghāvāno vayám ca míhaṃ ná súro áti níṣ ṭatanyuḥ may these patrons and we pierce through as the sun the mist (i. 141¹³).

B. 1. An attributive adjective agrees with its substantive in gender, number, and case. The exceptions are few and unimportant, being chiefly due to the exigencies of metre.

a. The cardinals from five to nineteen, being adjectives, show some peculiarities of concord : in the oblique cases they appear in V. not only in their inflected form, but often also the uninflected form of the nom. and acc.; e.g. saptábhīḥ putráiḥ and saptá hótṛbhīḥ, pañcasu jáneṣu and pañca kṛṣṭiṣu. In B. only the inflected forms are used.

b. The cardinals from 20 upwards being substantives in form may govern a G.; e.g. ṣaṣṭīm áśvānām sixty horses, śatām gónām a hundred kine, sahásrāṇi gāvām thousands of kine. They are, however, generally treated like adjectives; but being collectives they take sing. endings in concord with pl. cases; e.g. triṃśád devāḥ thirty gods, triṃśátam yójanāni thirty yojanas (acc.), triṃśatā hāribhīḥ with thirty bays, trayastrīṃśato devānām of thirty gods (AB.). śatām hundred and sahásram thousand are used as the nom. acc. form in agreement with plurals; e.g. śatām púraḥ a hundred forts, sahásram hārayaḥ a thousand bays, sahásram paśūn a thousand beasts (TS.); they also appear in the same sense in the plural; e.g. śatā púraḥ a hundred forts, sahásrāṇy ádhirathāni a thousand wagon loads (x. 98^o). śatām and sahásram are also found (but not in B.) with an inst. pl., as śatām pūrbhīḥ with a hundred forts beside śatēna hāribhīḥ with a hundred bays, sahásram ṛṣibhīḥ with a thousand seers. The noun accompanying sahásra occasionally appears by a kind of attraction in the sing.: śúnaś cic chépaṃ nīditam sahásrād yūpād amuñcaḥ thou didst deliver Śunaḥśepa, who was bound, from a thousand posts (v. 27): this use does not seem to occur in B.

2. A predicative adjective used with as or bhū (often to be supplied) agrees in gender and number with its subject.

a. The nom. of īśvará capable used thus in B. is equivalent to a verb = be able. The concord here is in the majority of cases normal; e.g. īśvaró vā áśvó 'yató 'pratiṣṭhitaḥ páram parāvátam gántoḥ a horse if unbridled and unobstructed can go to an extreme distance (TS.); sā enam īśvará pradāhaḥ she can burn him (TS.); īśvaráu vā etáu nirdāhaḥ both of them can burn (ŚB.); tāny enam īśvarāṇi pratinúdaḥ they can drive him away (MS.). Sometimes, however, the concord of either number or gender, or of both, is neglected; e.g. tām īśvarām rákṣāṃsi hāntoḥ the demons can kill him (TS.); tásya īśvaráḥ prajā pápiyasī bhāvitoḥ his offspring can degenerate (ŚB.); īśvaró ha etá ānagnicitam samtáptōḥ these (f. pl.) are liable to weigh heavily upon one who has not built a fire altar (ŚB.). In the last two examples quoted and in others the masc. sing. has become stereotyped as a nom. of all genders and numbers.

b. The use of a predicative adjective referring to two or more substantives differing in gender is very rare; it then seems to agree in gender with the subst. nearest it, or the masc. seems to have been preferred to the neut.; e. g. trayā vái náirṛtā akṣāḥ strīyaḥ svāpnaḥ (MS.) dice, women, and sleep (are) the treble pernicious (things); evā hy āsya kāmā stoma ukthā ca śāmsyā thus indeed his two favourites, stoma and uktha, are to be recited (i. 8¹⁰). A predicative adj. dependent on kr agrees with its subst.; if there are two, the du. is used; e. g. dāivīm ca vāvāśmā etād vīśam mānuṣīm ca ānuvartmānu karoti so he makes the divine and the human folk obedient to him (MS.).

3. As in Greek and Latin, a demonstrative pronoun agrees with a predicative noun in gender and number; e. g. ye tuṣāḥ sā tvak what (are) the husks (that =) those (are) the skin (AB.); yād áśru sām̐kṣāritam ásit tāni váyāmsi abhavan what was the concentrated tear (those =) that became the birds (SB.).

Pronouns.

195. A. Personal. a. Owing to its highly inflexional character the Vedic language, like Latin and Greek, uses the nominatives of personal pronouns far less frequently than modern European languages do. Being already inherent in the first and second persons of the finite verb such pronouns are expressed separately only when they require emphasizing.

b. The unaccented forms of ahám and tvám (109 a) being enclitic, can be used neither at the beginning of a sentence or metrical line (Pāda), nor after vocatives, nor before emphasizing, conjunctive or disjunctive particles.

c. Bhavān Your Honour, the polite form of tvám, which first comes into use in B., properly takes a verb in the 3. sing. But being practically equivalent to a personal pronoun of the 2. pers., it occasionally appears with a verb in that person; e. g. íti vāvā kīla no bhavān purā anuśiṣṭān āvocāḥ (ŚB.) in this sense then you have formerly spoken of (us =) me as instructed (cp. 194, 1).

B. Demonstrative. 1. ayām this (here) is a deictic pronoun used adjectivally of what is in the neighbourhood, presence, or possession of the speaker, and may often be translated by here; e.g. ayām ta emi tanvā purāstāt here I come with my body before thee (viii. 100¹); iyām mātir māma this my hymn; ayām vātaḥ the wind here (on earth); ayām jānaḥ the people here (vii. 55⁵); idām bhūvanam this world; ayām agniḥ Agni here (present). In the RV. ayām is sometimes used even with div heaven and ādityā sun as if they were included in the environment of the speaker.

2. Opposed to ayām is asáu that (there), applied to objects remote from the speaker, as heaven and its phenomena, immortals, persons who are not present or are at a distance; e.g. amī yé devā sthāna triṣū ā rocané divāḥ ye, O gods, who are there, in the three bright realms of heaven (i. 105⁵); amī ca yé maghāvāno vayām ca those (absent) patrons and we (i. 141¹³); asáu yā éṣi vīrakāḥ you who go there, a mannikin (viii. 91²).

a. In B. the usage is similar, only the contrast is more definite: it is typical in referring to the earth (iyām) and the heavenly world (asáu), and in the phrases yō 'yām pāvate he who blows here (= Wind), and yō 'sāu tāpati he who burns there = Sun), and asāv ādityāḥ the sun there. In B. asáu is besides used in a formulaic way (= so and so) when the actual name is to be substituted; e.g. asáu nāma ayām idāmrūpaḥ he here, having this form, is so and so by name (ŚB.). In addressing a person the voc. form āsau is also used thus: yāthā vā idām nāmagrāham āsā āsā iti hvāyati as one here (= in ordinary life) by way of mentioning the name calls: 'you there, you there' (MS.).

3. tā, like asáu, can be translated by that, but in a different sense. It is not like asáu essentially deictic and local, nor does it imply a contrast (that there as opposed to this here); but it refers to something already known either as just mentioned or as generally familiar.

a. A very frequent application of this meaning is its reference as a correlative to what is made known by an antecedent relative clause ; e.g. yám yajñám paribhūr ási, sá íd devéṣu gachati the sacrifice that thou encompassest, that certainly goes to the gods (i. 1⁴). Often, however, an antecedent clause is lacking and must be mentally supplied in some such form as whom we have in mind. Then tá is equivalent to the well known. This use comes out most clearly in the first verse of a hymn ; e.g. sá prathā́thā sáhasā jáyamānaḥ, sadyáḥ kávyāni bál adhatta víśvā (i. 96¹) he (who is in our thoughts, the famous Agni) being engendered in the ancient way with strength, lo ! has straightway assumed all wisdom ; tá vām víśvasya gopá yajase (viii. 25¹) you two famous guardians of the universe I worship.

b. tá has a very frequent anaphoric use, referring back to a noun or a pronoun of the third or second person (in B. also of the first), and may then be translated by as such, so ; e.g. tvám vājasya śrútyasya rājasi : sá no mṛṣa thou rulest over glorious spoil : as such be gracious to us (i. 36¹²) ; ḗa tathā_ity abravīt : sā vai vo varam vṛṇā iti she said, yes : I as such (= in the proposed circumstances) will choose a boon of you (AB.). This usage is a prominent and somewhat monotonous feature of the narrative style in B. ; e.g. prajā́pates tráyastr̥ṃśad duhitāra āsan, táḥ sómāya rájñe dadāt, tāsāṃ róhiṇīm úpait, tá írṣyantīḥ púnar agachan Prajāpati had thirty daughters ; he gave them to King Soma ; of them he visited Rohiṇi (only) ; they (the others), being jealous, went back (TS.). When this tá is widely separated from the antecedent noun to which it refers (sometimes only indirectly) it may be translated by the definite article ; thus the opening of the story of Urvaśi : urvāśī ha_apsaráḥ purūrāvasam aidám cakame an Apsaras Urvaśi loved Pururavas, the son of Idā is some sentences later referred to with : tád dha tá_apsarása ātáyo bhūtvā pári pupluvire then the Apsarases swam about in the form of water birds (SB.).

a. In its anaphoric use tá is frequently followed by personal pronouns of all persons (regularly in their enclitic form when they have one; e.g. tám mā sám sṛja vārcasā unite me as such with glory (i. 23²³), mām yajñād antár agāta: sá vo 'hám evá yajñám amūmuham ye have excluded me from the sacrifice; so I have thrown your sacrifice into confusion (ŚB.); haviṣmanto vidhema te: sá tvám no aśyá sumánā ihá javitá bháva bringing oblations we would serve thee: so do thou be for us to day a benevolent helper (i. 36²); yádi tvā etát púnar brávrataḥ, sá tvám brūtāt (ŚB.) if they (two) shall say this to you again, then do you say (to them); asyá pítvá ghanó vṛtrāṇām abhavas . . . tám tvā vājáyamaḥ having drunk of this thou becamest a slayer of Vṛtras: so we strengthen thee (i. 4⁹). Similarly used are: sing. A. tám tvám (here exceptionally not enclitic), D. tásmai te, G. tásya te, tásyās te; du. tá vām; pl. A. tán vas, G. tésām vas.

B. Four demonstrative pronouns are found following tá in this way: idám, adás, tá itself, and oftenest of all etád; e.g. sá iyám asmé sanajā pítṛyā dhīḥ this here is among us an ancient hymn of our forefathers (iii. 39²); tásya válo ny āsañji: tám amūm vāto dhunoti its tail hangs down: that the wind tosses to and fro (ŚB.); tám ha evá ná áti dadāha: tám ha sma tám purá brāhmaṇá ná taranti that (river), he (Agni) did not burn across: that same one the Brāhmans used not formerly to cross (ŚB.), bhavaty asya anucaro ya evaṃ veda: sa vā eṣa ekātithiḥ, sa eṣa juhvatsu vasati he who knows this has a follower; that follower, is this one guest; this same (follower, the Sun) abides among the sacrificers (AB.).

γ. The N. sing. sá is sometimes used adverbially in B. (see 180, p. 249).

4. etá this is used like tá but is more emphatic. It refers to something known to the listener as present either to his senses or his thoughts.

a. The correlative use of etá seems to be limited to B., the relative clause here usually following; e.g. patho vā eṣa praiti, yo yajñe muhyati he diverges from the path who goes wrong in the sacrifice (AB.). It is somewhat peculiar when the relative in the neuter sing. and without a verb is added solely for the purpose of emphasizing a particular word; e.g. svargam vā etena lokam upapra yanti yat prāyaṇīyaḥ people go to the heavenly world with that which (is) the preliminary sacrifice (AB.). In these circumstances etá when alone always agrees in gender with the noun in the relative clause ; but when it is accompanied by a substantive, with the latter ; e.g. paśavo vā ete yad āpaḥ water is equivalent to cattle (AB.). In this usage yád often loses its inflexional character to such an extent that it becomes like an explanatory particle (= that is to say), the substantive that follows it agreeing in case with that which precedes ; e.g. etáir átra ubháyair ártho bhavati yád deváís ca brāhmaṇáís ca there is need here of both, that is, of the gods and the Brāhmins (ŚB.).

The use of etá without an antecedent, parallel to that of tá, is common both in V. and B. ; e.g. eśó uṣá vy ūchatī this Dawn (whom we see before us) has shone forth (i. 46') ; té ha ásurā asūyānta iva ūcur: yávad evāiṣá viṣṇur abhiśéte távad vo dadma íti the Asuras said somewhat displeased: as much as this Viṣṇu (here present) covers lying down, so much we give you (ŚB.) ; yuvám etám cakrathuḥ síndhuṣu plavám ye two have made that boat (present to our thought) in the ocean (i. 182⁵) ; téna etám uttarám girím áti dudrāva therewith he passed over that (well known) northern mountain (ŚB.) ; tá eté māyé asṛjanta suparṇim ca kadrūm ca they created these two (well-known) miraculous beings, Suparṇi and Kadrū (ŚB.). In the last example ete requires the addition of the two following names to supplement its sense.

a. Somewhat similarly this pronoun is sometimes followed in B. by words or a sentence explaining it ; e.g. sá etābhir devatābhiḥ sayúg bhūtvā marúdbhir viśā agninā ánikena upaplāyata he, united with these deities, the Maruts as the fighting folk and Agni as the head, approached (MS.) ; sá ha etád evá dadarśa: anaśanátayā vái me prajāḥ párá bhavanti íti he saw this: in consequence of hunger my creatures are perishing (ŚB.).

b. In its anaphoric use etá expresses identity with that to which it refers back, more emphatically than tá does ; e.g. ápeta vīta ví ca sarpata áto: asmá etám pitáro lokám akran go away, disperse, depart from hence: this place

(on which you have been standing) the fathers have prepared for him (x. 14^a); in the final verse the expression eṣā stóma indra túbhyam (i. 173^b) this praise is for thee, O Indra, refers to the whole preceding hymn; tád ubháyaṃ sambhṛtya mṛdaṃ ca āpás ca íṣṭakāṃ akurvams : tásmād etád ubháyaṃ íṣṭakā bhavati mṛc ca āpás ca having brought both those together, clay and water, they made the brick : therefore a brick consists of both these, clay and water (ŚB.).

5. tyá occurs only in the sense of that (well known); e. g. kvà tyáni nau sakhyá babhūvuḥ what has become of those friendships of us two? (vii. 88^b). It often follows forms of the demonstrative pronouns etá and idám; e. g. eté tyé bhānáva uṣása águḥ here those (familiar) beams of Dawn have come (vii. 75^b); imám u tyám atharvavád agnīm manthanti they, like Atharvan, rub forth that (famous) Agni here (vi. 15¹⁷). The neuter tyád is sometimes used after the relative yá, and often after the particle ha, in an adverbial sense; e. g. yásya tyác chāmbaram máde dívodāsāya randháyah in the exhilaration of which (Soma) thou didst at that time subject Śambara to Divodāsa (vi. 43¹).

6. The pronoun a that in its substantive sense (= he, she, it, they), when it is unaccented, not infrequently appears as an unemphatic correlative (while the accented form is a deictic adjective); e. g. yásya deváir áśado barhír agne, áhāni asmai sudínā bhavanti on whose litter thou, O Agni, hast sat down, fair days arise for him (vii. 11²); yá vāṃ śatām niyútaḥ śacante, ábhir yātam arvák the hundred teams that accompany you, with them do ye two come hither (vii. 91^c); nákir eṣāṃ ninditá mártyeṣu, yé asmákam pitáro góṣu yodháh there is among mortals no reproacher of them who, (being) our fathers, were fighters for cows (iii. 39⁴).

THE CASES.

Nominative.

196. The nominative, as in other languages, is mainly used as the subject of a sentence.

a. A second nominative is employed as a predicate with certain verbs beside the subject, that is, with verbs meaning be, become, seem or be accounted, think oneself; e. g. tvám hí ratnadhā ási for thou art a bestower of treasure (i. 15³); śivāsaḥ sānto áśivā abhūvan being friendly they have become unfriendly (v. 12⁵); ékaviṃśatiḥ sám padyante they become twenty-one (TS.); ¹ gókāmā me achadayan they seemed to me desirous of cows (x. 108¹⁰); ṛṣiḥ kó vípra ohate who counts as a seer, as a singer? (viii. 3¹⁴); apratír mánya-mānaḥ thinking himself irresistible (v. 32³); sómaṃ manyate papivān he believes he has drunk Soma (x. 85³); parābhaviṣ-yānto manāmahe we think we are about to perish (TS.).

a. In B. the predicative nom. also appears with verbs meaning to call oneself (brū, vac, vad in the middle); e. g. índro brāhmaṇó bruvānáḥ Indra calling himself a Brāhman (TB.); hántāvocatāḥ thou hast described thyself as a slayer (TS.).

β. With verbs of naming the predicative acc. may also be expressed in B. by the nom. with iti; e. g. rāsabha iti hy ètām ṛṣayo 'vadan for the seers called him 'ass' (TS.).

b. With passive verbs the predicative nom. takes the place of the acc. object of the active verb; e. g. tvám . . ucyase pitā thou art called a father (i. 31¹⁴).

c. Instead of the predicative nom. the voc. is sometimes used; e. g. yūyám hí ṣṭhā, sudānavaḥ for ye are liberal (i. 15²); ābhūr éko, rayipate rayiṇām thou alone hast been the lord of riches (vi. 31¹); gáutama bruvāṇa thou who callest thyself Gautama (ŚB.). (Cp. 180 under ná, 2 a.)

a. Since apparently two vocatives cannot be connected with ca, the nom. often appears instead of the first or the second vocative; e. g. vāyav indraś ca cetathaḥ O Vāyu and Indra, ye know (i. 2⁵); indraś ca sōmaṃ pibataṃ bṛhaspate Indra and Bṛhaspati, drink the Soma (iv. 50¹⁰). Cp. 180 under ca, 1 a, b.

Accusative.

197. A. This case is usually employed in connexion with verbs in various ways. Besides its ordinary use of denoting the object of transitive verbs, the acc. is employed to express :

1. the goal with verbs of motion, chiefly gam, also i, much less often yā, car, and sṛ and some others. The acc. may be a person, a place, an activity or a condition; e. g. yamám ha yajñó gachati to Yama goes the sacrifice (x. 14¹³); devám id eṣi pathíbhiḥ sugébbhiḥ to the gods thou goest by paths easy to traverse (i. 162²¹); índraṃ stómāś caranti to Indra fare the songs of praise (x. 47¹); sáraj jāró ná yósaṇām he sped like a lover to a maiden (ix. 101¹⁴); mā tvát kṣétrāṇy áraṇāni ganma may we not go from thee to strange fields (vi. 61¹⁴); sabhám eti kitaváh the gambler goes to the assembly (x. 34⁶); jaritúr gachatho hávam ye two go to the call of the singer (viii. 35¹³); táva krátubhir amṛtatvám āyan by thy mental powers they (went to =) attained immortality (vi. 7⁴).

a. The usage in B. is similar; e. g. prajāpatiḥ prajā asṛjata, tá varuṇam agachan Prajāpati created creatures; they went to Varuṇa (TS.); sá ná divam apatat he did not fly to heaven (ŚB.); śriyaṃ gacheyam may I (go to =) attain prosperity (ŚB.).

2. duration of time (in origin only a special form of the cognate acc.); e. g. śatám jīva śarádo vārdhamānaḥ live prospering a hundred autumns (x. 161⁴); só aśvatthé samvatsarám atiṣṭhat he remained in the Áśvattha tree for a year

(TB.); tásmāt sárvaṇ ṛtūn varṣati therefore it rains during all the seasons (TS.); saṃvatsaratamīm rātrim ā gachatāt (ŚB.) for the night a year hence thou shalt come (to me).

3. extension of distance (in origin only a special form of the cognate acc.), a use rare in both V. and B.; e. g. yád āśúbhiḥ pátasi yójanā purū when with the swift ones thou fliest many leagues (ii. 16³); sá bhūmim viśvāto vṛtvā áty atiṣṭhad daśāṅgulām he covering the earth on all sides extended beyond (it) a distance of ten fingers (x. 90¹); saptá-daśa pravyādhān ājīm dhāvanti they run a race (a distance of) seventeen arrow-flights (TB.).

4. the cognate object of intransitive verbs, which may be allied to the latter etymologically or only in sense; e. g. samānām añjī añjate they deck themselves with like adornment (vii. 57³); yád agne yāsi dūtyām when, O Agni, thou goest on a message (i. 12⁴); tváyā ádhyakṣeṇa pṛtanā jayema with thee as witness we would conquer in battles (x. 128¹); tásmād rájā saṃgrāmām jitvā udājām úd ajate therefore a king, having won a battle, chooses booty for himself (MS.); tisró rātrīr vratām caret he should perform a fast for three nights (TS.).

a. Verbs meaning to stream or to shine in V. take a cognate acc. with a concrete sense; e. g. ṛtāsyā jihvā pavate mādhu the tongue of the rite (Soma) streams mead (ix. 75²), tásmā āpo ghṛtām arṣanti for him the waters stream ghee (i. 125⁵), ví yát súryo ná rócate bṛhád bhāḥ when, like the sun, he beams forth lofty light (vii. 8⁴).

5. an adverbial sense. Adverbs of this form all originated in various uses of the acc. which have acquired an independent character. They are formed from :

a. substantives; e. g. náktam by night (not during the night like the acc. of time); kāmam at will (still rare in the RV.), e. g. kāmam tad dhotā śamsed yad dhotrakāḥ pūrvedyuḥ śamseyuḥ the Hotṛ may, as he likes, recite what the assistants of the Hotṛ may recite the day before (AB.); nāma by name; e. g. mām dhur índram nāma devātā

(x. 49²) me they have placed as Indra by name (or verily) among the gods.

b. various kinds of adjectives. They have an attributive origin when they express the senses of quickly or slowly (kṣiprām, cirām), much or greatly (bahú, bálavat), well or badly, boldly (dhr̥ṣṇú), or direction (as nyák downward, &c.) ; e. g. bálavad vāti it blows hard (ŚB.) ; bhadráṃ jīvantāḥ living happily (x. 37⁶).

a. The acc. adverbs from ordinals seem to have been appositional in origin ; e. g. tām vā etām sampātān viśvāmitraḥ prathamam apaśyat (AB.) these same Saṃpāta hymns Viśvāmitra invented first (= as the first thing).

β. Several acc. adverbs are from comparatives and superlatives in tara and tama formed from prepositions and adverbs ; e. g. drāghīya āyuh̥ pratarām dādhanāḥ obtaining longer life furthermore (i. 53¹¹). A good many such have a fem. acc. form in later use, but there is only one found in the RV. : saṃtarām pādukāu hara put your two little feet closer together (viii. 33¹⁹).

γ. A special class is formed by adverbs in vat expressing that an action takes place like that performed by the noun preceding the suffix ; e. g. tvādūtāso manuvád vadema (ii. 10⁶) having thee as our messenger we would speak like men (= as men should speak : properly something that belongs to men).

δ. Another class of acc. adverbs is formed from various adjectival compounds. A number of these are formed with the privative particle a, being of the nature of cognate accusatives ; e. g. devās chāndobhir imāl lokān anapajayyām abhy ājayan the gods (unconquerably =) irrevocably conquered these worlds by means of the metres (TS.).

ε. Another group comparatively rare in V., but very common in B., are those formed from prepositionally governing adjectival compounds ; e. g. anukāmām tarpayethām satisfy yourselves according to desire (i. 17³), adhidevatām with reference to the deity (ŚB.). Probably following the analogy of some of these were formed others in which the first member of the compound is not a preposition, but an adverb derived from the relative yá ; e. g. yathā-kāmām ní padyate she turns in according to her desire (x. 146⁵), yāvaj-jivām (as long as =) for life (ŚB.). Some other adverbial compounds are used like gerunds in am ; e. g. stukā-sārgam sṛṣṭā bhavati it is plaited like a braid of hair (ŚB.).

197. B. The acc. is largely used with verbal nouns. Besides being governed by all participles, active and middle, and by genuine infinitives, in V. it is used with agent nouns formed from the root or other verbal stems by means of about ten primary suffixes. Such nouns are made from the simple root (when compounded with a preposition), and with the suffixes a (when the stem is compounded with a preposition), ani (from the aor. or desid. stem), i (generally from the reduplicated root), īyas and iṣṭha (comparatives and superlatives), u (from desiderative stems), uka (very rare in V.), tar (when the root is accented), van (when compounded), snu (from causative stems); and a few with the secondary suffix in. Examples of the acc. with such agent nouns are: devāṃs tvám paribhūr asi thou encompassst the gods (v. 13⁶); dr̥ḥá cid ārujáḥ breaking even what is firm (iii. 45²); tvám no víśvā abhímātīḥ saksāṇīḥ thou overcomest all our adversaries (viii. 24²⁶); śatām pūro rurukṣāṇīḥ ready to destroy a hundred forts (ix. 48²); índrā ha rátnaṃ váruṇā dhéṣṭhā Indra and Varuṇa bestow treasure most abundantly (iv. 41³); vatsámś ca ghátuko víkaḥ (AV. xii. 4⁷) and the wolf slays the calves; dātā rádhāṃsi śumbhati giving riches he shines (i. 22⁸); prātaryāvāṇo adhvarám coming early to the sacrifice (i. 44¹³); sthirá cin namayiṣṇavaḥ O ye who desire to bend even what is rigid (viii. 20¹); kāmi hí vīráḥ sádām asya pītīm for the hero always desires a draught of it (ii. 14¹).

a. Some adjectives formed with añc from prepositions governing the acc. are also used with that case. Such are pratyāñc facing, anvāñc following; e.g. pratyāññ uśásam urviyā ví bhāti facing the Dawn (the fire) shines forth far and wide (v. 28¹), tasmād anūci patnī gārhapatyam āste hence the wife sits behind the Gārhapatya fire (AB.). The acc. is found even with samyāñc united; e.g. óṣadhīr evā enaṃ samyāñcam dadhāti he puts him into contact with the plants (MS.); but this adj. also takes the inst., the natural case with a compound of sám.

β. In B. the only nouns taking the acc. seem to be the des. adjectives in u and the ordinary adjectives in uka (which are very common) and those in in; e.g. pāpmānam apajighāmsuḥ wishing to drive away sin (AB.), sarpā enaṃ ghátukāḥ syuḥ the snakes might bite him (MS.); aprativādy enam bhrātrvyo bhavati his enemy does not contradict him (PB.).

c. The acc. is governed by more prepositions than any other case. The genuine prepositions with which it is exclusively connected in both V. and B. are āti beyond, ānu after, abhi towards, prāti against, tirās across; and in V. only ācha towards. It is also taken secondarily by others which primarily govern other cases (cp. 176. 1, 2). The acc. is further taken exclusively by the adnominal prepositions antarā between, abhītas around, upāri above, sanitūr apart from; and secondarily by some others (cp. 177. 1-3).

a. The preposition vinā without, except, which first occurs in B. (and there has only been noted once), takes the acc.; and rté without, which in the RV. governs the abl. only, in B. begins to take the acc. also (as it often does in post-Vedic Sanskrit).

β. In B. a number of adverbs (inst. of adjectives and substantives or formed with tas from pronouns expressive of some relation in space) take the acc.; such are āgreṇa in front of, āntareṇa within, between, ūttareṇa north of, dākṣiṇena to the right or the south of, pāreṇa beyond; ubhayā-tas on both sides of.

γ. In B. the acc. is taken by two interjections. One of them, éd lo! behold! (cp. Lat. en), is always preceded by a verb of motion, which, however, has sometimes to be supplied; e.g. éyāya vāyūr: éd dhatām vṛtrām Vāyu came (to see): behold, Vṛtra (was) dead (ŚB.); pūnar éma iti devā: éd agnīm tiróbbhutam 'we are coming back', said the gods; (they came back, and, behold! Agni (had) disappeared! (ŚB.). The other interjection dhik fie!, used with the acc. of the person only, is still very rare in B.; e.g. dhik tvā jālma astu fie on you, rogue! (KB.).

Double Accusative.

198. A second acc. appears in apposition with various verbs; e.g. pūruṣam ha vai devā āgre paśum ā lebhire the gods in the beginning sacrificed a man as a victim (ŚB.). It is further used:

1. predicatively with verbs of saying (brū, vac), thinking (man), knowing (vid), hearing (śru), making (kr), ordaining (vi-dhā), choosing (vṛ), appointing (ni-dhā) in both V.

and B.; e. g. śvánam bastó bodhayitāram abravīt the he-goat said (that) the dog (was) the waker (i. 161¹³); yád anyó 'nyām pāpām avadan that the one called the other wicked (ŚB.); agnīm manye pitāram Agni I think a father (x. 7³); maṛiṣyāntam céd yājamānam mānyeta if he thinks the sacrificer (is) going to die (ŚB.); cirām tán mene he thought that too long (ŚB.); vidmā hí tvā purūvāsum we know thee (to be) possessed of much wealth (i. 81⁸); ná vái hatām vṛtrām vidmā ná jīvām we know not (whether) Vṛtra (is) dead nor (whether he is) alive (ŚB.); revāntam hí tvā śṛṇómi I hear (about) thee (that thou art) rich (viii. 2¹¹); śṛṇvānty enam agnīm cikyānam (TS.) they hear (about) him having piled the fire (altar); asmān sú jigyūṣaḥ kṛdhi make us thoroughly victorious (viii. 80⁶); tēṣām pūṣānam adhipām akarot he made Puṣan their lord (MS.); tāsmā āhutīr yajñām vy ādadhuḥ they made (= ordained) the oblations (to be) the sacrifice for him (MS.); agnīm hótāram prā vṛṇe I choose Agni priest (iii. 19¹); ní tvām agne mánur dadhe jyótir jánāya śásvate Manu has appointed thee, O Agni, as a light for every man (i. 36¹⁹).

2. to express the person as a direct object beside the thing with verbs of addressing (vac), asking (prach), begging (yāc), approaching with prayer (ī, yā), milking (duh), shaking (dhū), sacrificing to (yaj), doing to (kṛ); e. g. agnīm mahām avocāmā suvṛktīm to Agni we have addressed a great hymn (x. 80⁷); prchāmi tvā páram ántam pṛthivyāḥ I ask thee about the farthest limit of the earth (i. 164²⁴); yājñavalkyam dváu praśnāu prakṣyāmi I will ask Yajñavalkya two questions (ŚB.); apó yācāmi bheṣajām I beg healing from the waters (x. 9⁵); tád agnihotry āgnīm yācet that the Agnihotṛ should beg of Agni (MS.); vāsūni dasmām īmahe we approach the wondrous one for riches (i. 42¹⁰); tát tvā yāmi I approach thee for this (i. 24¹¹); duhānty ūdhar divyāni they milk celestial gifts from the udder (i. 64⁵); imām evā sārvaṇ kāmān duhe from her he (milks =) obtains all desires (ŚB.); vṛkṣām phálam dhūnuhi shake down fruit from the tree (iii. 45⁴); yájā devām ṛtām brhát sacrifice to the gods the lofty rite (i. 75⁵); kīṃ mā karann abalá asya sēnāḥ what can his feeble hosts do to me? (v. 30¹).

a. Of the above verbs vac, i and yā, dhū, yaj and kṛ do not seem to be found with two acc. in B.; on the other hand ā-gam approach, dhā milk, ji win, jyā wrest from are so used there; e.g. agnír vái váruṇam brahmacāryam á gachat Agni (approached =) asked Varuṇa for the position of a religious student (MS.); imāl lokān adhayad yaṃ-yaṃ kāmam akāmayata from these worlds he extracted whatever he desired (AB.); devān āsurā yajñām ajayan the Asuras won the sacrifice from the gods (MS.); īndro marutaḥ sahasram ajināt Indra wrested a thousand from the Maruts (PB.).

3. to express the agent¹ with causative verbs beside the acc. which would be taken by the simple verb also; e.g. uśán devām uśatāḥ pāyayā havīḥ eager thyself cause the eager gods to drink the libation (ii. 37⁶); tá yájamānam vācayati he makes the sacrificer name them (TS.). With verbs of motion the other acc. expresses the goal (which is, however, never a person)²; e.g. pārām evā parāvátām sapátnīm gamayāmasi to the extreme distance we cause the rival wife to go (x. 145⁴); yájamānam suvargām lokām gamayati he causes the sacrificer to reach the celestial world (TS.).

a. In B. the agent is frequently put in the inst. instead of the acc. with various causatives, especially that of grah seize; e.g. tá váruṇena agrāhayat (MS.) he caused Varuṇa to seize them (= he caused them to be seized by Varuṇa).

b. In B. a second acc. expresses the goal (with nī lead) or duration of time beside the acc. of the object; e.g. evām evā enam kūrmāḥ suvargām lokām nayati thus the tortoise leads him to the celestial world (TS.), tisró rátrīr vratām caret he should observe a fast for three nights (TS.).

¹ Which would be expressed by the nom. with the simple verb; e.g. devā havīḥ pibanti the gods drink the libation.

² When the goal is a person it is expressed by the loc. or a loc. adverb; e.g. agnāḥ agnīm gamayet he would send Agni to Agni (ŚB.); devatrā evā enad gamayati he sends it to the gods (ŚB.).

Instrumental.

199. A. The fundamental sense of this case is concomitance, which may variously be rendered by with, by, through, according as it expresses accompaniment, instrumentality or agency, causality, motion through space or duration of time.

1. In its sociative sense the instrumental expresses the companion or accompaniment of the subject in any activity ; e. g. devó devébhīr ā gamat may the god come with the gods (i. 1⁵) ; īndreṇa yujā nīr apām aubjo arṇavām with Indra as thy companion thou didst release the flood of waters (ii. 23¹⁸) ; īndro no rādhāsā ā gamat may Indra come to us with wealth (iv. 55¹⁰).

a. Similarly in B. : agnir vasubhir ud akrāmat Indra departed with the Vasus (AB.) ; yéna mántreṇa juhóti tād yájuh the spell to the accompaniment of which he offers the oblation is the Yajus (ŚB.) ; tād asya sāhasā ādītsanta they tried to take it from him by force (TS.).

2. In its instrumental sense it expresses the means (person or thing) by which an action is accomplished ; e. g. vayām īndreṇa sanuyāma vājam we would win booty through Indra (i. 101¹¹) ; āhan vṛtrām īndro vājreṇa Indra smote Vṛtra with his bolt (i. 32⁵).

a. Similarly in B. : kéna vīreṇa by whom as champion (ŚB.) ; śīrṣṇā bījaṃ haranti they carry corn (with = \ on the head (ŚB.) ; tāsmād dāksīṇena hāstena ānnaṃ adyate therefore food is eaten with the right hand (MS.).

3. In its causal sense it expresses the reason or motive of an action = by reason of, on account of, for the sake of ; e. g. sómasya pītyā . . . ā gatam come hither for the sake of the Soma draught (i. 46¹³) ; aśatrúr janúṣā sanād asi thou art by thy nature without foes from of old (i. 102⁸).

a. Similarly in B. : sá bhīṣā nī līye he concealed himself through fear (ŚB.) ; so nāmnā by name.

4. In its local sense of through or over it is used with verbs of motion to express the space through or over which an action extends ; e. g. divā yānti marúto bhūmyā agnir ayám vāto antárikṣeṇa yāti the Maruts go along the sky, Agni over the earth, the Wind here goes through the air (i. 161¹⁴) ; antárikṣe pathíbhiḥ pátantam flying along the paths in the air (x. 87⁶).

a. In B. the inst. is constantly used in the local sense with words meaning path or door, but rarely with others ; e. g. yáthā ákṣetrajño 'nyéna pathá náyet as if one who does not know the district were to lead by a wrong road (ŚB.) ; sárasvatyā yānti they go along the Sarasvatī (TS.).

5. In its temporal sense the inst. expresses the time throughout which an action extends ; e. g. pūrvábhīr dadāś-imá śarádbhiḥ we have worshipped throughout many autumns (i. 86⁶). Sometimes, however, the sense of duration is not apparent, the inst. being then used like the loc. of time ; thus ṛtúnā and ṛtúbhiḥ mean in due season.

a. In B. the temporal meaning is rare ; e. g. sá vá iṣumātrám eváhnā tiryáñi avardhata he grew in the course of a day quite an arrow's length in width (MS.).

6. Many instrumentals (chiefly of the sociative and local classes) have come to be used in a purely adverbial sense. Such are formed from either substantives or adjectives (of which sometimes no other form occurs) ; e. g. áñjasā straight-way, máhobhiḥ mightily, sáhasā and sáhobhis suddenly ; ántareṇa within, úttareṇa to the north ; uccáis above, nícáis below, parácáis sideways, prácáis forwards, śánais and śanáis, śanakáis slowly.

a. In a number of these instrumentals the adverbial use is indicated, not only by the sense, but by a shift of accent ; e. g. divā by day ; dakṣiṇā to the right ; madhyā between ; naktayā by night ; svapnayā in a dream ; akṣṇayā across (B.) ; anomalously formed from u stems : ásūyā quickly, dhr̥ṣṇuyā boldly, raghuyā swiftly, sādhuyā straightway, mithuyā falsely (mithyā ŚB.), anuṣṭhuyā immediately (anuṣṭhyā B.) ; and from a pronoun, amuyā in that way.

199. B. Besides having the above general and independent uses the inst. also appears, in special connexion with different classes of words by which it may be said to be 'governed':

1. with verbs expressing:

a. association or contention with; in RV.: yat marshal, yād combine, yuj join (mid.), sac accompany; yudh fight, spṛdh strive, hās race, krīḍ play; in B.: yudh fight, vi-ji contend victoriously (with).

b. separation from (compounds with vi); in RV.: vi-yu dissever from, vi-vṛt turn away from, vy-ā-vṛt separate (intr.) from; in B.: vy-ā-vṛt id., vi-rdh be deprived of, vi-sthā be removed from, viṣvaññi i go away from = lose.

c. enjoyment; in RV.: kan find pleasure in, mad be exhilarated with, uc be fond of, tuṣ be satisfied with, mah delight in, hr̥ṣ rejoice in, bhuj enjoy; in B.: tr̥p be pleased with, nand be glad of, bhuj enjoy.

d. repletion; in RV.: pṛ fill (acc.) with,¹ pī swell with; in B.: caus. of pṛ: pūraya fill, pass. pūrya be filled with.

e. purchase for (a price); in V.: vi-krī bargain away for; in B.: niṣ-krī ransom for.

f. adoration or sacrifice (the victim or object offered). With yaj sacrifice to the deity is in the acc. in both V. and B.; in B. the sacrificial date also is put in the (cognate) acc.; e. g. amāvasyāṃ yajate he celebrates the feast of new moon.

g. procedure: the verb car in both V. and B.; e. g. ādhenvā carati māyāyā he acts with barren craft (x. 71⁵); upāṃśu vācā carati he proceeds in a low tone with his voice (AB.).

h. ability to do: the verb kr in both V. and B.; e. g. kīm ṛcā kariṣyati what will he do with a hymn? (i. 164³⁹); kīm sā tāir gr̥hāiḥ kuryāt what could he do with that house? (ŚB.). In B. the phrase ārtho bhavati there is business with = there is need of (Lat. opus est aliqua re) is similarly used;

¹ Sometimes also with the gen.: the past part. pass. pūrṇā with the gen. = full of, but with the inst. filled with.

e. g. yarhi vāva vo mayārtho bhavitā if you (gen.) shall have need of me (AB.).

i. dominion: only (in V.) the verb patya be lord of (lit. by means of); e. g. índro vísvair víryāiḥ pátiamānaḥ Indra who is lord of all heroic powers (iii. 54¹⁵).

j. subsistence: only (in B.) the verb jīv live on, subsist by; e. g. yáyā manuṣyā jīvanti (the cow) on which men subsist (TS.).

a. With passive forms of the verb (including participles) the inst. expresses either the means (as with the active verb) or the agent (the nom. of the active verb); e. g. ghṛtēna agnīḥ sám ajyate Agni is anointed with ghee (x. 118⁴); uṣā uchānti ribhyate vasiṣṭhaiḥ Uṣas when she dawns is praised by the Vasiṣṭhas (vii. 76⁷). Similarly in B.: prajāpatinā sṛjyante they are created by Prajāpati (MS.); pātrair ānuam adyate food is eaten with the aid of dishes (MS.).

β. Nominal forms connected with the verb, when they have a passive sense, as gerundives and infinitives, take the same construction; e. g. nṛbhir hāvyāḥ to be invoked by men (vii. 22⁷); ripūṇā ná avacákṣe not to be observed by the enemy (iv. 58⁵).

2. with nouns:

a. substantives and adjectives (especially those compounded with sa-) expressive of association or equality; e. g. nāsunvatā sakhyām vaṣṭi śúraḥ the hero desires not friendship with him who does not press Soma (x. 42⁴); ási samó devāiḥ thou art equal to the gods (vi. 48¹⁹); índro vái sadṛñ devatābhir āsīt Indra was equal to the (other) deities (TS.); ājyena miśráḥ mixed with butter (ŚB.).

b. other adjectives, to express that by which the quality in question is produced; e. g. úṣo vājena vājini O Dawn rich in booty (iii. 61¹); bahúḥ prajāyā bhaviṣyasi thou wilt be rich in offspring (ŚB.).

c. numerals accompanied by ná, to express deficiency; e. g. ekáyā ná viṃśatīḥ not twenty by (lack of) one = nineteen.

3. with prepositions: genuine prepositions are virtually not used with the instrumental. The only exceptions in the RV. are the employment of ádhi with the inst. of snú height; of úpa in three passages with dyúbhis and dhárbhis; and possibly of sám with in a few passages with the inst. But prepositional adverbs are found thus used; in the RV. only avás below and parás above; and in both V. and B. sahá and sākām with. Cp. 177, 2.

Dative.

200. The dative expresses the notion with which an action is concerned. It is either connected with individual words or is used more generally as a complement to the whole statement.

A. Dative in a special sense with:

1. verbs (mostly as affecting persons) having the sense of a. give; in V. B. dā give, yam extend, dhā bestow, bhaj apportion; e. g. dádhāti rātnaṃ vidhaté he bestows treasure on the worshipper (iv. 12³); in V. also many other verbs expressing a modification of the sense of giving: diś assign, áva-duh milk down on, pṛ bestow fully, prc bestow abundantly, maṃh give liberally, mā measure out, rā procure (for), ní-yu bestow permanently, vid find (for), san obtain (for), sū set in motion (for), srj shed (for), and others.

In V. only there are many other verbs, with this general sense, that take the dative, such as ṛ, inv, cud set in motion for, and figurative expressions such as abhi-kṣar stream to, dī and śuc shine on, pruṣ sprinkle on, abhi-vā waft to; in V. also the verb i go is used with the dat.; e. g. prá viṣṇave śūṣām etu mánma let my strong hymn go forth in honour of Viṣṇu (i. 154³).

h. please: svad be sweet to and chand be pleasing to; e. g. svádasva_indrāya pītāye be sweet to Indra as a draught (ix. 74⁹); utó tát asmai mádhv ic cachadyāt and may that mead be pleasing to him (x. 73⁹).

a. The dative is used with gerundives and infinitives to express the agent, and with the latter also the object by attraction instead of the acc.; e. g. yáh stotṛbhyo hávyo asti who is to be invoked by singers (i. 33²); ví śrayantām prayái devébhyaḥ let (the doors) open wide for the gods to enter (i. 142⁶); índram arkáir ávardhayann áhaye hántavā u they strengthened Indra with hymns to slay the serpent (v. 31⁴).

2. The dative is used with a certain number of substantives.

a. Such are words that invoke blessings, especially námas homage (with the verbs kṛ do or as be, which are often to be supplied); e. g. námo mahádbhyaḥ homage to the great (i. 27¹³); námo 'stu bráhmīṣṭhāya adoration to the greatest Brahman (ŚB.). Similarly used are the sacrificial formulas svāhā, svadhā, vāsaṭ hail! blessing! e. g. tébhyaḥ svāhā blessing on them (AV.).

a. The indeclinables sám in V. and kám in B. meaning welfare are used as nom. or acc. with the dat.; e. g. yáthā sám ásad dvipáde cátuṣpade in order that there may be welfare for biped and quadruped (i. 114¹); áhutayo hy agnáye kám for the oblations are a joy to Agni (ŚB.); nāasmā á-kam bhavati it does not fare ill with him (TS.).

β. In V. the substantives kāma desire and gatū path may perhaps be regarded as taking a dative without a verb to be supplied ; e.g. kr̥ṇvānāso amṛtatvāya gātūm procuring for themselves a path to immortality (i. 72⁹).

γ. In the name Dāsyave vṛkaḥ Wolf to the Dasyu (RV.) the dat. is to be explained as due to its use in the sentence he is a very wolf to the Dasyu.

3. The dative is used with adjectives meaning dear, kind, agreeable, beneficial, willing, obedient, ill-disposed, hostile ; e.g. śivā sakhibhya utā māhyam āsīt she was kind to friends and also to me (x. 34²) ; ātithiś cārur āyāve a guest dear to man (ii. 2⁸) ; yād vāvā jīvēbhyo hitam tāt pitṛbhyaḥ what is good for the living is good for the Manes (ŚB.) ; sā rātāmanā vrāścanāya bhavati (ŚB.) he is ready for felling (the tree) ; pratyudyāminīm ha kṣatrāya viśam kuryāt he would make the peasantry hostile to the nobility (ŚB.).

α. The adj. ānāgas sinless often seems to take the dative of the name of a deity, but it is somewhat uncertain whether the case should not be connected with the verb ; e.g. ānāgaso āditaye syāma may we be sinless (to =) in the eyes of Aditi (i. 24¹⁵) may perhaps mean may we, as sinless, belong to Aditi.

4. The dative is used with a few adverbs.

a. āram often takes the dat. ; e.g. yé āram vāhanti manyāve who drive in accordance with (thy) zeal (vi. 16⁴³). This use of āram is common in combination with the verbs kr̥, gam, and bhū. When used with the dat. āram is not infrequently equivalent to an adj. ; e.g. sāsmā āram he is ready for him (ii. 18²) ; ayām sómo astu āram mánase yuvábhyām let this Soma be agreeable to your heart (i. 108²). In B. ālam appears in the place of āram and is often similarly used ; e.g. nālam āhutyā āsa, nālam bhakṣāya he was not suitable for sacrifice, nor suitable for food (ŚB.).

b. The adverb āvis visibly is used with the dat. in V. and B., but only when accompanied by the verbs kr̥, bhū or as (the latter sometimes to be supplied) ; e.g. āvīr ebhyo abhavat sūryaḥ the sun appeared to them (i. 146⁴) ; tāsmāi vā āvīr asāma we will appear to him (ŚB.).

B. The dative also in a general sense complements the statement of the whole sentence.

1. It expresses the person for whose advantage or disadvantage the action of the sentence takes place; e. g. devān devayaté yaja worship the gods for the benefit of the pious man (i. 15¹²); tāsmā etām vājram akurvan for him they made this bolt (ŚB.); tasmā upākṛtāya niyoktāraṃ na vividuḥ (AB.) for him when he had been brought near they could find no binder (i. e. they could find no one willing to bind him).

2. It expresses the purpose for which an action is done (final dative); e. g. ūrdhvās tiṣṭhā na ūtāye stand up for our help = in order to help us (i. 30⁶); nā sūṣvim indro āvase mṛdhāti Indra will not leave the pious man in the lurch for help (vi. 23⁹); svargāya lokāya viṣṇukramāḥ kramyante the Viṣṇu steps are taken for the sake of (= in order to gain) heaven (TS.); agnīm hotrāya prāvṛṇata they chose Agni for the priesthood = in order that he should be priest (ŚB.). The final sense is commonly expressed by abstract substantives (including in V. many infinitives); e. g. ādhi śriyē duhitā sūryasya rātham tasthau the daughter of the sun has mounted the car for beauty = so as to produce a beautiful effect (vi. 63⁵); tēna evā enam sām srjati śāntyai with him (Mitra) he unites him (Agni) for appeasement (TS.).

a. This final dat. is particularly used with as and bhū; e. g. āsti hi śmā mādāya vaḥ there is (something) for your intoxication, i. e. to intoxicate you (i. 37¹⁵); mādāya sōmaḥ (sc. asti) Soma (is for =) produces intoxication (ŚB.).

3. The dative is used, though rarely, in expressions of time like the English for; e. g. nūnām na indra aparāya ca syāḥ now and for the future mayst thou be ours, O Indra (vi. 33⁵); saṃvatsarāya sām amyate for a year an alliance is made (MS.).

a. The iterative compound divé-dive day by day, though apparently dat. of div, is probably in reality meant for the loc. of the transfer stem divá.

4. Two datives connected in sense often appear together. This occurs in V. when an acc. is attracted by a dative infinitive ; e. g. vṛtrāya hāntave = vṛtrām hāntave to slay Vṛtra (cp. 200. A. 1 o α).

a. There is an analogous use in B., where, however, an abstract substantive takes the place of the infinitive ; e. g. yāthā idām pāṇi-bhyām avanéjanāya āhāranty evām just as they bring it for washing the hands (ŚB.). Two datives are here often found with the verb sthā, one expressing the purpose, the other the person affected by the action ; e. g. devebhyaḥ paśavo 'nnādyāyā lambāya na atiṣṭhanta the animals did not present themselves to the gods for food, for sacrifice (AB.).

5. The adverbial use of the dative is very rare : kāmāya and ārthāya for the sake of may be regarded as such ; kāmacārāsya kāmāya for the sake of unrestrained motion (ŚB.) ; asmākārthāya jajñiṣe thou hast been born for our sake (AV.).

Ablative.

201. The ablative, expressing the starting-point from which the action of the verb proceeds, may as a rule be translated by from. It is chiefly connected with various classes of words, but is also used independently.

A. In its dependent use the ablative appears with :

1. verbs a. expressing a local action, as go, proceed, drive, lead, take, receive ; pour, drink ; call, loosen, ward off, exclude ; e. g. īyūr gāvo ná yāvasād āgopāḥ they went like unherded kine from the pasture (vii. 18¹⁰) ; vṛtrāsya śvasāthād īsamāṇāḥ fleeing from the snorting of Vṛtra (viii. 96⁷) ; āsataḥ sād ajāyata from non-being arose being (x. 72³) ; abhrād iva prā stanayanti vṛṣṭāyaḥ from the cloud as it were thunder the rains (x. 75³) ; tvām dāsyaūmr ókasa ājaḥ thou drovest the enemies from the house (vii. 5⁶) ; bhujiyūṃ samudrād ūhatuḥ ye two have borne Bhujiyu from the sea (vi. 62⁶) ; dāśo hiraṇyapiṇḍān dívodāsād asāniṣam ten lumps of gold I have received from Divodāsa (vi. 47²³); ápād dhotrād utá potrād amatta he has drunk from the Hotr's vessel and has intoxicated himself from the Potr's vessel (ii. 37⁴); máruto yád vo diváh hávāmahe O Maruts, when we call you from heaven (viii. 7¹¹); śúnaś cic chépaṃ yūpād amuñcaḥ thou didst release Śunahśepa from the post (v. 2⁷); yuyutám asmád ánirām ámivām ward off from us sickness and calamity (vii. 71²).

a. Examples from B. are : yád dhāved annādyād dhāvet if he were to run, he would run away from his food (TS.); sá ráthāt papāta he fell from his car (ŚB.); divó vṛṣṭir írte rain comes from the sky (TS.); ṛṣayaḥ kavaṣam ailūsaṃ somād anayan the seers led Kavaṣa Ailūsa away from Soma, i. e. excluded him from it (AB.); enān asmāl lokād anudanta they drove them away from this world (AB.); tásmād ánasa evá grhṇiyāt therefore he should take it from the cart (ŚB.); keśavát pūruṣāt síśena parisrútaṃ krīṇāti he buys the Parisrut from a long-haired man for lead (ŚB.); sá evá enaṃ varuṇapāśān muñcati he releases him from the fetter of Varuṇa (TS.); suvargāl lokād yájamāno hīyeta the sacrificer would fall short of heaven (TS.). The two verbs antár dhā hide and ní-lī conceal oneself are used with the abl. in B. only : vájreṇa enaṃ suvargāl lokād antár dadhyāt he would exclude him from heaven with the bolt (TS.); agnír devébhyo ní-lāyata Agni concealed himself from the gods (TS.).

b. expressing rescue, protect ; fear, dislike ; transcend, prefer : verbs with the latter two senses as well as uruṣya protect, rakṣ guard, and rej tremble take this construction in V. only ; pā and trā protect and bhī fear in both V. and B. ; gopāya protect, bībhatsa be disgusted with in B. only : e. g. ámhaso no mitrá uruṣyet may Mitra rescue us from distress (iv. 55⁵); sá nás trāsate duriṭāt he shall protect us from misfortune (i. 128⁵); índrasya vájrād abibhet she was afraid of Indra's bolt (x. 138⁵); prá síndhubhyo ririce, prá kṣitibhyaḥ he reaches beyond rivers and beyond lands (x. 89¹¹); sómāt sutád índro avrṇīta vásiṣṭhān Indra preferred the Vasiṣṭhas to (Pāśadyumna's) pressed Soma (vii. 33²).

α. With bhī two ablatives are found, the one being the object feared, the other the action proceeding from it ; e. g. índrasya vájrād abibhed abhiśnáthaḥ she was afraid of Indra's bolt, of its crushing (x. 138⁵), i. e. that it would crush her; asurarakṣasébhya āsaṅgād bibhayām cakruḥ they were afraid of the Asuras and Rakṣasas, of their attachment = that they would attach themselves to them (ŚB.).

2. substantives when derived from, or equivalent to, verbs used with the ablative; e. g. śārma no yaṃsan trivā-rūtham āmhasaḥ they shall grant us thrice-protecting shelter from distress (x. 66⁵); ūpa chāyām iva ghṇer āganma śārma te vayām we have entered thy shelter like shade (that protects) from heat (vi. 16³⁸); rākṣobhyo vāi tām bhīṣā vācam ayachan they restrained their speech from fear of the demons (ŚB.).

3. adjectives: in V. and B. comparatives and adjectives of cognate sense, when it means than; e. g. ghṛtāt svādīyaḥ sweeter than butter (viii. 24²⁰); viśvasmād indra ūttaraḥ Indra is greater than every one (x. 86¹); jātāny āvarāṇy asmāt born later than he (viii. 96⁶); pūrvā viśvasmād bhūvanād abodhi she has awakened earlier than every being (i. 123²); pāpīyān āśvād gardabhāḥ the ass is worse than the horse (TS.); brahma hi pūrvam kṣatrāt the priesthood is superior to the warrior class (PB.); anyo vā ayam asmad bhavati he becomes other than we (AB.).

a. In B. several local and temporal adjectives: arvācīna below, ūrdhvā above, jihmā aslant; arvāñc before, parāñc after; e. g. yāt kīm ca arvācīnam ādityāt whatever is below the sun (ŚB.); etāsmāc cātvalād ūrdhvāḥ svargām lokām upód akrāman upward from that pit they ascended to heaven (ŚB.); yajñāj jihmā iyuḥ they (would go obliquely from =) lose the sacrifice (AB.); daśa vā etasmād arvāñcas trivṛto, daśa parāñcaḥ ten Trivṛts occur before it and ten after it (AB.).

b. in B. adjectives in uka, which with bhū are equivalent to a verb; e. g. yajamānāt paśavo 'nutkrāmukā bhavanti the animals are not inclined to run away from the sacrificer (AB.).

c. in B. numerals, both ordinals and cardinals: with the former the abl. expresses the point from which the reckoning is made; e. g. iśvaro ha asmād dvitīyo vā tṛtīyo vā brāhmaṇatām abhyupaitoḥ the second or third (in descent) from him can obtain Brahminhood (AB.); with the latter it expresses the figure by which the complete number is defective; e. g. ékān nā śatām not a hundred by one = ninety-nine.

Analogously with words meaning incomplete the abl. expresses the amount of the deficiency; e.g. ékasmād aksārād ānāptam (a verse) incomplete by one syllable (TS.); tēsām alpakād evāgnir āsaṃcita āsa their fire (altar) was not completely piled up by a little only, i.e. was almost completely piled up (ŚB.).

4. adverbs meaning before, beyond, outside, below, far from, without are used prepositionally with the abl. Those occurring in V. only are: adhās below, avās down from, āré without, purās before; in V. and B.: ṛté without, tirās apart from, parās outside, purā before; in B. only: abhyardhās far from; bahīs outside. Cp. 177, 3.

a. In B. some other adverbs with a local or temporal sense; e.g. dūrām ha vā asmān mṛtyúr bhavati death is far from him (ŚB.); tāsmān madhyamāc chaṅkór dakṣiṇā pāñcadaśa vikramān prā krāmati he strides forward fifteen steps to the right of this middle peg (ŚB.); prāg ghomāt before (making) the oblation (AB.).

B. The abl. is used independently of any particular class of word to express the reason of an action in the sense of on account of; e.g. mā nas tasmād énaśo deva rīriṣaḥ let us suffer no harm, O god, on account of this sin (vii. 89^v); ánṛtād vái tāḥ prajā váruṇo 'grhṇāt by reason of their guilt Varuṇa seized creatures (MS.). Similarly in B.: tāsmād therefore; kásmāt wherefore?

Genitive.

202. The genitive is a dependent case, being in its main uses connected with verbs and substantives, but also appearing with adjectives and adverbs.

A. With verbs the gen. has a sense analogous to that of the acc., but differs here from the latter in expressing that the action affects the object not as a whole, but only in part. It is used with verbs having the following senses:

a. rule over, dispose of: always with kṣi and rāj, nearly always with irajya and ís (rarely acc.). In B. the only verb with this sense taking the gen. is īś have power over; e. g. ātha_ēṣām sārva īśe then every one has power over them (MS.).

b. rejoice in: always with tr̥p, prī, vr̥dh; optionally with kan and mad (also inst. and loc.), and with the caus. of pan (also acc.).

a. In B. the only verb of this group taking the gen. is tr̥p in a partitive sense; e. g. ānnasya tr̥pyati he refreshes himself with (some) food (ŚB.).

c. take note of: always with 2. kṛ speak highly of and ā-dhī think about, care for; alternatively with acc.: cit observe, attend to, budh take note of; adhi-i, -gam, -gā attend to, care for; vid know about (with acc. know fully); śru hear (gen. of person, acc. of thing, heard). In AV. kīrtaya mention and smṛ remember take the gen.

a. In B. only three verbs of this class are thus construed: vid and śru as in RV., and kīrtaya mention.

d. partitiveness (while the acc. with the same verbs expresses full extent):

1. eat, drink: aś eat of, ad eat (almost exclusively with acc.); pā drink; ā-vṛṣ fill oneself full of, vī and juṣ enjoy.

a. In B. only aś and pā besides bhakṣ eat (in RV. with acc. only) take the partitive gen.

2. give, present, sacrifice: dā give of, ā-daśasya and śak present with; pr̥c give abundantly of; yaj sacrifice (acc. of person, gen. of offering), e. g. sómasya tvā yakṣi I will worship thee (with a libation) of Soma (iii. 53²).

a. In B. yaj may be used without acc. of the person; e. g. tásmād ājyasya_ēvā yajet therefore he should sacrifice some butter (ŚB.).

β. In B. several verbs having the general sense of giving and taking, not so used in V., come to be used with the gen. of the object in a partitive sense: vap strew, hu offer, abhi-ghar pour upon, ava-dā cut off some of, ā-ścut drip, upa-str̥ spread over, ni-han (AV.) and pra-han strike, vi-khan dig up some of; grabh take of and in the passive be seized = suffer in (a part of the body); e. g. ná cákṣuṣo gr̥he he does not suffer in his eye (MS.): yó vācō gr̥hītāh who suffers in his voice (MS.).

γ. In B. anu-brū invite is used with the dat. of the god and the gen. of that to which he is invited ; e.g. agnī-śómābhyām médasó 'nu brūhi invite Agni and Soma to the fat (ŚB.).

e. obtain, ask for: bhaj participate in (with acc. obtain) ; bhikṣ beg for : ī and īḍ implore for (generally acc. of thing as well as person) ; e.g. tām īmahe indram asya rāyāḥ we implore Indra for some of that wealth (vi. 22³) ; iyate vāsū-nām he is implored for some of his riches (vii. 32⁵) ; also ā-yu take possession of.

a. Of these verbs bhaj remains in use in B. : with gen. = have a share in (with acc. receive as a share).

f. belong to: as and bhū, with the gen. of the possessor in both V. and B. ; e.g. asmākam astu kévalaḥ let him exclusively be ours (i. 7¹⁰) ; átha abhavat kévalaḥ sómo asya then Soma became exclusively his (vii. 98⁵) ; mānor ha vā ṛṣabhā āsa Manu had a bull (ŚB.) ; tasya śataṃ jāyā babhūvuh he had a hundred wives (AB.).

B. The genitive is used with two classes of substantives.

1. It depends on verbal substantives and is then allied to the gen. with verbs (especially those expressing possession).

a. The subjective gen., which is equivalent to the agent of the action expressed by the cognate verb ; e.g. uśáso vyūṣṭau at the break of dawn = when the dawn breaks ; apakramád u ha evá eṣām etád bibhayām cakāra he was afraid of their departure (ŚB.) = that they would run away. It very often occurs with datives : e.g. yajñásya sámṛd-dhyai for the success of the sacrifice (TS.) = that the sacrifice might succeed.

b. The objective gen., which is equivalent to the object expressed by the cognate verb ; e.g. yógo vājínaḥ the yoking of the steed = he yokes the steed ; purá vṛtrásya vadhāt before the slaughter of Vṛtra (ŚB.) = before he slew Vṛtra. It often occurs with datives ; e.g. yájamānasya áhiṃsāyai for the non-injury of the sacrificer (MS.) = in order not to injure the sacrificer.

a. This genitive is common with agent nouns, especially those in ṭṭ; e.g. rāyó dātā giver of wealth (vi. 23¹⁰); pūṣā paśūnām prajanayitā Puṣan is the propagator of cattle (MS.). But in V. the agent nouns in ṭṭ with few exceptions take the acc. when the root is accented; e.g. dātā vāsu one who gives wealth (vi. 23³).

2. The gen. commonly depends on non-verbal substantives. It may then have two senses:

a. The possessive gen.; e.g. vēḥ parṇām the wing of the bird = wing belonging to the bird; devānām dūtāḥ the messenger of the gods. It also appears with abstract nouns derived from such words; e.g. ād id devānām ūpa sakhyām āyan then they came to friendship with the gods (iv. 33²) = then they became friends of the gods.

a. The gen. used with the perf. pass. part., felt to be the agent, is a variety of the possessive gen. Already appearing a few times in the RV. it is common in B.; e.g. pātyuḥ kṛitā (MS.) the bought (wife) of the husband = (the wife) bought by the husband.

β. The gen. is similarly used with the gerundive; e.g. anyasya balikṛd anyasya adyaḥ paying taxes to another, to be devoured by another (AB.).

γ. The gen. is frequently used possessively where we would use a dative; e.g. tasya ha putro jajñe a son of his was born = a son was born to him (AB.).

δ. The gen. is occasionally used for the dative with śrad dhā believe and dā give in the AB. This use may have started from the possessive sense.

b. The partitive gen. expresses a part of the whole; e.g. mitró vái śivó devānām Mitra is the kindly one among the gods (TS.). If the gen. is a plural of the same word as that on which it depends it is equivalent to a superlative; e.g. sákhe sakhinām O friend among friends = best of friends (i. 30¹¹); mantrakṛtām mantrakṛt best of composers of hymns (B.).

a. This gen. is in particular used with comparatives and superlatives (including prathamā first, caramā last, &c.); e.g. nā pārā jigye katarás canāinoḥ not either of the two of them conquered (vi. 69⁸); gardabhāḥ paśūnām bhārabharitamāḥ the ass is the best bearer of burdens among animals (TS.).

β. It is used with numbers above twenty (in B. only with sahásram) and words expressive of a division or a measure ; e. g. ṣaṣṭīm áśvānām (an aggregate of) sixty horses ; gónām ardhām half of the cows ; gávām yūthāni herds of cows. Sometimes this gen. is used by transference to express not a part, but the whole ; as in marútām gaṇāḥ the host (consisting) of the Maruts.

γ. The gen. sometimes expresses the material ; e. g. kṛṣṇānām vr̥hīṇām carūm śrapayati he cooks a mess of black rice (SB.) ; etēśām vr̥kṣānām bhavanti they (the fences) are (made of the wood) of these trees (SB.). It is used in this sense with the verb kr̥ ; e. g. yá evá kás ca vr̥kṣāḥ phalagrāhis tásya káryā whatever tree bears fruit, of (a part of) that it is to be made (MS.).

C. The gen. is used with a few adjectives meaning attached to, like, capable of, knowing, offering, abounding in : priyá dear, ánuvrata obedient ; prátyardhi standing at the side of ; ánurūpa similar ; īśvará able to, návedas cognisant of ; pápri bestowing abundantly (partitive gen. of the thing offered, e. g. ándhasaḥ of the juice (i. 52nd)) ; and with the participles, used like adjectives. pūrṇá full of, pīpivāms abounding in.

D. The gen. is used with certain adverbs having 1. a local sense : in V. agratás before (AV.) ; in V. and B. : dakṣiṇatás to the right of ; avástād below, parástād above, purástād before ; in B. : upáriṣṭād behind, paścād behind, purás before ; antikám near, nédīyas nearer, nédiṣṭham nearest.

a. In the RV. āré far from takes the gen. (also the abl.).

β. In B. the local adjective (like the local adverbs) údañc northward of takes the gen.

2. a temporal sense : idā́ and idā́nīm now are used in V. with the genitives áhnas and áhnām = at the present time of day ; prātár early with the gen. áhnas in V. and with rátryās in B. ; e. g. yásyā rátryāḥ prātár yakṣyámānaḥ syát in the morning of which night he may be about to sacrifice (MS.).

3. a multiplicative sense : in V. sakṛ́t once with áhnas once a day ; trís thrice in trír áhnas, trír á́ divāḥ thrice a day and trír aktós three times a night; in B.: dvís twice and trís thrice with saṃvatsarásya, twice, thrice a year.

a. The adverbial use in V. of the gen. in a temporal sense is perhaps derived from that with multiplicatives: aktós, kṣápas and kṣapás of a night; vástos and uśásas of a morning.

Locative.

203. This case expresses the sphere in which an action takes place, or with verbs of motion the sphere which is reached by the action. Its sense includes not only locality (both concrete and abstract) but persons and time. It may therefore be variously translated by in, on, at; beside, among, in the presence of; to, into.

A. The loc. appears in a general and independent way in the following senses:

1. Place: a. concrete; e. g. divi in heaven, párvate in or on the mountain (i. 32²); sárasvatyām at the Sarasvatī (iii. 23⁴); yudhí in battle (i. 8³), saṃgrāmé id. (ŚB.).

b. abstract: asya sumatáu syāma may we be in his good graces (viii. 48¹²); tád indra te váśe that, O Indra, is in thy power (viii. 93⁴); yá ādityānām bhávati prāṇītau who is in the guidance of the Ādityas (ii. 27¹³); vájrasya yát pátane pádi śúṣṇaḥ when upon the flight of the bolt Śúṣṇa fell (vi. 20⁵); ghṛtakīrtáu at the mention of (the word) ghee (ŚB.).

2. Persons: e. g. yát kīm ca duritām máyi whatever sin there is in me (i. 23²²); pīpāya sá śrávasā mártyeṣu he abounds in fame among mortals (vi. 10³); yát sthó druhyávy ánavi turváśe yádau, huvé vām whether ye two are beside (with) Druhyu, Anu, Turvaśa (or) Yadu, I call you (viii. 10⁵); vayám syāma várune ánāgāḥ may we be guiltless in the eyes of Varuṇa (vii. 87⁷); asmín puṣyantú gópatau let them prosper under this herdsman (x. 19³).

3. Time: here the loc. expresses that an action takes place within the limits of the time mentioned; e. g. uśáso vyūṣṭau at the flush of dawn; uśási in the morning (in B. prātár is used instead); dyávi-dyavi every day (not used in B.); trír áhan three times in the day (in B. gen. only); jāyate māsí-māsi he is born (once) in every (successive) month (x. 52³).

a. This temporal use sometimes comes to mean that something happens at the end of the period; e. g. samvatsará idám adyá vy ákhyata ye have opened your eyes now to-day (for the first time, in a year (i. 161¹³) = at the end of a year; tátaḥ samvatsaré púruṣaḥ sám abhavat thence arose in (= at the end of) a year a man (ŚB.).

4. Adverbially. A few substantives and adjectives are thus used; e. g. ágre often occurs in the sense of in front and at first, appearing even in compounds (e. g. agre-gá going before, agre-pá drinking first); in ŚB. the loc. of kṣiprá quick is several times thus employed, e. g. kṣipré ha yájamāno 'múm lokám iyāt the sacrificer would speedily go to yonder world.

204. B. The loc. is connected with different classes of words by which it may be said to be governed.

1. It is specially connected with verbs expressing:

a. in V.: rejoice in; grow, prosper; bless, injure in respect of; implore, invoke for (ī, hū); receive from; e. g. víśve devā haviṣi mādayadhvam do ye, O all-gods, rejoice in the oblation (vi. 52¹⁷); táviṣiṣu vāvṛdhe he grew in strength (i. 52²); yá eṣāṃ bhṛtyām ṛṇádhat sá jīvāt he who will succeed in their support, shall live (i. 84¹⁶); práva nas toké bless us in children (viii. 23¹²); má nas toké rīriṣaḥ injure us not in our children (i. 114⁸); agniṃ toké tánaye śásvad īmahe Agni we constantly implore for children and for grandchildren (viii. 71¹³); ádhā hí tvā hávāmahe tánaye góṣu apsú for we invoke thee for offspring, cows, water (vi. 19¹²); devéṣu amṛtatvám ānaśa ye received immortality (among =) from the gods (iv. 36⁴);

in V. and B.: let share in (ā-bhaj) and struggle for (sprdh, rarely in V.); e. g. yān ábhajo marúta indra sóme the

Maruts whom thou, O Indra, didst allow to share in Soma (iii. 35⁹); ánu no 'syám prthivyám á bhajata let us have a share in this earth (ŚB.); ādityāś ca ha vā aṅgīrasaś ca svarge loke 'spardhanta the Ādityas and the Aṅgīrasas struggled for (the possession of) the heavenly world (AB.);

in B. : request (iṣ), ask (prach), call in question (mīmāṃs); e. g. sā ha iyám devéṣu sutyāyām apitvám iṣe she requested from the gods a share in the Soma feast (ŚB.); te deveṣv aprchanta they inquired of the gods (PB.).

b. in V. and B. : motion, to indicate the place that is reached. The case may here be translated by to, into, upon. Such verbs in V. are : go (gam), enter (ā-viś), ascend (ā-ruh), descend (ava-vyadh), flow (arṣ, dhāv), pour (sic, hu), put (dhā, kr); e. g. sā id devéṣu gachati (i. 1⁴) that goes to (= reaches) the gods (while devān gachati would mean goes in the direction of the gods); yó mártyeṣv ít kṛṇóti devān who brings the gods to mortals (i. 77¹); vīryám yājamāne dadhāti he puts energy into the sacrificer (TS.); ná vā eṣá grāmyéṣu paśúṣu hitāḥ he (is not placed among =) does not belong to the tame animals (TS.). In B. verbs meaning to throw at are especially common with the loc.

c. desire, to indicate the goal or object aimed at: gr̥dh be eager, yat strive, ā-śams hope; e. g. ánneṣu jāgr̥dhur they are eager for food (ii. 23¹⁶); diví svanó yatate the sound soars to heaven (x. 75³); á tú na indra śamsaya góṣv áśveṣu pray give us hope, Indra, of cows and horses (i. 29¹); agnihotrīṇi devātā á śamsante the gods place their hope in the maintainer of the sacrificial fire (MS.).

2. The loc. is also used to some extent connected with nouns :

a. verbal nouns (substantives and adjectives) derived from verbs taking that case; e. g. ná tásya vācy ápi bhāgó asti he has no share in speech (x. 71⁶); sómo bhūtv avapāneṣv ábhagaḥ let Soma be a participator in drinking bouts (i. 136⁴); sutá it tvám nímiśla indra sóme thou art attached, O Indra, to the pressed Soma (vi. 23¹); tásminn evá etā nímiślatamā iva to him these (women) are most devoted (ŚB.).

b. ordinary adjectives: in V. priyá and cáru dear; e. g. priyáh sūrye priyó agnā bhavāti he will be dear to Sūrya, dear to Agni (v. 37⁵); cārur mitré vāruṇe ca dear to Mitra and Varuṇa (ix. 61⁹); in B. dhruvá firm; e. g. rāṣṭrām evá asmin dhruvám akah he has made the sovereignty established in him (TS.).

3. The loc. is used with a few prepositions: in V. ā in, at, on, and (rarely) āpi near, in, and ūpa near to, at, upon, as well as the prepositional adverb sácā beside, with; in V. and B. ádhi on and antár within (cp. 176, 2; 177, 5).

Locative and Genitive Absolute.

205. 1. The absolute construction of the loc., in which the case is always accompanied by a participle, started from the ordinary use of the loc. Combined with a participle it came to be regarded as a temporal or qualifying clause where the case alone could not be employed. Thus beside uṣási at dawn could appear uchántyām uṣási at dawn as it shines forth, which then acquired the independent sense when dawn shines forth (i. 184¹). As regards the participles used in this construction, the future never occurs; the perf. act. is quite isolated; the perf. pass. part. is somewhat doubtful in V., but undoubted in B.; while the pres. part. is in fully developed use in V. as well as B.

a. An example of the perf. part. act. in vant used absolutely is: aśítāvaty átithāv aśnīyāt (AV. ix. 6³⁸) the guest having eaten, he may eat (cp. 161).

b. The perf. part. pass. appears in the RV. in several expressions, such as jāté agnáu, stīrṇé barhiṣi, suté sóme, in which the loc. probably still has its ordinary sense; e. g. viśvam adhāg áyudham iddhé agnáu he burnt every weapon in the kindled fire (ii. 15⁴); yó áśvasya dadhikrávṇo ákārīt sámiddhe agná uśáso vyūṣṭau who has honoured the steed Dadhikrāvan beside the kindled fire at the flush of Dawn (iv. 39³), possibly when the fire is kindled. In other examples the absolute sense seems more likely : yád īm enām̐ uśató abhy ávarṣīt trṣyāvataḥ prāvṛṣy ágatāyām when it has rained upon the eager thirsty ones, the rainy season having come (vii. 103³); especially in yán marutaḥ sūrya údite mādatha when ye, O Maruts, are exhilarated at the rising of the sun (v. 54¹⁰). Here sūrye could not be used alone,¹ while the loc. of time would be expressed by úditā sūryasya at sunrise.

a. In B. the absolute use with the perf. part. pass. is much more pronounced ; e. g. úditeṣu nákṣatreṣu vācam ví sṛjati when the stars have risen he sets free his voice (TS.); sá enāḥ śvó bhūtē yajate he sacrifices to them when the morning has appeared (TS.); krité sóme maitrāvaruṇāya daṇḍām prá yachati when the Soma has been bought he hands the staff to the Maitrāvaruṇa priest (TS.); tasmād gardabhé purā áyuṣaḥ prámite bibhyati therefore one is frightened when a donkey has died before its time (TS.). The substantive has sometimes to be supplied ; e. g. sá hovāca : ható vṛtró ; yád dhaté kuryāta tát kuruta iti he said : Vṛtra is dead ; what you would do, if he were dead, that do (ŚB.).

c. Of the pres. part. with the loc. in the absolute sense there are many examples in V. ; e. g. índraṃ prātár havā-maha índraṃ prayati adhvaré Indra we invoke early, Indra when the sacrifice proceeds (i. 16³); sárasvatīm deva-yánto havante sárasvatīm adhvaré tāyāmāne men devoted to the gods invoke Sarasvatī, Sarasvatī while the sacrifice is extended (x. 17⁷); tá vām adyá táv aparām huvema uchántyām uśási so you two to-day, so you two in future we would invoke when Dawn shines forth (i. 184¹).

a. Similarly in B : yajñamukhé-yajñamukhe vái kriyāmāṇe yaj-ñām rákṣāṃsi jighāṃsanti always when the commencement of the sacrifice is being made, the Rakṣases seek to destroy the sacrifice (TS.); sóme hanyá-māne yajñó hanyate when Soma is destroyed, the sacrifice is destroyed (TS.);

¹ Because the sense rejoice in the sun would be unnatural, though the construction of mad with the loc. is normal (cp. 204, 1 a).

tāsmād agnicid vārsati nā dhāvet therefore the fire-piler should not run when it rains (TS.); tām etāt pratyāyatyām rātrau sâyām upātiṣṭhanta so they approached him in the evening when night returned (ŚB.).

2. The genitive absolute is unknown in V., but has already come into use in B. It arose from the possessive genitive which acquired an independent syntactical value when accompanied by a (pres. or perf. pass.) participle much in the same way as the loc. The substantive is sometimes omitted. Examples are: tāsya ālabdhasya sâ vâg āpa cakrāma he being sacrificed, this voice departed (ŚB.); tāsmād apām taptānām phēno jāyate therefore, when water is heated, foam arises (ŚB.); sâ etā viprūṣo 'janayata yâ imāḥ skūyāmānasya viprāvante he (Agni) produced those sparks which dart about when (the fire) is stirred (MS.); teṣām ha uttiṣṭhatām uvāca while these stood up he said (AB.). In the first three of the above examples the close relationship of the absolute to the possessive case is still apparent.

Participles.

206. Participles are of a twofold nature inasmuch as they share the characteristics of both noun and verb. In form they are adjectives both in inflexion and concord. On the other hand they not only govern cases like the verb, but also indicate differences of voice and generally speaking retain the distinctions of time expressed by the tenses to which they belong. They are as a rule used appositionally with substantives, qualifying the main action and equivalent to subordinate clauses. They may thus express a relative, temporal, causal, concessive, final, or hypothetical sense. The verbal character of participles formed directly from the root (and not from tense stems) is restricted (with certain exceptions) to the passive voice in sense, and to past and future time; while owing to their passive nature they are not construed with an acc. of the object, but only with the inst. of the agent or means.

207. The pres. part. is occasionally used in V. by anacoluthon as a finite verb ; e.g. asmād ahām taviṣād īsamāṇa indrād bhiyā maruto réjamānaḥ I (am) fleeing from this mighty one, trembling with fear of Indra, ye Maruts (i. 171⁴). This use does not seem to be found in B.

a. The pres. part. is used with the verbs i go, car move, ās remain, sthā stand as auxiliaries to express continued duration in V. and B. ; e.g. viśvam anyó abhicákṣāṇa eti the other (Pūṣan) goes on watching the universe (ii. 40⁵) ; vicākaśac candrāmā náktam eti the moon goes on shining brightly at night (i. 24¹⁰) ; tē 'sya grhāḥ paśáva upamūryā-māṇā iyuh his house and cattle would go on being destroyed (ŚB.) ; tvām hí . . . éko vṛtrā cárasi jighnamānaḥ for thou alone goest on killing the Vṛtras (iii. 30⁴) ; té 'rcantaḥ śrām-yantaś ceruḥ they went on praying and fasting (ŚB.) ; ṛcām tvaḥ pōṣam āste pupuṣvān the one keeps producing abundance of verses (x. 71¹¹) ; sómam evā etāt pibanta āsate they thus keep on drinking Soma (TS.) ; ucchvāñcamānā pṛthivī sú tiṣṭhatu let the earth keep on yawning wide (x. 18¹²) ; vitṛmḥā-nās tiṣṭhanti they keep conflicting (TS.).

208. The past passive participle in ta is very frequently used as a finite verb ; e.g. tatām me āpas tát u tāyate pūnaḥ my work is done and it is being done again (i. 110¹) ; ná tvāvām indra kás caná ná jātó ná janiṣyate no one is like thee, O Indra, he has not been born, and he will not be born (i. 81⁵) ; used impersonally : śráddhitam te mahatá indriyāya confidence has been placed in thy great might (i. 104⁶).

Similarly in B. : iṣṭā devātā átha katamá eté the gods have been worshipped, but which are these gods? (TS.) ; also in subordinate clauses : tásmin yád āpannam, grasitām evā asya tát what has got into him, that has been devoured by him (TS.).

a. The perf. pass. part. is not infrequently used with forms of as and bhū as auxiliaries constituting a periphrastic mood or tense in V. ; e.g. yuktás te astu dáksinaḥ let thy right (steed) be yoked (i. 82⁵) ; dhūmās te ketúr abhavad divi śritāḥ the smoke, thy banner, (was raised =) arose to heaven (v. 11³).

b. Such forms (pres. and aor. ind. of bhū, impf. and perf. ind. and opt. of as) make regular past and present tenses and the opt. mood in B.; e.g. bhūyasibhir haṣya āhutibhir iṣṭam bhavati by him sacrifice has been made with several offerings (AB.); devāsurāḥ sāmyattā āsan the gods and Asuras were engaged in conflict (TS.); tād vā ṛṣiṇām ānuśrutam āsa that was heard by the seers (ŚB.); tāsmād vidhṛtā ādhvāno 'bhūvan therefore the roads have been divided (TS.).

209. Future Participles Passive. There are six of these: one, that in āyya occurs in the RV. only: three, those in enya, ya, and tva, in V. and in B.; two, those in tavya and anīya in V. (but not in the RV.) and in B. The commonest sense expressed by these verbal nouns is necessity; but various allied meanings, such as obligation, fitness, certain futurity, and possibility, are also frequent. Four of them are construed with the inst. of the agent (the gen. and dat. sometimes appearing instead), while the forms in tva and anīya are never found connected with a case.

1. The commonest of these gerundives is that in ya; sadyó jajñānó hávyo babhūva as soon as born he became one to be invoked (viii. 96²¹). It often appears without a verb; e.g. viśvā hí vo namasyāni vándyā námāni devā utá yajñíyāni vaḥ all your names, ye gods, are adorable, worthy of praise, and worshipful (x. 63²). The agent may be expressed by the inst., dat., or gen.; e.g. tvám nṛbhir hávyo viśvādhāsi thou art always to be invoked by men (vii. 22⁷); asmābhir ū nú praticákṣyā abhūt she has become visible (by =) to us (i. 113¹¹); sákhā sákhibhya ídyaḥ a friend to be praised by friends (i. 75⁴); yá éka íd dhávyah carṣaṇīnām who alone is to be invoked of men (vi. 22¹).

a. In B. the agent may be in the inst. or gen., but not in the dat.; thus tāsmāi déyam means to him gifts should be given (ŚB.). This example also illustrates the impersonal use of this gerundive in B., a use unknown to the RV. This gerundive is always without a verb, being unaccompanied by forms of as or bhū in B. ; e. g. bahú déyam much (is) to be given (MS.).

2. The gerundive in tva in the RV. implies necessity or possibility and is often used in contrast with the past ; but it is not found accompanied by a verb (as or bhū) or a noun expressing the agent ; e. g. ripávo hántvāsaḥ the enemy are to be killed (iii. 30¹⁵) ; yó nántvāny ānāman ny ójasā who by his might bent what could be bent (ii. 24²) ; tád víśvam abhibhūr asi yáj jātām yác ca jāntvam thou surpassest all that has been born and that is to be born (viii. 89⁶).

a. The only meaning that seems to be expressed by this gerundive in B. is possibility ; e. g. snātvam udakām water that can be bathed in (ŚB.) ; nó asya anyád dhótvam āsit prāṇāt and he had nothing else that could be offered but breath (MS.).

3. The gerundive in āyya, found in the RV. only, sometimes appears accompanied by an agent in the inst. or the dat. ; e. g. dakṣāyyo nṛbhiḥ to be propitiated by men (i. 129²) ; dakṣāyyo dāsvate dāma ā who is to be propitiated by the pious man in his house (ii. 4³).

4. The form in enya, almost restricted to the RV., may be accompanied by an agent in the inst. ; e. g. agnír ilényo girā Agni to be praised with song (i. 79⁵) ; abhyāyamsénā bhavataṃ manīṣibhiḥ be willing to be drawn near by the devout (i. 34¹).

a. It is once or twice also found in B. ; thus vācam udyāsaṃ śusrū-ṣēnyām I would utter a speech worthy to be heard (TS.).

5. The gerundive in tavya, which is not found in the RV. at all, occurs only twice in the AV. ; thus nā brāhmaṇo himsitavyaḥ a Brahmin is not to be injured (AV. v. 18⁶).

a. In B. it is frequent and used much in the same way as the form in ya ; here it is also used impersonally and with the agent in the inst. ; e. g. putró jājayavitavyaḥ a son must be made to sacrifice (MS.) ; agnicitā pakṣīno ná aśitavyām an Agnicit should not cut (any part) of a bird (MS.) ; paśúvratena bhavitavyām (MS.) he should act after the manner of cattle (more literally : action should be taken by him as one following the manner of cattle).

6. The form in anīya, which is rare in both V. and B., does not occur at all in the RV., and only twice in the prose of the AV. Expressing only suitability or possibility, and never used either with an inst. or impersonally, it has hardly attained the full value of a gerundive even in B.; e. g. upajīvaniyo bhavati he is one who may be subsisted on (AV.); abhicaraṇīya liable to be bewitched (ŚB.); āhavanīya suitable to be offered to (AB.).

Gerund or Indeclinable Participle.

210. The forms of the gerund, ending in tvī, tvā, tvāya (cp. 163) and in ya or tya (164) are synonymous, expressing an action that is past before that of the finite verb begins. It regularly refers to what is regarded as the subject of the sentence; e. g. gūḍhvī tāmo jyōtiṣā uṣā abodhi having hidden away the darkness, Dawn has awakened with light (vii. 80²); yuktvā hāribhyām ūpa yāsad arvāk having yoked (them) may he come hither with his two bays (v. 40⁴); striyaṃ drṣtvāya kitavāṃ tatāpa having seen a woman it pains the gambler (x. 34¹¹) = the gambler, having seen a woman, is pained; pibā niśādyā drink, after having sat down (i. 177⁴); yó hānti śātrum abhītya who slays the foe after having attacked him (ix. 55⁴).

a. The usage in B. is similar; e. g. tāsmāt suptvā prajāḥ prā budh-yante therefore creatures awake after having slept (TS.); tāṃ haṇenam drṣtvā bhīr viveda having seen him fear seized him = having seen him he became afraid (ŚB.). The gerund is, however, here found loosely construed in various ways not occurring in V. Thus it refers in sense to the agent implied by the future part. pass. in tavya or ya used predicatively as a finite verb; e. g. agnihotrahāvanīm pratāpya hāsto vadhēyaḥ his hand (is) to be put into it (by the holder) after having heated the fire-sacrifice ladle (MS.). Still looser is the connexion in such sentences as the following : té paśāva oṣadhīr jagdhvā apāḥ pītvā tāta eṣā rāsaḥ sām bhavati the beasts having eaten the plants and drunk water— then this vital sap arises (ŚB.) = then acquire this vital sap. The past sense of the gerund is often emphasized by the particle ātha then being placed immediately after it. The gerund is here sometimes equivalent to the finite verb of a subordinate clause; e.g. ātithyéna vái devā iṣṭvā tánt samád avindat after the gods had sacrificed with the rite of hospitable reception, discord came upon them (ŚB.); similarly with the verb man think: etád vái devāḥ prāpya rāddhvā iva amanyanta the gods, having obtained this, thought that they had as good as won (ŚB.).

b. The gerund in am, which is always a compound, and the first member of which is nearly always a preposition, expresses a simultaneous action performed by the subject of the finite verb of the sentence. Being a cognate acc. used adverbially it is only beginning to be used as a gerund in late V.; e.g. tantrām yuvatī abhyākramam vayataḥ the two maidens weave the web while going up to it (AV.).

a. In B. it has become common; e.g. abhikrámam juhoti (TS.) he sacrifices while approaching (the fire). This gerund is sometimes used with ās, i, or car to express continued action; e.g. té parāpátam āsata they kept flying away (MS.).

Infinitive.

211. The normal use of this form is to supplement the general statement of the sentence in a final (in order to) or a consequential (so as to) sense. The infinitive is, however, sometimes dependent on a particular word in the sentence, usually a verb, occasionally a noun: it then loses some of its full meaning, as in other languages after an auxiliary. The object when it is expressed is generally in the accusative.

1. Dative Infinitive.

a. The various forms of this infinitive govern either an acc. or (by attraction) a dat., sometimes (according to the nature of the verb) another case; e.g. indrāya arkām juhvā sám añje, vīram dānāukasaṁ vandādhyai for Indra I with my tongue adorn a song, to praise the bountiful hero (i. 61⁵); tvām akr̥ṇor duṣṭārītu sāho víśvasmai sáhase sáhadhyai thou didst display irresistible power to overcome every power (vi. 1¹); áva sya śūra_ádhvano ná_ánte 'smín nó adyá sávane mandádhyai unyoke, O hero, as at the end of a journey, to delight in this our Soma pressing to-day (iv. 16²); ábhūd u pāram étave pānthā the path has appeared, to (enable us to) go to the farther shore (i. 46¹¹); ā no nāvā matīnām yātām pāraya gāntave do ye two come to us with the boat of our hymns, to go to the farther shore (i. 46⁷); indram codaya dātave maghām urge Indra to give bounty (ix. 75⁵); indram avardhayann áhaye hāntavā u they strengthened Indra to slay the dragon (v. 31⁴); ā ta etu mānaḥ pūnaḥ jīvāse jyók ca sūryam drśé let thy spirit return (to live =) that thou mayest live and long see the sun (x. 57⁴); śísīte śṛṅge ráksase viníkṣe he sharpens his horns in order to pierce the demon (v. 2⁰); sadyás cin máhi dāvāne to give much at once (viii. 46²⁵); prá yád bháradhve suvitāya dāvāne when ye proceed to give welfare (v. 59⁴); amitrān pṛtsú turvāne to overcome foes in battle (vi. 46⁸); átha_ūpa prá_aid yudháye dāsyum then he advanced to fight the demon (v. 30⁰); táv asmábhyam drśāye sūryāya pūnar dātām āsum may these two give us back our breath that we may see the sun (x. 14¹²); devó no átra savitā nú_ārtham prāsāvīd dvípat prá cátuṣpad ityái here god Savitr has now urged on our bipeds, on our quadrupeds to go to their work (i. 124¹); ábodhi hótā yajáthāya devān the priest has awakened to worship the gods (v. 1²).

b. The dat. inf. not infrequently depends on a particular word in the sentence; e. g. tá vām vāstūni_úsmaṣi gámadhyai we desire to go to those abodes of you two (i. 154⁶); dādhrvir bháradhyai strong to carry (vi. 66³); cikíd nāsayádhyai understanding to destroy (viii. 97¹⁴); agnīm dvéṣo yótavái no gṛṇīmasi we implore Agni to ward off hostility from us (viii. 71¹⁵); té hí putrásō áditer vidur dvéṣāmsi yótave for those sons of Aditi know how to ward off hostilities (viii. 18³); tvām indra sravitavā apás kaḥ thou, O Indra, hast made the waters to flow (vii. 21³); vidyāma tāsya te vayám ákūpārasya dāvāne may we know this of thee who art inexhaustible to give (v. 39²); bhiyāse mṛgām kaḥ he has made the monster to fear (v. 29⁴); jajanús ca rājāse and they created (him) to rule (viii. 97¹⁰); kavīm̐r ichāmi samdṛśe I wish to see the poets (iii. 38¹).

α. The dat. inf. has sometimes a passive force; e.g. á vo vāhiṣṭho vahatu stavādhyai ráthaḥ may your most swift car bring you hither to be praised (vii. 37¹); gīrbhiḥ sakhāyaṃ gām ná dohāse huve with songs I call my friend like a cow to be milked (vi. 45⁷); esā purutāmā dṛśe kām she here that constantly returns (so as) to be seen (i. 124⁶). This sense is especially noticeable in the infinitives in tavái, tave, and e, which when used predicatively (as a rule with the negative ná) are equivalent to a future part. pass.¹ with the copula; e.g. stuśe sá vām rātīḥ² that bounty of yours is to be praised (i. 122⁷); náiṣā gávyūtir ápabhartavá u this pasture (is) not to be taken away (x. 14²); yásya ná rádhaḥ páryetave whose treasure is not to be surpassed (viii. 24²¹); ná asmákam asti tát tára ádityāso atīṣkáde this our zeal, O Ádityas, is not to be overlooked (viii. 67¹⁰); ná pramīye savitúr dáivyasya tát this (work) of the divine Savitṛ (is) indestructible (iv. 54⁴).

β. The agent (or instrument) of the action expressed by the inf. is put in the inst. or gen. when there is a passive sense; e.g. ná anyéna stómo vasiṣṭhā ánvetaḥ vaḥ your laudation, O Vasiṣṭhas, is not to be equalled by another (vii. 33⁸); ábhūd agniḥ samídhe mānuṣāṇām Agni has appeared to be kindled of men (vii. 77¹). When there is no passive sense the agent is expressed by the dat.; e.g. ví śrayantām prayái devébhyo mahīḥ may the great (gates) open (for the gods to =) that the gods may enter (i. 142⁶); dabhrām páśyadbhya urviyá vicákṣa uṣā ajigar bhúvanāni víśvā (i. 113⁵), Dawn has awakened all creatures (for those who now see little to =) that those who see little now may look far and wide; ahām rudráya dhánur á tanomi brahmadviṣe śárave hántavá u I stretch the bow for Rudra (for the arrow to =) that the arrow may strike the hater of prayer (x. 125⁶).

γ. The infinitive in dhyai is not infrequently employed elliptically to express an intention, the subject being either expressed or requiring to be supplied in the first or third person³; e.g. prátī vām ráthaṃ jarádhyaí the chariot of you two (I purpose) to invoke (vii. 67¹); á va auśijó huvádhyaí sám̐sam the son of Uśij (intends) to proclaim your praise (i. 122⁵).

² Which in Latin would be: laudanda (est) vestra benignitas.

δ. In B. the inf. in tavái has three uses: 1. with a final sense; e. g. tam pra harati yo 'sya śr̥tyas tasmai startavai he hurls it in order to strike down him who is to be struck down by it (AB.). 2. predicatively with ná, often with a passive sense, sometimes impersonally; e. g. ná vái yajñá iva mántavái it is not to be regarded like a sacrifice (ŚB.); ná purá sūryasya údetoṛ mánthitavái one should not rub fire before sunrise (MS.); tásmāḍ eténaśśru ná kártavái therefore tears should not be shed by him (MS.). 3. with a pass. sense after an acc. governed by āha, uvāca and brūyāt; e. g. agniṃ páristarītavā āha he says that the fire is to be enclosed (MS.); gopālān sám̐hvayitavā uvāca he said that the cowherds should be called together (ŚB.); tát aśvám ānetavái brūyāt then he should order the horse to be brought (ŚB.). Perhaps, however, the acc. here depends on the inf. alone: he should give orders to bring the horse.

2. Accusative Infinitive.

a. The form in am is used to supplement statements containing a verb of going or in dependence on verbs meaning be able (arh, aś, śak), wish (vaś), or know (vid); e. g. úpo emi cikitušo vip̐r̥cham I go to the wise to inquire (vii. 86³); iyétha barhír āśadam thou hast gone to seat thyself on the straw (iv. 9¹); śakéma tvā samídham we would be able to kindle thee (i. 94³); sá veda devá ānámam devān he, the god, knows (how) to guide hither the gods (iv. 8³).

a. In B. this form of the inf. appears only in dependence on the verbs arh, vid, and śak when they are combined with the negative ná; e. g. avarúndham náśśaknot he was not able to keep back (MS.).

b. The inf. in tum in the RV. expresses the purpose with verbs of motion¹ and also appears in dependence on the verbs arh be able and ci intend; e. g. kó vidvāmsam úpa gāt prāṣṭum etát who has gone to the wise man to ask him this? (i. 164⁴); bhūyo vā dātum arhasi or thou canst give more (v. 79¹⁰).

¹ The use of this inf. is restricted to dependence on such verbs in the Latin supine in tum.

a. In B. the use is similar, this inf. expressing the purpose with verbs of motion, or in dependence on the verbs dhṛ intend and (generally accompanied by the negative ná) arh and śak be able, kam desire, dhṛs dare, ā-dr trouble, ā-śams expect; e. g. hótum eti he goes to sacrifice (TS.), dráṣṭum ā gachati he comes in order to see (ŚB.); anyád eva kártum dadhrire 'nyád vái kurvanti they have purposed to do one thing, but do another (ŚB.); kathám aśakata mād ṛté jívítum how have you been able to live without me? (ŚB.); ná cakame hántum he did not wish to kill (ŚB.).

3. Ablative-Genitive Infinitive.

a. The form in as (which is always compounded with prepositions) is almost exclusively abl. as is shown by its being used with words governing that case, viz. the prepositions ṛté without, purá before, and the verbs pā protect, trā rescue, bhī fear: e. g. ṛté cid abhiśríṣaḥ purá jatrubhya ātrdaḥ without binding, before the cartilages being pierced (viii. 1¹²); trádhvam kartád avapádaḥ (ii. 29⁶) save us from falling into the pit (lit. from the pit, from falling down).

There is one example of its being a gen., as it is governed by the verb ís: nahí tvád āré nimíṣaś caná, íśe for without thee I am not able even to blink (ii. 28⁶).

a. In B. it appears only as a gen. governed by ísvará; e. g. sá íśvaró yájamānasya paśún nirdáhaḥ he is able to burn the cattle of the sacrificer (MS.).

b. The form in tos is abl. when it is governed by the prepositions purá before and ā till or by verbs of saving and preventing; e. g. purá hántor bháyamāno vy āra fearing he withdrew, before being struck (iii. 30¹⁰); yuyóta no anapa-tyáni gántoḥ save us from coming to childlessness (iii. 54¹⁸).

The gen. form is found only in dependence on the verb ís be able (with the object by attraction in the gen.) or on the adverb madhyá in the midst of; e. g. íśe rāyáḥ suviryasya dátoḥ he can give wealth and heroic offspring (vii. 4⁶); má no madhyá rīṛiṣata áyur gántoḥ injure us not (in the midst of =) before our reaching old age (i. 89^a).

a. In B. the abl. inf. is found with prepositional words only. It usually occurs with á till and purá before, both the subject and the object being in the gen. The object may, however, by attraction be in the abl., and a predicate is in the abl.; e.g. á súryasya údetoḥ (MS.) till the sun's rising = till the sun rises; á tisṛṇām dógdhoḥ (ŚB.) till the milking of three (cows) = till three (cows) are milked; á médhyād bhávitōḥ till becoming pure; purá súryasya údetoḥ before the sun's rising (MS.) = before the sun rises; purá vāgbhyaḥ sampraváditoḥ before the voices' uttering (PB.) = before the voices are uttered. The abl. form is also sometimes used with the prepositional adverbs purástād and arvācīnam before; e.g. purástād dhótoḥ before sacrificing (MS.); arvācīnam jānitoḥ before being born (MS.).

The gen. form occurs only in dependence on īśvará able, the object being in the acc. (sometimes by attraction in the gen.), and the predicate in the nom.; e.g. sá īśvará ártim ártōḥ he can fall into misfortune (TS.); tá īśvará yájamānam hímsitoḥ these two can injure the sacrificer (MS.). Occasionally īśvará is omitted: e.g. táto dikṣitāḥ pāmanó bhávitōḥ hence the initiated man (can) become scabby (ŚB.).

4. Locative Infinitive.

The only loc. forms to which a genuine inf. use (cp. 167, 4) can be attributed are the few in sáni. These supplement the general statement of the sentence or depend on a particular word in it, and (like the form in dhyai) express an intention or exhortation (with the ellipse of a verb in the 1., 2., or 3. pers.); e.g. ví naḥ pathás citana yáṣṭave, asmábhyam víśvā áśās tarīṣāni do ye open up for us the paths to sacrifice, (for us to =) that we may conquer all regions (iv. 37⁷); náyīṣṭhā u no neṣāni, pársīṣṭhā u naḥ parṣāny áti dviṣāḥ the best guides to guide us, the best leaders to lead us through our foes (x. 126³); tád va ukthásya barhánā, índrāya upastrṇīṣāni this song of praise (I will) spread out with power for your Indra (vi. 44⁶); priyám vo átithim grṇīṣāni (do ye) extol your dear guest (vi. 15⁶); ījānám bhúmir abhí prabhūṣāni (let) Earth assist the sacrificer (x. 132¹).

TENSES AND MOODS.

212. Two or more roots of cognate meaning sometimes supplement each other in such a way as to be used for different tenses of what is practically one verb. Such are :

1. as and bhū be : the pres., impf., and perf. are formed by as ; the fut. and aor. by bhū alone. In its proper sense bhū means to become (originally to grow), but unless opposed to as be, it has the same sense as the latter, the pres. and perf. of both being used promiscuously. The contrast appears clearly when the pres. is opposed to the aor. ; e. g. yamó vā idám abhūd yád vayám smáh Yama has become that which we are (TS.). It also appears in the impf. : yā viprúṣā ásaṃs táḥ śárkarā abhavan what were sparks became gravel (MS.).

2. dhāv and ṣṛ run : in the RV. occur the plup. ádadhāvat and the pres. sísarti ; in B. the pres. dhāvati, the impf. ásarat, and the perf. saśára.

3. paś and drś see : the former appears in the pres. only, the latter in the aor., fut., and perf. only ; khyā see is used in the same tenses as drś, but as opposed to the latter means discern.

4. brū and vac speak : the former is used in the pres. stem only ; the latter in the aor., fut., perf. (V. has also the pres. vívakti).

5. han and vadh slay : the former has the pres., impf., fut., perf. only, the latter the aor. only.

a. In B. a few additional pairs of roots supplement each other to some extent. Such are ad and ghas eat ; aj and vī drive ; i and gā (aor.) go ; pra-yam and pra-dā present ; śad and śī fall.

Present.

A. In V. a number of verbs form two or more present stems, in which, however, no differences of meaning are traceable. In B. this multiplicity is for the most part lost.

The only type here showing any development is that in ya, which tends to have an intransitive sense. Such present stems are formed in B. from more than a dozen roots that do not form it in the RV.; e.g. tápyati grows hot (RV. tápati).

1. As in other languages, the present is used to indicate an action that is taking place when the speaker makes his statement.

2. In the RV. the simple pres. is sometimes employed of past actions in narration to add a new statement in a vivid manner; e.g. purutrā vrtró aśayad vyàstaḥ: amuyá śáyānam áti yanti ápaḥ Vrtra lay scattered in many places: over him as he thus lies the waters flow (i. 32⁷).

This use does not seem to occur in B.

a. purá formerly is used with the pres. to indicate an action which has extended through the past down to the present; e.g. kvà táni nau sakhyá babbhūvuh, śacāvahe yád avrkām purá cit where has that friendship of us two gone, inasmuch as we have hitherto associated inoffensively (vii. 88⁵); sá ha agnir uvāca átha yán mām purá prathamām yájatha kvà ahām bhavāni íti so Agni said: now that you have hitherto honoured me at the sacrifice as the first where shall I be? (ŚB.).

a. In B. purá is also used without reference to the actual present from the speaker's point of view, to express a previous stage in typical conditions; e.g. áhotā vá eśá purá bhavati yadá evá enam pravṛṇitē 'tha hótā he is previously a non-Hotṛ; as soon as he chooses him, then he is a Hotṛ (ŚB.); ánaddhā iva vá asya átaḥ purá jānam bhavati previously his origin is as it were uncertain (ŚB.).

b. sma purá with the pres. ind. expresses that something used to happen in the past; e.g. saṃhotrām sma purá nārī sámanam vá áva gachati formerly the woman used to go down to the common sacrifice or the assembly (x. 86¹⁰).

a. The same usage is common in B. with ha sma purá; e.g. ná ha sma vái purá agnir áparaśuvṛkṣam dahati formerly Agni used not to burn what was not cut off with the axe (TS.). Here, however, the purá is much more usually omitted, ha sma alone expressing the same sense, especially often with the pres. perf. āha ; e.g. etād dha sma vā āha nāradaḥ (MS.) with regard to this Nārada used to say. (The AB. uses the perf. and the impf. with ha sma in the same sense.) The particles ha sma, which originally only accompanied it, have thus acquired, when used alone, the sense which is inherent in purā only.

c. The pres. ind. is also sometimes used for the fut. or the subj. ; e.g. āham āpi hanmiṭi ha uvāca he said : I too will slay him (ŚB.) ; indraś ca ruśamaś ca aṃśaṃ prāsyetām : yataro nau pūrvo bhūmiṃ paryeti sa jayatiṭi Indra and Ruśama proposed a wager : whichever of us shall go round the earth first shall win (PB.).

Past Tenses.

213. Each of the past tenses (except the pluperfect) has a distinctive meaning of its own, though occasional examples of aor. and perf. forms occur that are almost indistinguishable in sense from the impf.

A. The perfect characteristically expresses the condition attained by the subject as the result of a preceding action. If that action (often a repeated or continuous one) is continued into the present so as to include the latter, it may be translated by the present ; if it is regarded as concluded before the present, by the present perfect. It can express both these senses when accompanied by the adverbs purā formerly and nūnām now ; e.g. purā nūnām ca stutāya ṛṣiṇām pasprdhre the praises of the seers have vied together in past times and (do so) now (vi. 34¹) ; śásvad dhí va útíbhír vayām purā nūnām bubhujmāhe we have constantly enjoyed your aids and (do so) now (viii. 67¹⁸) ; the same sense appears with the adverb satrā always ; e.g. túbhyaṃ bráhmāṇi gíra indra tubhyaṃ satrá dadhire : juśásva to thee prayers, O Indra, to thee songs have always been offered (and still are) : accept them kindly (iii. 51⁶). But even without a particle this double sense is not infrequently apparent :

ná sóma índram ásuto mamāda (vii. 26¹) unpressed Soma has not (in the past) intoxicated Indra (and does not now); ná bhojá mamrur ná nyarthām īyur: ná riṣyanti ná vyathante ha bhojáḥ the liberal have not died (and die not), they have not fallen into calamity (and do not now): the liberal are not injured and waver not (x. 107⁸); índra . . . ubhé á paprau ródasī mahitvá Indra has with his greatness filled (and still fills) the two worlds (iii. 54¹⁵).

a. Thus a number of perfects (since their action includes the present) can be translated by the present, as is indicated by their often occurring by the side of actual present forms. Such perfects are formed from verbs meaning to know; be pleased, sad, or afraid; stand, sit, lie; rest upon, hold fast; have, possess; encompass; surpass; prosper; become; show oneself; e. g. kvā īdānīm sūryaḥ: kás ciketa where is now the sun: who knows? (i. 35⁷); yán na índro jujūṣe yác ca vāṣṭi what Indra likes from us and what he desires (iv. 22¹); ká īṣate, tujyáte, kó bibhāya who flees (and) speeds, who is afraid? (i. 84¹⁷); ná methete ná tasthatuḥ they (night and morning) clash not and stand not still (i. 113³); váne-vane śiśriye takvavīr iva on every tree he sits like a bird (x. 91²); yáthā īyám prthivī mahī dādhāra īmān vānaspátin evā dādhāra te mánah as this great earth holds these trees, so he holds thy spirit (x. 60¹¹); ná te pūrve ná āparāso ná vīryām nūtanah kás canā āpa not earlier men, not future men, no man of the present (has attained =) equals thy heroism (v. 42¹¹); prá hí ririkṣá ójasā divó ántebhyas pári, ná tvā vivyāca rája indra pāṛthivam thou extendest beyond the ends of heaven with thy might, the terrestrial space does not contain thee (viii. 88⁵); índreṇa śúśuve nṛbhir yás te sunóti through Indra he who presses (Soma) for thee prospers in men (vii. 32⁶); séd u rájá kṣayati carṣaṇīnām, arān ná nemīḥ pári tá babhūva he rules as king over men, he encompasses the worlds (tá) as the felly the spokes (i. 32¹⁵); bhadrá dadṛkṣa urviyá ví bhāsi, út te śócir bhānávo dyām apaptan brilliant thou appearest, thou shinest afar, thy light, thy beams, have shot up to heaven (vi. 64²).

b. Other perfects, which sum up past action but exclude the present, may be translated by the present perfect; e. g. yát sīm āgaś cakrṃā tát sú mṛlatu whatever sin we have committed, let him forgive that (i. 179³); yā vṛtrahā parāvāti sánā nāvā ca cucyuvé, tá samsátsu prá vocata what old and new deeds the Vṛtra-slayer has set going in the distance, those proclaim in the assemblies (viii. 45²⁵); uvása uṣā uchác ca nú Dawn has flushed (in the past) and she shall flush now (i. 48³); kim āga āsa varuṇa jyēṣṭham, yát stotāram jīghāmsasi sákhāyam what has that chief sin been (in my past life) that thou desirest to slay the praiser, thy friend? (vii. 86⁴); īyúṣ té yé pūrvatarām āpaśyan vyuchántīm uṣásam mártiyāsaḥ; ó [= ā u] té yanti yé aparīṣu páśyān those mortals have gone who saw flushing the earlier dawn; those are coming who shall see her in the future (i. 113¹¹).

c. The perf. often expresses a single action that has been completed in the recent past, when it can be translated by the pres. perf.; e. g. ā no yātaṃ divás pári: putráḥ kánvasya vām ihá suśáva somyám mádhu come to us from heaven: the son of Kanva has here pressed for you the Soma mead (viii. 8¹). This use of the perf. comes very near that of the aor. The distinction seems to be this: in the above passage the perfect means come because the Soma has been pressed, i. e. is ready for you; the aor. would mean come because of the fact that the Soma has just been pressed for you.

d. The perf. is not infrequently used of a single action in the remoter past, when it cannot be translated by the perf. pres. It occurs thus beside the impf. of narration, when the story is interrupted by a reflexion which often expresses the result of the action previously related. Thus in the story of the Vṛtra fight the poet says: ájayo gā ájayaḥ sūra sómam; ávāsṛjaḥ sártave saptá síndhūn thou didst win the kine, thou didst win the Soma, O hero, thou didst let loose the seven streams to flow (i. 32¹²); he then adds indraś ca yád yuyudháte áhiś ca utá aparibhyo maghávā ví jigye when Indra and the serpent fought, the bounteous god conquered (= remained conqueror) for the future. This use of the perf. is hardly distinguishable from the impf.

a. In B. the perf. ind. appears in three different uses :

1. in a present sense based on the pres. perf., chiefly in forms that have a strengthened reduplicative vowel and thus seem to have an intensive meaning. It is the pres. perf. that includes the present, expressing that an action takes place in the present as a result of its repetition in the past; e.g. dādhāra (he has constantly held and now) holds; e.g. yát sâyam juhóti rátryai téna dādhāra if he offers in the evening, he thereby holds (Agni) for the night (MS.). Other perfects of this kind are: didāya shines; upa dodrāva rushes at; yoyāva wards off; lelāya quivers; bibhāya (beside bibhāya) fears (while the periphrastic bibhayām cakāra has always a preterite sense). Besides these verbs veda knows and āha says always have a present sense.

Several other perfects with ordinary reduplication often have the present sense: ānaśé (has obtained =) has (MS., TS.: pāriyāya has acquired =) possesses (TS.); babhūva (has become =) is (MS.); vivyāca (has encompassed =) contains; dadṛsé (has been seen =) appears (while dadārsa always has a past sense); also the perfect of grah and pra-āp: yé hí paśávo lóma jagrhús té médham prāpuh the cattle which have hair have also fat (MS.).

2. in a preterite sense, expressing that an action once occurred in the past (but not in the narrative sense of the impf.). This use most often appears in the form uvāca, which may be translated by once said or has said; e.g. eténa vá úpakerū rarādha : rḍhnóti yá eténa yájate by this sacrifice Upakeru once prospered: he who sacrifices with it prospers (MS.). It often occurs in the AB. at the conclusion of a story related in the impf., in the phrase tad etad ṛṣiḥ paśyann abhyanuvāca seeing this a seer has uttered with reference to it (the following verse). A somewhat different connexion with the narrative impf. appears in the following example: etām ha vái yajñāsenaś cītiṃ vidām cakāra : táyā vái sá paśún ávārunddha this method of piling Yajñasena once invented: by means of it he acquired cattle (TS.). This perfect is found contrasting what is past with the present and future in the following successive sentences: yád vá asyām kim cárcanti yád ānṛcúr ; yád evá kim ca vacā ānṛcúr yád átó 'dhi arcitāraḥ whatever prayers they offer on it (the earth, or have offered: whatever prayers they have offered with the voice or will offer in future (TS.).

3. in an historical sense, equivalent to that of the impf. in narrative, in certain parts of the AB. (vi-viii) and the ŚB. (i v; xi, xii, xiv), while the impf. is used elsewhere in B. (MS., TS., K., TB., PB., AB. i-v; ŚB. vi-x, xiii). Thus in the former uvāca said and devās ca āsurās ca paspr̥dhire the gods and the Asuras were in conflict, in the latter abravit and aspardhanta would be used. There are, of course, exceptions in both groups.

B. The imperfect is the past tense of narration, never having any relation to the present as the perf. and the aor. have; e. g. áhann áhim . . . prá vakṣāṇā abhinat pārva-tānām he slew the serpent; he pierced the bellies of the mountains (i. 32¹); ná vái tvám tát akaror yád ahám ábravam you did not do what I said (ŚB.). The impf. has also to do duty for the pluperfect, as in the relative clause of the preceding example, which is equivalent to what I had told you.

C. The aorist ind. expresses that an action has occurred in the past with reference to the present. It neither describes nor indicates duration, but simply states a fact. It may nearly always be translated by the English present perfect.

The aor. usually expresses the immediate past; e. g. práti divó adarśi duhitā the daughter of heaven has appeared (iv. 52¹); yásmād duṣvápnyād ábhaiṣma ápa tát uchatu let her (Dawn) drive away with her light the evil dream that we have feared (viii. 47¹⁸).

a. In B. three uses of the aor. ind. may be distinguished: 1. it expresses what has occurred in the speaker's experience, very commonly in the statement made by the witness of an action; e. g. táto ha gandharvāḥ sám ūdire: jyók vā iyám urvāśi manuṣyèṣv avātsit then the Gandharvas spoke together: this Urvaśi has dwelt long among men (ŚB.). As compared with the impf. it never narrates; e. g. yajño vai devebhya ud akrāmat; te devā abruvan: yajño vai na ud akrāmīt the sacrifice went away from the gods; the gods then said: the sacrifice has gone away from us (AB.); tām yád āpṛchan sābravid: adyā amṛta īti when they asked her, she said: he has died to-day (MS.); tām apṛchan: kásmāi tvám ahausīr īti they asked him: to whom have you sacrificed? (MS.); tām devā abruvan: mahān vā ayám abhūd yó vr̥trām ávadhīd īti the gods said of him: he has shown himself great who has slain Vṛtra (TS.); té ha ūcur: agnáye tiṣṭha īti tátas tasthāv, agnáye vā asthād īti tám agnāv ajuhavuh they said: stand still for Agni; then it stood still; thinking it has stood still for Agni, they sacrificed it in Agni (ŚB.).

2. it is employed by the author with regard to what from his own point of view has either just happened or has occurred in the more remote past; e.g. sá bāndhur śunāsīryāśya yām pūrvām āvocāma this is the import of the Śunāsīrya oblation which we have explained above (ŚB.); puro vā etān devā akrata yat puroḷāśāṁś tat puroḷāśānām puroḷāśatvam because the gods have made these cakes their castles, the cakes are so called (AB.). The adverb purā is not infrequently used with these aorists; e.g. nā vā etāsya brāhmaṇāḥ purā ānnam akṣan Brahmins have never hitherto eaten his food (TS.).

3. it expresses what results from a ritual act or is antecedent to it; e.g. putrāsya nāma grhṇāti : prajāṁ evājanu sām atanīt he gives his son a name : he has thus extended his race (MS.); etād vai tṛtīyaṁ yajñām āpad yāc chāndāmsi āpnōti thereby he has obtained the third sacrifice when he obtains the metres (TS.); yād dhīasya amedhyām ābhūt tād dhīasya etād avadhūnōti what has been impure in it, that in it he shakes off in this way (ŚB.).

D. The pluperfect, as an augmented perfect, is equivalent to the corresponding Greek tense in form only. It cannot be distinguished in syntactical use from the impf. in some examples and from the aor. in others; e.g. ātrā samudrā ā gūḷhām ā sūryam ajabharta then ye brought the sun hidden in the sea (x. 72⁷); ūd u śyā devāḥ savitā yayāma hiraṇyāyīm amātiṁ yām āśísret that god Savitr now has raised up the golden sheen which he has spread out (vii. 38¹).

Future.

214. A. 1. The simple future is in comparatively rare use in V., being formed from only fifteen roots in the RV. and from rather more than twenty others in the AV. This limited employment is accounted for by its sense being partly expressed by the subjunctive and to some extent by the present. It means that, according to the opinion, expectation, intention, hope or fear of the speaker, an action is to take place in the near or the remote future. The sphere of the future includes that of the will, the specific meaning of the subjunctive, but the stress is here laid on the futurity rather than the purpose; e. g. atha_ataḥ paśor vibhaktis: tasya vibhāgaṃ vakṣyāmaḥ next (comes) the division of the (sacrificial) animal: (now) we will (shall) state its division (AB.).

Examples from the RV. are: staviṣyāmi tvām ahām I shall praise thee (i. 44⁵); kīm svid vakṣyāmi kīm u nū maniṣye what pray shall I say, what shall I now think? (vi. 9⁶); yādy evā kariṣyātha sākāṃ devāir yajñiyāso bhaviṣyatha if ye will do so, you will be partakers of the sacrifice with the gods (i. 161²); nā tvāvāṃ indra kās canā nā jātó nā janisyate no one equal to thee, O Indra, has been born or will be born.

2. In B. the simple future is frequently used after verbs of speaking, knowing, thinking, hoping, fearing, which are sometimes also to be supplied; e. g. só 'bravid: idāṃ māyi vīryāṃ, tát te prá dāsyāmi_iti he said: here is heroism in me, that I will give thee (TS.); té ha_ūcuḥ kēna rājñā, kēna_ānikena yotsyāma iti they said: with whom as king, with whom as leader shall we fight? (ŚB.); tātva vidyād: varṣisyati_iti in regard to that he should know: it will rain (ŚB.); indro ha vā īkṣāṃ cakre: mahād vā itó 'bhvām janisyate Indra reflected: a great abuse will arise from this (ŚB.); sarvā devatā āsaṃsanta: mām abhi prati patsyati_iti all the gods hoped: he will begin with me (AB.); yādi bibhīyād duṣcarmā bhaviṣyāmi_iti if he should fear, 'I shall suffer from skin disease' (TS.); āsurā vā iṣṭakā acinvata: divam ā rokṣyāma iti the Asuras built up the bricks (thinking): we shall scale heaven (MS.).

a. After an impv., the fut. is often used with átha; e. g. pátim nú me púnar yúvānaṃ kurutam: átha vām vakṣyāmi (ŚB.) make my husband young again: then I shall tell you (two).

β. After the impv. of ā-i or pra-i the 1. pers. fut. is equivalent to an exhortation; e. g. prá_ita, tād eṣyāmaḥ come, we will go there (ŚB.).

γ. With the negative ná, the 2. and even the 3. pers. may have the value of a prohibition; e. g. devān rákṣāṃsi . . ajighāṃsan: ná yakṣ-yadhva iti the Rakṣases wished to slay the gods (saying): you shall not sacrifice (ŚB.); tān viśve devā anonudyanta neha pásyanti neha_iti all the gods drove them back (saying): they shall not drink here, not here (AB.).

B. The periphrastic future though not occurring in V., is frequent in B. It expresses that something will take place at a definite point of time in the future. It is therefore often accompanied by such words as prātár early in the morning, śvās to-morrow (but never by adyā to-day). The point of time, however, need not be expressed by an adverb; it may be defined by a clause. Examples are: saṃvatsara-tamīm rátrim ā gachatāt, tán ma ekāṃ rátrim ánte śayitāse, jātá u te 'yām tárhi putró bhavitā come for the night of this day year, then you will lie beside me for one night, then too this son of thine will be born (ŚB.); yādi purā samsthānād dīryeta, adyā varṣiṣyati, iti brūyād; yādi samsthite śvó vraṣṭā, iti brūyāt if it (the vessel) should be broken before the completion (of the sacrifice) he should say: it will rain to-day; if it has been completed, he should say: it will rain to-morrow (MS.); yarhi vāva vo mayā artho bhavitā, tarhy eva vo 'haṃ punar āgantāsmi when you will have need of me, then (on that particular occasion) I will come back to you (AB.).

a. Sometimes this form is used to express not that an action will take place at a definite time, but that it will take place with certainty; e.g. sā evā, iyām adyā, āpi pratiṣṭhā, sā, u evā, āpi, átó 'dhi bhavitā this is the foundation to-day, and it will also (certainly) be so in future (ŚB.).

A. Imperative.

215. The only pure impv. forms are those of the 2. 3. sing. and 3. pl., represented by bháva and bhávatāt, bhavasva; bhávatu; bhavantu, bhavantām. The forms later regarded as imperatives of the 1. pers., bhāvāni, bhāvāva, bhāvāma are subjunctives (cp. 131): while the 2. 3. du. and 2. pl. bhávataṃ, bhávatām, bhávethām, bhávetām; bhávata, bhávadhvam, are injunctives (cp. 122 a α).

a. The impv. does not express commands only, but also a desire in the widest sense, such as a wish, a request, advice, a direction; e.g. devāṃ ihā, ā vaha bring hither the gods (i. 14¹²); āheḷamāno bodhi be not angry (i. 24¹¹); imāni, asya śīrṣāṇi chinddhi cut off these heads of his (MS.); vṛkṣé nāvaṃ prāti badhniṣva tie the ship to the tree (ŚB.); prā vāṃ aśnotu suṣṭuṭiḥ may the hymn of praise reach you two (i. 17⁹); hānta na éko vettu come, let one of us find out (ŚB.).

b. The sphere of the ordinary impv. is the present; it may, however, still be used for the later of two opposed actions; e.g. vāraṃ vṛṇiṣva, ātha me pūnar dehi choose a boon and then give it me back (TS.). The form in tād, however, has a tendency in V. to express the more remote future, and in B. does so distinctly; e.g. ihā, evā mā tiṣṭhantam abhyéhi, iti brūhi, tām tú na āgatām pratiprá brūtāt tell her: come to me as I stand here; when she has come, you shall (then) tell it us (ŚB.). As this form is only active, the subj. takes its place in middle verbs; thus tām vṛṇīṣva = do thou choose it (now) as opposed to tām vṛṇāσαι choose it then (ŚB.).

α. The genuine impv. seems never to be found in negative sentences; thus it never appears in V. with the prohibitive particle mā (which is used with injunctive forms only, and in B. almost exclusively with the aor. inj.). It is employed in positive principal clauses only; e. g. vī no dhehi yāthā jīvāma so dispose us that we may live (ŚB.). A subordinate clause with ind., subj., or (very rarely) opt. may precede or follow; e. g. *yās tvām dūtām saparyāti, tāsya sma prāvitā bhava be the promoter of him who adores thee as a messenger (i. 12⁸); sām viduṣā naya yó . . anuśāsati bring us together with one who knows, who may give us directions (vi. 54¹); idām me haryatā vāco yāsya tārema tārasā śatām himāḥ gladly accept this word of mine by the force of which we would pass a hundred winters (v. 54¹⁵). In such periods the form with tād would regularly be used in B.*

β. The RV. has a number of 2. sing. forms made with si added directly to the root, which are clearly used imperatively, as is indicated by their being generally accompanied by imperatives (sometimes by subjunctives and imperatives); e. g. á devébhir yāhi yákṣi ca come with the gods and sacrifice (i. 14¹). These forms are confined to the RV. and passages borrowed from it except satsi (AV. vi. 110¹); and they are restricted to positive principal sentences.

B. Injunctive.

Formally this mood corresponds to an unaugmented past tense (including the 2. 3. du. and 2. pl. as represented by act. bhávataṃ, bhávataṃ, bhávata; mid. bhávethāṃ, bhávetāṃ, bhávadhvam, which later came to be regarded as imperatives). Its use constitutes one of the chief difficulties of Vedic grammar and interpretation, because it cannot always be distinguished from the subjunctive (e. g. gamat might be the subj. of á-gan or the inj. of á-gamat) or from an unaugmented indicative (e. g. cáraḥ might be = á-carah). Judged by its uses the inj. probably represents a very primitive verbal form which originally expressed an action irrespective of tense or mood, the context showing which was meant. The addition of the augment gave the sense of a past tense to one set of forms, while the rest finally became incorporated with the impv. The general meaning of the inj. expresses a desire, combining the senses of the subj., the opt., and the impv. As compared with the subj., the inj. is essentially appropriate in principal clauses, though it sometimes appears in subordinate clauses introduced by relatives or the relative conjunctions yád and yadá.

a. The first person expresses an intention the execution of which lies in the power of the speaker; e. g. índrasya nú víryāṇi prá vocam now I will proclaim the heroic deeds of Indra (i. 32¹). Sometimes, however, the execution depends on another; e. g. agnīm hinvantu no dhíyas : téna jeṣma dhānam-dhanam let our prayers urge Agni : through him we shall assuredly win booty after booty (x. 156¹).

b. The second person is used exhortatively, very often beside an impv.; e. g. sugá naḥ supáthā kṛṇu; pūṣann ihá kratúm vidaḥ do thou make fair paths for us easy to traverse; O Pūṣan, here procure us wisdom; adyá no deva sāvīḥ saubhagam, párá duṣvápnyam suva to-day, O god, procure us good fortune; drive away evil dream (v. 82¹). A parallel opt. is much less common; e. g. eténa gātúm vido naḥ; á no vavṛtyāḥ suvitáya by reason of that find for us the path; mayst thou bring us to welfare (i. 173¹³).

c. The third person also is used exhortatively, very often beside an impv.; e. g. sémām vetu váṣaṭkṛtim; agnir juṣata no girāḥ let him come to this Vāṣaṭ call; may Agni accept our songs (vii. 15⁶); it is often accompanied by a 2. sing. impv.; e. g. á idām barhír yájamānasya sīda; áthā ca bhūd ukthám índrāya śastám seat thyself upon this straw of the sacrificer; and then may the hymn be sung to Indra (iii. 53³). It appears less frequently with the subj.; e. g. úpa bráhmāṇi śṛṇava imá no, áthā te yajñás tanvè váyo dhāt mayst thou listen to these our prayers, and then let the sacrifice bestow vigour on thyself (vi. 40⁴). A parallel opt. is not common; e.g. pári no hetí rudrásya vrjyāḥ, pári tveśásya durmatír mahí gāt would that the dart of Rudra pass us by, let the great malvolence of the impetuous one avoid us (ii. 33¹⁴).

d. The injunctive is very frequently used alone (unaccompanied by any other modal form) in an impv. sense; e.g. imā havyā juṣanta naḥ let them accept these oblations of ours (vi. 52¹¹); the preceding verse has the regular impv.: juṣántām yūjyam páyaḥ let them accept the suitable milk.

In negative sentences the inj. is the only mood (with the exception of the single opt. form bhujema) with which the prohibitive particle mā can be used; e.g. mā na indra párā vṛṇak do not, O Indra, abandon us (viii. 97⁷); viśváyan mā na ā gan let not any swelling thing come near us (vii. 50¹); mā tántuś chedi let not the thread be cut (ii. 28⁵). The aor. form is commoner than the impf. form in the RV., but its relative predominance has greatly increased in the AV.

e. The inj. not infrequently expresses a future sense like the subj. (215 C) in two types of sentences:

1. in positive interrogative sentences; e.g. kó no mahyā áditaye púnar dāt who will give us back to great Aditi? (i. 24¹). The subj. itself is here sometimes found beside it; e.g. kadā mártam arādhásam padā kṣúmpam iva sphurat, kadā naḥ śúśravad girāḥ when will he spurn the niggardly mortal like a mushroom with his foot; when will he hear our songs? (i. 84⁸).

2. in negative sentences with ná; e.g. yám ādityā abhi druho rákṣathā, ném aghám naśat whom, O Ādityas, ye protect from harm, him misfortune will not reach (viii. 47¹).

a. In B. the use of the inj. in positive sentences has almost entirely disappeared. The ŚB., however, preserves several examples; e.g. deván avat let it refresh the gods; also sometimes in subordinate clauses, especially with néd; e.g. néd idám bahirdhá yajñād bhávat lest it be outside the sacrifice.

On the other hand the inj. is very frequent in negative sentences, in which it constantly appears with mā, in the vast majority of cases in the aor. form. Only a few examples of the impf. form occur: mā vadhadhvam slay not (TS.); mā bibhīta fear not (AB.); kilbiṣaṃ nu mā yātayan let them not reprove it as a fault (AB.); and from the perfect: mā suṣupthāḥ sleep not (ŚB.).

C. Subjunctive.

The meaning of the subj. is best brought out by contrasting its use with that of the opt. From this it appears that the fundamental sense of the subj. is will, while that of the opt. is either wish or possibility (this mood being therefore alternatively called optative or potential). This distinction appears clearly from the fact that in the first person in independent sentences one group of verbs in the RV. employs the subj. exclusively or almost exclusively, while another employs the opt., because in the former the execution is dependent on the will of the speaker, while in the latter it is not in his control, but is only possible. With the subj. are thus used the verbs han strike, kr make, su press, brū speak. With the opt. on the other hand appear: ji conquer, tr overcome, sah conquer; aś and naś obtain, vid acquire, iś be master of; sac be associated with; ā-vṛt attract (to the sacrifice); śak be able; mad be happy; rdh prosper; paś live to see; as be (with predicates such as prosperous, &c.); also certain sacrificial verbs: idh kindle (with the co-operation of the god), dāś worship, vac and vad speak (effectively), vidh serve, sap please = obtain the favour of (a god), hū call (= bring hither).

1. The meanings expressed by the different persons of the subj. are the following:

The first person declares the will of the speaker; e.g. svastāye vāyum ūpa bravāmahai for welfare we will invoke Vayu (v. 51¹²). It is often accompanied by the particles nū and hānta; e.g. prā nū vocā sutéṣu vām I will now praise you two at the libations (v. 69¹). The 1. du. and pl. may also express an exhortation to another to share an action with the speaker, an impv. usually then preceding ; e.g. dakṣiṇató bhavā me : ádhā vṛtrāṇi jaṅghanāva bhūri stand on my right : then we two will slay many foes (x. 83⁷) ; or an exhortation to aid the speaker ; e.g. jéśāma_indra tváyā yujā we will conquer (= let us conquer) with thee as our ally (viii. 63¹¹).

In B. the usage is the same ; e.g. vāraṃ vṛṇai I will choose a boon (TS.) ; hanta_imān bhīṣayai well, I will terrify them (AB.) ; vāyūṃ devā abruvan : sōmaṃ rājānaṃ hanāma_iti the gods said to Vayu : let us slay king Soma (TS.).

The second person is used exhortatively : háno vṛtrám, jáyā apáh slay Vṛtra, win the waters (i. 80³). It often follows a 2. pers. impv. ; e.g. agne śṛṇuhi ; devébhyo bravasihear, O Agni, do thou say to the gods (i. 139⁷) ; sometimes it follows a 3. pers. impv. ; e.g. á vāṃ vahantu . . áśvāḥ, pibātho asmé mádhūni let the horses bring you two ; do ye drink the honied draughts beside us (vii. 67¹). When an expectation is indicated, the subj. is almost equivalent to a future ; e.g. áchānta me, chadáyāthā ca nūnám ye have pleased me and ye shall please me now (i. 165¹²).

In B. the 2. pers. subj. is used only when the speaker makes a condition or gives a direction relating to the (not immediate) future ; e.g. atho etaṃ varam avṛṇīta : mayā_eva prācīm diśaṃ pra janātha_iti so he made this condition : through me ye shall (in future) discover the eastern quarter (AB.).

The third person is as a rule used in exhortations to the gods, though the subject is not always the name of the deity ; e.g. imám naḥ śṛṇavad dhávam he shall hear this our call (viii. 43²²) ; pári ṇo héḷo váruṇasya vṛjyāḥ ; urúm na indraḥ kṛṇavad u lokám may the wrath of Varuṇa avoid us ; Indra shall procure us wide space (vii. 84²) ; sá devāṃ á_ihá vakṣati he shall bring the gods hither (i. 1²) ; prá te sumnā no aśnavan thy good intentions shall reach us (viii. 90⁶). The subj. sentence is sometimes connected with a preceding one ; e.g. agním ile : sá u śravat I praise Agni : he shall hear (viii. 43²⁴). The subj. here often approaches the future in sense, being then usually opposed with nūnām or nū to another verb: úd u śyá devāḥ savitā . . asthāt : nūnām devébhyo ví hí dhāti rátnam god Savitr has just arisen : he will now distribute bounty to the gods (ii. 38¹); uvása uṣā uchāc ca nú Dawn has flushed (in the past) and she will flush now (i. 48³). Sometimes there is no opposition; e.g. á ghā tá gachān úttarā yugāni, yātra jāmayāḥ kṛṇāvan ájāmi there shall come those later generations when those who are akin will do what befits not kinsmen (x. 10¹⁰).

In B. the 3. pers. subj. is not found in the hortative sense, appearing only when a condition, promise, or curse is expressed; e.g. vṛṇisva ity abruvan ; so 'bravin : maddevatyā eva samid asad iti they said : choose a boon ; he replied : the fuel shall be sacred to me (MS.); sā abravīd : váraṃ vṛṇai ; khātāt parābhaviṣyāntī manye : táto mā parā bhūvam íti ; purā te samvatsarād āpi rohād ity abravīt she said : I will make a condition ; I think I shall perish in consequence of digging : let me not perish. He replied : before the lapse of a year for you, it (the wound) shall heal up (TS.); devās tān aśapan : svena vaḥ kiṣkunā vajreṇa vṛścān iti the gods cursed them (the trees) : they shall destroy you with your own handle, with a bolt (TB.). The 3. pers. subj. often also expresses the purpose of a ceremony; e.g. śṛṇād íti śaramāyaṃ barhír bhavati (MS.) the litter is made of reeds with the intention : it shall destroy him (the adversary).

2. The syntactical employment of the subj. is twofold.

a. It appears in principal sentences:

α. with interrogatives, either the pronoun or the adverbs kathā how? kadā when, and kuvíd; e.g. kím ū nú vaḥ kṛṇavāma what, pray, shall we do for you? (ii. 29³); kathā mahé rudríyāya bravāma how shall we speak to the great Rudra-host? (v. 41¹¹); kadā naḥ śúśravad girāḥ when will he hear our prayers? (i. 84⁸). kuvíd nearly always accentuates the verb (which is thus treated as in a subordinate clause); e.g. aśvínā sú ṛṣe stuhi : kuvít te śrávato hávam the Áśvins praise well, O seer : shall they hear thy call? (viii. 26¹⁰).

In B. first persons only seem to be met with in this use, and an interrogative word is sometimes lacking.

β. In negative sentences with ná not; e.g. ná tá naśanti; ná dabhāti tāskaṛaḥ they perish not ; no thief shall (can) harm them (vi. 28³).

In B. ná is similarly used ; e. g. ná ^{atō} ^{parāḥ} kás caná sahá śári-reṇa ^{amṛto} ^{'sat} from now onwards no one shall be immortal with his body (ŚB.). Once only, in a command, is the subj. used with mā : akāmāṃ sma mā ní padyāsaí you shall not approach me (in future) against my will (ŚB.).

b. In dependent clauses the subj. is used either with a negative or with relatives (pronominal or adverbial):

α. in a final sense with the negative particle néd that not, lest. The antecedent clause has either an ind. or an impv. ; e. g. hotrād ahām varuṇa bibhyad āyaṃ, néd evá mā yunājann átra devāḥ fearing the office of Hotṛ, O Varuṇa, I went away, lest the gods should appoint me thereto (x. 51⁴); vy ūchā duhitar divo mā cirāṃ tanuthā āpaḥ, nét tvā stenāṃ yáthā ripúṃ tápāti sūro arcīṣā shine forth, daughter of the sky, delay not long thy work, lest the sun scorch thee, like a hostile thief, with his ray (v. 79⁹).

In B. the antecedent clause has either an ind. or an opt. ; e. g. átha yán ná prékṣate, nén mā rudró hinásad íti now (the reason) why he does not look is lest Rudra should injure him (ŚB.); tán ná dadbhīḥ khāded, nén ma idāṃ rudriyaṃ dató hinásad íti he should not chew it with his teeth, lest this that belongs to Rudra injure his teeth (ŚB.). A gerundive in the antecedent clause has also been noted in the AB.

β. in relative clauses :

1. such a clause normally precedes if it contains a supposition determining the sense of the principal clause ; the latter usually has an impv., not infrequently a subj., seldom an inj. or ind. ; e. g. yó naḥ pṛtanyád, ápa tám-tam íd dhatam whoever shall combat us, him do ye two slay (i. 132⁶); yás túbhyam dāsān ná tám áṃho aśnavat who shall serve thee, him no distress can reach (ii. 23⁴); utá nūnāṃ yád indriyāṃ kariṣyá indra páuṃsyam, adyá nákiṣ tād á minat and what heroic, manly deed thou, Indra, shalt now do, that let no one belittle to-day (iv. 30²³); yásmai tvāṃ sukṛte jātaveda, u lokāṃ agne kṛṇávaḥ syonāṃ, sá rayim naśate svastī the righteous man for whom thou shalt procure, O Agni Jātavedas, a comfortable place, he obtains riches for welfare (v. 4¹¹).

In B. the use of the subj. in relative clauses is similar; but here the subj. is by far the commonest form in the principal clause, the impv. and ind. (sometimes omitted) being rare; e.g. tāny abruvan, vāraṃ vṛṇāmahai : yād āsurāñ jāyāma, tán naḥ sahā₁asad iti they said, we will make a condition : what we shall win from the Asuras that shall be ours in common (TS.); yās tvā kās ca₂ upāyāt, tūṣṇīm evā₁āsva whoever shall come towards you, sit still; yād vindāśai tāt te 'gnihotrāṃ kurmaḥ what thou shalt find, that we shall make thy fire-oblation (MS.); tād vāi sāmṛddhaṃ yāṃ devāḥ sādḥāve kārmaṇe juṣāntai that, indeed, (is) excellent, if the gods shall be pleased with him for a good work (SB.). In the last example the relative clause exceptionally follows.

2. The relative clause follows if it expresses a final or consequential sense (in order that, so that) arising from the principal clause; the latter usually has an impv., but sometimes an inj., opt., or ind.; e.g. sām pūṣan viduṣā naya, yó añjasā₁ anuśāsati, yā evā₁idām iti brāvat associate us, O Pūṣan, with a wise (guide) who shall at once direct us and who shall say : here it is (vi. 54¹); asmābhyam tād rādha ā gāt, sām yāt stotṛbhya āpāye bhāvāti let that wealth come for us which shall be a blessing to thy praisers and thy kinsman (ii. 38¹¹); tād adyā vācāḥ prathamāṃ masīya yéna₁āsurāñ abhī devā₁ āsāma I would to-day think of that as the first (point) of my speech whereby we gods shall overcome the Asuras (x. 53⁴); imāṃ bibharmi sūkṛtaṃ te aṅkuśāṃ yéna₁ārujāsi maghavañ chaphārūjah I bring to thee this well-fashioned weapon (with which =) in order that thou shouldst break the hoof-breakers (x. 44³). The subj. of these relative clauses sometimes comes to have a purely future sense; e.g. ó (=ā₁u) té yanti yé āparīṣu páśyān those are coming who in future days will see her (i. 113¹¹).

In B. this type of relative clause with the subj. is rare; e.g. yān mā dhināvat tán me kuruta procure for me that which shall refresh me (SB.); hānta vayāṃ tāt srjāmahai yād asmān anvāsad iti come, let us create what shall come after us (SB.).

γ. with relative conjunctions :

1. yád, which, if the clause is determinative, means when ; the dependent clause then precedes, while the principal clause usually contains an impv., but sometimes an inj., a subj., or an opt. ; the conjunction means in order that, so that, if the dependent clause is final or consequential ; the dependent clause then follows, while the principal clause contains an impv., a subj., or an ind., e. g.

if yád = when : úṣo yád adyá bhānúnā ví dvārāv ṛṇávo diváh, prá no yachatād avṛkám O Dawn, when to-day with thy beam thou shalt open the doors of heaven, then bestow on us safe shelter (i. 48¹⁵) ; yád adyá bhāgām vibhājāsi nṛbhya, úṣo devó no átra savitā dāmūnā ánāgaso vocati sūryāya when thou shalt to-day distribute a share to men, O Dawn, god Savitr, the house friend, shall declare us guiltless to Surya (i. 123³) ; yád va ágaḥ puruṣātā kārāma, mǎ vas tásyām ápi bhūma when we shall commit a sin against you after the manner of men, let us not have a part in that (shaft) of yours (vii. 57⁴) ; yád didyávaḥ pṛtanāsu prakrīlān, tásya vām syāma sanitāra ājéḥ when shafts shall play in battles, of that conflict of yours we would be the winners (iv. 41¹¹).

if yád = in order that, or so that : sá á vaha devátātim yaviṣṭha, śárdho yád adyá divyám yājāsi so bring hither the gods, O youngest, that thou mayst adore the heavenly host to-day (iii. 19⁴) ; tavéd u táḥ sukīrtáyó 'sann utá práśastayaḥ, yád indra mṛláyāsi naḥ these laudations and praises shall be thine, that thou, O Indra, mayst be merciful to us (viii. 45³³) ; ná pāpāso manāmahe, yád ín nv índraṃ sákhāyaṃ kṛṇávāmahai we deem not ourselves wicked, (so) that we can now make Indra our friend (viii. 61¹¹). In such posterior clauses the yád sometimes comes to express the content of the principal clause ; e. g. ná te sákhā sakhyám vaṣṭy etát, sálakṣmā yád viṣurūpā bhāvāti (x. 10²) thy friend wishes not this friendship, that she who is of the same type (= akin) shall become of a different kind (= not akin). This yád may once be translated by till: kíyāty á yát samáyā bhavāti yá vyūṣúr yās ca nūnám vyuchān in what time will it be that (= how long will it be till) she shall be between those that have shone forth and those that shall now shine forth? (i. 113¹⁰).

In B. the subj. is rarely found in these clauses with yád; e.g. tát prāpnuhi yát te prāṇó vātam apipádyātai attain this that your breath shall transfer itself to the wind (ŚB.).

2. yátra when seems not to occur in V. with the subj. when it is a genuine conjunction (that is, when it is not equivalent to the loc. of the relative pronoun).

In B., however, it is found with the subj. in the sense of a future perfect; e.g. yátra hótā chándasaḥ pārám gáchāt, tát pratiprasthātā prātarānuvākám upá kurutāt when the Hotṛ shall have got to the end of the metre, then let the Prati-prasthātṛ start a Prātarānuvāka (ŚB.).

3. yáthā with the subj. as an antecedent clause means as, the principal clause containing an impv. or a subj.; as a posterior clause it has the sense of in order that, so that, the principal clause containing either a demand (generally impv., occasionally inj., opt., or gerundive) or a statement (ind. pres. or aor., act. or pass.). Examples of the first use are: yáthā hotar mánuṣo devátātā yájāsi, evá no adyá yakṣi deván as thou canst, O priest, worship at the divine service of man. so do thou for us to-day worship the gods (vi. 4¹). This use does not seem to occur in B. Examples of the second use are: grhān gacha grhāpatnī yáthā ásaḥ go to the house that you may be mistress of the house (x. 85²⁶); idánīm áhna upavácyo nṛbhiḥ, śréṣṭham no átra dráviṇam yáthā dádhat at this time of day he is to be addressed by men that he may here bestow on us the best wealth (iv. 54¹); mahatām á vrṇīmahé 'vo, yáthā vásu násāmahai we implore the favour of the great, in order that we may obtain riches (x. 36¹¹); idám pátram apāyi mátsad yáthā saumanasāya devám this bowl has been drunk up, in order that it may exhilarate the god to benevolence (vi. 44¹⁶). The negative in such clauses is ná or nū.

a. In B. the usage is similar; the principal clause here contains either an impv. or a subj.; e.g. tathā me kuru yathā aham imāṃ senāṃ jayāni so arrange for me that I may conquer this army (AB.); saṃdhām nū sām dadhāvahai yāthā tvām evā praviśānīti now let us two make an agreement in order that I may enter into thee (MS.).

4. yadā when, with the subj. (pres. or aor.), which then has the value of a fut. perf., is regularly antecedent, the principal clause containing an impv. or a subj.; e.g. śṛtām yadā kārasi jātavedo, ātha im enam pāri dattāt pitṛbhyah when thou shalt have made him done, then deliver him to the fathers (x. 16²); yadā gāchāty āsunītim etām, ātha devānām vaśanīr bhavāti when he shall have gone to that spirit world, then he shall become subject to the gods (x. 16²). yadā kadā ca whenever seems to give the verb the same sense: yadā kadā ca sunāvama sōmam, agniṣ tvā dūtō dhanvāty ācha whenever we shall have pressed Soma, Agni shall hasten to thee as a messenger (iii. 53⁴).

a. The usage of B. is the same; e.g. sā yadā tām ativārdhā, ātha karsūṃ khātvā tāsyām mā bibharasi when I shall have outgrown that (vessel), then having dug a trench you shall keep me in it (SB.).

5. yādi if with the subj. generally precedes the principal clause, which contains an impv., a subj., (rarely) an opt., or an ind. (sometimes to be supplied); e.g. yādi stōmam māma śrāvad, asmākam indram indavo mandantu if he shall hear my praise, let these drops of ours gladden Indra (viii. 1³); yājāma devān yādi śaknāvāma we will adore the gods, if we shall be able (i. 27¹³); yādi prāti tvām hāryāḥ . . apā enā jayema if thou shalt accept (it) gladly, we might thereby win the waters (v. 2¹¹); indrā ha vāruṇā dhēṣṭhā, yādi sōmaiḥ . . mādāyaite Indra and Varuṇa (are) the most liberal, if they shall delight in the Soma offerings (iv. 41³).

a. In B. the subj. with yādi is very rare; an example is: yādi tvā etāt pūnar brāvatas, tvām brūtāt if they two shall say this again to thee, do thou say (SB.).

6. yād so long as occurs twice with the subj. in the RV.: anānukṛtyām apunās cakāra yāt sūryāmāsā mithā uccā- rātaḥ he has once for all done what is inimitable so long as sun and moon alternately shall rise (x. 68¹⁰); vásiṣṭhaṃ ha váruṇo . . ṛṣim cakāra . . yān nú dyāvas tatānan, yād uṣāsaḥ Varuṇa has made Vasiṣṭha a seer, so long as the days shall extend, so long as the dawns (vii. 88¹). In B. yād does not occur.

δ. The subj. is sometimes used in an antecedent clause with ca in the sense of if, which is then treated as a subordinate conjunction and accentuates the verb; e.g. indraś ca mṛláyāti no, ná naḥ paścād aghāṃ naśat if Indra shall be gracious to us, no evil shall afterwards touch us (ii. 41¹¹).

D. Optative or Potential.

216. 1. The meaning of the opt. is predominantly a wish, which is modified according to the person of the verb.

The first person, which is very common, expresses the wish of the speaker, generally addressed to the gods; e.g. uṣas tám aśyāṃ yaśāsaṃ rayīm O Dawn, I would obtain that glorious wealth (i. 92⁸); vidhēma te stómaiḥ we would worship thee with songs of praise (ii. 9³); vayāṃ syāma pátayo rayīṇām we would be lords of riches (iv. 50⁶).

In B. the sense of the first person is similar, but its occurrence, owing to the nature of the subject-matter, is far less common; e.g. viśé ca kṣatrāya ca samādaṃ kuryām I should like to create enmity between people and nobility (MS.).

The second person is much less common. It is almost exclusively used to express a wish or a request addressed to a god; e.g. á no mitrávárūṇā hotráya vavṛtyāḥ pray bring Mitra and Varuṇa to our oblation (vi. 11¹); tyā me hávam á jagmyātam so, pray, do ye two come to my call (vi. 50¹⁰); prá sú na áyur jīvāse tiretana do ye, pray, extend fully our allotted span that we may live (viii. 18²²). We might here often rather expect the impv., which indeed frequently either precedes or follows the 2. opt.; e.g. dhiṣvá vájraṃ rakṣohátyāya: sāsaḥiṣṭhā abhí spṛdhaḥ take the bolt for the slaughter of the demons : mayst thou overcome our foes (vi. 45¹⁸); imām me samīdhaṃ vaneḥ; imā ū śú śrudhī girāḥ pray accept this my fuel; graciously hear these songs (ii. 6¹).

In B. the second person is used almost exclusively in wishes; e.g. asmīn yājamāne bahvyāḥ syāta may you be numerous beside this sacrificer (ŚB.).

The third person is used in the three different senses of wish, precept, or supposition; e.g. mīdhvām asmākaṃ babhūyāt may he be bountiful to us (i. 27²); imām amṛtaṃ dūtāṃ kṛṇvīta mārtyaḥ this immortal the mortal should make his messenger (viii. 23¹⁹); prṇānn āpīr āprṇantam abhi syāt the friend who bestows would prevail over him who does not bestow (x. 117¹). In the sense of a supposition (regarded as possible or probable) the opt. seldom appears independently, but often in an apodosis.

In B. it is common in all three senses: expressing a wish; e.g. apaś-ūḥ syāt may he be bereft of cattle (TS.); a general precept (where a gerundive may also be used); e.g. kṣāume vāsānā agnīm ā dadhiyātām, té adhvaryāve déye wearing linen garments the two should lay the fire; the two (garments should be given to the Adhvaryu (MS.); a supposition in the apodosis of periods, but seldom independently; e.g. nāḥasya tāṃ rātrim apó grhān prá hareyur; āpo vāi śāntiḥ: śamāyeyur eva (MS.) they should not during that night bring water into his house; for water is extinction: they would thus extinguish (if they did this). The protasis in this example must be supplied.

2. The syntactical employment of the optative is two-fold:

a. it appears in principal sentences (for the most part retaining the sense of a wish) with interrogatives, either the pronoun or the adverbs kathā how? kadā when? and kuvīd; e.g. kāsmāi devāya haviṣā vidhema what god would we worship with oblation? (x. 121¹); kadā na indra rāyā ā daśasyeḥ when wouldst thou, O Indra, bestow riches upon us? (vii. 37⁵); kuvīt tutujoyāt sātāye dhīyaḥ (i. 143⁶) would he not stimulate our prayers for gain? (cp. p. 354, 2 a). A possibility is sometimes thus repudiated; e.g. kād dha nūnām ṛtā vādanto ānṛtaṃ rapema how could we now speaking righteous words utter unrighteousness? (x. 10⁴).

In B. the optative with interrogatives may express a wish, precept, possibility, or the repudiation of a suggestion; e.g. kathāṃ nū prā jāyeya how should I propagate myself? (ŚB.); yāmim eva pūrvāṃ śaṃset he should first pronounce the formula addressed to Yama (AB.); kim māma tātaḥ syāt (ŚB.) what would then accrue to me [if I did this]? kās tād ā driyeta who would pay attention to that? (ŚB.).

a. The opt. appears in negative sentences with ná not, sometimes nū cid never. The sense is either optative or potential; e.g. ná riṣyema kadā caná may we never suffer harm (vi. 54⁹); nū cin nū vāyór amṛtaṃ vi dasyet may the nectar of Vāyu never fail (vi. 37³); ná tād devó ná mártyas tuturyād yāni právrddho vṛṣabhás cakára no god, no mortal could surpass what the mighty bull has done (viii. 96²). The only opt. form with which the prohibitive mā occurs is bhujema: mā va éno anyákṛtaṃ bhujema may we not suffer before you for a sin done by others (vi. 51⁷).

In B. the opt. is used with ná to express either a general prohibition or a potential sense; e.g. tāsya etád vratám : ná ānṛtaṃ vaden, ná māṃsám aśniyāt this is his vow: he should not speak the untruth, he should not eat meat; ná enaṃ dadhikrávā caná pávayāṃ kriyāt Dadhikrācan himself could not make him pure (MS.).

b. In dependent clauses the opt. is used with relatives (pronominal or adverbial):

a. such a clause having a determining sense, usually precedes. This type is very rare in V.; e.g. sūryāṃ yó brahmā vidyāt, sá id vādhūyam arhati a priest who should know Sūrya deserves the bridal garment (x. 85³⁴).

In B., on the other hand, clauses of this type, which always imply a supposition, are very common. The opt. here expresses a precept or a potential sense; the principal clause most often has the opt. also; e.g. yāṃ dviṣyāt, táṃ dhyāyet whom he may hate, he should think of (TS.); yó vā imám ālābheta, múcyeta asmát pāpmānaḥ he who were to offer this (bull), would be delivered from this sin (TS.). In the principal clause a gerundive occasionally appears or the verb to be has to be supplied ; e.g. yó rāṣṭrād āpabhūtaḥ syāt tāsmai hotavyā this should be offered for him who should be deprived of his kingdom (TS.) ; yasya agnayo grāmyeṇa agninā saṃdahyeran, kā tatra prāyaścittiḥ if any one's fires should be united with a village fire, what expiation (is) there ? (AB.).

β. the relative clause, if it has a final or consequential sense (in order that, so that) follows. The principal clause contains an impv., a subj., or an opt. ; e.g. revātīr naḥ sadhamāda indre santu yābhir mādema (i. 30¹³) let our feasts beside Indra be rich (by which =) that we may rejoice (in them) ; dhāsatho rayim yēna samātsu sāhiṣīmāhi bestow wealth on us (by which =) that we may be victorious in battles (viii. 40¹) ; yáyā āti víśvā duritā tārema sutārmāṇam ādhi nāvaṃ ruhema we would ascend the rescuing ship (by which =) that we may cross over all misfortunes (viii. 42³).

In B. final relative clauses with the optative are rare.

γ. with relative conjunctions :

1. yád if : in the antecedent clause of pres. conditional periods, the condition being generally regarded as unfulfilled. The apodosis normally contains a potential opt. (though isolated examples of the impv., inj., and ind. occur) ; e.g. yád agne syām ahám tvám, tvám vā ghā syā ahám, syūṣ te satyā ihā āśiṣaḥ if I, O Agni, were thou, and thou wert I, thy prayers would be fulfilled (viii. 44²³) ; occasionally the fulfilment of the condition is expected ; e.g. yác chuśruyā imám hávaṃ durmārṣaṃ cakriyā utá, bháver āpír no ántamaḥ if thou shouldst hear this call and shouldst not forget it, thou wouldst be our most intimate friend (viii. 45¹⁸). The temporal sense of when with the opt. seems to occur only once in the RV. (iii. 33¹¹).

In B. (as in V.) yád if with the opt. is very common in the protasis, when the fulfilment of the condition is not expected (yádi with opt. being used when it is expected) ; e.g. sā yád bhidyeta ārtim ārched yājamānaḥ if it should be broken, the sacrificer would fall into calamity (TS.). The infinitive with īśvarā may take the place of the opt. in the principal clause ; e.g. yad etām śamsed īśvaraḥ parjanya 'varṣtoḥ if he were to repeat this (formula), Parjanya might not rain (AB.). Sometimes the verb (opt. of as be) is omitted in the apodosis. The opt. with yád here rarely expresses a purely hypothetical case (that is, without the implication that the condition will not be fulfilled; e.g. yán mām praviśēḥ kīm mā bhuñjyāḥ (TS.) if you were to enter me, of what use would you be to me? (afterwards he does enter Indra).

α. yád with the opt. in the final sense of in order that is very rare; e.g. yán nūnām aśyām gátim, mitrásya yāyām pathā in order that I might now obtain a refuge, I would go on the path of Mitra (v. 64³).

β. In B. yád with the opt. in the sense of that is frequently used after áva kalpate is suitable, út sahate endures, ichāti desires, véda knows, yuktó bhavati is intent, in posterior clauses; e.g. ná hí tát avakálpate yád brūyāt for it is not fitting that he should say (ŚB.); ná vā ahám idám út sahe yád vo hótā syām (ŚB.) I cannot endure this that should be (= I cannot be) your Hotṛ; tád dhy évā brāhmaṇena eṣṭávyam yád brahmavarcaśi syāt for that is to be aimed at by the Brahmin, that he should be pious (ŚB.); svayām vā etásmai devā yuktā bhavanti yát sādhu vādeyuh for the gods themselves are intent on this, that they should say what is right (ŚB.); kás tát veda yád vratapradó vratām upotsiñcet for who knows (this that =) whether he who hands the fast-milk (should add =) adds (fresh milk) to it (ŚB.). In the ŚB. īśvará also is used with this construction (in other Brāhmaṇas with the infinitive only) to express a possible consequence (though the yád is nearly always omitted); e.g. pārāṇ asmāḍ yajñō 'bhūd iti īśvaró ha yát tátā evā syāt the sacrifice has turned away from him: it is possible that this should be so (ŚB.). Otherwise the phrase regularly appears in the form of iti īśvaró ha tátā eva syāt, perhaps because īśvará came to be regarded as a kind of adverb = possibly this might be so.

γ. In B. yád introducing a clause with the opt. accompanied by ná and ending with íti, dependent on a verb of fearing or similar expression, is equivalent to lest; e.g. devā ha vái bibhayām cakrur yád vái naḥ . . asurarakṣasāni imām grāham ná hanyúr iti the gods feared lest the Asuras and Rakṣasas should destroy this draught (ŚB.); índro ha vā iṣṣām cakre yán mā tán ná abhibhaved iti Indra pondered (fearing) lest that should vanquish him (ŚB.).

2. yádi if with the opt. does not occur in the RV. and AV. at all, and only once in the SV.

In B. it is very common, expressing a condition the fulfilment of which is assumed (while yád with opt. implies non-fulfilment of the condition). The clause with yádi generally precedes. The apodosis has :

α. usually the opt., which expresses a precept applicable when the condition is fulfilled; e. g. yádi purá samsthānād dīryeta (adyá varṣiṣyati īti brūyāt if (the vessel) should be broken before the completion (of the sacrifice), he should say: it will rain to-day (MS.); yadi na śaknuyāt so 'gnaye puroḷāṣaṃ nir vapet if he should not be able to do so, he should offer a cake to Agni (AB.). The precept occasionally has a potential sense; e. g. yády ékatayīṣu dvayīṣu vā avagāched, aparódhukā enaṃ syuḥ (MS.) if he (the banished man) should return after one or two libations, they might exclude him from the sovereignty (but not if he returns at the conclusion of the ceremony).

β. īśvará with the infinitive; e. g. īśvaro ha yady apy anyo yajeta (atha hotāraṃ yaśo 'rtoḥ even if another should sacrifice (instead of him), it is possible that fame should come to the Hotṛ (AB.).

γ. a gerundive; sa yadi na jāyeta, rākṣoghnyo gāyatriyo 'nūcyāḥ if it (the fire) should not be kindled, the demon-slaying verses are to be repeated (AB.).

δ. an ind. (sometimes omitted if it is a form of as be);
 e. g. tasmād yadi yajña ṛkta ārtiḥ syād brahmaṇa eva ni vedayante therefore if at the sacrifice there should be any failure with regard to a Ṛc verse, they inform the Brahman priest (AB.); yadi no yajña ṛkta ārtiḥ syāt, kā prāyaścittiḥ if we shall have an accident at the sacrifice in regard to a Ṛc verse, what (is) the penance? (AB.).

ε. The difference between yád and yádi with the opt.
 may be illustrated by the following example: yán no jáye- yur imá abhyúpa dhāvema, yády u jáyema (imá abhyupá vartemahi īti if they were to conquer us (not to be assumed), we should take refuge with these (friends), but if (as is to be assumed) we should conquer, we could again betake ourselves to them (MS.).

3. yáthā used in V. only in the sense of in order that, generally following the principal clause, which contains an impv., an inj., or an ind.; e. g. ápa víśvāṃ amítrān nudasva, yáthā táva śárman mádema drive away all foes that we may rejoice in thy protection (x. 131¹); tváyā yáthā gr̥tsamadáso
. . úparāṃ abhí syuḥ, sūríbhyo gr̥naté tád váyo dhāḥ bestow on the patrons and the singer this blessing that through thee the Gr̥tsamadas may be superior to their neighbours (ii. 4⁹);

ā dáivya vṛṇīmahé 'vāṃsi, yáthā bhávema mīlhūṣe ánāgāḥ we implore the divine aids that we may be sinless before the gracious one (vii. 97²).

a. In B. yáthā with the opt. has two uses : a. in antecedent clauses in the sense of as, as if, with a correlative meaning so in the principal clause, which contains an opt., an ind., or no verb ; e. g. yathā eva chinnā naur bandhanāt plaveta, evam eva te plaveran just as a boat cut from its fastening would drift, so they would drift 'AB.' ; sá yáthā nad-yái pāram parāpásyed evám svásya āyusaḥ pāram pára cakhyau as if he were looking across to the farther bank of a river, so he saw the end of his life from afar (ŚB.) ; átho yáthā brūyād etán me gopāya īti tādṛg evá tát then it (is) so as if he were to say : guard this for me (TS.).

β. in posterior clauses in the sense of how, so that : e. g. úpa jānīta yáthā iyám púnar āgáchet do ye find out how she could come back ŚB. ; tát táthā evá hotavyám yáthā agním vyaveyāt hence it is to be so poured that it may divide the fire (MS.).

4. yátra and yadā are not found with the opt. in V., and yárhi does not occur at all in the RV. and AV.

In B. all three conjunctions are used hypothetically with the opt. in the sense of when.

a. yátra, besides having the sense of when, in case, often seems to mean at the moment when, as soon as ; the principal clause has the opt. or the ind. ; e. g. mārutám saptákapālam nír vaped yátra viḍ rájānam jīyāset he should offer a cake on seven dishes to the Maruts in case the people were to oppress the king (MS.) ; sá yátra prastuyāt tát etáni japet as soon as he (the priest) begins to sing, one should mutter the following prayers (ŚB.).

β. yadā as soon as seems often to imply that the action of the opt. should be assumed to be past ; it seems always to be followed by átha then ; e. g. sá yadā saṃgrāmám jáyed átha aindrāgnám nír vapet as soon as he may have won a battle, he should sacrifice to Indra and Agni (MS.).

γ. yárhi when is generally followed by the correlative tárhi then in the principal clause, which usually has the opt. also ; e. g. yárhi prajāḥ kṣúdhām nigáচেযus, tárhi navarātrēṇa yajeta when his people should be exposed to hunger, then he should sacrifice with the rite of nine nights (TS.).

5. céd if is used with the ind. only in the RV. and only once with the opt. in the AV.

In B. it is used with the opt. like yádi with which it may interchange) ; e. g. etám céd anyásmā anubrūyās, táta evá te śíras chind-yām if you were to communicate this to another, I would cut off your head (ŚB.).

Precative.

217. This form, which occurs in the RV. and AV. in principal clauses only, and never interrogatively, expresses a prayer or wish addressed to the gods almost exclusively, as is to be expected from the nature of those texts; e.g. yó no dvéṣṭy ádharah sás padīṣṭa may he who hates us fall to the ground (iii. 53²¹). When a negative is used it is ná; e.g. bhágo me agne sakhyé ná mṛdhyāḥ may my good fortune, O Agni, not relax in (thy) friendship (iii. 54²¹).

In B. the precative is almost restricted to verse or prose formulas quoted and to paraphrases of such formulas; e.g. bhūyasīnām úttarām sāmām kriyāsam iti gāvām lākṣma kuryāt would that I may do (this) to more next year: so saying he should make the mark of the cows (MS.). śatām himā iti śatām varṣāṇi jīvyāsam ity evā etád āha by the expression 'a hundred winters' he says this: 'would that I may live a hundred years' (ŚB.). It is, however, sometimes found in genuine prose narrative also; e.g. sā ha vāk prajāpatim uvāca: āhavyavāḍ evā abhām túbhyam bhūyāsam Vāc said to Prajāpati: I would like not to be a conductor of sacrifice for thee (ŚB.); tām aśapad: dhiyā-dhiyā tvā vadhyāsuḥ him (Agni) cursed (saying): I wish they may kill thee with repeated deliberation (TS.).

Conditional.

218. In V. the conditional occurs only once (RV. ii. 30²) in a somewhat obscure passage, though the form abhariṣyat used after a past tense appears to mean would take away (in place of the future which would have been used after a present tense).

In B. the conditional is once found in a simple interrogative sentence: tāta evā asya bhayām viyāya: kasmād dhy ābheṣyat thereupon his fear departed: for of what should he have been afraid? (ŚB.). Otherwise it occurs only in compound sentences:

1. usually in both protasis and apodosis of conditional sentences, expressing what might have happened in the past, but did not happen because the condition was not fulfilled. The conditional clause is generally introduced by yád, rarely by yádi (216; e.g. sá yád dha api múkḥād ádroṣyan, ná ha evá prāyaścittir abhaviṣyat if it (Soma) had also flowed out of his mouth, there would not have been a penance (ŚB.); yád evām ná ávakṣyo mūrdhá te vy ápatiṣyat if you had not spoken thus, your head would have split asunder (ŚB.); pádau te 'mlāsyatām yádi ha ná ágamiṣyaḥ your feet would have withered, if you had not come (ŚB.).

a. When yád is used with the opt. the supposed condition refers to the present (216).

2. in relative clauses dependent on negative principal clauses containing a past tense (always of vid find); e.g. sá táđ evá ná₁avindat prajāpatir yád áhoṣyat Prajapati found nothing that he could sacrifice (MS.); sá vái táṃ ná₁avindad yásmai táṃ dáksinām áneṣyat he found no one to whom he should give this sacrificial fee (TB.).

3. in a clause introduced by yád that dependent on a negative (or equivalent) clause; e.g. ciráṃ tán mene yád vāsaḥ paryádhāsyata he thought it too long (that =) till he should put on the garment (ŚB.) = he thought the time was not short enough till he should put on the garment.

APPENDIX II

VEDIC METRE.

1. The main principle governing Vedic metre¹ (the source of all later Indian versification)² is measurement by number of syllables.³ The metrical unit here is not the foot in the sense of Greek prosody, but the foot (pāda) or *quarter*⁴ in the sense of the verse or line which is a constituent of the stanza. Such verses consist of eight, eleven, twelve, or (much less commonly) five syllables. The verse is further more or less regulated by a quantitative rhythm (unaffected by the musical accent) in which short and long syllables alternate. Nearly all metres have a general iambic rhythm inasmuch as they show a preference for the even syllables (second, fourth, and so on) in a verse being long rather than short. In every metre the rhythm of the latter part of the verse (the last four or five syllables), called the cadence, is more rigidly regulated than that of the earlier part. Verses of eleven and twelve syllables are characterized not only by their cadence, but by a caesura after the fourth or the fifth syllable, while verses of five and eight syllables have no such metrical pause.

¹ Called chāndas in the RV. itself.

² Except the two metres Āryā and Vaitāliya which are measured by morae.

⁴ A figurative sense (derived from foot — quarter of a quadruped) applicable because the typical stanza has four lines.

Verses combine to form a stanza or ṛc, the unit of the hymn, which generally consists of not less than three or more than fifteen such units. The stanzas of common occurrence in the RV. range, by increments of four syllables, from twenty syllables (4×5) to forty-eight (4×12) syllables in length.¹ A stanza may consist of a combination of metrically identical or of metrically different verses; and either two or three stanzas may further be combined to form a strophe.

a. The following general rules of prosody are to be noted. 1. The end of a verse regularly coincides with the end of a word² because each verse in a stanza is independent of the rest in structure. 2. The quantity of the first and last syllables of a verse is indifferent. 3. A vowel becomes long by position if followed by two consonants. One or both of these consonants may belong to the following word. The palatal aspirate ch and the cerebral aspirate ḥ (ḍh) count as double consonants. 4. One vowel is shortened before another;³ e and o are also pronounced ě and õ before ä. 5. The semivowels y and v, both within a word and in Sandhi, have often to be pronounced as i and u; e.g. siáma for syáma; súar for svàr; ví uṣāḥ for vy uṣāḥ; vidátheṣu añján for vidátheṣv añján. 6. Contracted vowels (especially ī and ū) must often be restored; e.g. ca agnáye for cāgnáye; ví indraḥ for vīndraḥ; ávalu útáye for ávatūtáye; á indra for éndra. 7. Initial a when dropped after e and o must nearly always be restored. 8. The long vowel of the gen. pl. ending ām, and of such words as dāsa, śūra, and e (as jyá-iṣṭha for jyéṣṭha) or ai (as á-ichas for áichas) must often be pronounced as equivalent to two short syllables. 9. The spelling of a few words regularly misrepresents their metrical value; thus pāvaká must always be pronounced as pavāká, mṛṇaya as mṛṇaya, and suvāná nearly always as svāná.

² No infringement of this rule occurs in any metre of the RV. but the comparatively rare Dvipadā Virāj (4×5), in which three exceptions are met with.

³ The vowels ī, ū, e when Pragrhya (25, 26), however, remain long before vowels. When a final long vowel is the result of Sandhi, it also remains long; tásmā adāt for tásmāi adāt.

I. Simple Stanzas.

2. The Vedic hymns consist chiefly of simple stanzas, that is, of such as are formed of verses which are all metrically identical. Different stanzas are formed by combining three, four, five, or six identical verses. The following is an account of the various types of verse and of the different simple stanzas formed by them.

A. Verse of eight syllables. This is a dimeter verse consisting of two equal members of four syllables each, the opening and the cadence. In the opening the first and third syllable are indifferent, while the second and fourth are preferably long. When the second is short, the third is almost invariably long. In the cadence the rhythm is typically iambic, the first and third syllables being almost always short, while the second is usually long (though it is not infrequently short also). Thus the prevailing scheme of the whole verse is $\cup - \cup - \cup - \cup$

a. Even after every admissible vowel restoration a good many verses of this type exhibit the anomaly (which cannot be removed without doing violence to the text) of having one syllable too few; e. g. tām tuā vayām pito. There are also here a very few instances of one or even two syllables too many; e. g. agnīm ile | bhujām yāvi | ṣṭham and vayām tād as | ya sambhṛtaṃ | vāsu.

3. a. The *Gāyatrī*¹ stanza consists of three² octosyllabic verses;³ e. g.

¹ Next to the Trīṣṭubh this is the commonest metre in the RV., nearly one-fourth of that Samhitā being composed in it; yet it has entirely disappeared in Classical Sanskrit. The Avesta has a parallel stanza of 3×8 syllables.

² The first two Pādas of the Gāyatrī are treated as a hemistich in the Samhitā text, probably in imitation of the hemistich of the Anuṣṭubh and the Trīṣṭubh; but there is no reason to believe that in the original text the second verse was more sharply divided from the third than from the first.

³ By far the commonest variation from the normal type is that in which the second syllable of the cadence is short ($\cup \cup \cup \cup$). This occurs about as often in the first verse of Gāyatrīs as in the second and third combined.

agnīm īle | puróhitam | — ◡ — — | ◡ — ◡ ◡ |
 yajñásya de | vām ṛtvijam | — — ◡ — | ◡ — ◡ ◡ |
 hótāraṃ ra | tñadhātāmam | — — — — | ◡ — ◡ ◡ ||

a. A comparatively rare but sufficiently definite variety of Gāyatrī¹ differs from the normal type by having a decided trochaic rhythm in the cadence,² while the iambic rhythm of the opening is more pronounced than usual; e. g.

tuām no ag | ne mähobhiḥ | ◡ — ◡ — — ◡ — ◡ |
 pāhī víśva | syā árāteḥ | — ◡ — — | — ◡ — — |
 utā dviśó | mártiasya || ◡ — ◡ — | — ◡ — ◡ ||

b. The Anuṣṭubh³ stanza consists of four octosyllabic verses, divided into two hemistichs; e. g.

ā yás te sar | pirāsute | — — — — | ◡ — ◡ — |
 ágne sám ás | ti dhāyase | — — ◡ — | ◡ — ◡ — ||
 áiṣu dyumnám utā śrávaḥ | — — — ◡ | ◡ — ◡ ◡ |
 ā cittám már | tieṣu dhāḥ || — — — — | ◡ — ◡ — ||

a. In the latest hymns of the RV. there begins a tendency to differentiate the first from the second verse of an Anuṣṭubh hemistich by making the end of the former trochaic, while the cadence of the latter becomes more strictly iambic. Although in these hymns the iambic cadence of the first verse is still the most frequent (25 per cent.) of all varieties, it is already very nearly equalled by the next commonest (23 per cent.), which is identical with the normal and characteristic cadence of the first verse in the epic Anuṣṭubh⁴ (śloka). The scheme of the whole hemistich according to this innovation⁵ then is: ◡ — ◡ — | ◡ — — ◡ || ◡ — ◡ — | ◡ — ◡ ◡ || e. g. keśī viśá śya pátrena yád rudréṇā pibat sahā.

² The trochaic Gāyatrī is commonest in Maṇḍalas i and viii, which taken together contain about two-thirds of the total number of examples in the RV.

³ The frequency of this metre is about one-third that of Gāyatrī in the RV., but in the post-Vedic period it has become the predominant metre. The Avesta has a parallel stanza of 4 × 8 syllables.

⁴ Where the iambic cadence in the first verse has entirely disappeared.

⁵ This is the regular type of the Anuṣṭubh in the AV.

c. The Pañkti stanza consists of five octosyllabic verses¹ divided into two hemistichs of two and of three verses respectively. In origin it seems to be an extension of the Anuṣṭubh by the addition of a fifth verse. This is indicated by the fact that in hymns consisting entirely of Pañktis the fifth verse of every stanza is (except in i. 81) regularly a refrain (e.g. in i. 80). The following is an example of a Pañkti stanza:—

itthā hí sóma ín máde brahmā cakāra vārdhanam |
śāviṣṭha vajrinn ójasā | pṛthivyā níḥ śāsā áhim | árcann ánu svarājiam ||

d. In about fifty stanzas of the RV. the number of octosyllabic verses is increased to six and in about twenty others to seven, generally by adding a refrain of two verses to an Anuṣṭubh (e.g. viii. 47) or to a Pañkti (e.g. x. 133, 1-3). The former is called Mahāpañkti (48), the latter Śakvarī (56).

4. B. Verses of eleven syllables differ from those of eight in consisting of three members (the opening, the break, and the cadence). They also contrast with the latter in two other respects: their cadence is trochaic² (— ∪ — ∪) and they have a caesura, which follows either the fourth³ or the fifth syllable. The rhythm of the syllables preceding the caesura is prevailingly iambic, being ∪ — ∪ —⁴ or ∪ — ∪ — ∪.⁵ The rhythm of the break between the caesura and the cadence is regularly ∪ ∪ — or ∪ ∪⁶. Thus the scheme of

² The only irregularity here is that the first syllable of the cadence may be short when it coincides with the end of a word.

³ This appears to have been the original position of the caesura because the parallel verse of the Avesta has it there and never after the fifth syllable.

⁴ Identical with the opening of the octosyllabic verse.

⁵ The fourth syllable here is sometimes short: the fifth is then always long.

⁶ The first of these two syllables is sometimes, but rarely, long in the old hymns of the RV., still more rarely in the later hymns, and hardly ever in B.

the whole normal verse of eleven syllables is :

(a) ॐ — ॐ —, ॐ ॐ — | — ॐ — ॐ | or

(b) ॐ — ॐ — ॐ —, ॐ ॐ | — ॐ — ॐ |

a. Apart from corruptions or only seeming irregularities (removable by restoration of vowels) several verses of this type have one syllable too many or too few;¹ e.g. *tā no vidvāṃsā, mānma vo | cetam adyā*² (12); *tām im giro, jāna | yo nā pātniḥ*³ (10). Occasionally two syllables are wanting after the caesura or the verse is too long by a trochee added at the end; e.g. tā ū śū ṇo, [. .] ma | hó yajatrāḥ (9); ayām sá hótā, [ॐ ॐ] yó dvijānmā (9); rāthebhir yāta, ṛṣṭi | mádbhir áśva | parṇaiḥ (13).

5. The Triṣṭubh stanza, the commonest in the RV.,⁴ consists of four verses of eleven syllables⁵ divided into two hemistichs. The following are hemistichs of each type :

(a) anāgāstvé, aditi | tvé turāsaḥ | imām yajñām, da-dhatu | śróṣamānāḥ ||

(b) asmākaṃ santu, bhūva nasya gópāḥ | pibantu sómam, áva | se nō adyā ||

a. A few Triṣṭubh stanzas of only two verses (dvipadā) occur (e.g. vii. 17). Much commoner are those of three verses (virāj), the first two of which (as in the Gāyatrī stanza) are treated in the Samhitā text as a hemistich; the whole of some hymns is composed in this three-line metre (e.g. iii. 25). Fairly frequent are also Triṣṭubh stanzas of five verses⁶ divided into two hemistichs of two and three verses respectively. They are always of isolated occurrence, appearing generally at the end of (Triṣṭubh) hymns, but never forming an entire hymn.

¹ This anomaly also appears in the metre of later Vedic texts and of Pāli poetry.

² The extra syllable in such cases is perhaps due to the verse being inadvertently continued after a fifth syllable caesura as if it were a fourth syllable caesura.

³ The deficiency of a syllable in such cases may have been partly due to the similarity of the decasyllabic Dvipadā Virāj (8) with which Triṣṭubh verses not infrequently interchange.

⁴ About two-fifths of the RV. are composed in this metre.

⁵ The Avesta has a parallel stanza of 4 × 11 syllables with caesura after the fourth syllable.

⁶ These are accounted Atijagatī (52) or Śakvarī stanzas by the ancient metricians when the fifth verse is a repetition of the fourth. If it is not a repetition it is treated in the Samhitā text as a separate verse (as v. 41, 20; vi. 63, 11) and is called an ekapadā by the metricians.

6. C. The verse of twelve syllables is probably an extension¹ of the Triṣṭubh verse by one syllable which gives the trochaic cadence of the latter an iambic character.² The rhythm of the last five syllables is therefore — ∪ — ∪ ∪. The added syllable being the only point of difference, the scheme of the whole verse is :

$$(a) \quad \underline{\cup} - \underline{\cup} -, \cup \cup - | - \cup - \cup \underline{\cup} | \quad \text{or} \\ (b) \quad \underline{\cup} - \underline{\cup} - \underline{\cup}, \cup \cup | - \cup - \cup \underline{\cup} |$$

a. Several examples occur of this type of verse (like the Triṣṭubh) having one, and occasionally two, syllables too many or too few ; e.g. mā́ no mártāya, ripáve vājinīvasū 13) ; ródasī á, vada tā gaṇaśrí-yaḥ (11) ; sá dṛl'hé cit, abhí tr ṇatti vājam ár vatā 11 : píbā sómam, [∪ ∪] e | ná śatakrato (10).

7. The Jagatī stanza, the third in order of frequency in the RV., consists of four verses of twelve syllables divided into two hemistichs. The following hemistich gives an example of each of the two types of verse :

anānudó, vṛṣabhó dódhato vadháḥ gambhīrá ṛṣvó, ásam aṣṭakāviah

a. There is an eleven syllable variety of the Jagatī verse which is sufficiently definite in type to form entire stanzas in two hymns of the RV. (x. 77, 78). It has a caesura after both the fifth and the seventh syllable, its scheme being ∪ — ∪ — ∪, — —, ∪ — ∪ ∪ |. The following hemistich is an example :

abhraprúṣo ná, vācá, prusā vásu |
haviṣmanto ná, yajñá, vijānūṣaḥ ||

8. D. The verse of five syllables resembles the last five syllables of the Triṣṭubh verse in rhythm. its commonest form being ∪ — ∪ — ∪, and the one next to it in frequency — — ∪ — ∪³

¹ It is probably not Indo-Iranian, because though a verse of 12 syllables occurs in the Avesta, it is there differently divided (7+5).

² As the Gāyatrī verse is never normally found in combination with the Triṣṭubh, but often with the Jagatī verse, it seems likely that the iambic influence of the Gāyatrī led to the creation of the Jagatī, with which it could form a homogeneous combination.

³ That is, its first syllable is less often long than short.

The Dvipadā Virāj stanza¹ consists of four such verses divided into two hemistichs;² e. g.

pāri prá dhanva índrāya soma |
svādúr mitráya pūṣṇé bhágāya

a. Owing to the identity of the cadence a Dvipadā hemistich³ not infrequently interchanges in the same stanza with a Triṣṭubh verse;⁴ e. g.

priyā vo náma huve⁵ turāṇām | á yát trpán, maruto vāvasānāḥ

b. The mixture of Dvipadā hemistichs with Triṣṭubh verses led to an entire hymn (iv. 10) being composed in a peculiar metre consisting of three pentasyllabic verses⁶ followed by a Triṣṭubh; e. g.

ágne tám adyá ásvam ná stómaiḥ krátum ná bhadram | hṛdispr̥śam, ṛdhiá mā⁷ ta óhaiḥ

II. Mixed Stanzas.

9. The only different verses normally used in combination to form a stanza are the Gāyatrī and the Jagatī. The principal metres thus formed are the following:

a. Stanzas of 28 syllables consisting of three verses, the first two of which are treated as a hemistich:

¹ This stanza is somewhat rare, occurring in the RV. not much more than a hundred times.

² The otherwise universal rule that the end of a verse must coincide with the end of a word is three times ignored in this metre (at the end of the first and third verses).

³ With this metre compare the defective Triṣṭubh verse of ten syllables (4 a).

⁴ This interchange occurs especially in RV. vii. 34 and 56.

⁵ Here the verb, though the first word of the verse (App. III, 19 b), is unaccented. This is because the end of the first and the third verse in this metre has a tendency to be treated like a caesura rather than a division of the stanza. Cp. note 2.

⁶ These three verses are treated as a hemistich in the Saṃhitā text.

⁷ The verb is accented because in the Saṃhitā text it is treated as the first word of a separate verse.

1. Uṣṇih : 8 8 12 ; e. g.

ágne vája | sya gómataḥ |
 íśānaḥ sa | haso yaho ||
 asmé dhehi, jātave | do máhi śrávaḥ ||

2. Purausṇih : 12 8 8 ; e. g.

apsú`antár, amṛtam | apsú bheṣajám
 apám utá | práśastaye ||
 dévā bhava | ta vājinaḥ ||

3. Kakubh : 8 12 8 ; e. g.

ádihā hí in | dra girvaṇaḥ |
 úpa tvā kāmān, maháḥ | sasṛjmaḥ
 udéva yán | ta udábhiḥ ||

b. Stanzas of 36 syllables consisting of four verses divided into two hemistichs: Br̥hatī 8 8 12 8 ; e. g.

śácībhir naḥ | śacīvasū |
 dévā náktam | daśasyatam ||
 má vām rātír, úpa da | sat kádā caná
 asmád rātīḥ | kádā caná ||

c. Stanzas of 40 syllables consisting of four verses divided into two hemistichs: Satobr̥hatī 12 8 12 8 ; e. g.

jánāso agním, dadhi | re sahovṛdham
 havíṣmanto | vidhema te || sá tvám no adyá, sumá | nā ihāvítá
 bhávā váje | ṣu santia ||

10. There are besides two much longer mixed stanzas of seven verses,¹ each of which is split up into three divisions of three, two, and two verses respectively in the Saṃhita text.

a. Stanzas of 60 syllables consisting of six Gāyatrī verses and one Jagatī: Atiśakvarī 8 8 8, 8 8, 12 8 ;² e. g.

¹ These are the composition of a very few individual poets.

² Only about ten examples of this metre occur in the RV.

suṣumā yā | tam ádribhiḥ |
 góśrītā mat | sarā imé |
 sómāso mat | sarā imé ||
 ā rājānā | divisprśā |
 asmatrá gan | tam úpa naḥ ||
 imé vām mitrá, -varu | nā gávāśirah |
 sómāḥ śukrá | gávāśirah ||

b. Stanzas of 68 syllables consisting of four Gāyatrī and three Jagatī verses: Atyaṣṭi¹ 12 12 8, 8 8, 12 8; e. g.

sá no nédiṣṭham, dádrś, āna á bhara |
 ágne devébhiḥ, sáca | nāḥ sucetúnā |
 mahó rāyāḥ | sucetúnā ||
 máhi śavi | ṣṭha nas kṛdhi |
 samcákṣe bhu | jé asiái ||
 máhi stotṛbhyo, magha | van suvīriam |
 máthīr ugró | ná śávasā ||

a. Besides the above mixed metres various other but isolated combinations of Gāyatrī and Jagatī verses occur in the RV., chiefly in single hymns. There are stanzas of this kind containing 20 syllables (12 8);² 32 syllables (12 8, 12);³ 40 syllables (12 12, 8 8);⁴ 44 syllables (12 12, 12 8)⁵; 52 syllables (12 12, 12 8 8).⁶

β. 1. Triṣṭubh verses are quite often interspersed in Jagatī stanzas, but never in such a way as to form a fixed type of stanza or to make it doubtful whether a hymn is a Jagatī one.⁷ This practice probably arose from the interchange of entire Triṣṭubh and Jagatī stanzas in the same hymn bringing about a similar mixture within a single stanza. 2. An occasional licence is the combination of a Triṣṭubh with a Gāyatrī verse in the same stanza. This combination appears as a regular mixed stanza (11 8, 8 8) in one entire hymn (RV. x. 22).⁸ 3. The combination of a Triṣṭubh verse with a Dvipadā Virāj hemistich has already been noted (8 a).

¹ This is the only comparatively common long metre (of more than 48 syllables) in the RV., where more than 80 Atyaṣṭi stanzas occur.

² RV. viii. 29.

³ RV. ix. 110.

⁴ RV. x. 93.

⁵ RV. viii. 35.

⁶ RV. v. 87.

⁷ But the intrusion of Jagatī verses in a Triṣṭubh hymn is exceptional in the RV., though very common in the ÁV. and later.

⁸ Except stanzas 7 and 15, which are pure Anuṣṭubh and Triṣṭubh respectively.

III. Strophic Stanzas.

11. Two or three stanzas are often found strophically combined in the RV., forming couplets or triplets.

A. Three simple stanzas (called tr̥ca) in the same metre are often thus connected. Gāyatrī triplets are the commonest; less usual are Uṣṇih, Bṛhatī, or Pañkti triplets; while Triṣṭubh triplets are rare. A hymn consisting of several triplets often concludes with an additional stanza in a different metre.

a. It is a typical practice to conclude a hymn composed in one metre with a stanza in another. A Triṣṭubh stanza at the end of a Jagatī hymn is the commonest; a final Anuṣṭubh stanza in Gāyatrī hymns is much less usual; but all the commoner metres are to some extent thus employed except the Gāyatrī, which is never used in this way.

B. Two mixed stanzas in different metres are often combined, the RV. containing about 250 such strophes. This doubly mixed strophic metre, called Pragātha, is of two main types:

1. The Kākubha Pragātha is much the less common kind of strophe, occurring only slightly more than fifty times in the RV. It is formed by the combination of a Kakubh with a Satobṛhatī stanza: 8 12. 8 + 12 8, 12 8; e. g.

ā no áśvā | vad áśvinā |
 vartír yāsiṣṭam, madhu pātāmā narā gómad dasrā hiraṇyavat
 supṛāvargám, suvīryam suṣṭhú vāriam |
 ánādhṛṣṭam | rakṣasvínā ||

2. The Bārhatā Pragātha is a common strophe, occurring nearly two hundred times in the RV. It is formed by the combination of a Bṛhatī with a Satobṛhatī stanza: 8 8, 12 8 + 12 8, 12 8; e. g.

dyumní vām | stómo aśvinā |

 á barhíḥ sī | datam narā | tá mandasānā, mánu ṣo duroṇá á ní pātam vé | dasā váyaḥ .

a. Of these two types there are many variations occurring in individual hymns, chiefly by the addition of one (8), two (12 8), three (12 8 8), or once (vii. 96. 1-3) even four verses (12 12 8 8).

APPENDIX III

THE VEDIC ACCENT.

1. The accent is marked in all the texts of the four Vedas as well as in two Brāhmaṇas, the Taittirīya (including its Āraṇyaka) and the Śatapatha (including the Bṛhadāraṇyaka Upaniṣad).

The Vedic, like the ancient Greek, accent was a musical one, depending mainly on pitch, as is indicated both by its not affecting the rhythm of metre and by the name of the chief tone, udātta raised. That such was its nature is, moreover, shown by the account given of it by the ancient native phoneticians. Three degrees of pitch are to be distinguished, the high, properly represented by the udātta, the middle by the svarita (sounded), and the low by the anudātta (not raised). But in the Rigveda the Udātta, the rising accent, has secondarily acquired a middle pitch, lower than the initial pitch of the Svarita. The Svarita is a falling accent representing the descent from the Udātta pitch to tonelessness. In the Rigveda it rises slightly above Udātta pitch before descending: here therefore it has something of the nature of a circumflex. It is in reality always an enclitic accent following an Udātta, though it assumes the appearance of an independent accent when the preceding Udātta is lost by the euphonic change of a vowel into the corresponding semivowel (as in kvā = kūā). In the latter case it is called the independent Svarita. The Anudātta is the low tone of the syllables preceding an Udātta.

2. There are four different methods of marking the accent in Vedic texts. The system of the Rigveda, which is followed by the Atharvaveda, the Vājasaneyi Samhitā, the Taittirīya Samhitā and Brāhmaṇa, is peculiar in not marking the principal accent at all. This seems to be due to the fact that in the RV. the pitch of the Udātta is intermediate between the other two tones. Hence the preceding Anudātta, as having a low pitch, is indicated below the syllable bearing it by a horizontal stroke, while the following Svarita, which at first rises to a slightly higher pitch and then falls, is indicated above the syllable bearing it by a vertical stroke; e. g. agninā = agninā; vīryām = vīryām (for vīriām). Successive Udāttas at the beginning of a hemistich are indicated by the absence of all marks till the enclitic Svarita which follows the last of them or till the Anudātta which (ousting the enclitic Svarita) follows the last of them as a preparation for another Udātta (or for an independent Svarita); e. g. tāv ā yātam = tāv ā yātam; *tavet tat satyam*¹ = tāvét tát satyām. On the other hand, all successive unaccented syllables at the beginning of a hemistich are marked with the Anudātta; e. g. vaiśvānarām = vaiśvānarām. But all the unaccented syllables following a Svarita remain unmarked till that which immediately precedes an Udātta (or independent Svarita); e. g. imam mé gaṅge yamune sarasvatī śútudri = imām me gaṅge yamune sarasvati | śútudri.

a. Since a hemistich of two or more Pādas is treated as a unit that consists of an unbroken chain of accented and unaccented syllables, and ignores the division into Pādas, the marking of the preceding Anudātta and the following Svarita is not limited to the word in which the Udātta occurs, but extends to the contiguous words not only of the same, but of the succeeding Pāda; e. g. agninā rayim āśnavat poṣām eva dīve-dīve = agninā rayīm aśnavat

póṣam evá divé-dive; sa náḥ pītevā sūnave ṣgné sūpā-yano bháva = sá naḥ pītéva sūnávé 'gne sūpāyanó bhava.¹

b. When an independent Svarita² immediately precedes an Udātta, it is accompanied by the sign of the numeral 1 if the vowel is short and by 3 if it is long, the figure being marked with both the Svarita and the Anudātta; e.g. apsvāntaḥ = apśú antáḥ; rāyo 3 vaniḥ = rāyò 'vánih (cp. 17, 3).

3. Both the Maitrāyaṇī and the Kāthaka Saṃhitās agree in marking the Udātta with a vertical stroke above (like the Svarita in the RV.), thereby seeming to indicate that here the Udātta rose to the highest pitch; e.g. agninā. But they differ in their method of marking the Svarita. The Maitrāyaṇī indicates the independent Svarita by a curve below; e.g. vīryam = vīryām; but the dependent Svarita by a horizontal stroke crossing the middle of the syllable or by three vertical strokes above it; while the Kāthaka marks the independent Svarita by a curve below only if an unaccented syllable follows, but by a hook below if the following syllable is accented; e.g. vīryam = vīryām badhnāti; vīryam = vīryām vyácaṣṭe; the dependent Svarita has a dot below the accented syllable.³ The Anudātta is marked in both these Saṃhitās with a horizontal stroke below (as in the RV.).⁴

4. In the Sāmaveda the figures 1, 2, 3 are written above the accented syllable to mark the Udātta, the Svarita, and

² As in kvā = kūā, vīryām = vīriām.

³ In L. v. Schroeder's editions of these two Saṃhitās the Udātta and the independent Svarita only are marked.

the Anudātta respectively as representing three degrees of pitch; e. g. ³ ¹ ² barhiṣi = barhiṣi (barhiṣi). The figure 2 is, however, also used to indicate the Udātta when there is no following Svarita; e. g. ³ ² girā = girā (girā). When there are two successive Udāttas, the second is not marked, but the following Svarita has 2r written above; e. g. ³ ¹ ^{2r} dviṣo martyasya (dviṣo mártasya). The independent Svarita is also marked with 2r, the preceding Anudātta being indicated by 3k; e. g. ^{3k} ^{2r} tanvā = tanvā.

5. The Śatapatha Brahmana marks the Udātta only. It does so by means of a horizontal stroke below (like the Anudātta of the RV.); e. g. puruṣaḥ = puruṣaḥ. Of two or more successive Udāttas only the last is marked; e. g. agnir hi vai dhūr aṭha = agnir hí vái dhūr átha. An independent Svarita is thrown back on the preceding syllable in the form of an Udātta; e. g. manuṣyeṣu = manuṣyeṣu for manuṣyeṣu. The Svarita produced by change to a semivowel, by contraction, or the elision of initial a is similarly treated; e. g. evaitad = évaitád for evaitád (= evá etád).

6. Accent of single words. Every Vedic word is, as a rule, accented and has one main accent only. In the original text of the RV. the only main accent was the Udātta which, as Comparative Philology shows, generally rests on the same syllable as it did in the Indo-European period; e. g. ta-tá-s stretched, Gk. τα-ρό-s; jānu n. knee, Gk. γόνυ; á-drś-at, Gk. ἔ-δρακ-ε; bhára-ta, Gk. φέρε-τε.¹ But in the written text of the RV. the Svarita appears to be the main accent in some words. It then always follows a y or v which represents original i or u with Udātta; e. g. rathyām

= *rathíam*¹; *svàr*² = súar n. light; tanvàm = tanúàm.³ Here the original vowel with its Udatta must be restored in pronunciation except in a very few late passages.

7. Double Accent. One form of dative infinitive and two types of syntactical compounds have a double accent. The infinitive in tavai, of which numerous examples occur both in the Samhitās and the Brāhmaṇas, accents both the first and the last syllable; e. g. é-tavái to go; ápa-bhar-tavái to take away. Compounds both members of which are duals in form (186 A 1), or in which the first member has a genitive ending (187 A 6 a), accent both members; e. g. mitrá-váruṇā Mitra and Varuṇa; bṛhas-páti lord of prayer. In B. a double accent also appears in the particle vává.

8. Lack of Accent. Some words never have an accent; others lose it under certain conditions.

A. Always enclitic are:

a. all cases of the pronouns ena he, she, it, tva another, sama some; and the following forms of the personal pronouns of the first and second persons: mā, tvā; me, te; nau, vām; nas, vas (109 a), and of the demonstrative stems i and sa: īm (111 n. 3) and sīm (180).

b. The particles ca and, u also, vā or, iva like, gha, ha just, cid at all, bhala indeed, samaha somehow, sma just, indeed, svid probably.

B. Liable to loss of accent according to syntactical position are:

a. vocatives, unless beginning the sentence or Pāda.

b. finite verbs in principal clauses, unless beginning the sentence or Pāda.

c. oblique cases of the pronoun a, if unemphatic (replacing a preceding substantive) and not beginning the sentence or Pāda; e. g. asya jánimāni his (Agni's) births (but asyá uśásaḥ of that dawn).

² In the TS. always written súar.

³ Acc. of tanú body.

d. yáthā as almost invariably when, in the sense of iva like, it occurs at the end of a Pāda ; e.g. tāyávo yathā like thieves ; kám indeed always when following nú, sú, hí.

1. Accentuation of Nominal Stems.

9. The most important points to be noted here are the following:—

A. Primary Suffixes :

a. Stems in as accent the root if neut. action nouns, but the suffix if masc. agent nouns ; e.g. áp-as n. work, but ap-ás active. The same substantive here, without change of meaning, sometimes varies the accent with the gender ; e.g. rákṣ-as n., rakṣ-ás m. demon.

b. Stems formed with the superlative suffix iṣṭha accent the root ; e.g. yájiṣṭha sacrificing best. The only exceptions are jyeṣṭhá eldest (but jyēṣṭha greatest) and kaṇiṣṭhá youngest (but kāniṣṭha smallest).¹ When the stem is compounded with a preposition, the latter is accented ; e.g. á-gamiṣṭha coming best.

c. Stems formed with the comparative suffix īyāms invariably accent the root ; e.g. jáv-īyāms swifter. When the stem is compounded with a preposition, the latter is accented ; e.g. práti-cyavīyāms pressing closer against.

d. Stems formed with tar generally accent the root when the meaning is participial, but the suffix when it is purely nominal ; e.g. dā-tar giving (with acc.), but dā-tár giver.

e. Stems in man when (neut.) action nouns, accent the root, but when (masc.) agent nouns the suffix ; e.g. kár-man n. action, but dar-mán, m. breaker. The same substantive here varies, in several instances, in accent with the meaning and gender (cp. above, 9 A a) ; e.g. bráhman n. prayer, brahmán m. one who prays ; sád-man, n. seat, sad-mán, m. sitter. When these stems are compounded with prepositions, the latter are nearly always accented; e. g. prá-bharman, n. presentation.

¹ These two exceptions arise simply from the desire to distinguish the two meanings of each of them. See below (16, footnote 2).

B. Secondary Suffixes:

a. Stems in in always accent the suffix; e. g. aśv-in possessing horses.

b. Stems in tama, if superlatives, hardly ever accent the suffix (except puru-táma very many, ut-tamá highest, śaśvat-tamá most frequent), but if ordinals, the final syllable of the suffix; e. g. śata-tamá hundredth.

c. Stems in ma, whether superlatives or ordinals, regularly accent the suffix; e. g. adha-má lowest; aṣṭa-má eighth: except ánta-ma next (but twice anta-má).

2. Accentuation of Compounds.

10. Stated generally, the rule is that iteratives, possessives, and governing compounds accent the first member, while determinatives (Karmadhārayas and Tatpuruṣas), and regularly formed co-ordinatives accent the last member (usually on its final syllable). Simple words on becoming members of compounds generally retain their original accent. Some, however, always change it: thus vísva regularly becomes viśvá; others do so in certain combinations only: thus pūrva prior becomes pūrvá in pūrvá-citti f. first thought, pūrvá-pīti f. first draught, pūrvá-hūti first invocation; médha sacrifice shifts its accent in medhá-pati lord of sacrifice and medhá-sāti f. reception of the sacrifice, and vīrá hero in puru-víra possessed of many men and su-víra heroic. An adjective compound may shift its accent from one member to another on becoming a substantive or a proper name; e. g. sú-kṛta well done, but su-kṛtá, n. good deed; á-rāya niggardly, but a-rāya n. name of a demon.

a. Iteratives accent the first member only, the two words being separated by Avagraha in the Pada text, like the members of other compounds; e. g. áhar-ahar day after day; yád-yad whatever; yáthā-yathā as in each case; adyá-adya, śvāḥ-śvāḥ on each to-day, on each to-morrow; prá-pra forth and again; píba-piba drink again and again.

b. In governing compounds the first member, when it is a verbal noun (except śikṣā-narā helping men) is invariably accented; e. g. trasā-dasyu terrifying foes, name of a man; present or aorist participles place the accent, wherever it may have been originally, on their final syllable; e. g. tarād-dveṣas overcoming (tārat) foes. When the first member is a preposition, either that word is accented, or the final syllable of the compound if it ends in a; e. g. abhí-dyu directed to heaven, but adhas-pad-á under the feet; anu-kāmá according to wish (kāma).

c. Bahuvrīhis normally accent their first member; e. g. rāja-putra having kings as sons (but rāja-putrá son of a king); viśváto-mukha facing in all directions; sahá-vatsa accompanied by her calf.

a. But about one-eighth of all Bahuvrīhis accent the second member (chiefly on the final syllable). This is commonly the case when the first member is a dissyllabic adjective ending in i or u, invariably in the RV. when it is purú or bahú much; e. g. tuvi-dyumná having great glory; vibhu-krátu having great strength; puru-putrá having many sons; bahv-anná having much food.¹ This also is the regular accentuation when the first member is dvi two, tri three, dus ill, su well, or the privative particle a or an; ² e. g. dvi-pád two-footed, tri-nábhi. having three naves, dur-mánman ill-disposed, su-bhága well-endowed, a-dánt toothless, a-phalá lacking fruit (phála).

d. Determinatives accent the final member (chiefly on the final syllable).

1. Ordinary Karmadhārayas accent the final syllable; e. g. prathama-já first-born, prātar-yúj early yoked, mahā-dhaná great spoil. But when the second member ends in i, man, van, or is a gerundive (used as a n. substantive), the penultimate syllable is accented; e. g. dur-gṛbhi hard to hold; su-tárman crossing well; raghu-pátvan swift-flying; pūrva-péya, n. precedence in drinking.

¹ The later Saṃhitās tend to follow the general rule; e. g. purú-nāman (SV.) many-named.

² Bahuvrīhis formed with a or an are almost invariably accented on the final syllable as a distinction from Karmadhārayas (which normally accent the first syllable, as á-manuṣa inhuman); e. g. a-mātrá measureless.

a. The first member is, however, accented under the following conditions. It is generally accented when it is an adverbial word qualifying a past participle in ta or na or a verbal noun in ti; e.g. đúr-hita faring ill; sadhá-stuti joint praise. It is almost invariably accented when it is the privative particle a or *an*¹ compounded with a participle, adjective, or substantive; e.g. án-adant not eating, á-vidvāms not knowing, á-kṛta not done, á-tandra unwearied, á-kumāra not a child. The privative particle is also regularly accented, when it negatives a compound; e.g. án-aśva-dā not giving a horse, án-agni-dagdha not burnt with fire.

2. Ordinary Tatpuruṣas accent the final syllable; e.g. gotra-bhíd opening the cow-pens, agnim-indhá fire-kindling, bhadra-vādin uttering auspicious cries; uda-meghá shower of water. But when the second member is an agent noun in ana, an action noun in ya, or an adjective in i, or van, the radical syllable of that member is accented; e.g. deva-mádana exhilarating the gods; ahi-hátya n. slaughter of the dragon; pathi-rákṣi protecting the road; soma-pāvan Soma-drinking.

a. The first member is, however, accented when it is dependent on past passive participles in ta and na or on action nouns in ti; e.g. devá-hita ordained by the gods, dhána-sāti acquisition of wealth. It is usually also accented, if dependent on pāti lord; e.g. grhá-pati lord of the house. Some of these compounds with pāti accent the second member with its original accent; some others in the later Samhitās, conforming to the general rule, accent it on the final syllable; thus apsarā-patí (AV.) lord of the Apsaras-s, ahar-patí (MS.) lord of day, nadī-patí (VS.) lord of rivers.

β. A certain number of Tatpuruṣas of syntactical origin, having a genitive case-ending in the first member nearly always followed by pāti, are doubly accented; e.g. bṛhas-pāti lord of prayer. Other are apām-nápāt son of waters, nārā-śāmsa (for nārām-śāmsa) praise of men, śúnaḥ-śépa Dog's tail, name of a man. The analogy of these is followed by some Tatpuruṣas without case-ending in the first member: śáci-pāti lord of might; tánū-nápāt son of himself (tanū); nṛ-śāmsa praise of men.

c. Regularly formed Dvandvas (186 A 2. 3) accent the final syllable of the stem irrespective of the original accent of the last member ; e. g. ajāváyah m. pl. goats and sheep ; aho-rātrāṇi days and nights ; iṣṭā-pūrtām n. what is sacrificed and presented.

a. The very rare adverbial Dvandvas accent the first member : *āhar-divi*¹ day by day, sāyām-prātar evening and morning.

β. Co-ordinatives consisting of the names of two deities, each dual in form (Devatā-dvandvas), accent both members ; e. g. indrā-vāruṇā Indra and Varuṇa ; sūryā-māsā Sun and Moon. A few others, formed of words that are not the names of deities, are similarly accented ; e. g. turvāśā-yādū Turvaśa and Yadu ; mātārā-pitārā mother and father.²

3. Accent in Declension.

11. a. The vocative, when accented at all (18), invariably has the acute on the first syllable ; e. g. pītar (N. pitá), déva (N. devá-s). The regular vocative of dyú (dyáv) is dyāus. i. e. díaus (which irregularly retains the s of the nom. : cp. Gk. Ζεῦ), but the accent of the N., dyáus, usually appears instead.

b. In the a and ā declensions the accent remains on the same syllable throughout (except the vocative) ; e. g. devá-s, devá-sya, devá-nām. This rule includes monosyllabic stems, pronouns, the numeral dvá, and radical ā stems ; e. g. from má : máyā, má-hyam, máy-i ; from tá : tá-sya, té-śām, tá-bhis ; from dvá : dvā-bhyām, dváyos ; from já m. f. offspring : jā-bhyām, jā-bhis, jā-bhyas, jā-su.

a. The cardinal stems in a, pañca, náva, dása (and its compounds) shift the accent to the vowel before the endings bhis, bhyas, su, and to the gen. ending nām ; aṣṭá shifts it to all the endings and saptá to the gen. ending ; e. g. pañcā-bhis, pañcā-nām ; saptá-bhis, saptā-nām ; aṣṭā-bhis, aṣṭā-bhyás, aṣṭā-nám.

¹ This is perhaps rather an irregular iterative in which the first member is repeated by a synonym.

² Occasionally these compounds become assimilated to the normal type by losing the accent and even the inflexion of the first member ; e. g. indrāgní Indra and Agni, indra-vāyú Indra and Vāyu.

β. The pronoun a this, though sometimes conforming to this rule (e. g. á-smai, á-sya, á-bhis), is usually treated like monosyllables not ending in a; e. g. a-syá, e-sām, ā-sām.

c. When the final syllable of the stem is accented, the acute is liable to shift (except in the a declension) to the endings in the weak cases.

1. In monosyllabic stems (except those ending in a) this is the rule;¹ e. g. dhī f. thought: dhiy-ā, dhī-bhis, dhī-nām; bhū f. earth: bhuv-ās, bhuv-ós; nāu f. ship: nāv-ā, nau-bhis, nau-śu (Gk. vav-σί); dānt, m. tooth: dat-ā, dad-bhis.¹

There are about a dozen exceptions to this rule: gó cow, dyó sky; nṛ man, stṛ star; kṣām earth; tán succession, rán joy, ván wood; ví m. bird; víp rod; svár light; e. g. gāv-ā, gāv-ām, gó-bhis; dyāv-i, dyū-bhis; nár-e, nṛ-bhis, nṛ-śu (but nar-ām and nṛ-nām); stṛ-bhis; kṣām-i; tán-ā (also tan-ā); rāṇ-e, rām-su; vām-su (but van-ām); ví-bhis, ví-bhyas (but vī-nām); G. víp-as; sūr-as (but sūr-é); also the dative infinitives bádḥ-e to press and vāḥ-e to convey. The irregular accentuation of a few other monosyllabic stems is due to their being reduced forms of dissyllables; these are drú wood (dāru), snú summit (sānu), śván dog (Gk. κίων), yūn (weak stem of yuvan young); e. g. drú-ṇa; snú-śu; śúnā, śvá-bhis; yūn-ā.

2. When the final accented syllable loses its vowel either by syncope or change to a semivowel, the acute is thrown forward on a vowel ending; e. g. from mahimán greatness: mahimná; agní fire: agny-ós; dhenú cow: dhenv-ā; vadhū bride: vadhv-ái (AV.); pitṛ father: pitr-ā.

a. Polysyllabic stems in i, ú, ṛ and, in the RV., usually those in í, throw the acute on the ending of the gen. pl. also, even though the final vowel of the stem here retains its syllabic character; e. g. agnī-nām, dhenū-nām, dātṛ-ṇām, bahvī-nām (cp. 11 b a).

3. Present participles in át and ánt throw the acute forward on vowel endings in the weak cases; e. g. tud-ánt striking: tudat-ā (but tudád-bhis). This rule is also followed by the old participles mahánt great and brhánt lofty; e. g. mahat-á (but mahád-bhis).

4. In the RV. derivatives formed with accented -añc throw the acute forward on vowel endings in the weak cases when the final syllable contracts to īc or ūc; e. g. praty-añc turned towards: pratic-á (but pratyák-ṣu); anv-añc following: anūc-ás; but prāñc forward: prác-i.¹

4. Verbal Accent.

12. a. The augment invariably bears the acute, if the verb is accented at all (19); e. g. impf. á-bhavat; aor. á-bhūt; plup. á-jagan; cond. á-bhariṣyat. The accentuation of the forms in which the augment is dropped (used also as injunctives) is as follows. The imperfect accents the same syllable as the present; e. g. bhārat: bhāрати; bhinát: bhinátti. The pluperfect accents the root; e. g. cākán (3. s.); namámas, tastámbhat; tatánanta; but in the 3. pl. also occur cakṛpánta, dádhrṣanta.

The aorist is variously treated. The s and the iṣ forms accent the root; e. g. vám-s-i (van win); śám-s-iṣ-am. The root aorist (including the passive form) accents the radical vowel in the sing. active, but the endings elsewhere; e. g. 3. s. várk ($\sqrt{\text{vrj}}$); pass. véd-i; 2. s. mid. nut-thás. The aorists formed with *-a*² or -sa accent those syllables; e. g. ruhám, vidát; budhánta; dhuk-śa-nta. The reduplicated aorist accents either the reduplicated syllable; e. g. nínaśas, pīparat, jījanan; or the root, as pīpárat, śíśnáthat.

b. Present System. The accent in the a conjugation (as in the a declension) remains on the same syllable throughout: on the radical syllable in verbs of the first and fourth classes, on the affix in the sixth (125); e. g. bhávati; náhyati; tudáti.

² In the a aorist several forms are found accenting the root; e. g. áranta, sádatam, sánat.

The graded conjugation accents the stem in the strong forms (126), but the endings in the weak forms. In the strong forms the radical syllable is accented in the second¹ and the reduplicative syllable in the third class;² and the stem affix in the fifth, eighth, seventh, and ninth classes; e. g. ás-ti, ás-a-t, ás-tu; bíbhar-ti; kṛ-ṇó-ti, kṛ-ṇáv-a-t; man-áv-a-te; yu-ná-j-mi, yu-náj-a-t; gr̥h-ṇá-ti, gr̥bh-ṇá-s (2. s. sub.); but ad-dhí, ad-yúr; bi-bhr̥-mási;³ kṛ-ṇv-é, kṛ-ṇu-hí; van-u-yáma, van-v-ántu;⁴ yuñk-té, yuñk-ṣvá; gr̥-ṇī-mási, gr̥-ṇī-hí.

c. Perfect. The strong forms (the sing. 1. 2. 3. ind. and 3. impv. act. and the whole subjunctive) accent the radical syllable, the weak forms (cp. 140) the endings; e. g. cakára; jabhár-a-t, vavárt-a-ti; mumók-tu; but cakr-úr, cakṛ-máhe; vavṛt-yám; mu-mug-dhí. The participle accents the suffix; e. g. cakṛ-vāms, cakr-āṇá.

d. Aorist. The injunctive is identical in accentuation (as well as form) with the unaugmented indicative (see above, 12).

a. The root aor. accents the radical syllable in the subjunctive; e. g. kár-a-t, śráv-a-tas, gám-a-nti. bháj-a-te; but the endings in the opt. and impv. (except the 3. s. act.)⁵ and the suffix in the participle;⁶ e. g. aś-yám, aś-ī-máhi: kṛ-dhí, ga-tám, bhū-tá but 3. s. sró-tu), kṛ-ṣvá; bhid-ánt, budh-āná.

Occasionally the 2. s. impv. mid. accents the root in other verbs also; e. g. yák-ṣva (✓yaj).

² Four verbs, ci note, mad exhilarate, yu separate, hu sacrifice, accent the radical syllable; e. g. juhó-ti. A few other verbs do so in isolated forms; e. g. bíbhár-ti (usually bíbhar-ti).

³ In the third class the reduplicative syllable is accented in the weak forms also if the ending begins with a vowel; e. g. bí-bhr-ati.

⁴ In the second, fifth, seventh, eighth, and ninth classes the final syllable of the 3. pl. mid. is irregularly accented in riháté (beside riháte); kṛṇv-até, vṛṇv-até, spr̥ṇv-até, tanv-até, manv-até; bhuñj-até (beside bhuñj-áte); pun-até, ṛiṇ-até.

⁵ The radical syllable (in its strong form) is also in several instances accented in the 2. pl. act.: e. g. kár-ta beside kṛ-tá; gán-ta, gán-tana beside ga-tá, &c.

⁶ In the mid. part. the root is, in several instances, accented; e. g. dyút-āna.

β. The s and iṣ aor. accent the root in the subjunctive but the endings in the opt. and impv.; e.g. yāk-ṣ-a-t (√yaj), bódh-iṣ-a-t; but bhak-ṣ-iyá (√bhaj), dhuk-ṣ-i-máhi (√duh), edh-iṣ-i-yá (AV.); avid-ḍhi, aviṣ-tám.¹ The s aor. accents the root in the act. part., but nearly always the suffix in the irregularly formed middle; ² e.g. dák-ṣ-ant (√dah), arca-s-āná.

γ. The a aorist accents the thematic vowel throughout the moods (as in the unaugmented indicative) and the part.; e.g. vidát; vidéyam; ruhá-tam; trpánt, guhá-māna.³

δ. The sa aor. accents the suffix in the impv.: dhak-ṣá-sva (√dah). The same accentuation would no doubt appear in the subjunctive and optative, but no examples of those moods (nor of the part.) occur.

ε. In the reduplicated aor. the treatment of the subj. and opt. is uncertain because no normally formed accented example occurs; but in the impv. the ending is accented; e.g. jigr-tám, didhr-tá.⁴

e. Future. The accent in all forms of this tense remains on the suffix syá or i-ṣyá; e.g. e-ṣyámi; kar-i-ṣyáti; kariṣyánt.

f. Secondary conjugations. As all these (except the primary intensive) belong to the a conjugation, they accent the same syllable throughout. The causative (168) accents the penultimate syllable of the stem, as krodh-áya-ti enrages; the passive, the secondary intensive (172), and the denominative (175), accent the suffix yá; e.g. pan-yá-te is admired; rerih-yá-te licks repeatedly; gopā-yá-nti they protect.⁵ The desiderative (169) accents the reduplicative syllable; e.g. pí-pri-ṣa-ti desires to please. The primary intensive agrees with the third conjugational class in accenting the reduplicative syllable in the strong forms, but the endings with initial consonant in the weak forms of the indic. act.; e.g. jó-havī-ti, jar-bhr-tás, but 3. pl. várvrt-ati; in the mid. ind. the reduplicative syllable is more frequently accented

² Neither the iṣ nor the sa aor. forms participles.

³ But the root is accented, in several imperatives and participles, e.g. sána, sádatam, khyáta; sádant, dásamāna.

⁴ No participial form occurs in this aor.

⁵ A certain number of unmistakable denominatives, however, have the causative accent; e.g. mantrá-yati takes counsel (mántra).

than not ; e. g. té-tik-te, less often ne-nik-té. In the subj. and part. the reduplicative syllable is regularly accented ; e. g. ján-ghan-a-t, ján-ghan-a-nta ; cékit-at, cékit-āna. The accentuation of the imperative¹ was probably the same as that of the present reduplicating class (12 b) ; but the only accented forms occurring are in the 2. s. act., as jāgr-hí, carkṛ-tāt.

5. Accent of Nominal Verb Forms.

13. a. Tense Participles when compounded with one or more prepositions retain their original accent (while the prepositions lose theirs) ; e. g. apa-gáčant going away, vi-pra-yántaḥ advancing, pary-ā-vivṛtsan wishing to turn round ; apa-gácha-māna ; apa-jaganváms, apa-jagm-āná.

a. A single preposition, or the first of two, not infrequently becomes separated by the interposition of one or more words or by being placed after the participle. It is then treated as independent and recovers its accent ; e. g. ápa dṛḷhāni dādrat bursting strongholds asunder ; ā ca párá ca pathíbhīś cārantam wandering hither and thither on his paths ; mādhu bíbhṛata úpa bringing sweetness near ; prá vayám uj-jíhānāḥ flying up to a branch ; avasṛjān úpa bestowing. Occasionally an immediately preceding preposition is not compounded with the participle and is then also accented ; e. g. abhí dákṣat burning around ; ví vidvān² discriminating ; abhí ā-cārantāḥ approaching.

b. On the other hand, the past passive participle,³ when compounded with one or more prepositions, generally loses its accent ; e. g. ní-hita deposited.⁴ When there are two prepositions the first remains unaccented ; e. g. sam-ā-kṛtam accumulated ; or the first may be separated and independently accented ; e. g. prá yát samudrá āhitaḥ when dispatched forth to the ocean.

³ Which itself is always accented on the final syllable ; e. g. ga-tá, pati-tá, chin-ná.

⁴ In several instances, however, it retains its accent ; e. g. niṣ-kṛtá prepared. This is the case with prepositions that are not used independently.

c. Gerundives in ya (or tya) and tva accent the root; e. g. cákṣ-ya to be seen, śrú-t-ya to be heard, carkṛ-tya to be praised, vák-tva to be said; those in āyya, enya, aniya accent the penultimate of the suffix; e. g. pan-āyya to be admired, ikṣ-enya worthy to be seen, upa-jīv-aniya (AV.) to be subsisted on; while those in tavya accent the final syllable: jan-i-tavyā (AV.) to be born. When compounded with prepositions (here always inseparable) gerundives nearly always retain the accent of the simple form; e. g. pari-cákṣ-ya to be despised; abhy-ā-yamsénya to be drawn near; ā-mantraṇiya (AV.) to be addressed.

14. Infinitives are as a rule accented like ordinary cases that would be formed from the same stem.

a. Dative infinitives from stems in i, ti, as, van accent the suffix; those in dhyai, the preceding thematic a; and those formed from the root, the ending; e. g. drśáy-e to see, pītáy-e to drink, *carás-e*¹ to move, *dā-ván-e*² to give, *tur-ván-e*³ to overcome; *iy-á-dhyai*⁴ to go; drś-é to see.

a. When radical infinitives are compounded with prepositions the root is accented; e. g. sam-idh-e to kindle, *abhi-pra-cákṣ-e*⁵ to see.

b. The dative infinitive from stems in man, the accusative and the abl. gen. from roots, and all from stems in tu accent the root; e. g. dā-man-e to give;⁶ śúbh-am to shine, ā-sád-am to sit down; áva-pád-as to fall down; dā-tum to give, gán-tos to go, bhár-tav-e to bear, *gán-tav-ái*⁷ to go.

a. When compounded, infinitives from tu stems accent the preposition;⁸ e. g. sám-kar-tum to collect; ní-dhā-tos to put down; ápi-dhā-

¹ In these the root is sometimes accented, as cákṣ-as-e to see.

² This infinitive also appears with independently accented prepositions; prá dāváne and abhí prá dāváne.

³ The root is once accented in dhúr-vane to injure.

⁴ In these the root is sometimes accented; e. g. gáma-dhyai.

⁵ The regular accentuation of monosyllabic stems when compounded: cp. 11 c, 1.

⁶ But vid-mán-e to know.

⁷ With a secondary accent on the final syllable: cp. above, 7.

⁸ But when the preposition is detached the infinitive retains its accent; e. g. prá dāsúṣe dātave to present to the worshipper.

tav-e to cover up; ápa-bhar-tavái ¹ to be taken away. When there are two prepositions the first may be separate and independently accented; e. g. ánu prá-volhum to advance along, ví prá-sartave to spread.

15. Gerunds formed with tvī, tvā, tvāya accent the suffix, but when they are compounded with prepositions (here always inseparable) and formed with yā or tyā, they accent the root; e. g. bhū-tvā having become, ga-tvī and ga-tvāya having gone; sam-gr̥bh-yā having gathered, upa-śrú-tya (AV.) having overcome.

16. Case forms used as adverbs frequently shift their accent to indicate clearly a change of meaning.² The accusative neuter form is here the commonest; e. g. dravát quickly, but drávat running; aparám later, but áparam as n. adj.; uttarám higher, but úttaram as n. adj.; adverbs in vát e. g. pratna-vát as of old, but the acc. n. of adjectives in vant do not accent the suffix. Examples of other cases are: dív-ā by day, but div-ā through heaven; aparāya for the future, but áparāya to the later; sanāt from of old, but sánāt from the old.

6. Sandhi Accent.

17. 1. When two vowels combine so as to form a long vowel or diphthong, the latter receives the Udātta, if either or both the original vowels had it; e. g. āgāt = ā agāt; nudasvātha = nudasva átha; kvét = kvā it; ³ nāntarah = ná ántarah.

a. But the contraction of í í is accented as ï,⁴ the enclitic Svarita (íí) having here ousted the preceding Udātta; e. g. divíva ⁵ = divíiva.⁶

¹ Retaining the secondary accent on the final syllable.

² Such a shift is found in nouns to indicate either a simple change of meaning, e. g. jyéṣṭha greatest, but jyeṣṭhá eldest; or a change of category also, e. g. gómatī rich in cows, but gomatī name of a river; rājaputrā son of a king, but rājaputra having sons as kings.

³ But when a Svarita on a final vowel is followed by an unaccented initial vowel, it of course remains, e. g. kvēyatha = kvā iyatha.

⁴ In the RV. and AV., but not in the Taittiriya texts, which follow the general rule.

⁵ RV. and AV., but divíva in the Taittiriya texts.

⁶ This is the praśliṣṭa or contracted Svarita of the Prātisākhya.

2. When ĩ and ũ with Udatta are changed to y and v, a following unaccented vowel receives the Svarita;¹ e. g. vy ānaṭ = ví ānaṭ. Here the Svarita assumes the appearance of an independent accent; but the uncontracted form with the Udatta must almost invariably be pronounced in the RV.

3. When accented á is elided it throws back its Udatta on unaccented e or o; e. g. sūnávė ṣgne = sūnávė ágne; vó ṣvasaḥ = vo ávasaḥ. But when unaccented a is elided, it changes a preceding Udatta to Svarita;² e. g. sò ṣdhamáḥ = só adhamáḥ.³

7. Sentence Accent.

18. The vocative, whether it be a single word or a compound expression, can be accented on its first syllable only.

a. It retains its accent only at the beginning of a sentence or Pāda,⁴ that is, when having the full force of the case it occupies the most emphatic position; e. g. ágne, sūpāyanó bhava O Agni, be easy of access; *úrjo napāt sahasāvan*⁵ O mighty son of strength. This rule also applies to doubly accented dual compounds; e. g. *mítrā-varuṇā*⁶ O Mitra and Varuṇa. Two or more vocatives at the beginning of a sentence are all accented; e. g. ádite, mítra, váruṇa O Aditi, O Mitra, O Varuṇa. Two accented vocatives are sometimes applicable to the same person; e. g. úrjo napād,

³ Here the Svarita (ó à) has ousted the preceding Udatta.

⁴ This applies to the second as well as the first Pāda of a hemistich, indicating that both originally had a mutually independent character, which is obscured by the strict application of Sandhi and the absence of any break in marking the accent, at the internal junction of the Pādas of a hemistich.

⁵ The corresponding nom. would be úrjó nāpāt sáhasāvā.

⁶ The nom. is mítrā-váruṇā.

bhádraśociṣe O son of strength, O propitiously bright one (both addressed to Agni).¹

b. When it does not begin the sentence or Pāda, the vocative, being unemphatic, loses its accent ; e. g. *úpa tvā agne divé-dive | dōṣāvastar*² *dhiyá vayám námo bháranta émasi to thee, O Agni, day by day, O illuminer of darkness, bringing homage with prayer we come ; á rājānā maha ṛtasya gopā*³ *hither (come), O ye two sovereign guardians of great order ; ṛténa mitrā-varuṇāv | ṛtāvṛdhāv ṛtasprśā | through Law, O law-loving, law-cherishing Mitra and Varuṇa ;*⁴ *yád indra brahmaṇaspate*⁵ | abhidrohám cárāmasi | if, O Indra, O Brahmanaspati, we commit an offence.

19. The verb is differently accented according to the nature of the sentence.

A. The finite verb in a principal sentence is unaccented ; e. g. agním ile puróhitam I praise Agni the domestic priest.

This general rule is subject to the following restrictions :

a. A sentence being regarded as capable of having only one verb, all other verbs syntactically connected with the subject of the first are accented as beginning new sentences ;⁶ e. g. téṣāṃ pāhi, śrudhí hávam drink of them, hear our call ; tarāṇir ij jayati, kṣéti, púṣyati the energetic man conquers, rules, thrives ; jahí prajām náyasva ca slay the progeny and bring (it) hither.

b. The verb is accented if it begins the sentence or if,

¹ Here the second voc. is accented as in apposition, whereas if it were used attributively it would be unaccented as in hótar yaviṣṭha sukrato O youngest wise priest.

² Accented because the first word of the Pāda.

³ This might represent two vocatives addressed to the same persons ; their accented form would then be : rājānā, máha ṛtasya gopā.

⁴ Here the rule that the whole of the compound voc. must be unaccented overrides the rule that the first word of the Pāda must be accented, i. e. here ṛtāvṛdhāv.

⁵ An example of two independent unaccented vocatives.

⁶ A subject or object coming between two such verbs is generally counted to the first.

though not beginning the sentence, it coincides with the beginning of a Pāda ; e.g. śáye vavríś, cárati jihváyādán | rerihyáte yuvatim viśpátih sán the covering lies (there) ; he (Agni) moves eating with his tongue ; he kisses the maiden, being the lord of the house ; áthā te ántamānām | vidyāma sumatīnām then may we experience thy highest favours.

c. Vocatives being treated as extraneous to a sentence, a verb immediately following an initial one, becomes the first word of the sentence and is accordingly accented ; e. g. ágne, juśásva no haviḥ O Agni, enjoy our sacrifice. Thus the sentence índra, jíva ; sūrya, jíva ; dévā, jívata O Indra, live ; O Sūrya, live ; O gods, live contains three accented verbs as beginning three sentences, while the three preceding vocatives are accented as being at the head of those sentences, though syntactically outside them.

d. Sometimes the verb when emphatic, though not beginning the sentence, is accented if followed by the particles íd or caná ; e.g. ádha smā no maghavañ carkṛtād it then be mindful of us, bountiful one ; ná devā bhasáthaś caná (him) O gods, ye two never consume.

B. The verb of a subordinate clause (introduced by the relative yá and its derivatives, or containing the particles ca and céd if ; néd lest, hí for, kuvíd whether) is always accented ; e.g. yám yajñām paribhūr ási what offering thou protectest ; grhān gacha grhapátnī yáthā ásaḥ go to the house that thou mayest be the lady of the house ; índraś ca mṛláyāti no, ná naḥ paścād aghām naśat if Indra be gracious to us, no evil will hereafter reach us ; tvám hí baladā ási for thou art a giver of strength. The relative may govern two verbs ; e.g. yénā sūrya jyótiṣā bádhasse támō, jágac ca víśvam udiyárṣi bhānúnā the light with which thou, O Sun, drivest away the darkness and arousest all the world with thy beam.

The rule is subject to the extension that principal clauses in form may be accented as subordinate in sense under the following conditions :

a. The first of two clauses, if equivalent to one introduced by 'if' or 'when' is occasionally accented; e.g. sám áśvaparnāś cáranti no náro, asmákam indra rathino jayantu when our men winged with steeds come together, may our car-fighters, Indra, win victory.

β. The first of two antithetical clauses is frequently accented,¹ especially when the antithesis is clearly indicated by corresponding words like anyá-anyá, éka-éka, ca-ca, vā-vā; e.g. prá-pra anyé yánti, páry anyá āsate while some go on, others sit down; sám ca idhāsva agne, prá ca bodhayaenam both be kindled, Agni, and waken this man's knowledge. When the verb of two such clauses is the same, it usually appears (accented) in the first only; e.g. dvipāc ca sárvaṃ no rákṣa. cátuṣpād yác ca naḥ svám protect both every biped of ours and whatever quadruped is our own.

γ. The verb of the second clause is accented if it is a 1. pers. subjunctive or 2. pers. imperative² with a final meaning, and the verb of the first clause is a 2. pers. impv. of á+i, gam, or yā go; e.g. éta, dhíyaṃ kṛnávāma come, we will offer prayer; túyam á gahi, káṇveṣu sú sácā píba come quickly, beside the Kaṇvas drink thy fill. In B. the verb of the first clause is an impv. of either á-i or prá-i; e.g. éhi idám pátava (ŚB.) come, we will now fly thither; préta tát eṣyámo yátra inám ásurā vibhájante come, we will go thither where the Asuras are deciding 'his earth' (ŚB.). The second verb is, however, in similar passages not infrequently left unaccented in B.

Verbal Prepositions.

20. A. In principal clauses the preposition, which is detached and usually precedes but sometimes follows the verb, is accented; e.g. á gamat may he come; gávām ápa vrajám vṛdhi unclose the stable of the kine; jáyema sám yudhí spṛdhaḥ we would conquer our adversaries in fight; gámad vájebhir á sá naḥ may he come to us with booty.

a. When there are two prepositions, both are independent and accented: e.g. úpa prá yāhi come forth; pári spáśo ní ṣedire the spies have sat down around; ágne ví paśya bṛhatá abhí rāyā O Agni, look forth towards (us) with ample wealth.

¹ This accentuation is more strictly applied in B. than in V., and among the Saṃhitās least strictly in the RV.

² In B. the accented verb is either a subjunctive or a future.

a. When á is immediately preceded by another preposition (not ending in i) it alone is accented, both prepositions being compounded with the verb ; e. g. sam-á-kṛṇoṣi jīvāse thou fittest (them) to live ; but práty á tanuṣva draw (thy bow) against (them).

B. In subordinate clauses the exact reverse takes place, the preposition being generally compounded and unaccented ; e. g. yád . . niśidathaḥ when ye two sit down. It is, however, often separated by other words from the verb, when it commonly commences the Pāda, or much less frequently follows the verb ; e. g. ví yó mamé rájasī who measured out the two expanses ; yás tastāmbha sáhasā ví jmó ántān who with might propped earth's ends asunder. Occasionally the preposition is detached and accented even immediately before the verb ; e. g. yá áhutiṃ pári véda námobhiḥ who fully knows the offering with devotion.

a. When there are two prepositions, either both are compounded and unaccented or the first only is detached and accented ; e. g. yūyám hí devīḥ pari-pra-yāthá for ye, O goddesses, proceed around ; yātra abhi sam-návāmahe where we to (him) together shout ; sám yám ā-yānti dhenávaḥ to whom the cows come together.

a. Very rarely both prepositions are detached and accented ; e. g. prá yāt stotá . . úpa gīrbhir ítte when the praiser lauds him with songs.
